TV VIOLENCE REPORT — Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, released a report to newsmen today, calling television's heavy diet of violence-laced shows a "contributing factor" to violence in the American society. (UPI) Telephoto

TV Violence Held Fostering It Throughout The Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Violence on television encourages violence in real life, the National Commission on Causes and the Prevention of Violence said today. It accused the television industry of "pandering to a public preoccupation with violence that television itself has helped to create."

"It is reasonable to conclude," the commission said, "that a constant diet of violent behavior on television has an adverse effect on human character and attitudes.

"Violence on television encourages violent forms of behavior and fosters moral and social values about violence in daily life which are unacceptable in a civilized society."

The commission said the industry's self-imposed standards are inadequate and recommended:

Abandonment of children's cartoons containing serious, noncomic violence.

Less time devoted to crime, western, and action-adventure programs containing violent episodes.

A change in the basic context in which violence occurs in such programs so "resort to violence is depicted as an unusual and undesirable outcome" instead of the norm.

More industry research into effects of violent TV programs —although meanwhile, "enough is known to make inexcusable any delay in taking action along the lines we have recommended."

The commission also recommended presidential and congressional support and financing for a corporation for

Precedent Is Set In Court Case

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A ruling by a Marin County Superior Court judge, that could cost Californians their right to use hundreds of thousands of acres of tidelands in San Francisco Bay and throughout the state, will be appealed tomorrow by the attorney general's office, it was learned today.

The little-noticed ruling by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner came in April 1967 in a suit filed in 1966 by Peter D. Whitney of Inverness against Larry H. Marks Jr., owner of a tideland parcel in front of Whitney's property on the shore of Tomales Bay, the attorney general's office said.

FILL, DEVELOP

Marks wanted to fill and develop his parcel, and Whitney went to court with an objection that public navigation and fishing rights over Marks's parcel barred Marks from filling his parcel. The Sierra Club joined Whitney in his suit.

Judge Gardiner ruled that he could find no state or public right to exist over Marks' parcel, and ruled in favor of Marks. Whitney appealed to the District Court of Appeal, but lost two weeks ago.

The court said that the 1868 legislative act that authorized the sale of tidelands in Tomales Bay had the effect of terminating the public rights over the tidelands.

The result of the ruling was to set a precedent that tideland property owners had an unrestricted right to fill and develop their holdings.

LEGAL ERROR

It was at this point that the precedent came to the attention of the state attorney general's office, which decided to join with Whitney in a petition asking the appellate court to rehear the case on the ground that the court had made a legal error by ignoring precedents in similar cases.

Whitney and the attorney general's office will take the matter to the California Supreme Court if the Court of Appeal declines to rehear the case, or reaffirms Judge Gardiner's ruling said Deputy Atty. Gen. E. Clement Shute.

Whitney could not be reached to comment on the state's action.

Shute said that the Court of Appeal's ruling also could undermine the State Lands Commission's pending suit against San Mateo County to contest Westbay Community Associates' title to tidelands it hopes to develop.

Senator Scott Named GOP Minority Leader

A KISS FOR THE LEADER — Mrs. Hugh Scott warmly congratulates her husband following his election this morning to succeed the late Sen. Everett Dirksen as Senate Republican leader. Scott of Pennsylvania defeated Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee. (UPI Telephoto)

WASHINGTON — Sen Hugh Scott was elected leader of the Senate's Republican minority today and told President Richard M. Nixon he hopes to see it become a majority.

Scott defeated Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee 24 to 19 at a closed-door conference. Individual votes during the secret balloting were not disclosed.

It was the first time that the GOP senator's have elected a so-called liberal-moderate as leader. Scott will hold the job at least until January 1971.

The post was left vacant by the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen on Sept. 7. The Illinois senator had been GOP leader for a decade.

WHIP POST

Baker said he is considering seeking Scott's old job as Senate Republican whip. A contest for that position, with as many as a half-dozen candidates anticipated, was to be settled later today.

Among others mentioned are Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, Charles H. Percy of Illinois, James B. Pearson of Kansas and Jack Miller of Iowa.

Nixon telephoned his congratulations to Scott soon after the vote. The 63-year-old Pennsylvania senator told the President, "There's no bitterness that I can detect at all," as a result of the campaign for leadership.

DEMOCRATIC CONTROL

Democrats now control the Senate 57 votes to 43 but Scott told Nixon: "No one could want to be the leader of the majority more than I do, sir."

Scott took the call from Nixon with a crowd of reporters nearby.

"The President said that the conversation at both ends was off the record and he confidently expects to read it in the afternoon editions," Scott said.

Baker said Scott had been a noble and fair opponent.

"The Republican Party of the Senate and the Republican Party of the country is in good hands," the 43-year-old Tennes-

PLANNER URGES PRESERVATION

Nicasio Valley Called 'Priceless' Relic Of California As It Was

By WAT TAKESHITA

Pastoral Nicasio Valley, a "priceless vignette of early California," deserves careful treatment in planning so that future development will not destroy the idyllic scene.

This is the theme of a 50-page report just completed and released to the Nicasio Landowners Association.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning in the county planning department, said copies of the report, entitled "Nicasio — Hidden Valley in Transistion," will be available to the public next week for $5 per copy at the county planning department in the Civic Center.

Cost to the county was $1,200 in printing, plus the time of some staff members. The rest of the work and cost were contributed by the University of California department of landscape architecture; the Pacific Southwest Forest and Range Experiment Station, U.S. Forest Service; and a grant from the America the Beautiful fund.

This study will enable the planning department to prepare a general plan for Nicasio Valley, based on ecological and scientific findings, said Solnit.

A public meeting to discuss the development of Nicasio will be held by the Nicasio Landowners Association at 8 p.m. Monday at Druids Hall in Nicasio. Frank Soares, president of the association, will preside.

Under present agricultural zoning, the 36-square-mile valley can be divided into lots of 7,500 square feet. Roads cut into the hillsides can mar the view for miles, the report warns. "Nicasio deserves better treatment," it says.

Among recommendations made in the report are these:

Streams in the main basin should be set aside as drainage ways. Flat lands in the valley floor might be set aside for grazing under scenic easement provisions.

Ridge tops are more suited for development if problems such as visual disruption of the skyline can be resolved.

In the Nicasio Reservoir area, the shoreline should be designated for private or public recreational or educational use.

U.S. Reveals Troops Sent Without Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today U.S. combat forces were sent to South Vietnam in 1965 as the result of consultation with but without a formal request from the Saigon government.

The disclosure was made by department press officer Carl Bartch who informed newsmen of a Sept. 2 letter from H. G. Torbert Jr., acting assistant secretary for congressional relations, to chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The letter said in part the initial decision to deploy U.S. combat troops to South Vietnam "resulted from a continuing analysis of a constantly changing situation, a major factor in which was the deployment to South Vietnam of regular North Vietnamese army units from the end of 1964 onward . . ."

"The continuing analysis to which I have referred and the series of decisions resulting from it were made in close and constant consultation with the government of Vietnam. The process of analyzing the situation by the two governments, and the consultation and agreement thereon, were such to be regarded by our government as constituting a request from the government of Vietnam.

"This request was confirmed by the communique issued by the Office of the Prime Minister, Dr. Phan Huy Quat, on March 7, 1965, concerning the arrival of two U.S. Marine battalions in South Vietnam—the first such deployment of U.S. combat forces."

The March 7 communique said in the face of open provocation, the government of Vietnam "has asked for and obtained the agreement of the American government for the stationing of two U.S. Marine battalions at Da Nang . . ."

Fulbright, a long-time foe of American involvement in the Vietnam war, called attention to this background information in remarks on the Senate floor on Sept. 12. He also inserted the Torbert letter in the Congressiinal Record.

The letter was in response to a May 12 Fulbright request of Secretary of State William P. Rogers for an account of a formal request by the South Vietnamese government for U.S. intervention in the war.

Kopechnes Still Fight Autopsy Bid

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI) —The family of Mary Jo Kopechne asked the Luzerne County Court today to dismiss the latest request for an autopsy on the body of the girl, killed in a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

A motion, filed by Kopechne family attorney Joseph Flanagan said even if all the reasons —including the alleged presence of blood—set forth in the requests by Massachusetts Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinnis were facts, they still would be insufficient under Pennsylvania law to exhume the body and perform an autopsy.

Flanagan said the Massachusetts petition should be dismissed unless Dinnis gave some indication that a crime was committed, or that there was criminal negligence or that the coroner's verdict of accidental death by drowning was in dispute with other medical authority.

The Kopechne motion said the Massachusetts petition made no such averments. Arguments on the motion will be held here next Monday in advance of a hearing already scheduled on Dinis' amended petition for exhumation and autopsy.

Miss Kopechne, 28 was killed July 18 when Kennedy's car ran off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and landed upside down in the water.

Child Cyclist Dies; Woman Charged

A 6-year-old San Rafael boy, flung from his bike following a collision with a car yesterday, died of injuries suffered in the wreck.

The driver of the car was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving and later released on her own recognizance.

The child, Jack Dean Baron of 14 Fairfax Street, Apt. B, suffered a head injury and multiple scrapes on his arms and legs, the county coroner's office reported. An autopsy was to be performed today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Police said the bike collided with a car driven by Florence Constance Stottman, 41, of 455 Canal Street, Apt. 9, at 4:42 p.m. yesterday. The boy was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 5 p.m.

The impact of the collision broke the child's bike into three parts, one land 75 feet from the accident. Jack's body flew 35 feet through the air and landed under a parked car, police reported.

The accident occurred in the 400 block of Canal Street and police said it has not been determined whether the boy was riding along the block or whether he had pulled from a driveway in the area. His bike collided with the right front of the car.

Mrs. Stottman, who works in the finance office at Hamilton Air Force Base, was released by Marin Superior Judge E. Warren McGuire without bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

McGuire explained the main condition for releasing persons on their own recognizance is whether or not the person will return to court of his own free will.

Jack was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baron. He was born in Washingfton state and had lived in Marin County for 18 months.

Oil Depletion Tax Allowance Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of President Richard M. Nixon's key political lieutenants has told a Republican stalwart in the heart-of-Texas oil country the White House will reverse its field and support the 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance.

"The recent testimony before the Senate Finance Committee is to be corrected very soon by the secretary of the treasury. The President continues to stand by his campaign commitments," deputy counsel Harry S. Dent wrote in a Sept. 4-dated letter to the head of the Midland County commission.

The commitment Dent referred to was made by Nixon in a Texas speech last fall when he said, "I oppose reduction of that 27.5 per cent allowance."

The testimony Dent said would be corrected came Sept. 4 when Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy delivered the surprising word that the administration would accept reducing the depletion allowance to 20 per cent as dictated by the House in its tax reform bill.

"Although the administration did not recommend a cut . . . we accept the House approach to increasing the share of the national tax burden borne by the petroleum industry," Kennedy told the Senate committee.

Dent, chief White House political liaison, could not be reached for comment. But his letter, written in response to a resolution from the governing board of the oil-rich Texas county urging Nixon to stand fast for 27.5 per cent, said specifically the President "has asked me to respond in his behalf."

It was addressed to Mrs. Barbara G. Culver, head of the commissioners in Midland County, a West Texas area where oil is the major cash crop.

The 27.5 per cent rate—the result of an ancient compromise between the Senate and House—has been under attack with critics saying it is a symbol of tax privileges granted big business by the government.

Its purpose in allowing oil companies to write 27.5 per cent of their income off taxes, up to half their income, was to assure them the money needed for the expensive business of wildcatting—drilling hole after hole in the sure knowledge most of them would be dry.

Union Chiefs Talk Boycott Over Hiring

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Angry union leaders threatened today a boycott of federal construction projects to protest a government plan they said would set racial hiring quotas.

"It's going to raise the roof," said one AFL-CIO building trades leader after the Labor Department announced it would go ahead with the controversial Philadelphia plan.

Secretary of Labor George P. Schultz said in Washington yesterday the plan would be put into effect in Philadelphia and expanded nationwide as soon as possible to insure more high-paying construction jobs for Negroes and other minority groups.

The plan would require contractors on federal projects of $50,000 or more to hire a certain number from minority groups for iron work, plumbing, pipefitting, sheet metal and electricians jobs.

Shultz has said Negro workers in those trades in the Philadelphia area amount to less than two per cent, but the unions claim about 12 per cent.

Leaders of the AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Department, who earlier said they would throw open their doors to all qualified minority group journeymen, prepared resolutions denouncing the Philadelphia plan as "infamous" and a "union-busting" tactic.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, scheduled to speak today to the convention of the 17 construction unions, reportedly will join in the opposition to the government plan and warn against black militant attempts to frighten the unions into taking in untrained Negroes.

One resolution proposed that "the Building and Construction Trades Department use all the power and persuasiveness at its means to defeat this plan, to the point and including the withholding of all manpower from any federal project perpetuating this plan."

Sea, Sky Rain Fire On Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. cruiser Boston and American B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese gun positions and base camps inside and just to the south of the demilitarized zone last night and today, the U.S. Command announced.

U.S. headquarters also reported 8,437 "indications of enemy presence or activity" inside the buffer zone since the bombing of North Vietnam ended 11 months ago.

The Boston fired her five-inch guns to silence North Vietnamese mortar positions in the southern half of the DMZ last night after enemy mortarmen there slammed 40 rounds into South Vietnamese positions just south of the zone.

Fifteen B52s bombed base camps, bunkers, supply and staging areas six miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost called the Rockpile, the command said.

The stepup in B52 raids indicates that the U.S. Command will use the big bombers in an attempt to fill the gap that the departure of the Marines is expected to leave. The 3rd Division Marines are going to Okinawa and the United States as part of the 35,000-man withdrawal ordered by President Richard M. Nixon for the next three months.

Elsewhere, U.S. Navy river boats ambushed and killed 14 enemy soldiers attempting to cross the Saigon River 35 miles northwest of Saigon for the third time in the past two nights.

In the same general area, 10 enemy were killed in a ground probe early today against the night bivouac of an allied armored column. Three Americans and some South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

The U.S. Command said there were 19 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. today. Two Americans were killed and 22 wounded.

A Dubcek Purge?

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist Party made a mistake when it picked Alexander Dubcek to be its leader, Party Secretary Alois Indra said today.

The interview with Indra apparently was a propaganda preliminary to a meeting of the party's Central Committee scheduled tomorrow. The committee is expected to purge Dubcek from the party's 11-man Presidium and may also purge many of his supporters from its own ranks.

Three Rally Deaths

CALCUTTA (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi canceled all her engagements in Imphal today following rioting at a rally she was addressing that left three persons dead.

The demonstrators demanded local government for their border state of Manipur, which is controlled by the central government. Imphal is the capital of the state in the Burmese border.

The rioting went on into the night, and 34 persons were reported injured. The dead were two students and a policeman.

Leftist Teacher Charges Racism

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Angela Davis, an assistant philosophy professor at UCLA, a Negro and a Communist, says her dismissal from the faculty was ordered because of her race, not her politics.

Miss Davis, 25, a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Brandeis University who also studied under New Left philosopher Herbert Marcuse, announced yesterday she will appeal the threatened dismissal to the UCLA Academic Senate and in the courts if necessary.

The Board of Regents, governing body of the nine-campus University of California system, advised Miss Davis by letter that she will "possibly be dismissed." She was not fired outright.

Boone To Run?

HONOLULU (AP) — Actor Richard Boone says he is asking friends whether he should run for governor of Hawaii next year.

"I've made no decision yet," he said. "It's still a rumor as far as I'm concerned."

Boone, 52, who lives in the island of Hawaii, is a registered Republican but considers himself an independent.

Ho Successor

MOSCOW (AP) — The North Vietnamese National Assembly has chosen Vice President Ton Duc Thang, 81, to succeed Ho Chi Minh as president, Tass reported today.

The dispatch from Haroi said the National Assembly greeted the new president with "stormy applause" as he pledged to "devote all energies to the service of the homeland, people and the revolution."

The new vice president is Nguyen Lyong Bang, Tass reported.

Hoarding Food

HONGKONG (AP) — People throughout South China are hoarding food because of rumors that Mao Tse-tung is dead and a power struggle is already under way in Peking, Chinese arriving from Canton reported today.

The travelers said the rumors started because Mao has made no known public appearances in the past four months.

Subsidy Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — A far-reaching new rent subsidy plan for public housing tenants faces an uncertain reception in the House after breezing through the Senate with little fanfare or debate.

The proposal to provide $75 million for the rent subsidies was included in the $6.3 billion housing bill passed by voice vote in the Senate Monday after only two hours of floor cinsideration.

Under the measure, the government for the first time would pay a portion of the rent of some public housing tenants and might even provide the entire amount for families in the most dismal circumstance.

Prosecution Team

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Army has selected two military lawyers with no civilian courtroom experience to prosecute the first Green Beret murder trial against some of the toughest legal talent in the United States.

The Army today announced the selection of Maj. Richard P. Runke, 33, of Chicago, Ill., and Capt. Thomas C. Warren, 28, of Wenatchee, Wash., as trial counsel and assistant trial counsel.

They will present the Army's case against three Special Forces captains scheduled for general court-martial Oct. 20 on charges of murdering a Vietnamese who reportedly was a double agent.

public broadcasting "so that it may develop the kind of educational, cultural and dramatic programming not presently provided insufficient measure by commercial broadcasting."

The panel, headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, was formed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1968 after the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy. It is publishing a series of reports on various aspects of violence in American life.

The 11-page report on TV violence focused primarily on its effects on the young.

"Television is one of our significant national resources," it said, "but our greatest resource is our children. Children begin to absorb the lessons of television before they can read or write. In a fundamental way, television helps to create what children expect of themselves and of others, and of what constitutes the standards of civilized society.

"Yet . . . we daily permit our children during their formative years to enter a world of police interrogations, of gangsters beating enemies, of spies performing fatal brain surgery and of routine demonstrations of all kinds of killing and maiming."

In mitigation of its criticism, the report said the three major television networks "have effected substantial improvements in the cartoon programs offered this season."

And it noted the networks' 1969-70 program schedule "seems to indicate the beginning of a favorable trend along the lines recommended here."

Some of the commission's findings:

Children and adolescents are the heaviest viewers of television, with some children in lower income families watching their sets five to seven hours each weekday.

Children's cartoons, concentrated on Saturday mornings, "almost all . . . contained violence" in 1967 and 1968 surveys, "and the rate of violent episodes was quite high in both years—more than 20 per hour."

Eight of 10 violent episodes "occurred in a serious or sinister context" as opposed to slapstick and satire.

Violent encounters in television drama, "unlike violent encounters in real life, are rarely between intimates. They generally occur at close range between young to middle-aged single males who, half the time, are strangers to each other. Six times out of 10, the violent acts involve the use of weapons . . ."

"Those who commit acts of violence more often perceive them to be in their self-interest than in the service of some other cause. Nearly half of all the leading characters who kill and more than half of all leading characters who are violent achieve a clearly happy ending in the programs.

"To this extent, violence is portrayed as a successful means of attaining a desired end."

should be considered for historic treatment.

Programs are needed to manage rangelands, pastures and watersheds. Erosion control should be encouraged.

Leaving ranches in agricultural preserves is recommended. Other possibilities are dude ranches, resorts, or equestrian clubs.

Careful forest management is especially important because Nicasio forests are on steep slopes that drain down into the Nicasio Reservoir.

Nicasio is also vulnerable to smog because of atmospheric conditions.

Roads should be designed for low speed and to scenic standards. Hills should be bridged and tunneled rather than cut and filled.

The conference will be open to television and radio broadcast.

Warrant Issued For Missing Court Date

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 was issued today by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for Bradford Eugene Bishop, 20, of Novato, when he failed to appear in court for sentencing on a narcotics violation.

Bishop, who is on probation for other offenses in Marin and Los Angeles counties, had earlier pleaded guilty to selling methedrine to a drug agent last February.

Haynsworth's Rights Record Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights record of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. was attacked and defended today at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on his nomination to be a Supreme Court justice.

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., testified that "it would be turning back the clock on civil rights and impair public confidence in the orderly process of justice and equal rights to place Judge Haynsworth on the Supreme Court."

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said he has read all of Haynsworth's opinions in the civil rights field and declared that Haynsworth has "diligently followed every decision of the Supreme Court."

Ervin was the only committee member present at today's hearing in contrast to the turnout yesterday of almost all of the 17 members, when Haynsworth testified he regretted a stock purchase he made in 1967.

Ryan told the committee that Haynsworth, now chief judge of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, has been called a moderate.

But he said "what that means is that he has never espoused doctrines like interposition or massive resistance but has only cast crucial votes at crucial times against speeding the pace of desegregation and for slowing it down."

The congressman said he has "absolutely nothing personal against Haynsworth" but that his appointment involves a risk to basic American rights."

Ervin, challenging Ryan's testimony at every point, said the record shows "beyond a shadow of a doubt" that very decision in which Haynsworth participated in the civil rights field was in line with Supreme Court rulings in existence at the time.

Ryan cited what he called four cases in which he said Haynsworth had been reversed by the Supreme Court, but Ervin told him "that doesn't make any difference because the Supreme Court has been constantly expanding and changing its decisions."

Ryan also objected to what he termed Haynsworth's attitude toward labor but Ervin said that "any insinuation that Judge Haynsworth has been antilabor in his decisions is absurd."

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., told Haynsworth yesterday "I guess you will be confirmed."

Ervin sail it would be a tragedy if he were disqualified because of his purchase of 1,000 shares of Brunswick Corp. stock.

Search Right Of Lockers

Can a school principal open a student's locker and look around?

Yes, to supervise the student or to prevent misconduct.

In a recent case students had reported that Pete Pusher, 15, had sold them drugs. Opening Pete's locker, the principal found some drugs.

Although the principal had no search warrant and Pete had not given him permission to make the search, the juvenile court put Pete in a boys' home. At Pete's hearing, the court admitted into evidence the drugs the principal had found. On appeal the higher court upheld the court's ruling.

School officials are "in loci parentis," that is, "in place of parents." Although the Constitution forbids a search of homes without a warrant or without "probable cause," school people have joint control with students over lockers. The principal had searched Pete's locker to check on Pete's conduct and to protect other students — not to get criminal evidence.

While on school grounds and during school hours, the principal can use moderate force to prevent disorderly and dangerous conduct. This power includes the right to search a locker.

A school official may not abuse his legal powers. Rules must relate reasonably to safety or discipline. Courts have held invalid as a denial of free speech a rule against wearing of political buttons. But rules are valid if they relate directly to morals and student discipline. If they do not, a court may declare them invalid.

A student has a right before a school acts to know why it wants to expel him. Under this "due process of law" clause, he can have a hearing and a chance to answer charges. If he believes he did not get a fair hearing a court may review his expulsion.

Sausalito Bar Owners To Plead On Pot Import

The owners of the Latitude 38 bar in Sausalito will plead guilty Tuesday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco to importing marijuana from Mexico, their attorney said today.

Charles Peter Barrett, 46, and Stanley Mulligan, 36, had proceedings against them set over yesterday until Tuesday after Jerrold Ladar, asst. U.S. attorney, agreed to dismiss one phase of the charges, attorney Edwin T. Caldwell said.

Caldwell said his clients would enter guilty pleas to the Harrison Act, which involves illegal importation but provides for probation. Dropped would be charges under the Jones Act, which does not allow probation and makes a jail sentence mandatory, he said. Included in the Jones Act are charges of failure to pay federal tax on the marijuana.

Caldwell said he expected Barrett and Mulligan to be sentenced about mid-November, following a recommendation by probation officials.

The pair was arrested Oct. 14 after authorities said they delivered 250 pounds of marijuana to the Richardson Bay home of entrepreneur Frank Werber. Acquitted July 3 of conspiracy to smuggle marijuana, Werber faces charges in Marin of possessing marijuana.

SCOTT

see senator said.

The Scott-Baker confrontation was a clash between age and youth, experience and inexperience, the liberal and conservative wings of the party in the Senate.

Scott is a veteran of political infighting who is nearing the end of his second Senate term. He previously served eight terms in the House. He is also a former GOP national chairman.

Although he describes himself as a moderate, Scott's backing came primarily from the liberals and liberal-moderates who helped win him the whip job last January in an upset over conservative Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, who sought, but dropped out of the race for the leadership post.

Baker has been in the Senate only three years and had no previous legislative experience. But as Dirksen's son-in-law and the son of a couple who both served in Congress, Baker's life has been steeped in politics.

Seven Accused Of Beach Nudity

It was a lovely sunny day at Muir Beach yesterday, and the nudes were out en masse again according to complaints received by the sheriff's department.

A deputy who arrived after a call at 11:45 a.m. from Mrs. Eleanor Borden, who lives above a private beach next to the state park, rounded up seven persons, arrested them and booked them at the Marin County Jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace.

Released on their own recongizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court today were Joan Francis Hassemer, 28, of 75 Corte Madera Avenue, Robert William Silverman, 22, of 809 Spring Drive and Gilbert Arthur Carlson, 23, of 180 Cascade Drive, all of Mill Valley; Christopher Alan Peterson, 25, Arthur James Shea, 30, and Charles Stewart Kehler, 22, all of San Francisco, and Arnold Julius Caesar Leon, 23, of Sausalito.

Trustees May Quiz Nichols

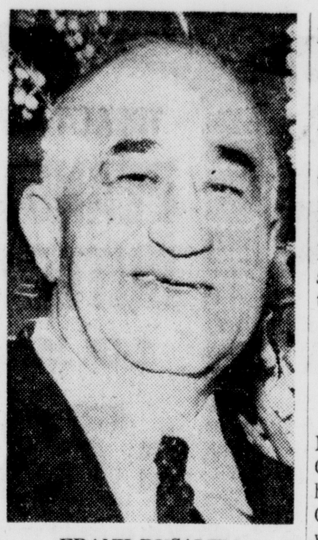
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonoma State College President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. may be questioned today about a freshman orientation pamphlet which mentions drugs, a student spokesman said at the state college trustees meeting.

The brochure for entering freshmen had urged students to avoid dangerous drugs. Some faculty members had complained this could be construed as approving of marijuana and LSD.

James Gilette, student body president at Sonoma State, said Nichols has not yet been questioned by trustees but that it was possible later in the day.

Hurt On Motorcycle

Bruce N. Stanton, 16, of 10 Flying Cloud Course, Corte Madera, was treated yeaterday at Marin General Hospital for scrapes on the right arm, hand, leg and ankle after his motorcycle hit a curb and overturned at 1:15 p.m. on Paradise Drive, Corte Madera police reported.



FRANK RUSALEM
Developer dies

OBITUARIES

Developer Rusalem Dies At 77

Frank Rusalem, businessman and developer who parleyed 50 rubles into a multi-million dollar fortune, is dead at 77.

Rusalem died Sept. 14 in a San Francisco hospital following an illness of several months. Funeral was held Sept. 16.

It was Rusalem who developed, and for several years, owned the Corte Madera Shopping Center. He also built the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera and it was among his holdings at the time of his death.

For many years, he and his wife, Edna, had lived in Ross. For the past several years, the family home was in Palm Springs.

Rusalem came to the United States from Russia in 1905. He was 12 then and had only 50 rubles in his pocket, worth about $25.

His first job was in Baltimore as a butcher shop delivery boy. Six months later he was in New York, working days in a delicatessen and studying English at night.

After two hears he went into the laundry business and later moved to Reno with it. In 1925 he arrived in San Francisco and by the beginning of World War II had about 70 retail laundries in the Bay Area.

He and his wife moved to Marin in 1941 and lived first in San Rafael and later in Ross.

He also owned several San Francisco businesses and had other interests throughout the state.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Evelyn Burns of Daly City, and a son Lester M. Walton of San Francisco.

He was a member of the Press Club of San Francisco, Habonim Lodge Free and Accepted Mason, New York City, San Francisco Bodies Scottish Rite and Islam Temples and a member of the board of directors of Congregation Anshey Sfard.

Requiem Mass for Leona B. Cannon, 68, of 45 Grove Lane, San Anselmo, will be offered at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Cannon, wife of Cecil F. Cannon, owner of Dave's Tavern in San Rafael, died unexpectedly in her home Monday night.

Born in Colorado, Mrs. Cannon lived in California 50 years, 38 of them in Marin County.

She was a member of the Sodality, Altar Society and Rose Marie Club of St. Anselm's and of the Mother's Club of Marin Catholic High School.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Bamberg of San Jose, and two grandchildren.

ARLINE E. LINES

Arline E. Lines, mother of Mrs. Alex Center of Tiburon, died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Lines was a 20-year resident of San Francisco but lived recently at her daughter's home at 408 Greenwood Beach Road. She was a native of Germany and had lived in several countries before moving to San Francisco.

She is also survived by a son, Carl Miller of San Leandro.

IDA STODDARD

Ida Berg Stoddard, 80, of 520 D Street, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness.

She was the widow of Merrill Stoddard, a lumberman, who died 10 years ago.

Born in Quincy, Plumas County, Mrs. Stoddard lived in Oregon and in Mendocino and Sonoma counties before moving to Marin four years ago.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Senior Citizens Club and the First Presbyterian Church, all in San Rafael.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. John H. Lucas of San Rafael, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Entombment will be in Santa Rosa. Order of the Eastern Star services are scheduled for 8 p.m. today in the funeral home.

GEORGE COMPAGNO

Requiem Mass for George Nicholas Compagno, 76, of 127 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, was held today at St. Ignatius Church, San Francisco. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Compagno died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of San Francisco, he was a graduate of St. Ignatius High School. In his early years he was an architect and won first mention for his design for a chapel in a public park.

He had been a scenic decorator for 50 years, designing artistic effects for theaters, opera houses and civic auditoriums.

Survivors are his wife, Olive Compagno; a son, George N. Compagno of Daly City; two daughters, Jeanne Robertson of Fairfax and Maxine Galeazzi of Healdsburg; three brothers, Vincent I., William N. and Matthew Compagno; four sisters, Lucille and Sleanore Compagno, Grace Groene and Genevieve Shannon, and a grandson.

EMILY BURKE

Private funeral was held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael for Emily Hunt Burke, 51, of 830 Eucalyptus Avenue, Novato, who died yesterday.

She was born in France, where her parents were visiting and came to this country as an infant. She had lived in California for 28 years, the past 11 years in Marin.

She is survived by a son, Warren L. Burke of San Rafael; a daughter, Mrs. Gary Howell of Novato, and one grandchild.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society are preferred by the family.

The Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato was in charge of the arrangements.

ACHILLE OLGIATI

Achille Olgiati, 63, a waiter at Doro's Restaurant in San Francisco, died yesterday in a local hospital after a three-week illness.

A 40-year resident of San Francisco, he moved three weeks ago with his wife, Lillian, to 164 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo. He was a native of Switzerland.

He was a member of Waiter's Union Local 30.

Also surviving are a son, Carl P. Olgiati, a daughter, Marianne Olgiati and a grandson Ronald Joseph Olgiati, all of San Anselmo.

EVA OCKENDEN

Private funeral for Eva Alice Ockenden of San Mateo, mother of Rolfe M. Ockenden of Fairfax, a former city councilman there, was held today at Crosby-N. Gray and Co., Burlingame, with burial in Skylawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. Ockenden died Monday in a San Mateo convalescent hospital after a long illness. She was 96.

A native of Iowa, she had lived in California since 1892, first in Ockenden, a town near Fresno founded by her late husband, William Lewis Ockenden, a lumber and cattle rancher.

The town burned in 1911 and in 1914 the family moved to San Francisco where she lived until moving to San Mateo two years ago. She was a member of Parnassus Chapter, 269, Order of the Eastern Star which was in charge of the funeral.

Other survivors are a daughter, Grace O. Bartlett of San Mateo, a son, William B. Ockenden of Hillsborough, three grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heart Fund or the American Cancer Society.

Mill Valley Puts Price Tag On School Swaps

Faced with the prospect of educating an increasing number of Sausalito school children, the Mill Valley School District board last night asked that extra educational costs, more than $600 per child, be paid by the home district in all interdistrict transfers, Supt. James A. Collins reported.

The board's action came in response to the Marin County Board of Education's action last night in overruling seven interdistrict transfer denials by the Sausalito School District board. (See transfer appeals story, page 20.)

Collins said the Mill Valley trustees agreed that the differential in the cost of educating a child between the average daily attendance allocation of the state and what the Mill Valley district actually pays per child should be paid by the child's home district.

In the past such payments were not necessary, Collins said, because the number of interdistrict transfers to and from Mill Valley balanced out.

However, this year the Mill Valley board has approved five transfers out of the district and as of today 18 will be coming into Mill Valley.

According to Collins, the county board agreed last night that the home district should pay the differential and conditioned the Sausalito transfers on such a payment.

The county board has the power to order Sausalito to pay these costs Collins explained. The exact amount of the payment will be set following negotiations to be scheduled, Collins added.

In addition to the six transfers approved last night by the county board, the Mill Valley board approved four others previously approved by Sausalito.

Another transfer, this one from Mill Valley to Sausalito, was also approved by the Mill Valley board.

Of the five Mill Valley students attending other districts, two are in Sausalito schools, two in Reed schools and one in a Larkspur school.

More Tests Ordered In Early Years

An expanded student testing program for the 1969-70 school year was approved last night by the Mill Valley School District board, Supt. James A. Collins reported.

Collins said the board authorized testing of first and second grade students in reading ability, third grade students in reading and arithmetic and sixth grade students in reading, arithmetic and language arts.

Last year students were tested only for reading ability, he said.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

HOMESTEAD — Heard that the remodeling project at Homestead School is completed.

VOLUNTEERS — Heard that 157 parents are working as volunteers in schools.

STUDENT TEACHERS — Authorized student teacher agreements with San Francisco State College.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Audrey Stolz as a librarian for Old Mill and Edna Maguire schools at a salary of $7,735; Joy Anne Watts, librarian of Marin Terrace and Tamalpais Valley schools, $7,341; Jean Anne Taylor, part time teacher at Homestead School, $3,609; and Jan Kendall, kindergarten teacher at Tamalpais Valley School, $10,141.

Sausalito Dinner Set

Delegates to the Redwood Empire Association's annual convention will dine tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, instead of at the Holiday Inn as was previously reported by the Independent-Journal.

Suspect Hears Charge On Card

Harry M. Cassidy, 26, of Kentfield, yesterday was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of signing another persons' name to a credit card slip.

His case was continued to Tuesday for entry of plea.

Cassidy was arrested early yesterday in Novato after San Rafael police alerted other officers to be on the lookout for him. Cassidy reportedly used a stolen credit card Sunday in San Rafael.

Baritone Won't Sing At 'Fidelio' Preview

Baritone Ingvar Wixell, appearing with the San Francisco Opera this season, will not sing at a preview of "Fidelio" at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in the Marin Art and Garden Center Barn, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Wixell will merely make an appearance at the preview, according to San Francisco Opera ACTION of Marin, preview sponsors. The preview of "Fidelio" will be delivered by Speight Jenkins Jr., news editor of Opera News Magazine.

Dumke Proposes Enrollment Cuts To Meet Budget

LOS ANGELES (AP)—State college Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke proposed a 24,000 cut in enrollment to enable the colleges to stay within state budget limits next year.

Dumke told state college trustees for the 18-college system the cut would require colleges to accept 10 per cent fewer freshmen and to tighten standards for junior college transfers. He said he also expected higher fees this year to deter some students from enrolling.

To stay within the $265-million initial operating budget allocation by Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration for 1970-71, Dumke also said summer quarter sessions would have to be eliminated at two campuses and that new library book acquisitions would have to be reduced.

College Loan Fund's Cupboards Are Bare

The College of Marin emergency loan fund for students has a zero bank balance, and a door-to-door fund-raising campaign by students and faculty will start Saturday, the College of Marin Foundation board was told yesterday.

The fund normally has $5,000 circulating in small loans which are to be repaid by the end of the semester. Today, financial aids officer Charles Herndon said, $4,2000 has been lent this semester and another $800 is in delinquent loans.

Meantime, Herndon told the board, many students have applied for emergency loans and "we could lend $2,500 today if we had it."

The foundation does have $700 earmarked for long-term loans and $6,000 in a scholarship fund, but nothing for the short-term loans.

The large number of military veterans now enrolled has added to the demand for loans, Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students,said. He said some 800 veterans will receive government aid, but the first checks will not arrive until November.

The short-term loans are interest-free, with a maximum of $50.

Samuel Schwartz, political science teacher, said the volunteer fund-raisers will go into Marin residential neighborhoods starting Saturday to seek donations to try to bring the emergency fund back up to $5,000. The volunteers will work as many weekends as necessary to raise the money, and will report their progress to the foundation, Schwartz said.

Petaluman's Case To Higher Court

John Edward Brown, 19, of Petaluma, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on three felony charges. He will be arraigned Monday.

Brown is accused of burglarizing Mac's Saw Service in San Rafael Sept. 13, and burglarizing and stealing a car from Dexter Pontiac in San Rafael Aug. 13.

Pot Possession Charged Filed Following Crash

A Novato man, involved in an accident Monday, was charged with possession of Marijuana yesterday after Sonoma County Sheriff's deputies said the drug was found in his damaged car.

William Cowley Burgener, 31, of 474 Ridge Road, posted bail of $1,250 yesterday in Central Sonoma Municipal Court and was scheduled for arraignment on Oct. 2.

Sgt. James Caufield said that Burgener was arrested after marijuana was found in his car at a Santa Rosa service station where it was being stored after the accident.

Burgner's car struck the railing on the Wilford Avenue overpass on Highway 101, north of Rohnert Park at 11:25 p.m. Monday. He was treated for head cuts at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

Sausalito's Classrooms Less Filled

Enrollment in the troubled Sausalito School District has dropped by 160 students from last spring, according to Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato.

Enrollment for the district's four schools as of Sept. 17 was 714, compared to 814 in June. In addition, there were 26 students from the Mill Valley District down from 55 last spring.

The district's attendance has been declining steadily for several years — as has population growth in Sausalito — but never has shown such a dramatic drop, according to Amato. He said he did not know the reason for the big drop.

An undetermined number of parents in Sausalito, Marin City and the forts have enrolled their children in private schools and some have moved out of the district.

In addition, several have received interdistrict transfers and the Marin County Board of Education last night overruled the Sausalito board's denial of seven more transfers. Sausalito school officials said the children of several of the parents involved in the appeals to the county board last night have not been attending school so far this year. (See transfer appeals story, page 20.)

As of Sept. 17, enrollment in the Sausalito schools (with last spring's figures in parentheses) was: Manzanita kindergarten, 78 (116); Bayside, first grade, 99 (108); Central second through fourth grades, 271 (257); Martin Luther King, fifth through eighth grades, 292 (333).

Amato pointed out last year half of the fourth grade was at Central and the other half at King, accounting at least in part for the changes in enrollment at those schools.

Burglars Make Haul From Job Site, Office

Local thieves had a profitable Monday night this week, escaping with nearly $5,000 worth of office and construction equipment in two San Rafael burglaries.

According to police, 28 hydraulic jacks, valued at $4,000, and 100 feet of pipe, worth $500, were taken from an underground construction site on Rice Street. Owner of the stolen property is the W.A. Forde Construction Co., Greenbrae.

According to foreman Robert E. Linscott, the equipment was taken between 4:30 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

In another theft, York Securitits, at 900 Fifth Avenue lost a $250 electric typewriter and $150 adding machine. The firm's front door was forced to gain entrance, according to resident manager Robert A. Stribling.

That theft occurred between 5 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Your Dinner of the Week

with Today's New Lamb... Win high praise with this low cost meal starring lamb. You start with lamb riblets, meaty and tender with that good lamb flavor. Before you're through you have a blue ribbon dinner in the pot—hearty and satisfying, just right for autumn appetites.

LAMB BLUE RIBBON RIBLETS (serves 4 to 6)

- 3 pounds lamb riblets
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- ½ cup sliced celery
- 2 large onions, sliced
- 2 cups vegetable juice cocktail
- 3 carrots, cut in chunks
- 4 medium-size potatoes, cut in quarters
- 4 cups water (more if needed)
- 2 tablespoons all purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- Salt and onion salt to taste

Cook lamb in butter until well browned on all sides. Drain off drippings. Add celery, onions and vegetable juice cocktail; cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour or until almost tender. Add carrots and potatoes. Cover with water and continue cooking until vegetables are done and meat is tender. Mix together flour and ½ cup cold water. Stir into lamb and vegetable mixture and cook until slightly thickened. Season to taste.

Always ask your meat cutter ... be sure you are buying only top quality American lamb ... full of flavor ... always tender ... and always fresh. Delicious American lamb reaches you in a matter of days direct from American farms and ranches at the peak of freshness.

always buy tender, fresh

Drug Abuse Program For Grades 5 To 8

A comprehensive drug abuse education program for fifth through eighth grade students in the Dixie School District was approved last night by trustees.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said the program will start in a few weeks. Each student will receive a handbook for his own use and that of his parents, and a supplementary textbook for the classroom. Each teacher will have a guide, partially consisting of articles from the American Medical Association Journal on the effects of drugs.

Trustees commended Asst. Supt. Raymond Riley and vice principal James Heidinger of Miller Creek School, who spent the summer visiting other school districts and gathering drug abuse materials for use in the Dixie district.

More vandalism occurred at Miller Creek School over the weekend, Dr. Campbell reported to trustees. About $400 worth of plate glass windows was broken by large stones.

Clifford S. Lund, the district's insurance carrier, announced that the Miller Creek School administration building, gutted by fire on Sept. 9, will be reconstructed within 60 days. He suggests that a burglary and fire alarm system be installed in the new building.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

BUS POLICY — Reaffirmed the long-standing policy of not bussing primary children living within a mile of their school.

TEMPORARY TRAILER — Approved temporary rental of a large trailer at Miller Creek School to be used as administrative offices until the burned building is reconstructed.

SPECIAL CLASSROOMS — Took no action on a request for placement of three portable classrooms at Vallecito School for deaf and hard of hearing pre-school children. Dr. Rudolf Kupfer, who is in charge of these special classes, made the request. Trustees asked Kupfer to get in touch with the County Board of Education.

CITIZENS GROUP — Appointed a citizens advisory group to study school building construction needs and grounds improvement.

STUDENT TEACHERS— Authorized a contract with San Francisco State College to provide student teachers.

HIRED — Employed Mrs. Mary Lash Stuart as a teacher at Oak View School at an annual salary of $10,972.

Health Plan Council Sets Roster Trim

Up to 15 members of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council will be axed by a new set of by-laws adopted last night by council members, its chairman, Dr. Arthur R. Ablin, reported today.

The present council has 36 seats, of which 34 are filled, "although not all are terribly active," Ablin said.

The new bylaws, by reducing the council to a minimum of 21 to a maximum of 33 members, "will make the council more manageable," he said.

The reductions are expected to be made by enforcing another new bylaw that drops from membership anyone who misses three consecutive meetings, he added.

The changes were recommended by the seven-member executive committee, and ran into opposition only on a proposed change that would have exempted many executive committee actions from ratification by the entire council. This recommendation was rejected, Ablin reported.

Other changes approved in the meeting at the Civic Center included addition of a second county supervisor, but with the option that he may appoint a proxy. Also, the directors of the county health, medical, community mental health services and public social services departments were added as nonvoting members.

Marinite A Suspect In Tire Ring

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Tiburon man, employed by the City of San Francisco as a mechanic, has been arrested in connection with the sale of stolen tires from a city-owned garage where most patrol cars are serviced.

The garage is a block from the Hall of Justice.

The emchanic, Howard Gettle, 48, of 271 Cecelia Way, is charged with possession of stolen property.

Working on a tip, an undercover patrolman said he purchased four snow tires for $100, about half their worth, from Gettle on Saturday.

Gettle has been working at the garage for four years.

Police issued a grand theft warrant for James Duda, 40, a truck driver, who police believe supplied the tires to Gettle.

Duda had worked for Eagle Truck Lines, which reported it has missed 250 tires since last April.

In the garage lubrication room, police said they found 27 stolen tires, plus five more in Gettle's car.

Gettle, free on $500 bail, is to appear in municipal court Tuesday.

Arraignment In Marijuana Growing

A young San Anselmo couple was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of growing marijuana at their home.

The case of John Frederick and Patricia Ann Tanzi, both 21, was continued until Tuesday for entry of plea. They were arrested Saturday.

New Notary Public

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issurance of a notary public commission to Linda A. Miller of 1841 Second Street, San Rafael.

Robbers Slay Four Women

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Four men — two employees and two patrons—were shot to death today in a holdup at a savings and loan office in a Cincinnati suburb.

First reports indicated one of three robbers opened fire after herding the four women into a vault at the Cabinet-Supreme Savings and Loan Co.

The three robbers described as young and white, fled in a car. One of them was described as wearing a beard.

A description of the men came from a man who was parking his car while his wife entered the savings and loan office. He said he heard shots and saw the men run from the office.

Stolen Equipment Sale Balked By Company

A quantity of office equipment, some of it stolen from a Burlingame firm and all of it being peddled locally, has been recovered by San Rafael police.

Inspector Richard A. Douglas today said five electric typewriters and two calculators worth of a total of $3,000 were recovered after a San Rafael firm became suspicious of the low asking price and lack of a sales receipt.

Last Thursday, Classic Press Co. of 1299 Fourth Street , San Rafael, reported the firm had been offered the equipment for $1,000. Richard Anthony Bell, the president of the children's book company, asked his secretary to make sure the machines were all right.

Checks with typewriter firm, International Business Machines, and a San Francisco leasing firm, led Bell's secretary to United Research of Burlingame which reported three typewriters and a calculator had been taken in a Labor Day burglary there.

When police arrived at Classic Press, Carole Keith of 128 Surrey Lane, San Rafael, was attempting to retrieve the machines which had originally been offered to the firm, Douglas said, by Myrl Barretta, with with whom she shares an apartment.

Miss Barretta told police she got the machines from Clarence Edward Wright, also of 128 Surrey Lane who had said she could have them for $500.

Douglas said that after Bell's insistence on a sales receipt, a blank receipt taken from the Emporium in San Francisco was filled out in Wright's handwriting for five IBM typewriters at $200 each.

It was signed Charles Wright, police said.

Wright told officers he got the machines from a Harry Cruz in payment for a gambling debt plus $200 which he paid in a check drawn on a Burlingame branch of the Wells Fargo Bank, Douglas said.

Douglas reported the bank investigated and determined Wright had no account at the bank.

Wright told officers he did not know where Harry Cruz lived or worked but that Cruz had told him he was closing out his office when he offered the machinery. He also said he did not know how Cruz found him at Allied Merchandisers in Burlingame where he now works, police said.

The Marin County District Attorney's office said it was not issuing any warrant in the case since there was no evidence that Wright or the others knew the items were stolen property.

No Charge Filed In Burglary Case

No charge was filed Monday in Marin Municipal Court against Ronald Lee Price, 25, of South San Francisco, who had been arrested Sunday by Mill Valley police on suspicion of burglary.

Police said Price was carrying a stolen television set when arrested on East Blithedale Avenue.

Sparks, No Vote On Hub Trade Fees

San Anselmo councilmen wrangled last night over a proposed new business license ordinance, but took no action except setting it for a public hearing Oct. 14.

The quarrel started when Councilman Robert M. Scott objected to the proposal as penalizing the prosperous and putting the city in the auditing business.

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson, who has had a major role in drafting the proposal, erupted at that.

"We talked all this over," he said. "We held meetings with the chamber (of commerce) . . . it's obvious you haven't even read this . . . you're starting from scratch. You just made a nice political speech, that's all."

Scott replied that he had read the material and asked, "What is your speech if not political? It's a spoiled brat's speech if I may say so."

Scott objected to a scale of license fees based on gross receipts of a business, saying it penalized high-volume, low-profit operators.

Anderson said the top of the scale was only $350. Long's Drugs, he daid, would pay $1,900 in Los Angeles, $1,100 in Sausalito, but only $350 in San Anselmo. Safeway, he said, would pay $2,500 in Los Angeles but only $350 in San Anselmo.

A change Anderson proposed last night would extend the business license requirement to anyone renting two or more housing units, whether houses or apartments.

He first proposed covering everyone renting housing, but a member of the audience objected that would penalize people who were not in business, but only renting their own residences when transferred or required to move.

License fees would be based on gross receipts under the new ordinance, renging from $15 a year for up to $5,000 to $350 for $820,000 or more.

Fees would also be spelled out for such operations as theaters, circuses, carnivals, coin-operated machines and public dances.

In another matter, the council split 3-2 to overrule the planning commission and grant a variance to Thomas D. Wilson to let him build a garage at 8 Crescent Lane reducing the front yard setback to 15 feet.

Wilson told the council he started design plans for the house addition a year ago, before the city changed its setback requirements. He objected to an alternate parking layout suggested by City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell because it used a sunny corner he planned as a play area for his children.

Councilmen Scott and Duane C. Ragan and Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro voted to grant the variance while councilmen Anderson and James F. Reed voted against it.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

BIDS — Awarded a contract for storm drain work and overlay street paving to W.K. McClellan Co. for $31,863. The firm's original bid was $35,355, but Leitzell told the council he would knock out a portion for work on Holstein Road to get closer to the engineering estimate of $27,186. Other bids were $37,338 by Maggiora and Ghilotti, $43,082 by O.C. Jones and Son, and $44,284 by Ghilotti Brothers.

POLICEMAN — Hired Martin C. Gent as a patrolman to replace Sgt. Grant B. Thompson Jr., who resigned because of family obligations. An examination for a new sergeant will be held in the department.

PARKS — Set a dedication ceremony for a new tot lot for 1 p.m. Oct. 19.

HEALTH PLAN — Authorized setting up a health plan for five employees not now covered by the city retirement system. The five can get coverage for their families by contributing to the plan.

TOILETS — Authorized spending up to $2,300 to build toilets at Robson-Harrington Park.

SENIOR HOUSING — Heard Edwin N. Wicander Jr. of Tiburon outline his plans for a 40-unit senior housing development on Magnolia Avenue, but took no action. Executive Director Donald O. Stutsman of the Marin County Housing Authority explained the legal status of the project and said the property could be sold to the government only after 15 years and after a vote of the people. Councilmen warned Wicander that the 40-unit density would be far higher than allowed under present zoning.

SMOG — Agreed, on request of Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-Los Angeles, to write the Justice Department to protest a proposed out-of-court settlement of an antitrust suit against the four major car makers and to ask for a trial. The manufacturers are charged with conspiring to delay introduction of antismog devices on new cars.

FIRE WEEK -- Agreed to let the fire department display two pieces of equipment at the county's third annual Fire-Rama from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oct. 5 at Redwood High School.

RECORDS — Authorized City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel to destroy obsolete city records with written consent of the city attorney.

EQUIPMENT — Voted not to lend public works equipment. The town of Fairfax had asked about borrowing the city's brush chipper.

LANDSCAPING — Approved Kaeppel's action in canceling a contract with A. and J. Shooter, Inc., for landscaping of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from the Hub to the Ross town limit, and substituting a new contract for maintenance from Greenfield Avenue to the limit. The new contract is for $285 a month, $95 cheaper than before, Kaeppel said, because landscaping at the Hub is being torn out for the intersection remodeling.

Sentence Date On Battery Count

Dean Walter Plagowski, 34, of no known address, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of battery against a police officer July 22 in Sausalito and two other charges against him were dismissed.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, on Monday, set sentencing for Nov. 3.

Plagowski has been accused of waving a bayonet in a threatening manner near the Tides Bookstore, terrorizing pedestrains, and resisting arrest.

Auto, Varied Loot Stolen

A 1968 four door model car was taken from the C. D. Motor Sales parking lot at 750 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, during the weekend, one of four thefts reported yesterday by San Rafael police.

An electric adding machine valued at $150 and a $35 clock radio were stolen from the Union Oil office at 620 Canal Street between Friday and Monday.

A thief took eight racing tires from a padlocked rental trailer yesterday parked at the Holiday Inn, North Gate Drive, San Rafael.

Driver Frank H. Attaway, 21, of Florida, told police one of the tires belonging to the Peter H. Gregg Co., of Jacksonville, was quite hazardous.

Guilty Plea To Burglaries

Michael Vincent St. Martin, 18, of San Rafael, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to two charges of burglary and two similar counts against him were reduced to misdemeanors.

He then also pleaded guilty to one charge of trespassing and another of acting as an accessory after the fact to a burglary.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, on Monday, set sentencing for Nov. 3 and warned the youth that he may send him to the California Youth Authority.

25 Strep Cases

Last week 25 strep infections, 24 cases of gonorrhea, two cases of infectious hepatitis, and one case each of tuberculosis, German measles and syphilis were reported in Marin County by Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer.

Board Sets Airing On Mental Health

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services, who is under fire for lack of communication with mental health organizations, declared yesterday he will have a full reply at a hearing before the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday.

The supervisors yesterday set 10:30 a.m. Tuesday as the time for a full-scale hearing at the request of Miller.

A member of the Mental Health Advisory Board, a psychiatrist at the Marin Mental Health Center, and the director of the Catholic Social Services Agency this week called for Dr. Miller's replacement. They expressed lack of confidence in Miller and cited his inability to get along with other officials and organizations in the mental health field.

Miller acknowledged that friction exists, especially with the Marin Community Mental Health Center headed by Dr. Donald P. Wilson.

Supervisors set the hearing without comment.

P.U. 214-1 The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

LAGOON FILLING — Asked the public works director for a report on any application for large amounts of fill along Bolinas Lagoon. Stinson Beach developer George P. Leonard said he has applied to public works for a permit to fill a portion of his property along Shoreline Highway near the lagoon sometime in the future, but he has no immediate plans to fill.

SEWAGE GRANT — Joined other counties in urging Congress not to cut back on federal grants to counties and cities for construction of sewage treatment facilities.

STINSON BOLINAS — Asked Hugh Dougherty, president of the Stinson Beach County Water District board, to work with the Bolinas Public Utilities District on a joint plan to handle sewage problems in the two communities.

STREET LIGHTS — Authorized three street lights to be installed in Forest Knolls along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, near Tamal and Montezuma avenues.

OCEANA MARIN — Approved a series of resolutions setting up a special assessment district at Oceana Marin unit 3 at Dillon's Beach, a 33-lot subdivision planned by Bodega Bay Lands Inc. The special district will finance roads and a sewer and water system in the subdivision at a cost of about $210,000, with cost to be shared by each lot owner.

COMMENDATION — Voted certificates of appreciation to Troy E. Lewis, human rights commissioner, and to Stephen A. Thomas, administrative assistant in the human rights department. Lewis resigned because of pressure of work, and Thomas to continue graduate studies.

ARMORY ACCESS — Took under study a request by Jeffrey De Lone of San Rafael, acting chairman of Youth Power, to open an access road from Civic Center Drive to the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia. De Lone said residents of Jefferson and Washington avenues object to traffic on their streets when functions such as dances are held at the armory.

PURCHASING AGENT — Commended County Purchasing Agent Doug Edelin for winning the title of associate public purchasing officer from the California Association of Public Purchasing Officers.

LAB FEES — Raised standby fees for technicians from the Marin Medical Laboratories who take blood samples from suspected drunken drivers. Technicians on call will get $15 per night instead of the present $10 per night.

PROBATION — Voted to hire six new deputy probation officers at a higher salary step than normal, transferring $707 from reserves to meet salary needs. The vote was 4-1, Louis H. Baar dissenting. Probation Director John W. Brewer called the applicants — Leonard S. Fadeef, Polly E. Blake, Patricia L. Schuman, Ralph M. Merola, Robert F. Burns and Nancy A. Boggs, all hired at $819 a month — exceptionally qualified.

SEMINAR — Said James V. Burdick, veterans' service officer, could attend a seminar in St. Paul, Minn., at a total estimated cost of $228.

EOC — Sanctioned the Education Corps and the Mexican-American Political Association for membership on the board of directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

CHILDREN — Authorized hiring of an extra teacher aide for the San Rafael Children's Center at a cost of $4,201.

THEFT — Voted $1,866 to replace stolen property and repair damage at the Manzanita Children's Center, scene of a burglary Sept. 17.

TABLES — Overruling the request of the municipal court judges, declined to spend $600 to change the design of court reporters' tables in the new Hall of Justice. Architect Aaron Green said the new tables were innovative, but the board called them an extravagance.

CABLE TV — Set a hearing for 1:45 p.m. Nov. 4 on complaints about cable television service in Strawberry and possibly other parts of Southern Marin.

APPOINTMENTS — Hired Richard J. Gray as a deputy probation officer at $781 monthly, Paula Kamena as a group counselor at Juvenile Hall at $781 a month and Mattie Knighten as a head teacher in the children's center-preschool program at $750 monthly.

TRANSPORTATION — With Louis H. Baar opposed, voted $10,000 to hire Donald Goodrich of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. as a consultant for the second phase of the county's balanced transportation study. Baar said the service would only produce data which the county already has.

PORTABLE — Voted to rent a portable classroom building from the Speedspace Corp. of Santa Rosa for the Novato Children's Center at Novato High School at a cost over seven years of $17,850.

CLAIM — Rejected a $300,000 claim by James Scott Anderson of Novato, who asserts he was falsely arrested and assaulted by Novato police on June 14.

HEARINGS — Set a hearing for Oct. 14 on the specific development plan for the Richardson Bay area.

STOP SIGNS — Approved placement of a stop sign at Eucalyptus Avenue and Devonshire Drive outside Novato and two additional stop signs at the intersection of Bretano Way and La Cuesta and Los Cerros drives in Greenbrae.

LANDSCAPING — Approved a contract with Lewin and Vallette landscape architects for up to $6,000 to landscape the second and third phases of the South San Pedro Road widening project, a county-City of San Rafael venture.

Ban Continued On Power Line

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The State Public Utilities Commission has extended its ban on construction of a transmission line through Briones Regional Park into October.

The PUC yesterday issued an order temporarily restraining Pacific Gas and Electric Co. from continuing work on the line between its Pittsburg generating plant and El Sobrante substation in Contra Costa County.

PG&E had voluntarily agreed to halt construction until Oct. 1, but opposed further extension of the ban.

Loggers File $5 Million County Claim

Loggers harvesting timber from the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge filed a $5 million claim against Marin County today, charging that the county has no right to halt the logging.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the firm of Matthews, Humbert and Walker, announced he would follow up the claim with a suit in Marin Superior Court.

The $5 million claim is the logging firm's reply to the board of supervisors, who late yesterday declared the logging operations a nuisance and demanded that cutting be stopped until slash and debris have been cleaned up to remove fire and erosion hazards.

"The supervisors acted in excess of their jurisdiction and by doing so, they have interfered with the private contracts of loggers with various companies to furnish them timber," said Bianchi. "It amounts to confiscation of private property without just compensation. There was no evidence to warrant such action. Their (supervisors') action is basen on personal prejudice against logging in general and in Marin in particular."

The attorney said $1 million of the claim is for loss from existing contracts with private firms and with Dr. Righetti, the landowner, and $4 million is for anticipated losses in the future.

Bianchi said he anticipates the county will file its own suit to stop the logging. "But we plan to continue logging unless and until some court tells us otherwise."

Workshop On Drug Addiction On Friday

The Community Planning Group for Alcohol-Drug Addiction problems will have a workshop meeting Friday with presidents of parent-teacher councils in Marin at the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

Ways to encourage school districts to present increasingly effective drug education will be discussed. The session will be from 1:15 to 3 p.m.

Supervisors Defy Suit Threat, Lower Boom On Untidy Logging

Logging at the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge must stop until debris and slash is cleaned up to cut down on erosion and fire hazard, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

On a motion by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and a second by William A. Gnoss, the supervisors voted unanimously that the type of logging being conducted by the Oregon firm of Matthews, Humbert and Walker is a public nuisance because of the fire, siltation and erosion hazards it has created.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney explained that the supervisors' decision halts all timber cutting until the hazards are corrected to the county's satisfaction.

Arrigoni and Gnoss, who made a field trip with Public Works Engineer James F. Wiese on Monday, insisted that the cleanup of debris must be completed before any more cutting.

"As long as the cutting continues, the clearing of slash will never be done," declared Arrigoni. He said the loggers also violated their agreement with the county by pushing timber cutting into a second area before they completed cleaning of the first area.

Gnoss charged that thousands of logs lie in both the ridges and canyons. "The debris is covered with so much dirt and mud, it will be impossible to burn this year. It will take a couple of years."

Gnoss also declared that the loggers started cutting in a second canyon before they cleaned up the first canyon. "That's a violation right there," he remarked.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said the loggers planned to continue cutting trees in the winter, with no grading, and then haul out the logs next spring. Frost said he believes the loggers could meet most of the county's conditions if they proceed with the cleanup and seeding of grass to reduce erosion.

The supervisors, however, were not satisfied.

"I consider that a nuisance does exist," said Michael Wornum. "If this isn't a nuisance, I don't know what is."

Supervisor Louis H. Baar expressed surprise that the logged area had not been cleaned up to county specifications.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the logging firm, and George Walker, one of the partners in the firm, argued that county conditions are being met. They explained that cleanup cannot be completed until logging in an area is completed.

Happy News: BART Not Broke

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Bay Area Rapid Transit District isn't broke after all, Gen. Mgr. B. R. Stokes reported yesterday.

In a report sent to all BART directors, Stokes said a reassessment of construction funds indicates there are sufficient reserves to complete the entire three-county project.

He said reserves now total $36 million, with an estimated $233 million remaining in unawarded construction contracts. Stokes said the figures indicated a 15.6 per cent unexpected cost increases.

To stop all logging until cleanup is completed is just not a practical logging practice, said Bianchi.

"What you're saying is you don't want logging in Marin County," Bianchi said. "But you do not have the legal right to stop a legal operation which was started prior to your natural resources ordinance (that imposed a moratorium on all logging outside the Righetti Ranch.)" Bianchi warned that the loggers have legal contracts to deliver timber to Japanese firms, and a halt in cutting could make the county liable for damages.

Chairman John F. McInnis and Baar expressed concern about potential damage suits against the county.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, declared flatly that logging should stop, especially because of the danger of siltation into Bolinas Lagoon.

Officials of the Audubon Canyon Ranch, the Marin Audubon Society, and the Bolinas Harbor District also urged a halt in logging.

Arrigoni finally brought the two-hour wrangling to a halt with his motion declaring present operations a nuisance.

Trial On Assault Charge Is Slated

A jury trial has been scheduled for Oct. 9 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for Stanley L. DeMartinis, of Petaluma, charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

He pleaded innocent in a preliminary hearing Monday before Judge Alexander J. McMahon. He is also charged with disturbing the peace and possession of alcoholic beverages when arrested Sept. 14 after an altercation on Jefferson Street erupted into gunfire.

Egypt, Jordan Hit By Israeli Jets

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes attacked military installations in Egypt and Arab guerrilla strongholds in Jordan today, the Israeli military command reported.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely after brief strikes.

The attack along the west coast of the Gulf of Suez in Egypt was in response to "continued Egyptian cease-fire violations," the spokesman said such as Egyptian shells yesterday that killed two Israeli soldiers.

The spokesman said Israeli jets pounded two guerrilla camps in the area of Tafila in Jordan about 10 miles south of the Dead Sea and a third base near Shaubak about 20 miles further south.

Another Israeli announcement said Arab guerrillas fired a number of mortar shells early today at the Jordan River frontier settlement of Gesher.

In Cairo, a confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, newspaper editor Mohammed H. Heikel, said the Israeli air strikes along the Gulf of Suez apparently are aimed at creating a radar-free opening to the Nile Valley for Israeli planes.

In Rabat, delegates of the 26 Moslem nations represented at the first Islamic summit conference voted unanimously to discuss resolutions condemning Israel and demanding Israeli withdrawal from all territory occupied in the 1967 six-day war.

The meeting was convened to condemn the fire in Jerusalem's Al Aksah mosque and Israel's annexation of the Old City. But the agenda approved by the Moslem leaders went much farther than expected.

Iran, Turkey and several of the black African nations represented at the conference maintain close relations with Israel and had not been expected to approve a statement containing such harsh language.

TV Crews Wear Out Welcome

Marin supervisors outlawed the filming of automobile commercials in the county yesterday because a film crew blocked West Marin traffic for up to 40 minutes two weeks ago.

The order, which applies only to the unincorporated area of Marin, resulted from the bitter complaints of two motorists who said they were delayed on Lucas Valley Road Sept. 10 and 11 because of filming of a Chevrolet commercial for television.

One of the motorists, Gloria Webster of Sausalito, said she and 30 other drivers were delayed more than 35 minutes at the evening rush hour.

Donald R. Frost, county public works director, told the board yesterday that his office had issued 22 permits in recent years to film crews, but that this was the first excessive delay reported.

He said portions of Panoramic Highway in Southern Marin and the Nicasio area were popular filming spots.

Frost said a $5 fee was charged for the permit, but recommended a substantial cash deposit be put up by the crews in the future, together with the implementation of safeguards against traffic delays.

However, the board, expressing anger over the public inconvenience caused two weeks ago, voted not to give filmmakers a second chance and banned filming by a unanimous vote.

Berkeley Fights Flood Of Drugs

BERKELEY (AP) — There are as many drug-charge arrests in this university city of 111,268 as in much larger San Francisco or Oakland, Police Chief B. R. Baker reported last night.

In a report asked by city councilmen, he said that "for the first eight months of 1969 there have been 1,299 investigations resulting in 1,994 arrests" —adding that "only 955 of those arrested were local residents."

San Francisco has a population of 740,316 and Oakland, 367,548.

Kidnap Feared On Peninsula

SAN MATEO (AP)—A Foster City girl missing since Monday afternoon, 8-year-old Shirley Nason, may have been abducted, police said today.

"It is beginning to look more and more like she was taken off the island," said Foster City's public safety chief, Gordon F. Penfold, after a large scale search Monday night and all day yesterday uncovered no clues.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Nason, left home afoot about 3 p.m. Monday to play. Her father, a building materials salesman, reported her missing at about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Volunteer Litter Chasers Gain Blessing From Board

A volunteer conservation group called Terra Nova, dedicated to fighting litter and pollution, won the blessing of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Ernest Maris of Kentfield and his wife Deborah said they have organized a group of young adults to clean up debris throughout the county.

"We're all volunteers," said Maris. "We have about 25 people working on weekends. We've paid out about $100 in dump charges alone. I don't think Marin has to be the dump yard for old autos and junk." He said Terra Nova has already removed about 20 tons of trash.

Maris said his group plans to clean up litter from areas such as Point Reyes, Tomales, Strawberry, an Geronimo and Novato.

"It's refreshing to listen to comments like this," said Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

"The least the county can do is to pay for dump charges," added Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to make recommendations on how the county can encourage the clean-up project.

Nursery Intruders Throw Own Party

Youngsters broke into the San Rafael High School Nursery Monday, helped themselves to three cans of juice, two jugs of cider and a record player and proceeded to have a party in the school yard, police reported yesterday.

Ten packages of cigarettes which had been lit but not smoked also were found along with the empty cans and jugs. The cigarettes were not taken from the nursery, police said.

Deadly Violin Spider Is Found

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A deadly violin spider from South America has been discovered here, the first reported in the central coastal area of California, authorities disclosed today.

The spider, the bite from which has been compared to a small rattlesnake, was first spotted in the state last June in the Sierra Madre area, near Los Angeles.

An aerospace engineer found the spider Aug. 25 hanging from the ceiling of an office on the base and managed to get it into a jar without being bitten.

Minor Injury Crash Ties Commuter Cars

Marilyn Facer Burgess, 31, of Albany, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple scrapes and bruises suffered when her car rolled on Highway 101 just south of the Corte Madera overpass, snarling commuter traffic for about 30 minutes.

The California Highway Patrol said the Albany woman swerved to avoid hitting another, skidded and rolled.

Markets To Close

BONN, Germany (AP) — All West German foreign exchange markets were asked today to close until after the nation's elections Sunday. The move is aimed at halting a run to German marks by foreign speculators expecting a revaluation upward of the currency.

Trustees Review New School's Difficulties

A list of small, annoying problems at the newly completed Thomas Page School was reviewed last night by the Cotati School District trustees.

Excessive noise which has had a disruptive influence on the classes was reported by Sup. Duncan A. Coleman, who said architects will be called in to review the acoustics and to determine how the program can be solved.

Coleman also reported that parking is inadequate and that a gravel parking lot for teachers and aides is being considered. He said that a barrier around the main switchboard is being considered to allow a quieter atmosphere for the operator.

The Cotati School District trustees also:

HOLIDAY — Declared Oct. 6 a student holiday to allow teachers to attend a workshop on textbooks.

PLANS — Heard a report that the building committee will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. to review preliminary plans for the addition to the Waldo Rohnert School.

OUTDOOR — Approved plans to have the sixth grade student at the Waldo Rohnert School spend a week at Camp Cazadero for outdoor education. There will be no cost to the school district, it was reported.

Jackie Onassis Joins Resort City Venture

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)— Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis is returning to Newport, where she married John F. Kennedy in 1953, in a multimillion dollar business venture to restore dozens of colonial homes.

Mrs. Onassis is first vice-president of the Newport Restoration Foundation, established by heiress Doris Duke, it was announced yesterday.

Miss Duke, 57 and the daughter of the late James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Co., is believed to have purchased 65 colonial buildings as well as farm land for the project.

Francis Comstock, executive director of the foundation, said restoration work already was underway on 12 houses, which should be finished in one year. The entire project would take 10 years, he said.

Bid Opening Date Set On 101 Work

The state Department of Public Works will open bids Oct. 15 in Sacramento for repair of a slide along Highway 101, south of Sierra Avenue, Cotati, caused by storms last winter.

About $70,000 is available for the project, the department reported. Work will include slide removal, erosion control and shoulder construction.

North Carolina now taxes gasoline 9 cents a gallon.

Eight Antiwar Activists Go On Trial In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Eight antiwar activists went on trial today charged with conspiring to incite riots during the tumultuous Democratic National Convention in Chicago last year.

The trial in U.S. District Court has been called "the second battle of Chicago...probably the most important political trial in the history of the United States."

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman called the court into session about 11 a.m. (EDT). His job as presiding judge of the trial could last four or five months.

Copper is the only metal common to every U.S. coin.

San Francisco To Be Center To Fight Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced today the creation of regional field offices in San Francisco and six other cities to aid state and local governments under the Justice Department's anticrime program.

He said offices would be established during the next six weeks in Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Denver and San Francisco by the department's anti-crime agency —the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). LEAA, said the field offices would play a key role in the program crated by the 1968 anticrime act to improve the nation's criminal justice system.

Is dsertwhip® just like whipping cream?

Of course not.

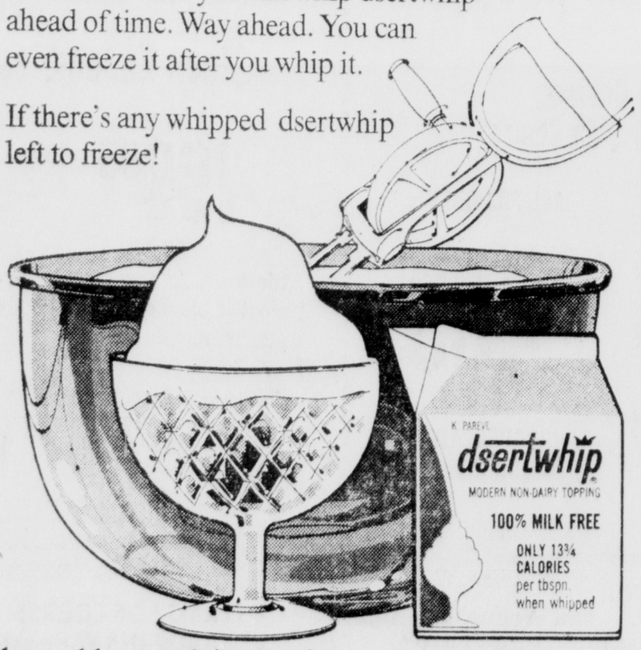
There'd be no purpose in that. We make it better than whipping cream. For one thing, it has the old-fashioned fresh flavor you love.

And it's 100% milk free.

It has fewer calories (only 13¾ per whipped tablespoon). It lasts longer (up to 3 weeks in the refrigerator). dsertwhip non-dairy topping costs less too. Look in the dairy case right next to the whipping cream. You'll be surprised at the savings.

No need to add anything to deliciously dependable dsertwhip either. Whip it just as it comes from the carton. And you can whip dsertwhip ahead of time. Way ahead. You can even freeze it after you whip it.

If there's any whipped dsertwhip left to freeze!



dsertwhip, non-dairy topping. Never lets you down.

ANNEXATION INTO DISTRICT OFFICIAL

Corte Madera Town Councilmen, sitting as the board of directors of the Corte Madera Sanitary District last night approved the official canvass of votes for the annexation of the Paradise Drive section of Tiburon to the district.

Annexation was approved Sept. 16 in a special election 39 to 26, including seven absentee ballots.

Policeman Resigns Over Tax Trouble

The Corte Madera Town Council last night accepted the resignation of policeman Gerald D. Fries, 36, after refusing to overturn a Sept. 11 decision by the town manager to fire him.

After three hours' discussion in a closed meeting requested by Fries, the council gave the officer the option of resigning because of financial improprieties.

The letter written by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher firing Fries accused him of "conduct unbecoming an officer" for failure to comply with the Department of Internal Revenue. The government attached the officer's wages shortly before he was fired. He had been a Corte Madera policeman since October 1967.

Usher's letter also stated Fries's personal record shows a "consistant pattern of failure" to comply with his financial obligations as a town employee, including "failure to respond positively to repeated admonitions to straighten out financial difficulties."

Fries was suspended in July because of this.

Usher's letter said that Police Chief David McIntosh informed him that Fries does not "measure up to the standards he has set for his department and I support him fully." Fries was ordered to hand in his badge immediately.

Usher and the councilmen said they would not comment on the charges against Fries or the amounts of money involved. Fries said that the matter involved the withholding tax for a business he once was connected with.

Parolee Jailed On False Name

A 39-year-old parolee who had been convicted of four felonies and who gave a false name when arrested in Marin last November, has been ordered to spend a year in Marin County Jail.

John R. Hartman, of no fixed address, who used the name of Algis Michael Budry, pleaded guilty early this year to possessing another person's credit card and striking an officer when arrested.

Because he was thought to have no criminal record, he was placed on two years' probation and released from jail where he had served 41 days.

When he failed to keep appointments with probation officers, his probation was revoked and a bench warrant issued. When he was recently rearrested, it came to the attention of Marin authorities that he had a long criminal record.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson Monday sent him to jail for a year, noting that he may be sent back to prison by the California Adult Authority because he had a loaded gun in his car when arrested.

There really is an Algis Michael Budry — a widely-known widely-travelled science fiction writer and magazine editor, living mostly in England.

BUT FUNDS ARE SHORT

Gifted Child Program Gets A Boost

San Rafael Board of Education and San Rafael Association for Gifted Children agreed last night more should be done for the gifted child.

Board president Herman L. Childress, however, reminded the audience that special programs cost money and San Rafael City Schools system is short of funds.

The needs of gifted students were stressed by Dr. Lauro Quiros, association president, who said the association wants to work with the schools.

He denied any "argumentative or antagonistic atmosphere," an impression he claimed was created by stories in the Independent-Journal Monday and yesterday.

(The I- Jyesterday described differences between the association and the schools on operation of a more able learner program.)

Supt. John F. Plank said the more able learner (MAL) program in elementary and high school districts is being redesigned to make it better.

Adrian VanHerwynen, the district's MAL program consultant, said he was "a little disturbed" by comments "that we haven't had much of a program."

The program hasn't been "highly structured" or "highly glamorous," but the students have been involved, he said.

He said the program "is the equivalent of or better than any other district in the county," but could be improved.

Quiros suggested a program where the gifted children could be together one period a day. When they get together "they turn each other on; one stimulates the other," he said.

The present program operates through the classroom teacher and gifted children aren't gathered together in a group.

Quiros pointed out that state funds, $100 a student, are available for MAL programs.

Board members warned that after a program is started, state funds can be cut off, leaving the local district to pay the costs.

Quiros said that in the ideal situation the gifted student would be given the attention given to a football player who is "screened, trained, given recognition and exposed to other experts."

Board member Carl S. Brown, an athletic coach at Sir Francis Drake High School, said perhaps the gifted students could get together after school as athletes do.

And board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said the program of testing to identify more able learners at the third grade "is ridiculous" and testing should start in the first grade.

VanHerwynen also said he wanted to "remove the cloud" resulting from a portion of a story in the Independent-Journal Monday which he said "cast unfair comments at a principal."

The father of a gifted child, who has moved from the district told the I-J a teacher and principal let the child skip the fourth grade "and she ended up with a teacher who was opposed to anyone skipping."

VanHerwynen said the principal didn't believe the child should skip a grade but "the father insisted."

A Plea For Continuation School Expansion Is Made

A Lucas Valley resident urged the San Rafael Board of Education last night to expand its continuation school which serves students who aren't making it, for one reason or another, in regular high school.

Frank Solomon Jr. of 757 Appleberry Drive, said he understood that there was a waiting list to be admitted to the school, labeled the work-study center, at 215 Mission Avenue.

He said he also heard reports that some students are breaking the law so they can get into the continuation school.

There are students who wish to attend the continuation school, and the school should have a program "to meet their needs," Solomon said.

Supt. John F. Plank said the works-study center has a capacity of about 50 and the staff believes that it is sufficient to meet needs.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. pointed out that not every student wants or is capable of handling the academic curriculum, and this stresses the need for vocational and pre-vocational training.

The San Rafael Board of Education Also:

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a $300,000 claim for the accidental electrocution of Bradley Roy Burnell, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Burnell of 80 East Crescent Drive, while he was working on football bleachers at San Rafael High School Aug. 2.

HIRED — Authorization the hiring of Norma Adwere-Boamah, girls physical education teacher, high school district, $9,949 a year; Judith Lipshutz, teacher of educable mentally retarded, high school district, $7,057; Bryan Castner, bus driver, $2,164; Betty Griffith, bus driver, $2,318; JoAnn Mondrogon, bus driver, $2,244, and 38 adult education instructors at $6.50 an hour.

WORK-STUDY CENTER — Assigned Ralph Phelps, administrative assistant, Terra Linda High School as administrator-in-charge of the work-study center.

TEACHER AIDE TRAINING — Heard a report on last summer's pre-service training program for teacher aides from Jack Kirby, director of administrative services, and Jack Austin, who evaluated the program.

CSBA ASSEMBLY — Voted for Kramer Jr., David D. Ring, a member of the Tamalpais High School District board, Eleanore D. Nettle of the San Mateo Junior College District board, and Alan H. Nichols of the San Francisco Unified District board, for election to the delegate assembly of the California School Boards Association.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Grace Boyce, switchboard operator, administration, Joan Fugina, bus driver, and Salvador Molina, custodian 1, San Rafael High School.

GAS LINE WORK — Approved relocation of gas lines at Terra Linda High at a cost of $3,148, because of line leakage.

DRUG ABUSE — Received a letter from the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association recommending a "structured program" on drug abuse to be used in elementary schools.

KINDERGARTEN — Received a letter from Mrs. Alan G. Goldman of 9 Hazel Court urging a return to the single-session kindergarten program where a kindergarten teacher has one class instead of two.

FREE LUNCH — Referred to Plank for further study a request from the Parents Advisory Committee of the Marin County Headstart program to institute a free lunch program for needy students from low income families.

CHILDREN'S CENTER — Received a letter from Betty L. Presley, director of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, asking the board to consider providing bus transportation to about eight primary grade pupils attending the San Rafael Children's Center.

BUS LEASE — Authorized the leasing of a 14-passenger bus from Hames Bus Sales of Fresno to transport educable mentally retarded pupils at a cost of $970 for 10 months, cost to be covered by state funds.

CLOSED SESSION — Adjourned to a closed session to discuss negotiations on a possible additional pay raise for teachers who were granted a 6 per cent hike in June under an "open contract" leaving room for a change in pay, and negotiations on a possible raise for administrators, who were covered under a two-year pay program last year.

Javelin-Cut Heart Hole Is Repaired

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Two weeks after the blunt end of a javelin sliced a hole in his heart, a cadet at the U.S. Air Force Academy is back in class and says he will soon be playing soccer again.

William J. Emmer, 19, Newark, Calif., was injured on an intramural field as he was jogging behing another cadet who was making short tosses with a javelin. Academy officials said Emmer failed to notice the javelin sticking in the ground and ran into the shaft.

One of the three surgeons who operated on the cadet, Dr. Richard G. Thompson of Colorado Springs, said quick action saved Emmer's life.

The shaft of the javelin, an eight-foot long pointed pole used in track and field competition, was jerked free as Emmer fell to the ground. The first to reach him, Capt. Joe Potter, a physical education instructor, applied pressure to the wound to stop bleeding.

Other academy personnel gave Emmer mouth-to-mouth resuscitation. Emergency equipment was rushed to the scene before Emmer was transfered to the academy hospital.

"The javelin had gone completely through the heart and also punctured the vena cava, the largest vein in the body," Thompson said. "I don't think the boy would have lived if it had not been for the spot emergency care he received."

With his heart patched up, Emmer, a second-year cadet, said he felt "almost as good as before the accident."

A regular on the academy's soccer team, Emmer said he would be able to play again when his broken breastbone heals "in about a month."

He attended classes yesterday soon after he was released from the hospital.

Only three years ago, an American scientist made the startling discovery that the tiny ground finch feeds by nipping the soft skin of a much larger bird and sipping the blood. It was the first time that blood-eating as a primary feeding method had ever been found among birds.

Border Check Cuts Business In Tijuana

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — This border city's sidewalks, once crowded with tourists, have been almost deserted by the fun-seeking, money-spending American.

The gringo has stopped coming to Tijuana and the once-bustling city isn't the same.

There aren't as many shoeshine boys and gum peddlers. Shops are empty and cab drivers don't bother to look up as people walk by.

Owners of curio shops, nightclubs and restaurants report business has dropped 40 to 75 per cent.

The flow of American tourists has diminished, the Mexicans say, because of lengthy delays at the border when they go back north.

The delays are caused by intensive searches by U.S. Customs in Operation Intercept, the campaign against drug smuggling that started Sunday.

"Dope smuggling must be stopped," Fortino Cabrere, president of the Tijuana Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday, "but not at any cost."

"At least not at the cost of such an economic blow to the people of Tijuana."

Elias Medel sells 15-cent tacos at a little stand on Avenida Revoluction, the main street.

"I've sold about 40 tacos," he said. "On a good day, sometimes I sell as many as 500. This is very bad."

The nine "parishes" into which Bermuda is divided were originally known as "tribes."

Use Of Cleaver Book Brings Up A Question Of Public Relations

San Rafael Board of Education last night debated controversial books and public reaction, sparked by Eldridge Cleaver's "Soul On Ice" and plays by LeRoi Jones.

The two controversial works are included in a supplementary reading list for an elective course in black literature for high school juniors and seniors.

Board member Paul L. Jones said there are people who object to the books and the public should be informed they are under consideration before they are put into use.

Using the books before airing the issue would generate controversy later and alienate the public, he said.

Jones, who said he read part of "Soul On Ice," described it as "lousy literature" and "filthy book to read." He conceded, however, "if used right it could make strong points," and could be of value in a black literature course.

His main point, he said, was that the board should go to the community with the issue before the community comes to the board. "To clear it up before it happens is good public relations," he said.

One parent in the audience agreed, saying, "the parent ought to know before the kids get the book."

Member John C. Pfeiffer said the board should find out from the teachers why the teachers want to use the books. Supt. John F. Plank said a report on use of the books would be made to the board.

Jones felt that teachers shouldn't put obviously controversial books on lists until they were cleared.

Also member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said there isn't any book that isn't controversial to someone and that there was a suit over the Bible in Maryland.

He said he wasn't going to read all books listed and make literary judgments. "I want to hear the teacher's reasons and if they make sense, I'm with it," Kramer said.

And member Carl J. Brown said the board has to have confidence "in the people we work with."

Plank said that in adopting a course of study the board was approving basic textbooks, but had no legal responsibility on adoption of supplementary materials.

Jones replied that when a book is in the school, the parent assumes it has been approved by the board "and that means recommendation."

Plank said if parents object, a student can be excused from reading a book, but he expected that since the class was in black literature, the works of Cleaver and Jones would be discussed.

Board members approved the courses of study for high schools and elementary schools for 1969-70 with a call for a report on use of supplementary materials in the black literature class.

The vote was 4-1 with Brown dissenting.

Reports Due On Correction Of Pollution

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Progress reports from the Novato Sanitary and Bolinas Community Public Utility districts, under orders by the San Franicsco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to cease pollution, will be reviewed by the board in its all-day meeting starting at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Alameda County Public Works Building, in Hayward.

Also on the agenda is adoption of criteria for formal enforcement proceedings against 18 dischargers, including six in Richardson Bay, San Quentin prison and San Rafael Sanitation District.

The board also will consider a regulation of waste disposal onto land, and set new deadlines for the City of San Francisco to cease its massive pollution of the bay.

Three Drinking Driving Fines

Three persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

John Michael Riordan, 39, of San Francisco, who was arrested April 1 on Highway 101, was fined $302 and placed on six months' probation.

John Leonard Smith, 43, of Santa Rosa, who was arrested Aug. 7, 1968, on Highway 101, was ordered to spend three weekends in jail, pay a fine of $300 and planced on one-year probation.

Dennis Michael Bradley, of 865 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, was placed on one-year probation and fined $50.

Waterfront Owners Complain On Proposed Sausalito Restrictions

Waterfront property owners attacked the city's pending waterfront development as "totally unrealistic" last night as the Sausalito City Council held its second public hearing on the plan.

Architect Rene Cardinaux, representing a group of waterfront property owners, told the council that the proposed plan would make it economically unfeasible to develop businesses because of unrealistic floor area ratios.

He also said that the parking plan for the area was such that it would do little more than handle the downtown area's overflow.

Floor area ratios determine how much of a piece of commercial property may be built over. Cardinaux told the council that due to high building costs, a businessman must be allowed to utilize more than the proposed maximum 50 per cent of his property in order to realize a reasonable return on his investment.

Cardinaux also said that the parking plan as proposed by William T. Spangler, whose firm was the principal designer of the development, would not handle the number of cars the businessmen hoped the waterfront area would attract.

Councilman Wyman Hicks quickly countered by asking Cardinaux to give the council some idea of the size of the development they (the businessmen) anticipated, adding, "as I see it, you are talking about an area that will have an annual gross sales of $45 million, twice what downtown Sausalito now has" "The council has to know".

Cardinaux said he could not be exact as to what size the development eventually would be.

Last night's discussion followed almost the same pattern as last week's first public hearing. The council was presented with several packages of new written material from both the planning commission and City Mgr. George M. Patterson, who is on vacation, but did not discuss the material.

Instead, the council set Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. in city hall for the next public hearing on the waterfront plan and indicated that the new material would be discussed at that time.

Patterson will be back from vacation on that date, the council was told.

Eight Inducted Into Service

Eight men were inducted into the armed forces in August by the Marin County Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer has reported yesterday.

They are: Brooks A. Liggatt of San Anselmo, Donald P. Johnson of Fairfax, Steven P. Cramer of Novato, David C. Morris of San Anselmo, Stephen W. Stewart of Novato, Kenneth D. Johnston of San Rafael and Carl V. Houck of San Rafael.

The county draft quota for September was 30, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinzer said. The quota for October is seven.

Take Along A Picnic Basket

Families heading toward Silverado Country Club in Napa for the Concours d'Elegance on Sunday may wish to take along a "tailgate picnic" to serve upon arrival.

Some enjoy spreading an elegant tablecloth on the grass just beyond the rows of elegant autos and setting out a storybook repast with wine in sparkling crystal, hors d'oeuvres and watercress sandwiches sans bread crusts. Linen napkins appear as by magic.

But others like to unpack the cold cuts or fried chicken along with the paper plates and napkins. The setting of rolling hills, manicured greens and shady old trees lends itself to either taste in picnics and the warm fall sunshine usually cooperates.

Ideas for the picnic basket may include stuffed eggs, and celery, a crisp greens and tomato salad or potato combination, sponge cake, or apple cupcakes. To get fancy, take along a chicken liver pate in a ring mold kept chilled in a cooler box and unmold on a plate to serve with party-size rye bread slices.

CHICKEN LIVER PATE

¼ pound (1 stick) butter
1 medium onion, peeled and minced
2½ pounds chicken livers
6 hard-cooked eggs
Salt and pepper to taste
Parsley sprigs

In a skillet, melt the butter. Gently cook the onion in the butter until golden; add chicken livers and cook gently until just pink through. Cut up livers small, then puree in electric blender with onion, and liquid in skillet; mix with pureed eggs. Add salt and pepper. Butter a ring mold and pack liver mixture into it.

Cover and chill thoroughly. Loosen sides with spatula and turn out; if some of the mixture doesn't come out, remove it and use for patching mold. Arrange parsley sprigs around mold.

SPREADS SUPREME

For a festive spread, mix 1 can (2¼ ounces) deviled ham with 1 jar (2½ ounces) pimiento cheese spread, 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. This yields 1 cup. Use as a spread.

If you're topping crackers or filling celery, try this spread: mash 1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat with a fork. Add to it ½ cup chopped nuts, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 teaspoons Worchestershire sauce and 6 tablespoons of mayonnaise. This yields 2¼ cups.

EGGS STUFFED WITH CRABMEAT

6 hard-cooked eggs
¾ cup crabmeat
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup mayonnaise
Few grains of paprika

Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Scoop out and mash yolks. Remove any cartilage from crabmeat and break the meat into small pieces. Combine crabmeat, egg yolks, and celery with mustard, salt and mayonnaise.

Mix well. Fill egg white halves with crabmeat mixture and sprinkle with paprika. Serves 6.

Eggs stuffed with chicken. — Substitute 1 cup of finely chopped cooked or canned chicken for the crabmeat. Reduce mustard to ½ teaspoon and mayonnaise to ¼ cup. About 200 calories per serving.

Eggs stuffed with ham — Substitute a 2¼-ounce can of deviled ham for the crabmeat. Omit salt, mayonnaise, and paprika. About 120 calories per serving.

CHILI CRAB CANAPE

(Makes 2 cups spread)

1 15½ oz. can (approx. 2 cups) chili beans, drained
1 7½ oz. can Alaska king crab
½ cup green pepper, chopped
2 Tbsp. onion, chopped
2 Tbsp. mayonnaise
salt, to taste
squeeze of fresh lemon juice

Combine all ingredients. Toss carefully with fork to avoid breaking beans. Serve on top of brown or black bread rounds or as stuffing for celery.

This salad will be a delicious addition to your picnics. The sauce, instead of the usual high calorie mayonnaise, is made of sour cream and cottage cheese. And, to give a gourmet touch, an ounce of crumbled blue cheese can be added just before serving.

NEW POTATO SALAD

(6 to 8 servings)

1 cup creamed cottage cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
4 cups sliced cooked potatoes
1 cup sliced green onions with tops
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup diced dill pickle or dill pickle relish
3 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
1 package (1 oz.) blue cheese, crumbled

Combine cottage cheese, sour cream, mustard and salt. Pour over potatoes, onion, celery, green pepper, pickle and eggs; mix carefully. Chill several hours to blend flavors. Fold in blue cheese.

CRISP PICNIC SALAD

A tote-along salad that's easy to assemble ahead and toss on the spot. Prepare dressing ahead. Take all ingredients along in plastic containers.

1 head iceberg lettuce
2 medium-size western tomatoes
1 green pepper
8 to 10 radishes
2 or 3 green onions
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon chili powder
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ cup corn oil

Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Wash remaining vegetables; trim radishes and onions. Place lettuce along with other vegetables in plastic bowl with cover or in plastic bag. Combine sugar, seasoned salt, mustard, paprika and chili powder in small plastic bowl or jar with cover. Stir in lemon juice and vinegar. Add oil. Cover and shake to blend. Carry plastic containers to picnic. Just before serving, tear lettuce into bite-size pieces, cut tomatoes into wedges and green pepper into strips and slice radishes and onions; combine in plastic bowl. Shake dressing to blend; pour over vegetables. Toss lightly. Makes 6 servings.

CANTALOUPE-PINEAPPLE COMPOTE

1 medium cantaloupe
1 can (8¼ ounces) sliced pineapple
2 tablespoons kirsch (clear cherry brandy)

Cut cantaloupe in half the long way; remove seeds. With a melonball cutter or ½-teaspoon measuring spoon cut balls from cantaloupe. Cut each pineapple ring into 8ths. Mix cantaloupe, pineapple, pineapple syrup and kirsch. Cover and chill. Makes 4 servings.

These little cakes will keep nicely moist because of the fruit in them. After cooling, store them in a round tin such as is used for fruit cakes.

APPLE CUPCAKES

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup lard
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
½ cup cold coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped pecans
½ cup chopped dates
1 cup pared and chopped tart apples

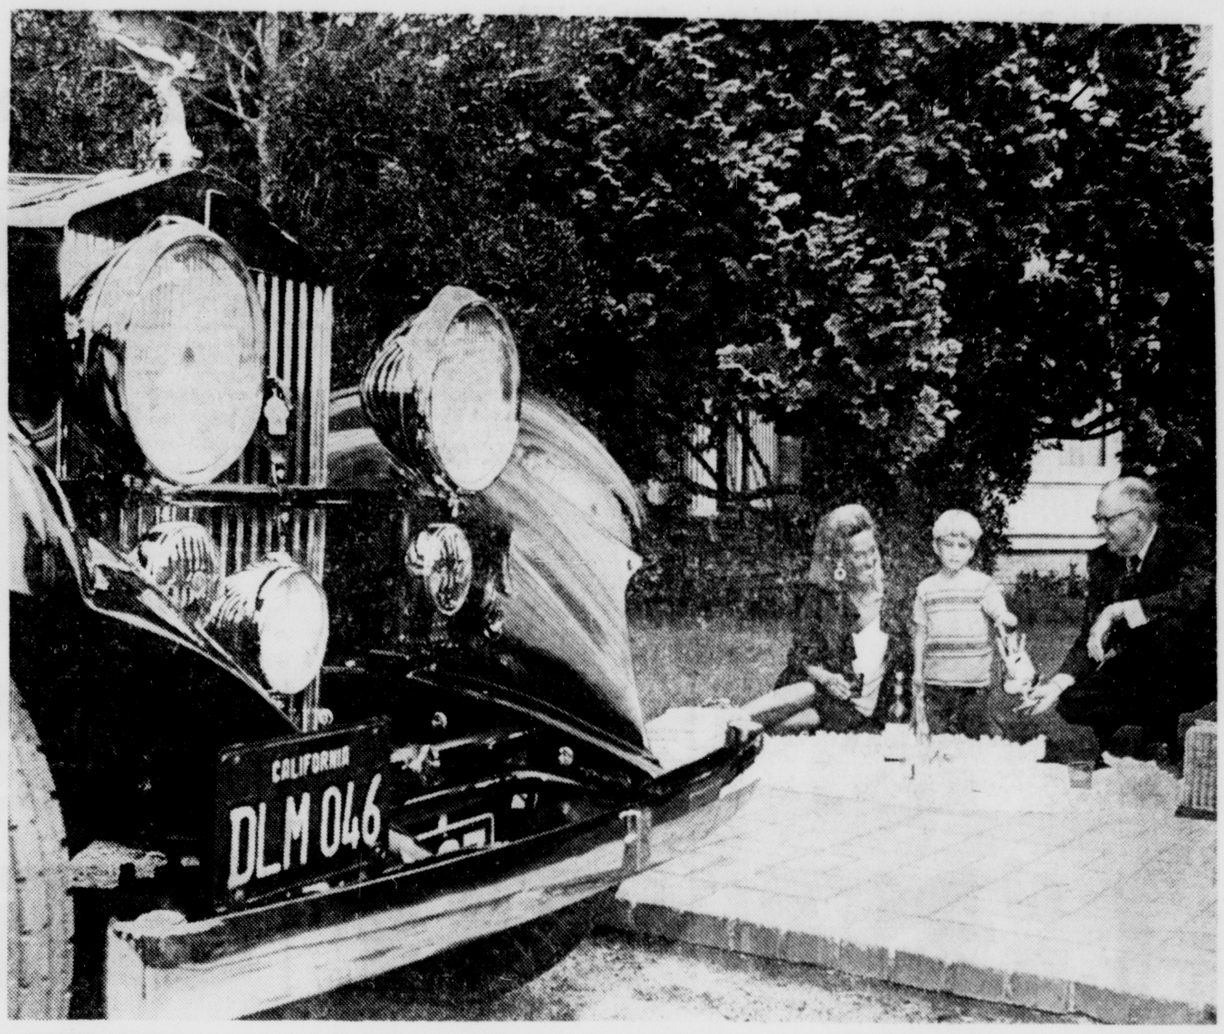
Grease 24 medium muffin pans. Sift flour, soda, baking powder, cinnamon, ground cloves, allspice and nutmeg. Cream lard, sugar and salt until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Combine coffee and vanilla. Mix dry ingredients with nuts, dates and apples. Fold in dry ingredients alternately with liquid. Fill muffin pans ⅔ full. Bake in a moderate over (350? F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

WONDERFUL SPONGE CAKE

5 large eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup cold water
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon vanilla

In a medium mixing bowl beat the egg whites and salt until they hold soft peaks; then gradually beat in ½ cup of the sugar until they hold straight stiff peaks. Add water and remaining ½ cup sugar to yolks in a large mixing bowl; without washing beater, beat rapidly until pale yellow and thickened. Add flour and vanilla to yolks; beat gently, scraping sides of bowl in a few times, just until blended. Fold in whites.

Turn into a 9 by 3 inch ungreased angelfood cake pan. Cut through batter with a knife. Bake in a 325 degree oven for 1 hour. Carry in pan to picnic and invert pan to remove onto plate for serving.



TAKE ALONG a white cloth and a picnic basket full of dainty sandwiches or pate to spread upon party bread, or even wine and bread sticks, for an elegant picnic prior to the Concours d'Elegance set Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Silverado Country Club in Napa. The concours, sponsored each year by the Marin Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home, is headed this year by Mrs. Marianne Dant, left. She shares picnic basket contents with young Gordon Wright and Robert A. Davies of Belvedere, whose 1934 Rolls Royce Phanton II coupe is waiting in the driveway. Fine fall weather makes September and October picnicking especially popular.

Raisin Torta Is Different Cake For Birthday Blow-Out

Even sophisticated adults will think a birthday grand when the hostess serves the birthday torta. Use a package of yellow cake mix for the layers. Ricotta cheese combines with seedless raisins, candied cherries, orange peels, almonds and grated chocolate for the superb filling.

RAISIN BIRTHDAY TORTA

A wonderfully different cake, whether or not you spike it with rum.

1 (1-pound 2½-ounce) package yellow cake mix
1 pound ricotta cheese
⅛ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
1 cup whipping cream
1 cup chopped seedless raisins
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
¼ cup chopped candied orange peel
½ cup chopped candied cherries
1 (1-ounce) square semi-sweet chocolate
¼ cup dark rum
½ teaspoon vanilla

Prepare cake mix as package directs, baking in 2 (9-inch) layer cake pans. Cool. Beat cheese with salt, ¼ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cream. Stir in raisins, almonds, orange peel, cherries and grated chocolate. Split cake layers; sprinkle cut surfaces with rum. Put layers together with cheese filling in between. Whip remaining cream with remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and vanilla. Spread over top of cake. Decorate with additional cherries and raisins as desired. Makes 12 servings.

TIME-GOES-BY CAKE

Decorate the cake with numbers around the clock in frosting, paper cut-outs or fondant flowers.

1 cup seedless raisins
Water
½ cup butter
2½ cups brown sugar (packed)
3 eggs
3 (1-ounce) squares sweetened chocolate
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
½ cup buttermilk
2 teaspoons vanilla
Chocloate Butter Frosting

Cover raisins with hot water and let stand while preparing batter. Beat butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Blend in melted chocolate. Resift flour with salt and soda. Add to chocolate mixture in thirds, alternating with buttermilk, beginning and ending with flour. Blend in vanilla and drained raisins. Stir in 1 cup boiling water. Pour very thin batter into 2 greased and floured 9-inch cake pans. Baue in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Let stand in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto racks to cool. Turn one layer upside down and frost with Chocolate Butter Frosting. Cover with second layer top side up. Frost top and sides of cake. Makes about 12 servings.

Chocolate Butter Frosting: Beat ⅓ cup soft butter Gradually blend in 3½ cups sifted powdered sugar alternately with ¼ cup warm coffee. Add 1 melted (1-ounce) square unsweetened chocolate and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

* Or 1½ teaspoons vinegar in ½ cup of milk.

LISA ARMSTRONG, right, holds up the skirt Stacey White has made for herself, after learning that the one Stacey is currently working on will be for her. Lisa, seven, is very impressed with her eight-year-old friend's accomplishment. The modest little seamstress, tried, but was unable to keep Lisa's skirt a surprise.

Stacey The Seamstress

By JOAN LISETOR

Pixie-faced Stacey White was in a fabric store with her mother, Mrs. Ann White of Larkspur, looking at ready made patchwork fabric.

"I can make that," the eight-year-old told her mother, an accomplished seamstress.

"She has been at it ever since," says Mrs. White, who helps Stacey cut out the little squares because being left handed she has a problem with scissors.

"I do most of the rest of it myself," explains Stacey, who has completed her first skirt by sewing the patches together on her sewing machine alternating bright red strips between each strip of patches.

Having finished and worn her own skirt, Stacey decided, after receiving so many compliments on it, to make one for her friend, Lisa Armstrong, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie T. Armstrong, also of Larkspur.

"I'll be so proud to wear it and tell all of my friends my eight-year-old cousin made it for me," says Lisa, who explains she and Stacey are really just-pretend cousins.

"She's such a tomboy," says Mrs. West. "I just can't get used to seeing her perched up on a chair, hunched over the sewing machine."

Future Of Catholic Education To Be Examined By P-TA Groups

For the first time in its 22-year existence, the San Francisco Archidiocesan Convention of Catholic Parent-Teacher Groups will be held at Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield. More than 400 delegates from Santa Clara, San Mateo, San Francisco and Marin counties will be on hand for the day-long meeting Friday.

Most Rev. Joseph T. McGucken, Archibishop of San Francisco, will speak during the luncheon. The Marin County Presidents Council PTG, and Marin Catholic Women's Club will host the convention.

Its theme, "With Eyes to the Future," an examination for the future of Catholic education, will be explored in panel discussion and workshops. A program of slides delineating what is being done now to broaden the educational base for children in Catholic schools will also be shown.

The day's activities begin with registration at 8:45 a.m., followed by mass in the high school auditorium at 9:30 a.m. Co-celebrants for the mass are the Rev. Bernard A. Cummins, archdiocesan superintendent of schools, and his assistants in archdiocesan education, the Very Rev. John J. Scanlan, the Rev. Pierre DuMaine and the Rev. William Lowery.

The general session following will be headed by Mrs. Frank Della Maggiore of San Jose, archdiocesan president of PTG. The Very Rev. Edward Dullea, principal of Marin Catholic and convention host, will extend his welcome, as will Mrs. David Vattuone, president of Marin County Presidents' Council, PTG, and Mrs. Charles Chiapellone, president of Marin Catholic Women's Club.

The panel discussion is to be conducted by Father Cummins, convention moderator and his assistants, Fathers Scanlan, DuMaine and Lowery.

Following luncheon and the address by Archbishop McGucken, four workshops will be held. The day's activities will end at 2:30 p.m.

Reservation chairman is Mrs. John Fixes.

THE OFFICERS Wives Club at Hamilton Air Force Base will hold its Hi and Bye Coffee at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, at the Cabana Club.

The coffee is being sponsored by wives of officers of the 78th fighter wing. Mrs. Robert McRae is chairman and Mrs. Benne Miles is co-chairman. Assisting them will be Mmes. Merle Hicken and Gordon Masterson, awards and D. K. Larson, decorations.

Booths will be set up at the coffee to give information on the service organizations including the Well-Baby Clinic, Red Cross and Blood Drive.

NOVATO CHAPTER 609, Order of Eastern Star will hold a stated meeting and initiation at 8 p.m., Thursday at the Druids Hall in Novato.

Mrs. Jack W. Dale is chairman assisted by Mmes. Lee Wise, R. C. Briggs, Janet McWilliams, David Hixon and Mr. and Mrs. John Craig.

A VOYAGE through European waterways will be discussed by Ed Cadogan, Corinthian Yacht Club member, at the dinner program at the Tiburon Club Friday.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m., and the program will begin at 9:09 p.m. John Cutler is chairman.

Dinners To Follow Gaslight, Horseless Carriage Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Several members of the Jack and Jill Branch of Marin General Hospital Volunteers have planned parties to follow the group's annual fund-raiser, "Gaslight and the Horseless Carriage" on Saturday evening at the Campbell Bishop automobile agency in Corte Madera.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mueller of Tiburon will be hosting a large buffet dinner after the event. Among their guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Boyd, John Maillard, Phillip Judson, James Neely, Roger MacMillan, Eric Schmidt and William Meyers of Tiburon; Messrs. and Mmes. John Posey and Gerald Courteau of San Anselmo; the Harold Beavers and Duane Weeks of Mill Valley.

Also in Tiburon, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott will be giving an early Sunday morning breakfast and Bloody Mary party for their out of town guests and a few local friends.

In Terra Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Conway plan to have a large neighborhood contingent at their dinner party. Among their neighbors will be the Messrs. and Mmes. John Graves, Ray Meek, James Sherbert, Donald Pfister and Lee Jayred. Other guests include Mmes. Robert Berreman, Robert Strahle, and Ron Mires, and the Messrs. and Mmes. Matthew McGowan, Michael Hogan, John DeGiorgio and Al Ramirez.

A BON VOYAGE party was held last Monday by Charles Gottfried in honor of Kenneth M. Edlin of San Rafael, who is joining his wife for an extended tour of Europe. Mrs. Edlin has been in Europe for the past four weeks, visiting relatives in France and Mr. Edlin will join her in Athens for a tour of the Greek islands.

Cocktails were served at Mr. Gottfried's Sausalito home and a nine course dinner followed at The Imperial Palace in San Francisco.

Among the guests attending were William Wunsh of Greenbrae, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Amore of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Habit and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Kolthoff of the Peninsula.

A DINNER will be hosted by the Edmond C. Wards of Kentfield tomorrow evening prior to the opera preview of "Fidelio" to be held at the Marin Art and Garden Center. Guests will include the speaker, Speight Jenkins Jr., news editor of Opera News magazine, and his wife, from New York City, the Swedish baritone with the San Francisco Opera, Ingvar Wixell and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Fowler of Kentfield.

Mrs. Ward is chairman of the San Francisco Opera Action of Marin, which will sponsor the preview.

MARIN FRIENDS are learning of the birth of a son to Dr. and Mrs. H. Wallace Vandever in Oklahoma City, Okla. The baby, who was born on Sept. 20, has two brothers, Bill and Bob Cowart. Mrs. Vandiver, the former Mrs. Cary Cowart Jr., lived in Belvedere before her marriage to Dr. Vandever. The baby will be named William Kelly Vandever, in honor of his maternal grandfather, William Kelly Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Warren are residents of La Jolla and Tulsa, Okla.

Assemblyman Says Fair Sex Short-Changed In '69

Women did not get a fair shake from the 1969 legislature, Assemblyman March K. Fong (D-Oakland) told a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County at the Holiday Inn, Terra Linda, last night.

"The legislature failed almost totally to respond to the concerns of modern woman," she said. "No session was more discouraging in its treatment of women."

Mrs. Fong called the governor's willingness to continue the State Commission on the Status of Women as a single ray of hope, but termed it inconsistent that he had followed up none of the commission's recommendations during the past year.

Mrs. Fong said that there was little sense in continuing the commission while systematically turning down the recommendations it has to offer.

She cited as inconsistent the governor's approval of the bill eliminating advantage to women in divorce laws (with which she agreed) and then killing the bill giving equal job opportunities to women.

She also said that the governor vetoed the bill that would enable day care center to be set up entirely with federal money, which had passed the legislature without opposition.

"I can only think there must have been a mix-up on the governor's staff. I'm bewildered by the governor's veto. It's a difficult to believe that he would veto $25 million in federal funds."

She said that the child care center program will not be helped this year and sees little prospect of things being better next year.

Mrs. Fong also said that consumer legislation, which she has championed, has been killed consistently by the legislature, and that her bill to create guidance and information centers to assist the "disoriented and displaced" mature women who is unprepared for the lonely years without husband or children was killed both in the 1967 and 1968 legislative sessions.

This year Mrs. Fong said she changed the bill to ask the Commission on the Status of Women to study needs of this age group and set up ideas to help girls prepare more realistically for their mature years.

"The big problem is that women as women do not have political clout in this state," she said.

She encouraged women to expand their numbers in organizations to encourage others to take advantage of their positions, not as women but as citizens, to influence public policy.

"Women are the only 'minority group' which exceed the majority in numbers," the assemblyman said.

MR. AND MRS. John Dustman will live in Chico, where they are both attending Chico State College. They were married in Oakland. Mrs. Dustman is the former Renee Cameto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cameto of Oakland, and John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Dustman of Novato. (Jack Chinn photo)

Pay For Babysitter Should Depend Upon The Situation

DEAR HELEN:

I just couldn't let Mrs. J. B.'s letter about today's low babysitting rates go unanswered. Don't know when I've been so riled. Her suggestion that sitters hold out for $1.00 an hour really burned me.

I have two children, seven and 10, and pay the going rate of 50 cents an hour for a sitter. My youngsters are in bed when she arrives. She doesn't have to feed them, amuse them, change them. All she does is park herself in front of the TV. If for some reason you have to call home, the line is busy — she's talking to her boy friend. I come back to empty Coke bottle and glasses in the sink; remains of food the sitter has eaten.

When these girls can learn to do their jobs well, bring their own snacks and supply their own transportation, then they can strike for a raise. I pay a maid $1.50 an hour to clean my whole house and she works. If sitter rates ever go to $1.00 an hour, teen-agers will find themselves out of jobs, as a responsible adult will work for that amount, and we prefer this kind. — JOAN

DEAR HELEN:

My girl friend has been baby sitting for 50 cents an hour. Then recently I went on the job with her (with permission from the boss.)

The responsibility of caring for those kids is worth much more than the paltry $2.50 she took home that day. She was busy almost every minute. She left the house clean and the kids happy, and believe me, she was tired at the end of five hours! People should be ashamed to offer only 50 cents an hour for substitute mothering.

Now, whenever these folks call my girl to sit at this rate, I offer her 75 cents an hour to go out with me. — K.M.M.

DEAR HELEN:

What about working women? They can't pay $1.00 an hour for a sitter when sometimes they only earn $1.75 an hour or less. I don't like to work, but I must, to pay taxes. My sitter receives $25 a week (for 40 hours) plus meals, and I'm so glad she is satisfied with it. — E. C.

DEAR HELEN:

In New York City, we professional people pay from $1.50 to $2.00 an hour for baby sitters. though my husband is a doctor, we can't afford to go out many evenings, for with the price of meals, shows, etc., even the smallest night out, plus sitter comes to $50.00. Those people who complain about 75c or $1.00 per hour don't know how lucky they are.—MANHATTAN CLIFF DWELLER

DEAR HELEN:

In my seven years of hiring sitters, I have had an impressive array of teen-agers come into my home under the guise of babysitting. Of the lot, only one could qualify for $1.00 an hour. The others have been nice girls, but completely lacking in the skills of child care. I feel sorry for them when they have homes of their own.! — B.

DEAR HELEN:

If I happen to find a good sitter, I pay her more than the going rate, and tip her generously besides, but let's face it, only one out of 10 teen-agers is worth more than 50 cents an hour. If we'd let it be known we would pay these girls what they are worth, and fire the incompetent ones, the rate would stabilize where it should be. — MRS. A. G.

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with Mrs. J. B. that 50 cents an hour for sitting is archaic, but a flat rate of $1.00 is in some cases too much, especially if there is only one child who sleeps all evening.

We pay a basic rate of 75 cents an hour (we have three children) but we tip an extra dollar if the kids must be fed and put to bed. We leave goodies for the sitter. So far, our sitters seem to have a good time, and without my asking it, they leave the house clean, everything in order. We're — MUTUALLY HAPPY.

Tonsils Are Germ Traps, May Be Better In Than Out

Parents who insist upon the removal of their child's tonsils at the first sign of a sore throat or irritation may be making a serious mistake.

Why? Because tonsils are not the culprits most of us think they are says the California Medical Association. Quite the contrary, in fact. Tonsils play a vital role in the child's defense against infection. They are veritable vaccine factories, producing special cells which kill invading bacteria. These patches of spongy tissue, located at strategic points on the inside of the throat, are constantly trapping and battling bacteria and other air pollutants. Not only germs in the air, but also germs that get into the mouth are likely to be destroyed if trapped by the tonsils. Since small children have no hesitancy about placing dirty fingers, toys, and various strange objects in their mouths, the advantage of these automatic, built-in germ traps is obvious.

Why, then, are some parents so anxious to have them removed? Medical surveys show that the two major reasons voiced by parents for removal of tonsils are (1) size, (2) frequent respiratory infections — colds and sore throats.

As for size, it has been proved that large tonsils have no effect on a child's health. Size is no more reason for removing healthy tonsils than it is for removing any healthy organ. Of course, if tonsils are so very large they may influence swallowing or enlarged because they are overloaded with germs and thus likely to be a source of infection, then they should be removed.

As for respiratory infections, it has been found that they are just as common in children after the removal of tonsils as before. In fact, one extensive study of 909 children in England disclosed that those who had their tonsils removed actually had more colds than those who retained them.

And just because one child in the family may need a tonsillectomy is no reason for parents to decide to have all of the children subjected to the operation at the same time. Each patient should present definite indications for such an operation.

The popular belief that tonsillectomy is a minor operation with no risk involved is also erroneous. All surgical procedures involve a degree of danger, and even though the risk be small — if it is unnecessary, why take it?

Certainly there are instances where tonsillectomies are essential. The decision to operate, however, should be made by the physician — not the parents — and then only after thorough examination and period of observation. Parents should never try to talk a doctor into performing an operation his judgment indicates is needless.

Series On Children's Problems

Situations relating to foster children as well as natural children will be discussed in a 10 part lecture series co-sponsored by the Marin County Foster Parents Association and the College of Marin.

The series begins tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors chambers at the Marin County Civic Center. Speaker for the opening meeting is Mel Augustine, supervising probation officer, whose talk will focus on the need for foster parents. He will discuss the training and challenge one can expect as a full time foster parent and also the past, present and future uses of foster parents.

"A concerted effort is being made to educate, train and assist probation officers and social workers on the use of foster homes and working with foster parents," Augustine says.

"By utilizing the Foster Parents Association the agencies have been able to organize a program that would be worthy of the professional workers as well as the foster parent and any person interested in foster care and/or problems relating to children."

Augustine says the series, although geared to the problems of the difficult minority of foster children, is of general interest to parents who are facing or may face in the future problems with their own children.

"Anyone interested in becoming a foster parent will benefit from the series," he says, "and we are particularly hoping to reach persons who have resisted foster homes in their neighborhoods."

Dr. Rudy Kupfer, supervisor of special education for the Marin County Schools, at the Oct. 2 meeting, will discuss the physically disabled or handicapped child.

Oct. 9 Dirk West, coordinator of the mentally exceptional program for the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office, will discuss the mentally retarded or slow child.

Richard Pancost, director of Sunny Hills, is the Oct. 16 speaker on the subject of emotionally disturbed children.

Dr. Janet Lyons, psychologist and consultant for the Tamalpais School District and therapist in private practice, is scheduled on Oct. 23 to speak on the problems of teen-agers.

On Oct. 30 behavior modification will be discussed by Mrs. Barbara Tarasoff, principal of Marindale School. Mrs. Tarasoff, a behavior modification psychologist, is an educational specialist, specializing in counseling and guidance. Most of her experience has been working with parents and school authorities on behavior problems within the school setting.

Drugs will be the topic on Nov. 6 with a member of Synanon to lead the discussion.

Dr. Patricia Hallinan of the Marin County Health Department, is scheduled for the Nov. 13 meeting. She is an authority on the subject of sexual behavior and the problems in Marin County in the fields of sexual deviance and venereal diseases and their impact on the community.

Working with the professionals in the various county agencies will be the topic on Nov. 20 when Helen Williams, supervisor for the Department of Public Social Services, will speak.

The foster home under stress will be discussed on Dec. 4 by Chet Villalba, who is supervising the Family Service Agency of Marin. He is also in private practice for the Marin Counseling Service and a former deputy probation officer and supervisor in the probation department.

On Dec. 6 at 9:45 a.m. a conducted tour of Marin County Juvenile Hall will be given as a termination to the course. A certificate will be presented to all who complete the free series. The series or any part of it is open to all.

SAUSALITO OVERRULED

Seven Win School Transfers

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Transfers of seven pupils out of the Sausalito School District, all of which had been denied by the district board, were granted last night by the Marin County Board of Education.

Six of the children were allowed to transfer to Mill Valley School District; the seventh, to Larkspur.

Votes on all were unanimous by the six members of the county board present at a special meeting at the county schools office in Corte Madera. Lee C. Richardson was absent.

The transfers were granted despite a warning by David E. Freedheim of the Sausalito board: "I expect that we'll approve every inter-district transfer that comes to us if you approve these tonight."

County board member James A. Carroll, who conducted the hearings, declared the county board had considered each case individually and was "not trying to blanket any that come before us." He added: "We would certainly recommend that the Sausalito board give more time to study these cases . . . We think they should actually do the in-depth study Mr. (Phillip W.) Schneider alluded to."

Carroll asked that "someone" carry this message to the Sausalito district. Its four representatives — Superintendent Schneider, Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato and trustees Freedheim and James E. Muldoon — had all left before the board emerged from two hours and 10 minutes of closed-door discussion to grant the transfers.

Before the closed session, the board heard from parents their reasons why they sought to have their children transferred out of the district; from the Sausalito district, objections to all the transfers, and from Mill Valley and Larkspur districts, agreement to accept the children if directed to do so by the county board.

Transfers to the Mill Valley district were granted for three children of Ben E. Randolph of 708 Drake Avenue, Marin City; two children of Ken Elkington of 153 Toyon Lane, Sausalito (who was an unsuccessful candidate for the Sausalito board in April), and one child of Kristina Weckler of 97 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito. Transfer to Larkspur district was granted for one child of Pauline S. Satur of 53 Cazneau Avenue, Sausalito. All the children were attending or would have attended Martin Luther King School in Sausalito.

The parents all presented a similar story. All claimed that their children had been harassed at the Sausalito school, that there was lack of supervision, little homework, lax discipline, fear of physical violence, and little effort to inculcate good study habits. Several also held that report card grades are meaningless.

Superintendent Schneider's response to all was that the situation is different this year at Martin Luther King School and it should not be judged on the past.

"It's interesting that there are literally hundreds of white youngsters who go to the school who are not harassed," he said.

"Parents and board members have been enormously impressed" with the improvement at King School since it opened the new term Sept. 10, claimed Freedheim. He said new Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. held an assembly last Friday "with 298 students attending because one student was harassed," proving school yard violence would no longer be permitted.

Freedheim and Muldoon admitted it has been standard practice for the Sausalito board to deny interdistrict transfer applications without public discussion. The board was informed recently by Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino that this is illegal unless the transfers involve charges against individual pupils or school personnel.

Although Schneider referred only to harassment of white children, Randolph, who is black, told the county board: "My daughter has been beat up on already at school and the school has barely been open yet."

Mrs. Satur, who has had two older children graduate from what is now Martin Luther King School, said one of her sons now a high school sophomore, was stabbed when in seventh grade. Schneider, apparently not realizing this was before he became superintemdent, denied there had been such a stabbing.

Mrs. Elkington told the board that last spring "my daughter's friends stayed in the house for a week because of fear," not attending school.

Randolph, Mrs. Satur and Mrs. Weckler all reported their older children who completed elementary school in Sausalito had great difficulty in high school because of poor study habits acquired in the Sausalito schools. Mrs Satur and Mrs. Weckler said grades attained in Sausalito seemed meaningless.

LeVoy Elder of 123 Drake Avenue, Marin City, backing Randolph's request, said he had a similar experience. "I've had two children go through Sausalito schools and when they got in high school they were lost," said Elder. He earlier had appealed a Sausalito denial of transfer for his son Darrell, but dropped it after placing the boy in school in New Mexico. "I was luckier than Mr. Randolph," he said.

Schneider and Freedheim predicted there would be many more such transfer requests if those heard last night were granted by the county board.

DARRELL THREW HIMSELF AWAY

The good right arm of Darrell Elder eliminated the first of what has proved to be a series of appeals from Sausalito School District turndowns of interdistrict pupil transfers.

The story came to light last night during a meeting of the Marin County Board of Education attended by Darrell's father, LeVoy Elder of 123 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

In August, the senior Elder appealed denial of a transfer for Darrell from Martin Luther King School to the Mill Valley district. But when the matter came up at the county board meeting Sept. 2, Deputy Supt. Stanley Friese announced the appeal had been withdrawn.

What happened was this, Elder disclosed last night:

He took his son with him on a trip to the Southwest. While they were visiting in Hobbs, N.M., the junior high school coach there saw Darrell throwing a football. "I've got to have that boy on my team!" he declared.

The coach aproached Elder and together they worked out arrangements for Darrell to live and attend school in Hobbs.

What the coach didn't know — and may not yet — is that he not only got an ace football passer. Darrell also was the No. 1 pitcher for the Oaks in the Sausalito Little League, a team that won 31 straight baseball games, most of them with right-handed Darrell on the mound.

Motorist's Wife Injured In Traffic

Anne M. Blake, 52, of Walnut Creek, was treated at Marin General Hospital Sunday for bruises on the chest suffered when her husband's car swerved into the center divider and rolled on its top near the Bellam overpass on Highway 17.

The California Highway Patrol said Morton Blake, 48, was attempting to avoid hitting slow moving traffic when the 1:30 p.m. accident occurred.

Oakland Artist Displaying At Civic Center

An exhibit of 26 oil and water color paintings by Jason Schoener of Oakland is on display on the third floor of the Civic Center in the foyer outside the supervisors' chambers.

The Marin Museum Association arranged the exhibit yesterday. It will be displayed through the end of November.

Schoener, head of the art department at the Arts and Crafts School in Oakland, puts on shows regularly at the Midtown Gallery in New York and has shown his work at the Palace of Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

His paintings, mostly landscape, feature vibrant colors. He uses gouache, a special oil and wax technique, and straight oil and water colors.

Small Car Stolen

His red 1967 Datsun convertible, license WLU 623, was stolen overnight while parked outside his residence, Robert B. Moore of 40 Park Drive told San Anselmo police yesterday.

Petaluma Planners Slate Three October Hearings

The Petaluma Planning Commission in special session last night set three public hearings for the Oct. 7 meeting.

One hearing will deal with the commission's intent to remove the requirement that some business operations be 1,000 feet from residential or professional-medical districts. The commission said that other more offensive types of businesses than those under the ruling are not subject to it.

Also to be considered is the listing of meat processing of fowl and poultry as permitted uses in general industrial zones.

Public hearings will also be held on flood control projects involving the alignment and rights of way acquisition for the Washington creek improvement project and the Cherry Street-Magnolia Avenue flood control project.

Sealab Program Is Snagged; No Funds

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The Navy project aimed at undersea living, Sealab III, has run aground as a result of economy.

"We have no funds to do anything at all on Sealab before the Naval Underseas Research and Development Center said yesterday.

Mailliard Sees Inflation As Park Woe

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A gloomy prognosis for legislation to complete the purchase of Point Reyes National Seashore was made today by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

Citing the Bureau of the Budget's failure to spend money on parks that already has been authorized by Congress, Mailliard told the Independent-Journal that "it's going to be hard to come by the money until there is some leveling off of inflation — though I feel a good argument can be made that this sort of expenditure is not particularly inflationary."

Mailliard is coauthor with Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, of the legislation to rasie the seashore appropriation by $38 million to $57.5 million.

Their authorization bill is stuck in the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, whose chairman declared on Friday he would hold no more hearings on it until the Nixon administration, through the Bureau of the Budget, dropped its barrier to other park purchases.

Mailliard, who said he talked about the bill yesterday with the committee chairman, Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., commented that Aspinall's decision to halt hearings was "rather justified; after all, what's the use of putting his committee through all these hoops if the end result isn't a park?"

Mailliard said he still hoped the administration will change its policy on park purchases. Withholding purchase now "escalates the price and just makes completion more difficult," he said.

Mailliard added that Aspinall felt it was "sort of a fraud that the interested public, the conservationists, all converge on his committee to get at him, but don't show equal zeal to get the Bureau of the Budget to put up the money."

Former Marin Supervisors Peter H. Behr's Save Our Seashore group is seeking to collect signatures of a million Bay Area citizens on petitions asking President Richard M. Nixon to support the appropriation.

The appropriation was endorsed last night by the Marin County Republican Central Committee in a resolution to Nixon that declared "few, if any, other preserves face the immediate threat of extinction." Unless the seashore is completed immediately, "the beauty and serenity of the seashore will be irrevocably destroyed," and the $19 million investment already made there by the government will be "substantially debased," the resolution said.

Most of the committee's 22 members were present at the meeting in the Civic Center, and all but one voted for the resolution reported chairman Charles Michals. He declined to identify the one dissenter, who Michals said objected that the weather at the seashore was too poor to invest $57.5 million.

Two Accused In LSD Trade

Two young men were arrested yesterday by narcotics agents after an alleged sale of LSD was arranged in the SFO Helicopter parking lot near Sausalito.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of sale of the drug were Donald Bruce Peebles, 22, of Gate 5, near Sausalito, and Ronald Keith Fuller, 25, of San Francisco.

They posted $315 each to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fuller was also booked on suspicion of marijana possession after a search revealed he had the weed with him, officers said.

No School Bus Service For Fairfax

Resumption of student bus service is out of the question for the time being parents were told last night by Fairfax School District trustees.

Bus service will only be returned when sufficient funds are provided for a long duration by the state, reported executive secretary Gwyneth McGee.

Ajoint meeting of the Fairfax, San Anselmo, Lagunitas and Micasio school boards is being planned next month to discuss possible agreement on a proposal on unification which can be submitted to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

Trustees announced plans to attend a seminar on politics and public education Oct. 23 on the Davis campus of the University of California.

An agreement was made with Marin County for a class for handicapped children to be taught in the district.

Bagley, Bruce In Tax Seminar

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafaele, and Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce will be panelists in the Third Annual California Tax Seminary on Oct. 16 and 17 at the Hilton Hotel, San Francisco.

Bagley will discuss tax reform at 2 p.m. on Oct. 16, and Bruce will discuss financing capital improvements at 2 p.m. the next day.

The seminar is sponsored by the California Taxpayers Association and Tax Executives Institute.

Prosecution Unready; Card Count Dropped

A felony charge of signing another person's name to a credit card invoice was dismissed against Allen Richard Sledge, 27, of San Geronimo, yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when the prosecution was not ready to proceed with the case.

Sledge had been accused of committing the offense July 16.

Wilson In Scathing Indictment To Miller's Mental Health Direction

By PAT ANGLE

Dr. Donald P. Wilson, director of the Marin Community Mental Health Center, last night added his voice to the growing chorus of those demanding the dismissal of Dr. Clyde G. Miller.

In a letter to the Marin Hospital District Board of Directors, read at last night's board meeting, Dr. Wilson blasted, Miller's administration of the county's mental health programs.

Miller, director of community mental health services for Marin, was not there to hear the scathing indictment.

"He (Miller) uses every effort to force the submission of others," Wilson stated, adding that he found the mental health director "tremendously resistant to changes."

Wilson said he has found "overwhelming antagonism" in every agency which had continuing contact with Miller. "I feel more and more support for county mental health programs will be lost if Miller continues in his present position," the center director continued.

According to Wilson, the friction between the two men came to a head last week when Miller submitted a budget for our center to the Marin County Mental Health Advisory to board without even consulting me." Wilson said he felt Miller's action was "a deliberate attempt to leave me entirely out of an determination of our coming budget."

Problems of ideology have also arisen between the two, according to the mental health center director. Wilson said Miller favors a program which provides individuals with long-term, intensive therapy. "This of program can serve relatively few patients," Wilson stated, adding that he wants newer methods which can provide therapy for a greater number of persons.

"While Dr. Miller has professed to me a desire to see the center move into these new approaches, he has sought from the outset to block changes I desired to make," Wilson said.

In summing up, Wilson told the board Miller's "indifference to maintaining good will, the devious games he employs to disguise his intentions" and "his refusal to engage in rational discussion" have "destroyed any possibility of trust."

Wilson's charges were supported and seconded by Dr. William Bewley, a San Anselmo psychiatrist and former president of the Marin County Mental Health Association.

On a suggestion from board member Marion Ibach, directors agreed to take the matter before the board of supervisors on Monday. Attending will be Mrs. Ibach, board members Dr. Gwendolyn Campion and George Folsom, Ray K. Bolinger, Marin General Hospital administrator, and Wilson.

"I feel we should ask the supervisors for a clarification of these problems, since they are the ones who must deal with the situation," Mrs. Ibach said. "I also feel it is important for us to bring Dr. Wilson's feelings before the supervisors," she added.

Mrs. Ibach said the hospital board's prime concern must be "care of the patients and seeing the Community Mental Health Center is able to serve the best interests of the community as a whole."

"I am hoping the county administration is going to take more seriously what a lot of people have been telling them for some time," Wilson told the board.

Simmons Defends Hospital's Handling Of Novato Case

The chief of staff of Marin General Hospital last night defended his hospital's action in the case of a Novato woman who was raped last week.

The case attracted wide attention when the womna, mother of three and the wife of an Air Force sergeant in Vietnam, had difficulty obtaining medical attention.

Two doctors at Novato General Hospital refused to examine her. She was finally treated by a physician at Marin General.

In a brief report to the Marin Hospital District board, hospital chief Dr. Bradford Simmons said the woman's case was handled by the hospital's emergency room physician with no significant delay. "She was examined about 20 minutes after she arrived here," he said, "and there was no emergency involved."

He added the hospital staff will give immediate treatment to any person who requires it in an emergency situation.

Simmons said persons brought to the hospital by police have always been a problem. "If they are minors, we may need parental consent before examining or treating them," he explained. If the persons brought in are in police custody, they may have to be examined by the county physician, according to Simmons.

"This is not a simple problem," he continued. "Hospitals have never really had a good formula for treating persons brought in by the police."

A meeting to discuss the problem and attempt to establish a clear, complete policy in such situations will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales office in the San Rafael Courthouse.

Present at the meeting will be Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, Marin County medical officer, representatives from the county's four major hospitals and county officials.

The Marin Hospital District Board Also:

EXPANSION — Accepted a $22,868 bid from Kentfield contractor Neil T. Burton for remodeling and expansion of Marin General's emergency room.

PAVING—Accepted a bid from Brown-Ely Co., San Rafael, for paving and marking four hospital parking lots. Brown-Ely's low bid was $7,959.

PLAQUE — Presented a plaque to former board member Irving Chapman, thanking him for his many services to the hospital and the board.

CLOSED SESSION — Went into closed session with Harold Riede, the district's attorney, to discuss "pending litigation."

PAYMENT — Approved a $51,957 payment to the Elmer J. Freethy Co., El Cerrito, for construction and paving of the hospital's new 212-space parking lot. The board withheld 10 per cent of the paving money to offset any expenses caused by the company's delay in completing the project beyond the time specified in the contract.

STAFF PRIVILEGES — Granted associate staff privileges to six psychiatrists: Dr. Merrill I. Berman and Dr. John S. Guerant, both of San Rafael; Dr. Bernard Bradman and Dr. John C. Morris, Kentfield, and Dr. Martin G. Blinder and Dr. Leon Wanerman, both of San Anselmo.

Larkspur Crash Injures Girl

Linda Edwards, 18, of 29 Blue Rock Court, Corte Madera, was treated today at Marin General Hospital for a sprained left leg suffered in a car-motorcycle collision at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at Magnolia and Ward avenues, Larkspur police reported.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Daniel C. Jacobs, 20, of 965 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, which police said was struck by a car driven by John Scott Rader, 59, of 124 Hillside Avenue, San Rafael, as Rader drove across Magnolia on Ward.

Rader was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of being drunk in and about a car, and posted $125 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Pill Victim

Dorothy Milewski of 260 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, was reported in good condition today at the Marin County Mental Health Center after being treated at 1:30 a.m. at Marin General Hospital for an overdose of pills taken at her home, San Anselmo police reported.

PROTEST SIGN

Short-Hours Short Stop Hits Again

A new sign appeared on the door of the Short Stop Market in Fairfax last night as it entered its second day of closing from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The new sign reported the names and telephone numbers of members of the city council and planning commission who voted to amend the store's special use permit to end all-night operation.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson is also identified as "co-owner of Christiansen's Bakery, and all-night operation."

The sign concluded. "What about a town where some of its leaders vote to close food stores and lets it bars, liquor store and Christiansen's Bakery remain open?"

The first sign on the store appeared Monday night after the council voted 3 to 2 to amend the special use permit. It asked persons who approved to honk once; those who disapproved to honk twice.

Environment Efforts May Shorten War

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Demands by the public for more federal money to save the nation's environment will force our withdrawal from Vietnam "as much as anything else," a Bay Area congressman predicted yesterday.

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-11th District, said such demands will have to be met from the same well of money that provides $30 billion a year for the war, with little left to control pollution and buy needed open space like Point Reyes National Seashore.

A recent poll done by the White House found that pollution ranked second among the public's "national concerns," he said. The war was first, he added.

McCloskey's remarks were made before several hundred packaging industry executives at the first national conference on packaging wastes in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

He warned the industry it either will have to act itself to help solve the massive problem of solid wastes, or face "costly and unhappy" federal regulation. "As the pendulum swings to protect the environment," he said, "there is a danger the swing can be too far toward too virgorous regulation and for too much government intrusion in industry."

Student Exchange Fund Drive Set

Terra Linda High School students will stage a door-to-door fund-raising drive Monday throughout the Gallinas Valley area from 6:15 to 9 p.m.

The students, carrying identifying information, hope to collect $3,000 for the school's International Student Exchange committee.

Antique Shop Burglary Admitted In Court

George E. Myers, 22, of San Rafael, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court to burglarizing a San Anselmo antique shop July 21.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Monday and declared the offense to be second degree.

Planning Session

The Novato Planning Commission, which failed to get a quorum and did not meet Monday night, will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson. The commission will have the same agenda as had been scheduled for Monday night, Mattson said.

Quail Hill Vineyard Landscaping Approved

Five acres of vineyards (possibly the only ones in Marin County), hillsides replanted with wildflowers and grasses and screenings of pines and eucalyptus are all included in landscape plans for Quail Hill, the San Rafael Planning Commission learned last night.

The commission enthusiastically approved the plans drawn up by Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams of San Francisco, asking only one change.

Upon the recommendation of the city engineering department, the commission requested the developer to install concrete, instead of wooden, steps between a townhouse area and a single family house development.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said these steps will be dedicated to the city because they connect two public streets and that concrete would be easier to maintain.

The commission also told the landscapers to put in their plants either this fall or next spring and to replace any dying ones.

There were no objections to the plans from neighbors, who have in the past objected to dust caused by the hilltop project near Northgate Shopping Center. Quail Hill is being developed by Commerce Clearing House and will include apartments, homes and offices.

Representatives of the company said last night that the grapes are planned for wine to be bottled under the comapny's name with a private label.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

SUBDIVISION — Gave final approval to a five-lot subdivision near Glenwood called Glenwood Knolls. It is owned by Security Savings and Loan Association.

LOTS — Approved dividing into two lots a 63.1-acre parcel on Civic Center Drive owned by Henry P. Scettrini and others.

FOURPLEX — Approved parking and architecture of a proposed fourplex on a lot of 1815 Second Street which is owned by A. M. Sestak.

MACHINE SHOP — Endorsed plans for a machine shop at 66 Woodland Avenue owned by John P. Suacci.

SIGN — Limited a sign to rooftop level on a building at 49 Simms Street.

LANDSCAPING — Asked Richard D. Brooks to change landscaping in front of an industrial building at 11 Mark Drive because it differed with plans approved earlier.

Jewelry Stolen

The theft of $1,200 worth of jewelry from the Laurence E. Stevens home, 97 Meernaa Avenue, Fairfax, was reported Monday, police said today. The theft is believed to have occurred within the past two weeks.

Truck Theft Charged Reduced

The case of two hitchhikers accused of stealing a pickup truck Sept. 15 was settled yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when one of them pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of joyriding and a charge against the other was dismissed for lack of evidence.

The attorney for Robert Landis Frank, 25, of Nashville, Tenn., said that Frank was very intoxicated when he took the truck belonging to an equipment operator working at Lincoln Avenue near the offramp from Highway 101 in San Rafael.

Released was Frank's companion, Ezequiel Antonio Palacios, 23, of Paramount, Los Angeles County.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein set sentencing Friday by Frank.

Addition To House Will Be Discussed

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee will review a design submitted by Viola Chambers for a proposed addition to a house at 19 Hooper Lane when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The committee also will consider application by Cain's Tire Service for a free-standing sign at 20 Greenfield Avenue and Senor Alfredo's Restaurant to relocate a sign at 115 San Anselmo Avenue.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3 p.m., Mill Valley — Fire in car owned by Beverly Miller, 1 Marin View Avenue, Mount Tamalpais, at Wildomar Street and Helens Lane; caused by short circuit in wiring. Damage to wiring estimated $100.

3:52 p.m., Tiburon — Smoking light fixture at Reed school caused by faulty ballast; no damage.

5:04 p.m., San Rafael — Grass fire burned 20 square feet at Reservoir and Knoll roads; possibly caused by children playing with matches; no damage.

7:42 p.m., Novato — Overheated pan on kitchen stove at home of Raymond H. Backstedt at 462 Via Del Plano did minor smoke damage to the hood of the stove.

SOUTHERN SONOMA YESTERDAY:

7:29 p.m., Petaluma — Overheated motor caused fire in refrigerator at home of Dorothy Ebenhack of 20 Liberty Street; damage confined to motor.

Larkspur Planners Nod To Signs, Banks

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved two signs totaling approximately 150 square feet for Rolling Homes Trailer Sales at 2060 Redwood Highway.

The signs will be painted on a building at the site, reported secretary Barbara Briton.

The commission also recommended the city council approve an amendment making banks and savings and loan associations permitted uses in general commercial, manufacturing and administrative-professional districts. They are now permitted in neighborhood commercial districts.

A public hearing was set for Oct. 14 on a use permit requested by the Tamalpais to use its convalescent hospital for patients other than its own residents.

The commission approved an outdoor auto show proposed by Disco Wonderworld at 1 Larkspur Plaza.

Much of the agenda was postponed to the Oct. 14 meeting because only three commissioners were present. Absent were Joseph N. Picetti and Robert H. Lee.

Coin Show Slated Oct. 5 In Petaluma

Coin collectors from Northern California will show their treasures at the third annual show to be held Oct. 5 by the Petaluma Coin Collectors at the Veterans Memorial Building, 1094 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Two $20 gold pieces and a 1969 proof set will be prizes awarded in a drawing. Dealers will be on hand to sell coins.

Cotati's Hub Area Zone Policy Will Be Reviewed

A review of zoning in the Cotati hub area was called for last night by the city planning commission.

Concerned about future development in the circular area around the Park Plaza, the commission set a public hearing for Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. to place the district in a study zone and require use permits for any development planned before completion of the study.

The study area boundaries would include George, Arthur, Charles, Henry, Olaf and William streets.

The move came after a letter from city council was read, saying service stations should be banned from facing on Park Plaza and asking that the commission indlude that regulation in the proposed service station ordinance.

The commission approved a motion recommendating that the city council consider a special trail through the city for hiking and bicycling.

Also approved was the renewal of the use permit for the planned Assembly of God Church at 810 East Cotati Avenue.

Fishing Boat Customer Dies

A 64-year-old San Leandro machinist, died today, apparently of a heart attack, after collapsing on a fishing boat in Sausalito's Clipper Yacht Harbor, Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig reported.

Craig said Karl Heinrich Moeck was aboard the Jenny C. Fishing party boat, owned by Henry Carlson of Mill Valley, when he collapsed. He was pronounced dead in an ambulance at 6:45 a.m. The coroner's investigator said Moeck had a history of heart trouble.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch funeral chapel in Mill Valley.

Plant Explosion Leaves Two Dead

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion ripped through the huge R. R. Donnelley and Sons printing plant on the South Side yesterday killing two persons and injuring 46.

A company spokesman said at least 100 workers were in the building at the time but it was not known how many were in the explosion area.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said the blast is thought to have originated in one of the printing presses, but that the cause was not immediately known. He said there was one explosion and a little fire. The fire was extinguished.

School Bond Loss Effects Predicted

Double sessions in Petaluma junior and senior high schools may be necessary if the Oct. 14 Bond election fails, Sup. Lesly H. Meyer told the Petaluma Board of Education last night.

"If the election doesn't pass, you could try again in 90 to 100 days or else go to double session and a drop in the quality of education," Meyer said.

He told the board he wasn't trying to scare voters into approving the bond and state loans, but wanted the board to be thinking of alternative plans should the measure fail.

Residents of Petaluma, Rohnert Park and Cotati will be voting Oct. 14 on $3.6 million in bonds and $9.1 million in state loans to fund a 10-year building program for the high school district.

Meyer said that fall enrollment projections had been surpassed and that the district would have to use more portable units to provide classroom space even if the bond election passes, because new buindings would not be ready for at least two years.

Blue and white buttons saying "I Care" are being distributed to voters by the citizen's advisory committee, Meyer said.

He also noted that county Supervisor George T. de Long, committee chairman, has been speaking to clubs and organizations and reported that parent-teacher groups are organizing behind the election campaign.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

ARCHITECTS — Asked Meyer and the staff to screen new architectural firms because the present firm of Reynolds and Chamberlain is not large enough to handle all project..

FAMILY LIFE — Heard a report that opposition is still being felt in elementary schools to the showing of the KQED "Time of Your Life" film series. Meyer said the fall program has been delayed until spring.

ACCREDITATION — Heard a report from Dr. Dan E. Montgomery, Petaluma Senior High School principal, and staff members on progress being made on meeting the recommendations of the 1968 Western Association of Schools and Colleges accreditation team. The school will be up for accreditation review next spring.

Quentin Inmate Receives Stay

Gus Tolbert, 38, who was to have died today in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison, has received a stay from U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Tolbert, of Los Angeles, was convicted of the 1966 killing of a neighbor and the kidnapping of another woman.

Douglas issued the stay Monday.

One Bid Received On Roofing Project

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors received only one bid yesterday on the re-roofing of the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

Henris Supply Co. of Petaluma submitted a bid or $7.676. A recommendation on awarding the contract will be made next week by County Administrator David L. Nichols.

Balboa High Classes Resume; No Troubles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Classes resumed at racially divided Balboa High School today following several days of tensions and fighting which forced its closing.

School officials said there was no trouble on or off campus as youngsters returned for the regular school day.

CREAMPUFF '69 OPEL Station Wagon $1795

Here's an almost new '69 Opel station wagon that we sold new back in November of last year and have just taken in trade on a bigger Buick station wagon.

9,000 miles on this blue wagon with all the equipment, including 102-HP engine with popular 4-speed manual transmission, radio, heater, w/w tires and luggage rack.

This little wagon will average better than 25 miles per gallon. XGL 955.

No. 51049

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin.
LOUIS JANIN, Plaintiff
vs.
J. BRUCE MOREY and SUISUN INVESTMENT CO., a California corporation, Defendants

Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Marin, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.
THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named defendants:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

Nixon Aide Tells Plan To Solve Farm Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration unfolded today a new general farm program aimed at making efficient farmers rely less on government subsidies and enabling the poorest to get out of agriculture completely.

About 400,000 low-income farm families might be eligible for federal payments averaging $1,000 a year under the family assistance program recently proposed by President Richard M. Nixon.

More successful producers would be expected to compete in the free market — particularly overseas — without some of the high-priced federal benefits now available.

The proposals were presented by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to the House Agriculture Committee.

The long-awaited administration farm program came as a package of alternatives and did not offer a lone remedy for the complex agricultural problems which have plagued the country for decades.

There was no estimate of total cost in Hardin's testimony. Federal farm programs this year are expected to cost more than $3.7 billion and have risen more than $1 billion since the Food and Agriculture Act was passed in 1965.

The law, which sets production controls and payment rates on an annual basis, is due to expire next year.

A massive land-retirement plan for taking whole farms from production and replacing existing commodity programs was not offered in the administration proposals.

But Hardin did recommend a pilot program in which up to four million acres a year could be retired permanently.

"Too rapid a rate of long-term land retirement would depopulate the rural areas," Hardin said. "An excesively large program would attract new land into production. Acres put to grazing could unbalance the cattle industry. It is best to proceed cautiously, learning as we go."

The American Farm Bureau Federation supports a much larger land-retirement program aimed at gradually phasing out existing control programs and subsidy payments but is opposed by most other farm groups.

Mayor Chides Cleric On Youths' Drug Site

San Marin High School students get their last fix at the All Saints Lutheran Church grounds before crossing San Marin Drive to the high school, Mayor Harley A. McAskill last night told Rev. Arthur W. Sorensen, pastor of the church.

"I know enough young people who tell me that some smoke cigarettes but others get a fix of some kind on your church grounds," McAskill said.

Sorensen said that his church had an agreement with the high school that the students could take their last smoke before school at the enclosed church yard. Sorensen had appeared before the council asking funds to help the North Marin Parent-Teacher Association distribute an a anti-drug pamphlet which nearing its final stages of writing.

"Clean out your own house first. Do something about it, even if you have to chase them out onto the streets," McAskill told Sorensen.

The Novato Chamber of Commerce and the Novato ministerial association have each given $100 toward the $1,000 needed to place the pamphlet in every home in Novato, Sorensen said. The pamphlet is designed to inform parents about drugs, he said.

The Novato City Council voted up to $500 for the pamphlet, depending on how much the group gets from the service organizations. The vote was 4-1 with Councilman Babe Silva opposed because he wanted more people in the community involved in the project before the city paid the balance of the bill.

Novato Council Buys Life Insurance, Delays On Agent

The Novato City Council last night awarded a $1,489 contract to Safeco Insurance Co. for group life insurance for the city employees, the premium to be paid by the city.

The coverage gives all employees a $5,000 life insurance policy for one year. Safeco's was the lowest of 46 bids received by the city.

Safeco has three agents in Novato — James Douglas McNeil, Worth Fenner and R. C. Morgan and the council decided to wait until its meeting at 8 p.m. Oct 14 to choose one or all three of the agents to represent the city.

The Novato City Council Also:

STREETS — Accepted as completed the widening and repaving of Simmons Lane from Novato Creek to Novato Boulevard. It also accepted Simmons Court for city maintenance, and approved the installation of sidewalks on the east side of Simmons Lane from Virginia Avenue to Novato Boulevard, all costs to be paid by owner Kathryn C. Sheraw. And it extended until Oct. 8, 1970, an agreement with Fernando Clementino for street improvements in front of his property on Olive Avenue at the east city limits and until Dec. 31 an agreement with Roberts and Aguirre for street repair on Marin Highlands Units 2 and 3.

SIGN — Referred back to the planning commission an appeal by Steven Mizell for 150 square feet of signs for the Novato Toyota sales agency on Highway 101 at Olive Avenue. The council approved a sign higher than the 16 feet granted by the planning commission. The council also agreed that the business should have a sign indicating the parts and service department. The commission had denied this.

CABLE TELEVISION — Approved writing to members of the Federal Communications Commission to see if they would give a temporary cancellation of a cease and desist order so that 2,500 homes could hook onto cables.

PROPERTY — Approved the city offering the Rodoni heirs $29,375 for the property on Machin Avenue just north of the Community House, tentatively proposed for a teen center. This is the value placed on the property by an appraiser hired by the city.

CLEANUP — Approved a city cleanup campaign for Oct. 11, 18, and 25. Mayor Harley A. McAskill appointed Councilmen Babe Silva and J. Wayne Womack to a committee to try to persuade the Novato Fire District to share in the expenses of the campaign.

TRAFFIC — Denied a request for less than a 25 mile-per-hour speed limit on Plaza Hermosa; denied a request for a stop sign on Truman Drive at Brown Drive; approved stop signs on San Luis Way at San Carlos Way; approved making Alameda del Prado a through street and banned parking on it from Loma Verde to the south city limits; removed two-hour parking on Machin Avenue from Cain Lane to De Long Avenue and recommended that the state Division of Highways install two-hour parking on the east side of Highway 101 from Sweetser Avenue to Vallejo Avenue. And continued until 8 p.m. Oct. 14 a request for stop signs on Sutro Avenue at Center Road. It requested a report at its Oct. 28 meeting on whether the city could limit the weight of trucks using city streets.

HILL ROAD — Named Councilmen Douglas M. Merrill and Joseph Gargiulo to a committee to work with the Novato Unified School District to try to obtain right-of-way for Hill Road widening and straightening of the Hill Road and Diablo Avenue intersection.

BEAUTIFICATION — Accepted the resignation of William J. Olsen, chairman of the beautification committee, and appointed Barbara Munden of 44 Jade Court to fill the vacancy.

REVENUES — Heard that city revenue totalted $97,000 in July, compared to $50,000 in July 1968. This increase was due in large part to $24,000 extra received in gasoline taxes. Sales taxes were up $4,500; business licenses up $7,400 and building permits up $1,700. Recreation program returns vehicle code fines decreased.

CLAIMS — Denied a claim by E. G. Brice of Brice Brothers in the Nave shopping center for $281 damage to his car allegedly received because of the Simmons Lane road work and rejected a false arrest claim by James S. Anderson of 16 Nova Lane for $300,000.

MOBILE HOMES — Heard that the petition of Mr.and Mrs. Vernon Hanna of 1261 Lynwood Drive for a moratorium on mobile home parks had been withdrawn. The request will be resubmittee at a later date, according to city Mgr. Charles A. Brown.

Nixon, Military Advisers Huddle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon met for two hours today with Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and the Joint Chiefs of Staff in a session in which the White House said the military posture of the United States was discussed.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said the meeting had been planned for the past several days.

Ziegler said he did not know what specific topics were discussed but he did not believe the breakfast meeting was limited to Vietnam.

Conservation Groups Seek Lawsuit Right

I-J Special Repeort

SAN FRANCISCO — Several conservation groups yesterday asked San Francisco Superior Court to allow them to participate in a landmark lawsuit involving property rights in San Francisco Bay.

The groups, including the Sierra Club and Save San Francisco Bay Association, argued they have a special expertise and interest that made it urgent they become parties to the suit.

The suit, filed against San Mateo County and others last April by the State Lands Commission, challenges the titles of bay tidelands held by local governments, and seeks to bar permits for residential developments and for uses which are not water-oriented. The suit was based on the state's allegation that the public rights in fishing, commerce and navigation guaranteed public easements over privately owned tidelands.

The suit specifically involves the ownership of acreage claimed by Westbay Community Associates, but the court's decision would affect all private titles throughout the bay.

A decision on the groups' request was not expected for about one month.

Poverty War Split Soothed By Letter

The Mexican-American Political Association has withdrawn discrimination charges leveled against the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

Michael J. Gomez, president of the Marin chapter of the association, said group representatives had met with the EOC executive board and members of the staff of the antipoverty group on July 22 and Aug. 26 and explained "it became clear" that the charges "were the result of communications breakdowns, personality clashes and conflicting priorities."

In a letter to the EOC June 23, A. Miguel Rodriguez, former president of the association chapter, said the EOC was guilty of "overt and convert discrimination in program performance" and of unfair employment practices.

W. Robert Lomax Jr., EOC executive director, hotly denied the accusations and demanded a retraction.

"We are now prepared to say that 'overt and covert discrimination' and 'unfair employment practices' were perhaps too harsh descriptions of Marin EOC policies and practices," Gomez said in a recent letter to the EOC.

Gomez issued a call for future cooperation between the groups.

The association, which had also demanded seating of three of its members on the EOC governing board, won the sanction of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday for membership on the governing body. The sanction was requested by the EOC.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Uncomfortable Anxiety Is Linked To Marijuana Users

VAN DELLEN

I admit being somewhat naive when stumped by a medical editorial entitled "Potted Dreams." These are the euphoric trips or effects of using marijuana (cannabis) or LSD. Marijuana produces disorders in the perception of space and time.

Many users develop a sense of excitement, heightened awareness, and hilarity. Colors, sounds, and conversation appear more intense and meaningful. "So what?" say the users. "It is better than getting drunk." But marijuana can also provoke an uncomfortable anxiety, a common side effect seldom mentioned.

OUR MAIN objection to cannabis is that the majority of those hooked on the stuff are immature and live under the delusion that life is meaningful only when under the "influence" but not when sober. They prefer potted dreams to reality. In addition, the continued excessive use of cannabis leads to moral and social decay. Many a dope addict started on marijuana.

The LSD trips are no longer news. Injury is the most serious hazard. The user may jump out of a window, walk in front of an automobile, or be hurt in other bizarre ways. LSD may also lead to damaged chromosomes. The outcome is a genetic defect in reproduction.

OUR HIPPIES are "sold" on anything that ends in a trip. STP is (or perhaps, was) the latest hallucinogen to be tried. The initials stands for security, tranquility, and peace. But STP does just the opposite. The users developed prolonged visual and auditory hallucinations lasting up to 20 hours. Altho the effects were interrupted by sleep, they returned with greater intensity upon awakening. In addition there were terrifying manic, agitated reactions.

STP has toxic effects similar to atropine. Blurred vision, dry mouth, difficulty in swallowing, and abdominal discomfort ensue. Large doses lead to delirium and severe, even lethal, respiratory paralysis.

HIS KNEES HURT

Mrs. P.B. writes: What are the common causes of pain in the knee? My husband, who does a lot of walking on the job, has this problem. However, after examination, the doctor said he found nothing wrong.

REPLY

Arthritis, bursitis, and changes in the cartilage. These conditions may produce pain even tho the changes are not severe enough to be detected thru examination.

ALCOHOL AND CHILDREN

A reader writes: If an alcoholic has a child, will the baby be defective in some way:

REPLY

No. There is no proof that alcohol affects the germ plasm. Many alcoholics have defective personalities and this emotional inheritance — rather than alcoholism — should be blamed if the child follows suit.

DROOLING

K. H. writes: What can be done for froth at the corners of the mouth of an old person?

REPLY

See that he has a good supply of handkerchiefs or tissues. Froth stems from relaxation of the muscles and tissues at the corners of the mouth or from dental problems.

RAISED METABOLISM

P. A. writes: Can a plus 26 basal metabolism cause shortness of breath?

REPLY

Yes, provided the increased metabolism is adding to the workload of the heart.

Today's Health Hint—

Raw vegetables should be washed thoroly before they are eaten.

Marshal Suing Over Removal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former U.S. Marshal Louis H. Martin of Martinez asked U.S. District Court yesterday to determine whether his removal from office earlier this month was legal.

Martin filed suit against current U.S. Marshal George Tobin of Mill Valley, asking the court to decide "who is the rightful person to be entitled to be U.S. Marshal."

Martin contends Tobin was "illegally sworn in" July 28, 1969.

Martin said he was named to a four-year term on June 25, 1968, by President Lyndon B. Johnson and took office Aug. 12, 1968. He said his term does not end until Aug. 11, 1972.

However, Martin said that on Sept. 4, 1969, he received a letter from President Richard M. Nixon saying Martin had been removed from office.

BEST SHOWS

Best bets on television tonight:

KPIX (5), KXTV (10), 7:30 p.m. — "The Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour," a comedy-music-variety series starring Glen Campbell, returns for its second season with guests the Smothers Brothers, Barbara McNair and folk singer John Stewart.

KQED (9), 8 p.m. — "Performance" presents "Mozart and the Mind Blowers." The Youth Chamber Orchestra of the Oakland Symphony, conducted by Robert Hughes, plays four movements from Mozart's "Divertimento No. 2 in D Major" and Robert Moran's "Jewel Encrusted Butterfly Wing Explosions."

KRON (4), KCRA (3), 9 p.m. — Country music and comedy will be the evening's fare on "Kraft Music Hall" hosted by Eddy Arnold. Phil Harris, Bobbie Gentry, Browning Bryant and Bernadette Peters are guests.

KGO (7), KNTV (11), 9 p.m. — Academy Award winner Walter Matthau, Robert Morse and Inger Stevens star in the comedy, "A Guide for the Married Man," which opens the 1969-70 season of "The ABC Wednesday Night Movies."

Teachers Slate Vote On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strike vote by union teachers is scheduled for Oct. 8, unless teacher demands are met before then, according to a spokesman for the American Federation of Teachers Local 61.

James Ballard, president of AFT local, said about 2,000 of San Francisco's 4,400 teachers are members of the union.

Among the union demands announced yesterday, are higher pay, tighter disciplinary control over troublesome students and smaller class sizes.

One key demand was for separate negotiations between union and school officials, instead of through the Joint Negotiating Council which is dominated by the Classroom Teachers Association, which has larger membership here than does the AFT local.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

O. J. Simpson To Play Football Hero

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Football star O. J. Simpson apparently can carry the ball as an actor too.

The former University of Southern California halfback, now a pro with the Buffalo Bills, makes his dramatic debut on television tonight in a new CBS series, "Medical Center."

He is, in fact, the chief guest star of the first episode, playing a college football hero who tires to cover up a serious ailment because he fears publicity about it would hurt his chances for a big pro contract.

NO SIR LAURENCE

And, while O. J. is hardly Sir Laurence Olivier or Marlon Brando, he nevertheless makes quite a good impression for a novice. There's little question that he could find a place as a working actor—and, with his name, maybe as a star.

O. J. is, in fact, the chief reason to watch tonight's debut of the hour series, which is set against the background of a university medical center. It's pretty routine stuff, and even the Simpson epic tonight is uninspired, predictable melodrama. Only O. J.'s presence provides a real lure.

With the antiviolence crusade affecting this season's new series, the acceptable gore of medical shows is back in. And of another hour entry, "Marcus Welby, M.C."

Robert Young plays the title role in this series, which, like "Medical Center"—and "Ben Casey" and "Dr. Kildare," et al—revolves around an older doctor and his young staffer.

The first episode of "Welby" concerned a beautiful young teacher who is told she has only a short time to live. When she goes into seclusion, Young's assistant, who has developed an interest in her, shows her the need for continuing to live life right up until the end.

The script had a few nice moments, and Susan Clark was fine as the teacher, but this series also looks to be quite routine.

ABC-TV, by the way, isn't likely to win any friendship awards from the airlines these days. In its Monday premiere of "The New People," there was a vivid, scary scene of a plane crash which set a group of youngsters down on a Pacific island.

BLIND SURVIVORS

And last night, the network's new 90-minute series, "Movie of the Week" began with a plane crash after which a group of surviving blind passengers struggled to find their way back to civilization from desolate mountain country.

Here, too, there was some good moments from a cast that included Barry Nelson, Milton Berle and Arthur O'Connell; yet I think, perhaps, it was just that none of the characters were as essentially dramatic as the situation itself.

Heavy Shark

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands (AP) — Desmond Bougourd fought for two and one-half hours to land a 430-pound shark and now he's claiming a British record. The heaviest shark previously caught off Britain weighed 324 pounds.

Channel Chuckles

Bil Keane

"Have a nice day, dear. I'll hold the fort."

Switchboard Of Marin Benefit Concert Saturday

A benefit dance-concert will be held from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m. Saturday at the College of Marin gymnasium by Switchboard of Marin.

Appearing will be Congress of Wonders, a satirical theater group; Womb, Kastahana and Tamalpais Jungle Mountain Boys, rock bands, and Dr. Zarkov, a light show.

Proceeds will be used for expenses of Switchboard, a community information and referral service and to go toward a community center for Marin.

Tickets are available at College of Marin and at Switchboard, 1017 D Street, San Rafael.

Marichal Tries To Get Giants Back On Top Tonight

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants now understand what manager Preston Gomez meant when he said his San Diego Padres would help decide the National League's West division race.

The Padres pulled out a ninth inning run last night to defeat the Giants 5-4 and drop San Francisco from first place to a half game behind the Atlanta Braves.

And the key blow came from the bat of Ollie Brown, who had reached the majors through the Giants farm system and then was the top choice of the Padres in the expansion draft.

"I've been waiting all year to get a key hit like that," grinned Brown after the game. "It couldn't have come at a better time. It was a sinker on the outside and I was just waiting to meet it."

Gomez was as delighted as his outfielder with the outcome of the game. It was the first time the Padres had beaten the Giants in San Diego and it came in the eighth meeting of the two clubs here. But the Giants have an 11-3 overall record against San Diego, and one more game to go here, with three left at San Francisco next week.

"We predicted a month ago that we probably would decide who would win our division," Gomez said. "Our kids are loose. We have nowhere to go but we're playing like champions."

An admittedly disappointed Clyde King, manager of the Giants, could look forward to going with his ace tonight as Juan Marichal, 20-10, takes the mound against Al Santorini, 7-3.

"It always hurts you to lose a game when the race is this close," said King. "We are a long way from being out of it. In fact, I still say we are in great shape."

Infielder Bobby Pena, a major league veteran, singled in the ninth off Willie McCovey's glove. Ron Slocum ran for Pena and moved to second on losing pitcher Frank Linzy's wild pitch. It was then that Brown singled to right centerfield to drive in the winning run.

That blow climaxed a game in which the Padres took a four-run lead in the first inning, saw the Giants whittle it away until they tied it 4-4 in the eighth.

Willie Mays, who Monday night hit his 600th homer with a man aboard to pull out a 4-2 victory, walked in the eighth, reached third on a double by McCovey and scored on Ken Henderson's pinch infield out.

The Padres jumped on starter Mike McCormick in the first for their four runs. Jose Arcia singled and scored on Pena's double, with Pena taking third on an error. Al Ferrara singled home Pena and Nate Colbert doubled.

After McCormick balked to allow Ferrara to score and send Colbert to third, Ivan Murrel's grounder drove in the fourth run.

The Giants scored a run in the second when Jim Hart and Jack Hiatt drew walks off starter Clay Kirby, Hal Lanier singling in Hart.

Kirby retired 14 men in a row but lost his control in the seventh when he gave up a pair of walks and hit a batter. Reliever Frank Reberger walked pinchhitter Bob Burda to force in Bonds and pinchhitter John Stephenson came through with a sacrifice fly to drive in George Foster.

Jack Baldschun, the pitcher of record in the ninth, gained the win to make his record 7-2 while Linzy's mark dropped to 14-9.

Camaro Pit Crew Has Better Idea

When it comes to teamwork, Roger Penske's Chevrolet Camaro crew has it all over the rival Ford Mustangs.

That has been evident during the year-long Trans-American sedan series, particularly last Sunday at Sears Point International Raceway when Mark Donohue and his Camaro beat Parnelli Jones and his Mustang by a scant 2.17 seconds in the 201.8-mile race.

Jones and his Bud Moore engineered Mustang appeared to be the better driver and car on this day, but time lost in pit stops cost Parnelli the coveted victory.

"We work at it," said the soft-spoken 32-year-old Donohue, praising the Penske crew's brilliant pit work. Referring to Ford's closed-door practice sessions on pit stops at Sears Point last week — at a track rental cost of four figures — Donohue laughed: "They go off on their own to practice, afraid that someone might be spying. We're not ashamed to practice in the front of the whole world. Remember, practice makes perfect."

Pays Off In Pressure Race

Indeed, practice is a year-round crusade by the Penske enterprise. "We simulate pit stops under racing conditions wherever we happen to be," said Donohue, whose easy-going nature has earned him the nickname of "Captain Nice."

"It really pays off in a pressure race like this, too," he grinned. "We couldn't have done much better than we did today."

Example: Donohue's crew refueled his car in 5.1 seconds while the Jones crew took 14 seconds.

But the biggest blunder by Parnelli's crew came on the 69th lap when a tire change required 51 seconds — 25 seconds longer than teammate George Follmer took for the same service.

'Couldn't Believe My Eyes'

Sears Point publicist Bill Spencer, who covered the pit area for the press headquarters, gave this account of the monumental skull: "I was standing right there in the pits and noticed Ruf (Rufus Parnelli Jones) signal for a left rear tire change. When he pulled into the pit I couldn't believe my eyes when they jacked up the RIGHT rear and changed the RIGHT tire. Then they realized their mistake and THEN had to jack up the left rear end for the left rear tire that Ruf wanted in the first place. Just say that the Ford crew blew it — again!"

TONY SETTEMBER of Mill Valley, 43, drove a good race in his independently-entered 1967 Camaro, finishing 12th. He could have done better except for a minor accident on the 28th lap when a '68 Camaro driven by Wilt Jowett of Marlboro, Md. hit Settember, throwing Tony into a 180 degree spin and costing him one or two places in the final standings.

Speaking of Tony, I must remember that in six more days he becomes Tony Ottober. My, how time flies. For it's a long, long time, from May to Dettember, but the days gwow short, when you weach September. (I should have been a lyracist.)

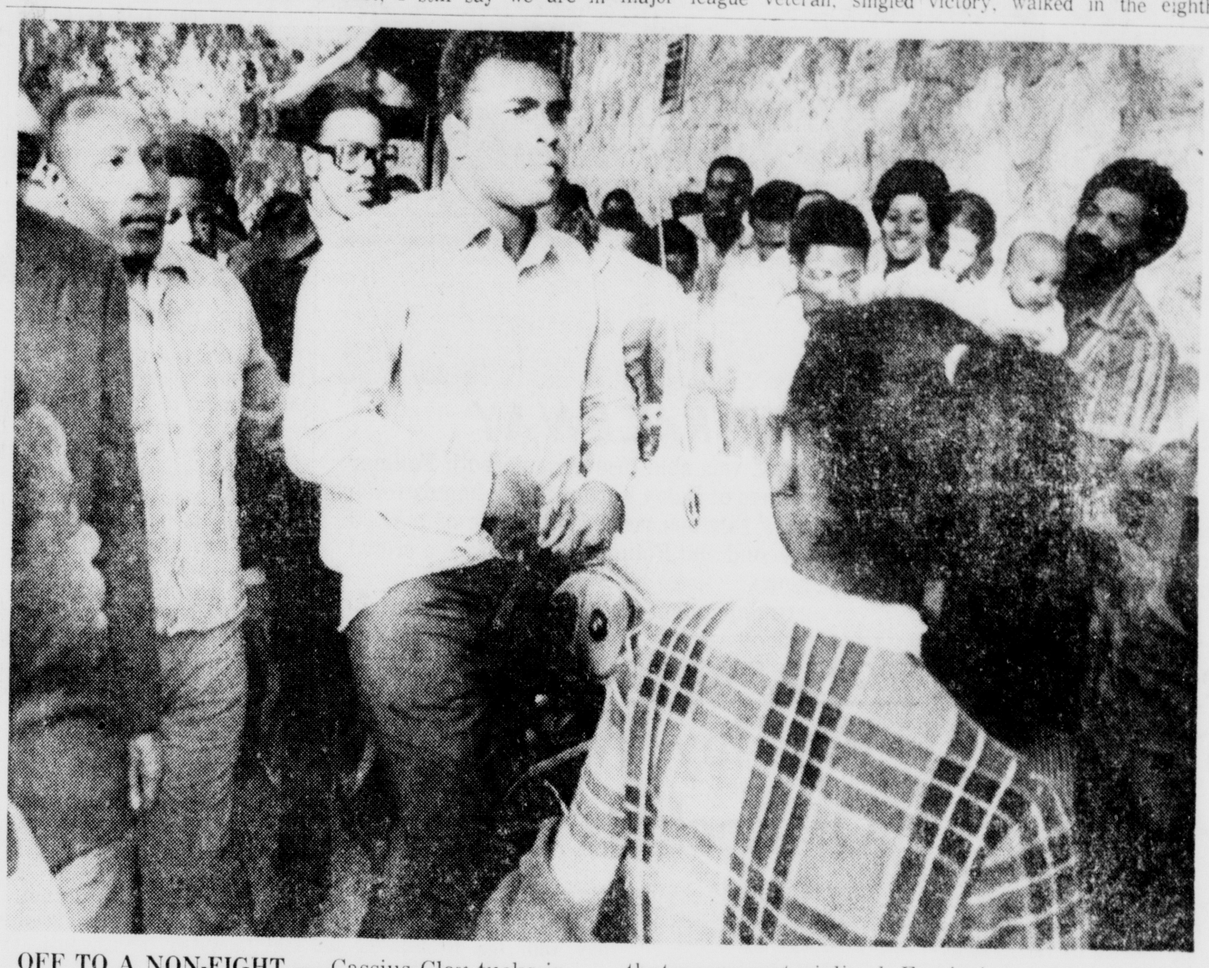
Best Race In Four Years

ALL VETERAN motorsports buffs agreed that Sunday's Trans-Am was the best race in the four-year history of the popular series. Not only Jones' sensational comeback of picking up five and one-half seconds in the last two laps, but the earlier battle in which Mustang driver Follmer cunningly fought off Donohue for second place, allowing Parnelli to open up a good lead until his crew blew it all. The driving was sensational

RACE QUEEN, incidentally, was shapely Barbara Cullison of Glen Ellen. (Speedway queens in Glen Ellen? Farms in Berkeley?)

SPECTATORS WILL be happy to know that Filmways, Inc., new owner of Sears Point, is going ahead with several improvements on the Sonoma racing complex. For one, they'll put lawn over the entire spectator area. Another thing, they'll install permament comfort stations through the complex.

After Sunday's big race, you might say they're flushed with success.



OFF TO A NON-FIGHT — Cassius Clay tucks in his shirt in Philadelphia, Pa., enroute to Fairmont Park for a fight with heavyweight Joe Frazier that never materialized. Frazier's manager pulled out, saying, "If they give him a license, then we'll fight him." (UPI Telephoto)

Veteran Pizarro Helps A's

OAKLAND (AP) — The young Oakland A's will have an experienced hand on their side in their next bid for the American League pennant.

Old timer Juan Pizarro, obtained from the Cleveland Indians only last Sunday, pitched five shutout innings in relief to win the second game of a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox 5-3 last night and give the A's a sweep.

Jim Hunter won the first game 4-3 with ninth inning relief help from Lew Krausse. It was Hunter's 11th victory of the year against 15 defeats.

Pizarro, who claims to be only 33 years old, evened his season record at 4-4 with a remarkable relief job.

Some of the younger A's also had a hand in the double victory. Reggie Jackson snapped out of a home run slump with his 47th four-master of the year, as 420-foot blast over the centerfield fence in the second game. The homer ties Jackson with Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota for the major league lead.

No Fight, Just Loud Words

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Boxing Champion Joe Frazier challenged former heavyweight champion Mohammed Ali (Cassius Clay) yesterday, but instead of leather the champion and ex-champion threw words.

Ali, appearing on a Philadelphia TV show Monday night, made disparaging remarks about Frazier as a champion, calling him among other things "flat-footed."

CHALLENGE

Frazier, getting wind of Ali's remarks, challenged Ali to meet him in a ring in North Philadelphia at 4 p.m. yesterday. A lot of other people heard about the challenge and when the two fighters arrived for their showdown nearly 2,000 persons were trying to jam their way into the small gym.

It looked like the Cassius Clay of old, bantering in the locker room about who was the greatest as he dressed for the ring. But before he could prove his words, the police arrived and nixed the bout because the crowd had grown so large it overflowed into the street outside and was tying up traffic.

Never at a loss for words, Ali suggested that the contest be held at a park several blocks away, and with that departed for the outdoors.

BALKS

Frazier's manager, however, balked. He said he'd be willing to let his man meet the ex-champion in a ring, but not in an open air brawl in the park.

When Ali arrived at Fairmount Park a crowd estimated at 6,000 was on hand.

Frazier never put in an appearance.

Ali had the last word as he left for Chicago and a speaking engagement.

HAIRY ISSUE

Cross Country Prep Prospects

Redwood High School could have one of the best cross country teams in Northern California this season.

On the other hand, it may not.

Hair, too much of it according to Redwood athletic department policy, is going to deprive Redwood coach Doug Basham of three of his top varsity runners when the Marin County Athletic League season opens tomorrow.

STANDARDS

As it stand now, Kevin Pusser, runnerup in the MCAL meet last year and somewhat of a veteran of the hair controversy, along with Jay Newhaus, Tim Taylor and sophomore Brian Pusser, a member of the frosh-squad will not be able to compete because their hair style does not comply with Redwood High School athletic department standards.

The regulation, according to Redwood athletic director and head football coach Bob Troppmann, states that hair cannot fall below or over shirt collars, must not fall over the ears and sideburns must not be longer than mid-ear level.

EARLIER

Pusser was involved in a fuss over hair duing track and field season last spring, when he at first refused to cut his hair in order to compete on Redwood's track team, then relented.

Even without the hair problem and its possible no-shows, Basham can still field a strong team if he draws from his frosh-soph squad. With Pusser, Newhaus, and Taylor, it's going to be tough for anyone in the league to come close.

The Giants are defending champions, and in addition to the possibly absent trio, will have Lee Hotchkin, last year's division III freshman champion and veteran half-miler Dick Stoltz on the varsity.

Basham can also get sophomore Guy O'Farrell, the MCAL mile champ last year as a freshmen and talented freshman Eric Moller, if worse comes to worse.

THREATS

The only two teams that may pose some kind of threat to a Giant runaway are Tamalpais and San Rafael.

Kreig Vezie has another fine squad at Tamalpais, headed by Mike Biancalana, Mike Arago and long-haired junior Vian Collier.

Biancalana, a veteran track ace, is bigger and stronger. Arago was the North Coast section champ as a sophomore last year while Collier, contributed heavily to Tam's Class B track team last year and is considered a comer.

Also counted on are Lowery McFarren, a North Coast "B" swimming champ and Larry Loudon.

San Rafael has veteran coach Bill Ranney back in the saddle after a five-year absence. Ranney coached the Bulldogs from 1957 through 1964.

Ranney calls his squad "a dark horse" and commands considerable respect around the

Umpires' Law Suit Threatens Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — A multimillion dollar damage suit filed by two American League umpires fired abruptly last September could threaten baseball's reserve system, the time-honored manner in which players are bought, sold and kept under contract.

Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, who claimed they were fired Sept. 18, 1968, for trying to form an umpires' union, asked damages of $2 million each yesterday in the suit filed in Federal Court. Their suit claimed that baseball's reserve system is illegal under the antitrust law.

'DEFAMATORY'

The ex-umpires also charged that American League President Joe Cronin made "false and defamatory statements" about the caliber of their work as umpires. They also accused Cronin and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn of being "dictatorial and exercising illegal, monopolistic practices and controls," partly through the reserve clause in player contracts.

They said players may be "bought, sold, excluded, exchanged, discharged or excluded from employment without notice, consent, voice or hearing."

Cronin, reached in Boston, said: "I can't comment on anything like this. We'll have to let the lawyers handle it."

In New York, Kuhn said: "It would not be appropriate for me to say anything about it when a law suit has begun."

The plaintiffs, who requested a trial of the suit by jury, said major league baseball has grown from a local sport to an interstate business, and as such as subject to antitrust and monopoly laws.

Salerno and Valentine accused the major leagues of "exploitation of players and umpires for the benefit of the business and profit of the various individual club owners and the major leagues."

They said umpires, like players, are "unreasonably and illegally restricted in their employment, collective bargaining and rights to sell their services for fair and reasonable consideration."

DAMAGES

The suit asked $1.5 million each for the alleged violation of antitrust laws in the firing of the two umpires and an additional $500,000 each in damages for what they called Cronin's defamatory statements.

The complaint described the umpires as "competent, trustworthy, dependable and capable umpires who performed their duties in good workmanlike and commendable manner."

COSSACKS 'OVER THEIR HEADS'

Horror Movies At Sonoma

Sonoma State College football-ers have a couple of weeks to regroup their forces before meeting Hayward State College's junior varsity team. They'll need all the time they can get.

If you tuned in late, the Cossacks of Sonoma State played the school's first intercollegiate football game last Saturday in Petaluma. It was against Arizona Western, a junior college used as a training base for various four-year colleges.

The Cossacks lost, 65-0.

They have a bye this week, then host Hayward State's J.V. team Saturday, Oct. 4, 2 p.m. at Petaluma's Durst Field.

"We played one heck of a good ball team," Sonoma State coach Lloyd Helgeson said. "With our limited budget we didn't have funds to go to Arizona to scout them. We didn't know what to expect."

Helgeson and his staff spent Monday looking at horror movies of the game and came out of the session surprised. "Our kids weren't pulling back. They weren't afraid." They were just in over their heads. Not only were the Cossacks held to minus four yards on the ground, seven of their passes were intercepted.

FLOOD GATES

It was a scoreless game, surprisingly, after one quarter of play. "Then they opened the flood gates," said Helgeson. It was a total of 10 touchdowns.

Only Sonoma injury was to linebacker Luther Nelson, a re-injured ankle. He'll be out of action for a week, but should be ready for Hayward State.

Helgeson had praise for right cornerback Bob Sears, former defensive standout for Novato High School. Arizona Western wasn't scoring touchdowns in Sears area, said his coach.

"We'll be 100 per cent improved for our next game," Helgeson promised. He said he was putting his charges through extra heavy work this week and has Saturday scheduled for a day off. They'll spend next week getting ready for Hayward State.

Marin Runners Win Opener

Getting off the starting blocks early, College of Marin's cross country team defeated Laney College runners yesterday in Oakland, 18-37.

Don Makela of Novato set a course record in winning for the Tars, his 17:51 time wiping out the old record of 18 minutes flat. Following winner Makela across the finish line for Marin were Bob Bunnell, second; Dave Standcliff, fourth; Pat Bowen, fifth, and Mark Miller, sixth.

Although Marin's first scheduled meet was to be next Tuesday, against Merritt College of Oakland, coach Jim McGowan decided to sneak in this extra meet a little early.

Bills Waive Flores As Darragh Returns

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League placed quarterback Tom Flores on waivers yesterday, two days after sophomore signal-caller Dan Darragh returned from military service.

Flores, 31, a nine-year pro, was obtained by the Bills from Oakland in 1967.

Falcons Pick Up Former 49ers' Veteran Bosley

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons picked up some needed experience at center yesterday by signing Bruce Bosley, a veteran of 14 years with San Francisco of the National Football League.

Bosley was signed as a free agent after he was cut by the 49ers and cleared waivers by other NFL clubs.

The 6-foot-2 Bosley weighs 240 and has played in four Pro Bowl contests—1961, 1966, 1967 and 1968. He played offensive tackle and defensive end at West Virginia and was the 49ers second draft choice prior to the 1956 season.

At 35, Bosley will be the oldest man on the Falcon squad.

To make room for Bosley, the Falcons placed on waivers rookie center Jeff Van Note of Kentucky, who was drafted in the 11th round.

BATTLE FOR POSITION AT SEARS POINT RACEWAY

Ignoring an official's signal to "move over, faster car behind," Ford Mustang team driver George Follmer (16) of Arcadia blocked Chevrolet Camaro star Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., in early laps of Sunday's 200-mile Trans-American sedan race at Sears Point International Raceway. However, Donohue, running third most of the way, was able to overcome both Follmer and teammate Parnelli Jones of Palos Verdes in the homestretch to win the race after slow pitstops ruined all hopes of a Ford victory. Jones finished second and Follmer third before a crowd estimated at 25,000 persons.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Mat Palacio Leads Way In Champs Golf Tourney

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Action continues hot and heavy on Marin and Sonoma County golf courses, club championships taking the spotlight.

AT SONOMA National, veteran golfer Mat Palacio of San Rafael is leading the way. Defending champ at Sonoma, Palacio fired a three-under-par 69 to take a four-stroke lead in the first round of medal play. Closest pursuer is Bob Van Druff, 73. Second round is scheduled for Sunday.

GEORGE SCHERBA, a former club champ at the Indian Valley course in Novato, was among the casualties in last Sunday's quarterfinals. He lost to Jim Creighton, 1 up. Other results: Mike Dunham downed Bud Sparrow, 2 and 1; Al Randig defeated Bill Malstrom, 20th hole, and Bob Hachmyer nipped Al DeLucas, 2 and 1. Semifinals are scheduled Sunday.

Defending champ Barrett Lewis will be going against Bill Davis in the finals of the Rohnert Park Club Championship tourney Sunday, 36 holes of match play. In last Sunday's semifinals, Lewis defeated Burl Kreoner, 1 up, and Davis edged Don Davis (no relation), 1 up.

ON THE WOMEN'S side, Jan Ley retained her club championship at Petaluma Golf and Country Club, defeating Dede Gilardi, 5 and 4.

Bill Moretti of Petaluma got his first hole-in-one after 14 years of club swinging, acing the 105-yard third hole at Rohnert Park course Sunday. He used a ptiching wedge.

DON'T PLAN to get in a round of golf on the morning of Thursday, Oct. 2, at San Geronimo National. Two-hundred golfers of the Furniture Club of Northern California will be playing a tourney stopping all open play for the morning.

Marin County Club pro Wally Murray says he's already started taking signups for a "Meet the Pro" tournament Saturday, Oct. 11. The shotgun start for club members will be at 8:45 a.m. Murray is in his second week at the Novato course.

Mets Cinch At Least Tie

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If there's one thing the New York Mets learned during all those years of losing, it was how to win gracefully.

After seven years in which they never finished better than ninth, the Mets went from the ridiculous to the absurb this season and last night they clinched at least a tie for the Eastern Division championship of the National League by beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2, in 11 innings.

And how did the once-ridiculed Mets react to this preposterous prosperity?

LIKE YANKEES

"It looked like the Yankee dressing room after they had ho-hummed their way to another pennant," said an observer in the comparatively sedate Met clubhouse. "Maybe they got so accustomed to watching other teams win they learned how to react to this new experience themselves."

However, everyone was warned that the scene wouldn't be as serene tonight if the Mets clinch the division title against the Cards or if they have the job done for them by Montreal, which can eliminate the runner-up Cubs with a victory at Chicago this afternoon.

"Bring some extra clothes tomorrow, fellows, because that's when the big party's going to be," one Met player said.

NOT YET

No one is doing any celebrating yet in the Western Division, either, not even the Atlanta Braves, who climbed into first place with a 10-2 rout of the Houston Astros. The San Francisco Giants dropped to second, a half-game out, with a 5-4 loss to the San Diego Padres.

The third-place Cincinnati Reds also made their presence felt again in the tight race, belting the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-3 and 5-2, to climb within 3½-games of the top as the Dodgers dropped their sixth game. Elsewhere, Montreal subdued the Cubs, 7-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3.

HARRELSON'S HIT

The Mets stepped to the brink of baseball immortality on a single by Bud Harrelson off Bob Gibson with one out in the 11th inning. This delivered Ron Swoboda, who had beat out a hit to deep short and advanced to second on another single by Jerry Grote.

New York fell behind, 2-1, in the fifth inning when the Cardinals scored two unearned runs, but evened it in the eighth on Tommie Agee's single, Wayne Garrett's sacrifice and Art Shamsky's single. Tug McGraw, who came on in the eighth inning, gained credit for his ninth victory against three losses.

"The way the boys have played they deserve to win," said Mets' manager Gil Hodges. "Beating a guy like Gibson is great."

Hank Aaron, hitting only .116 in his last 10 games, drove in the tie-breaking run for Atlanta with a sixth-inning single and brought home another with a double in the ninth inning. George Stone (13-9) limited Houston to seven hits as the Braves won for the 12th time in their last 15 games.

Upset Of The Day: Rod Laver Loses

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Only five of the top 10 seeded performers were left in the $30,000 Pacific Southwest Open Tennis Championships today after a series of upsets highlighted by the defeat of Rod Laver.

Laver, who had swept through 31 straight matches that carried him to the peak of the game as world champion, went down yesterday before South Africa's Ray Moore, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

The Australian star, fresh from victory in the U. S. Open, was attacked with savage volleys by the longhaired Moore who said he concentrated on playing to Laver's backhand.

Laver admitted he was unable to concentrate because he was a little tired and worried about his wife who is expecting their child.

"It was my most gratifying victory," Moore said, "because he's the best tennis player in the world."

BEATS ROCHE

Following Laver's defeat, Tomas Koch of Brazil downed third-seeded Tony Roche of Australia, 3-6, 6-5, 6-3. Tom Okker, Roy Emerson and Andres Gimeno previously had been eliminated.

Members of the victorious U. S. Davis Cup Team, appearing in the tournament for the first time yesterday, all won their matches except Charles Pasarell who was defeated 6-1, 6-2 by James McManus of Berkeley. Those victorious against minor opposition were Arthur Ashe, coach Dennis Ralston, Stan Smith, Bob Lutz and Cliff Richey.

In the top seeded ranks, Pancho Gonzales defeated Robert Carmichale, 6-3, 6-3; John Newcombe of Australia defeated Ray Ruffels, 6-1, 6-1 and Fred Stolle of Australia downed Richard Russell, 10-8, 6-4.

In women's play, defending champion Rosemary Casals of San Francisco defeated Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, 6-2, 6-4, while Mrs. Ann Hayden Jones, top seeded among the women, defeated Mrs. Dorothy Cheney of Santa Monica, 6-0, 6-0.

Runners To Open League

league. He says he has the makings of a "pretty fair team," headed by varsity veterans Tom Weindel and Frank Elias.

Moving up from the frosh-soph squad are Steve Elias and Bill Murray. Forey Ratliffe and Joe Lansing are also considered top candidates on a 17-member entourage.

Novato's Bob Patterson has an exceptional runner in Ron Elijah who finished third in the MCAL meet last year and is still improving, but depth, or the lack of it, will probably hurt the Hornets.

Other top candidates include sophomore ace Paul Harvey, Dave Witter and Bill Densbury on a squad that numbers only 15.

BASEKTBALL

Marin Catholic coach Jack Breen figures his Wildcats should win "at least two" meets. His squad consists mostly of basketball buffs, with the best headed by Mike Parnow, Mike Slattery, Paul Bertoli, Brian Little, John Sherman and John Vidano.

Drake, traditionally a cross-country also-ran, figures to be better than usual with things on the upswing, according to coach Warren Fairbanks. A healthy crop up from 1st year's frosh-soph team, headed by Lyle Weeden, Steve Ferris and Dan Damer will help veterans John Schneider and Mike Lewis.

FIRST YEAR

San Marin heads into its first year as a full-fledged team with a team topped by track veterans Chakra Chappell, John Catlin and Mike Harrison. Steve Silvi and Creighton Byer should also help.

Only nine candidates reported for Terra Linda's varsity team, which will keep Trojan coach Losee from too many nerve-wracking decisions. The best would appear to be Gray Barker, Bob Swanson and Ron Engel, all juniors.

Women Begin Championship Golf Tourney

The Marin Country Club Women's Golf Club opened its club championship tournament with 18 holes of match play at Novato yesterday.

Mrs. William May took all honors at Indian Valley Women's Golf Club's guest day tourney, winning low putt and low gross titles. She shot a 77.

The results:

Presley Walks Out Of Rockets' Camp

DENVER (UPI) — Bob Presley, 6-11 center from University of California and Denver's No. 1 draft choice, failed to show up for practice yesterday with the Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

"I don't know where he is and I don't know why he's gone," Denver coach John McLendon said.

Presley, who was signed to a two-year contract plus a substantial bonus, checked out of the team's motel Monday after the morning workout.

"We weren't sure he was officially gone until he didn't show up for practice Monday night," a Rocket spokesman said.

GOLF

GLENEAGLES, Scotland-Inwood, N.Y., Lauderhill, Fla., and Brookhaven, Dallas, had best ball scores of 59 to lead after the opening round of the international pro-am four ball tournament.

Marin's Best-seller on current events

You can learn a lot that's not in the books from your daily I-J. Unlike a text, it presents the texture of living events . . . the here and now of history drawn from the most exciting library — the world itself.

Each day, hundreds of news stories and articles bring you the mental stimulation of WHAT HAPPENED, where, how and why. Combined, they bring you perspective; they help you form judgements, enable you to act in an informed manner on public affairs.

And the range and scale is immense: From a new view of Rhodesia to a new bargain on chairs at your favorite store.

With the I-J you're not merely "taking the paper," you're subscribing to a liberal education . . . provided you read and think. All yours at a price which even includes personal delivery to your door.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Propeller Could Be Water Ski Problem

If you are not getting the performance you think you should from your boat when pulling a water skier — it could be the propeller. A prop which performs well on a boat under what might be called "normal" conditions may be no good for pulling skiers.

But it's not difficult to find the right prop if you follow a very simple test procedure and keep track of a few facts and figures.

When you purchased your boat — or your outboard motor —it was equipped with a "standard" propeller. This is a prop with a pitch designed for best performance on an average boat carrying an average load. But that "average" doesn't include water skiing.

Skiing demands instant thrust to pull a water skier to the surface quickly. This need for initial power is multiplied sharply for every extra skier you may want to tow. And most standard props aren't designed for providing this instant power.

THE REASON is that the pitch is large or coarse. Pitch is the distance a propeller will move through the water in one revolution. It follows that the coarser the pitch, the farther it will go in one revolution and the greater the load on the engine. The greater the load, the more slowly does the motor get up to full r.p.m. and full power. Thus, no instant thrust.

Every marine dealer will have a list of alternate props for your particular engine or outboard and can select two or three to try out on your boat for best performance. Most outboard manufacturers offer a choice of props at the time of purchase on all outboards large enough for water skiing.

THE BOATMAN WHO WANTS to be 100 per cent sure that he has the best prop for skiing can run tests — on the water, with skiers — for himself. A tachometer is needed to measure engine r.p.m.'s and a pad and pencil to write down the performance data. Be smart and don't try to remember it. Jot it down.

When conducting the tests, be sure the boat is running under the normal conditions of skiing, pulling the number of skiers for which you want best performance.

The boat owner's manual lists a recommended r.p.m. range for your engine or outboard motor. Most likely it will be between 4500 and 5000 r.p.m. At full throttle check the tachometer. If the engine is running below 4500 r.p.m., you've got the wrong prop. Try one with finer pitch. The search is over when you have one that allows the engine to run at full rated r.p.m. while pulling skiers.

MOST SKI PROPS will allow the engine to run faster than the rated r.p.m.'s when running without skiers. If it's only a couple of hundred over the maximum, don't worry . . . just close, or retard the throttle slightly when the boat is not towing skiers.

Once the right prop has been found, be sure to keep it in good repair. Twice a year have a marine dealer check it for the proper pitch. If it's bent or nicked, have the dealer repair it or replace it.

Good water skiing.

Barry Awaits Decision

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Forward Rick Barry is awaiting a court decision which he hopes will free him to return to the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

U.S. Dist. Judge Gerald Levin took under submission yesterday a request by the Washington Capitols to extend a temporary court order preventing Barry from playing basketball for anyone but the Caps. Levin said he would deliver his decision within "the next two days."

REFUSED

Barry refused to play for the American Basketball Association club when it moved from Oakland to Washington. Shortly after Washington attorney Earl Foreman purchased and moved the former Oakland Oaks, Barry signed a five-year contract with his former teammates the Warriors.

The 6-7 star began his career with the Warriors in 1965. He won rookie of the year honors his first season, then led the NBA in scoring his next year. He jumped to the ABA Oaks and was forced by a court order to sit out the 1967 season. He played 40 games for Oakland last year before injuring his knee.

ARGUMENT

Barry's lawyer, Robert Holtzman, told Levin yesterday a breach of contract occurred when the Oaks were moved to the nation's capital. Holtzman said that under the terms of Barry's contract with the Oaks, the former Miami University All-American was obligated to play for the club only as long as it remained in Oakland.

Capitols' attorney Fred Furth argued Barry must live up to the contract and play for the ABA team in Washington.

NO PLAYING

Levin had signed a temporary restraining order on behalf of the Capitols Sept. 15. The order prevents Barry from "participating in any activities associated with the playing of professional basketball" until Levin delivers his decision.

The Caps also are asking $10 million punitive damages in a lawsuit that charges the Warriors with "intentional and malicious conduct" in the most recent signing of Barry.

Raiders Put Dickey To Work At Receiver Spot

OAKLAND — Eldridge Dickey has one longrange goal in pro football — to be a quarterback. But he's currently working with the Oakland Raiders at the wide receiver position he played last season as a rookie.

"They asked me if I'd do some work as a receiver," Dickey said yesterday. "I thought, why not? It keeps me in shape and I can help the team."

Currently Dickey is on the reserve roster "move list" and must stay there another week.

Coach John Madden says the Raiders still have Dickey in their quarterbacking plans. "But if he can help at wide receiver, it gives our offense versatility to play him at two positions. So why not?"

The Raiders play at Boston Sunday against the Patriots and have begun their preparation with only one injury from last weekend's game — Howie Williams, a defensive back, who has a twisted ankle.

Longer Sessions For 49ers

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers said yesterday that training sessions will be longer than normal this week because there are things we have to straighten out."

However, he said, there will be no change in the routine, just more time "both on the field and in the classroom."

The only bright spot Nolan found in Sunday's disappointing 24-12 loss to weak Atlanta Falcons was that the team suffered no serious physical injuries.

Offensive center Forrest Blue, whose knee was bruised, worked out with the squad yesterday, as did back Kermit Alexander,who pulled a hamstring muscle Sunday. Nolan said both will be ready for next Sunday's game against Green Bay in Milwaukee.

Running back Bill Tucker, an exhibition starter until he sprained a knee against Denver a month ago, may also be back in the lineup against Green Bay, Nolan said.

Marin Best Known Football Aide Tackles His Job Like A Whirlwind

By GARY TISCHLER

If you want to say just one thing about Jess Payan, say that he coaches with a kind of furious total involvement.

Stalking along a sideline during a game, he looks like an ex-fighter grown heavy.

He yells, he screams, he walks with intense footsteps, grabs players in face-to-face, loud talks.

He leaves an impression. There are echoes around after the game-ending gun. But the whirlwind of noise and fury is only half the man. There is meat behind the brash surface.

HAS SAVVY

Payan, 37 years old, is probably the best known assistant coach in Marin County. He has something of an underground reputation for football savvy, player knowledge and an ability to get something out of a boy, if it's there.

Yet, in 13 years of coaching, he has never been a head football coach.

This fall, after five years as an aide at Terra Linda High, during which he acquired a reputation as the architect of three championship Trojan lines and defenses, he starts practically a new life as freshman coach at Redwood High School.

Payan isn't kidding himself. Coming to Redwood as frosh coach is, at least for now, something of a self-demotion.

"Nobody made me any big promises," he said. "I know it's going to be a little fish from being a big fish. I'm here to develop material for Troppmann (Bob). We're interested in developing a program."

Payan, who is blunt and articulate, has somehow wrapped himself up in athletics. A varsity quarterback at University of Santa Clara during his playing days, a three-sport man at Monteca High School in Stockton, he majored in history, philosophy and Spanish but unhesitantly took his Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education.

If Jess prides himself on something, it is communication.

"That's the whole thing," he said. "I care — about football, about the kid. You have to be able to recognize if a kid has talent and then you have to be able to get it out of him."

It is not a particularly gentle process.

JESS PAYAN
Total involvement

"I guess you could say I'm a demanding person," he says. "I agitate, I insist on a performance, on hustle.

Apparently the communication is two-way and lasting. Talk to any of the top Terra Linda linemen of the past three years about football and Payan's name invariably crops up.

There was only one game last season in which Payan was quiet. That was when Redwood marred Terra Linda's unbeaten season on the final game of the year with a 25-10 upset. Payan paced quietly, almost in a stupor.

"I was so doped up, I wan't even there," he recalled.

After the season, the doctors removed his gall bladder and today he's got a clean bill of health, although he was unable to coach the Trojan baseball team last spring. At that, he's got a perfect record as baseball coach. In his one year as varsity mentor, he coached the Trojans to the Marin County Athletic League title in 1968.

ELUSIVE AMBITION

Today, he still has one ambition that nags at him like that train you just can't quite catch in a nightmare.

"It's still my hope to be a head coach," he says. "It's the one thing that has always eluded me. But I'm going to keep trying."

It may not be an uncatchable train. It's the only one worth chasing for Payan.

"Coaching?," he says. "It keeps me alive. I live for it."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 24, the 267th day of 1969, with 98 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1896 the Black Friday panic hit Wall Street after an attempt by financiers Jay Gould and James Fisk to corner the gold market.

In 1934 Babe Ruth made his last appearance as a regular player for the New York Yankees.

In 1955 President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered a heart attack while vacationing in Denver, Colo.

In 1959 President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev met at Camp David, Maryland.

A thought for the day: President Eisenhower said, "In the final choice a soldier's pack is not so heavy a burden as a prisoner's chain."

Auto Is In No Mood To Work

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — After many years in retirement, a 41-year-old car wasn't ready to go back to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leffingwell and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson bought a 1928 Marmon for a hobby restoration project.

The Mormon protested when the Leffingwells tried to start it to drive it home. It coughed, backfired, belched fire and blazed up.

Firemen cooled off the old-timer without much damage.

"We're going to try again," said Leffingwell. "But we'll have someone standing by with a fire extinguisher."

A Psychic Response Almost Backfires For Italian Star

The most amusing hand of the recent world championship made everybody look pretty foolish. Maybe you should cut the hand out and paste it in your wallet to show your partner the next time you have a ridiculous bidding misunderstanding. It can happen to world champions, too.

A BIT LIGHT

North's opening bid of one heart was a bit light in high cards, but nobody can quarrel with it very much. East had a normal overcall of one spade, and now Benito Garozzo, star of the world-championship Italian bridge team, decided that he could make a slam in clubs if he could stop a diamond opening lead. With this in mind he made a psychic bid of two diamonds.

All might have gone well for him if Garozzo had jumped to six clubs at his next turn, but he couldn't resist probing for a grand slam. After all his partner might have the ace of diamonds. So Garozzo showed his spade control.

When Garozzo eventually jumped to six clubs, North thought he was being asked to show a preference, and he clearly preferred diamonds.

SILLY LEAD

Garozzo had to bid seven clubs, and East doubled since he knew that South was out of line. Unfortunately, West woodenly opened the ace of spades. Every reader of this column would have led the queen of diamonds like a shot.

The spade lead brought no lasting joy to West. South ruffed and proceeded to lead out his trumps in an apparently endless stream. West still thought that his diamonds were the key to the defense and carefully threw away his two hearts to give his partner the count.

A CRIME?

This defense also gave declarer the count, and he gratefully took the rest of the tricks with dummy's good hearts.

Who says that crime doesn't pay?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, the next player bids one spade, and you are next, holding:

♠ None
♥ A 3
♦ 8 6 3
♣ A K Q J 10 9 5 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: The orthodox bid is three clubs, a jump that is forcing to game and hints at slam.

Nevertheless, orthodoxy doesn't count for much when you have an eight-card suit. An immediate jump to six clubs might bring home the bacon.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Work Will Start Soon On Novato Cloudburst Car Wash

Work is about to begin on a new, elaborate car wash — Cloudburst Car Wash — at 6981 Redwood Highway, Novato, across the highway from L. J. Dervin Ford Co.

Owner Jerry Taylor of San Rafael is having contractor Eugene McGillicuddy do the work. Gilbert Murphy is the architect. Completion is expected in time for an opening by Nov. 15....

The car wash will be a continuous run operation and there will also be six pumps dispensing Standard Oil Co. gasoline — although this will not be a full service station with lubricating facilities.

Taylor was formerly a manufacturer's representative and currently holds the rank of major in the Air Force Reserve.

VLADIMIR LEVINTZA has moved his watchmaker and jewelry business from 1212 Second Street to 1310 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. He also provides musical instruction in flute, clarinet and saxophone.

RICHARD C. LUCAS of Corte Madera has been elected president of Trans Continental Securities Co. and executive vice president of the company's Continental Funding Corp., San Francisco. He was formerly vice president of Insurance and Securities Inc. and Lytton Savings and Loan Association of Northern California.

Lucas Sanford

MICHAEL R. SANFORD of Tiburon has been named operations officer in Crocker-Citizens National Bank's central operations department at San Francisco administrative headquarters. He has served as assistant manager of the Sun Valley Center office in Concord since 1967. With the bank since 1961, he has also worked at Crocker-Citizens offices in San Rafael, Kentfield and Napa.

SOILAND, INC. of Novato has been presented its second consecutive award for outstanding safety achievement in accident prevention. Awarded by Industrial Indemnity Co., the presentation was for a total of 60,000 man hours without a single lost-time accident during the 12-month period ended June 30.

GREGORY WEST of Belvedere was a first-prize winner in the "Jet-a-bout Sweepstakes" of Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. His prize, presented by San Rafael plant manager Vince Mamone, was a jet-propelled sport boat from Fiberfab of California which operates in two inches of water and turns 180 degrees on its own length.

THE SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION in San Francisco has announced several administrative management training programs for this fall by University of California Extension.

First of these is "Buying or Selling a Small Business," a one-day seminar next Saturday, to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

Small Business Management, 10 sessions, will commence Wednesday, Oct. 8, at University of California Extension, 55 Laguna Street, San Francisco. Hours are 7 to 10 p.m. Small Business Management II, also 10 sessions, starts Tuesday, Oct. 7 — same hours.

An eight-session course, Independent Business Management, begins Saturday morning, Oct. 11, from 9 a.m. to noon — also at 55 Laguna Street, San Francisco. Hours are the same. Enrollment or further information on all courses may be obtained from Frank Fee or Mrs. Karen Ballard, Continuing Education in Management, University of California Extension, Berkeley.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Two Mutual Funds Better Than One

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We're investing monthly in a front-load mutual through Waddell & Reed to provide future income. Am I correct in believing the fund increased in value about 15 per cent annually for 17 years? Should we switch to a no-load mutual? — A. V.

A. Continue your savings plan; a switch might entail forfeiting part of the sales charges assessed on your initial payments. A faster growth no-load fund could be purchased as a diversifying supplement.

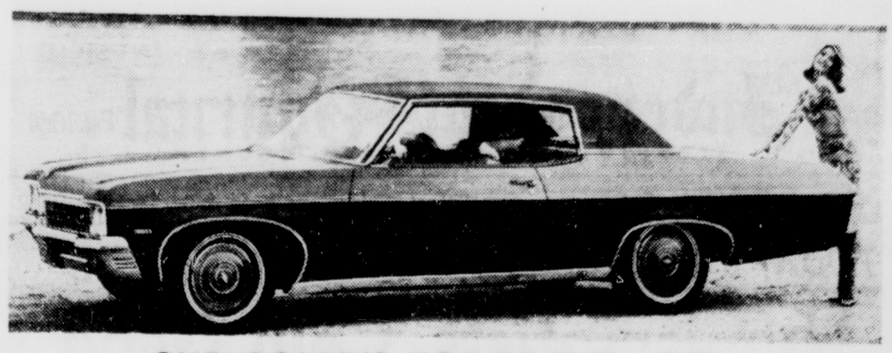
You're evidently buying United Accumulative Fund, distributed by Waddell & Reed, as this fund offers both a contractual purchase plan and monthly withdrawals when your investment reaches $10,000.

I don't have figures for 17 years but net asset value increased 48 per cent for five years through 1968 and dropped a reasonable 14.8 per cent for seven months this year.

During 10 years through 1968 $10,000 would have grown to $22,164 by reinvesting all dividends and capital gains. Capital growth is less than the average for 375 funds but dividend income is above average and income is your stated objective.

Q. Using the Monthly Investment Plan in 1968, I bought eight shares of Continental Oil at an average price of 70. I fear this company doesn't know I'm a stockholder as I have received no dividends. My letter to the transfer agent remains unanswered. What's my next step? — P. S.

A. Continental Oil split two-for-one on March 24, 1969, and a cash dividend of 37½ cents (quarterly) was paid on the new shares June 13, 1969. You should now hold 16 shares at an adjusted cost of 35. Send your story to the company secretary, Mr. J. D. Kelley, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City 10020, and mail a carbon copy to the transfer agent, Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Your MIP transaction was terminated when the paper work crush was most severe — the probable cause of your "forgotten man" status.

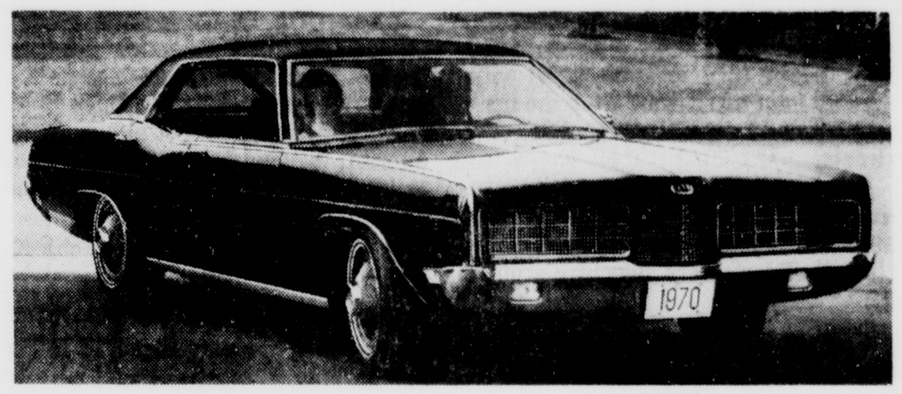


CHEVROLET'S TOP-OF-THE-LINE

The Caprice coupe for 1970 is dressed up with new front styling of grille, hood and fenders. Vertical tail lights located in the rear bumper are a change from the horizontal lights of 1969. For the first time Caprice models have wheel covers accented with body color. Cars are on display at De Long Chevrolet, San Rafael; Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, Corte Madera; Ted Schuman Chevrolet, Novato, and Cheda Chevrolet, Point Reyes Station.

MERCURY MONTEREY FOR 1970

Redesigned anodized aluminum grille, bias-belted tires and wider seats are features of the new Monterey. An addition to the option line is an electric rear window defroster. Freon-filled shock absorbers are standard on all models. Cars are on sale at Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury, San Rafael, and Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley.



FORD'S NEW 1970 LTD BROUGHAM

The Ford LTD is offered in this four-door hardtop, a two-door hardtop and a four-door sedan for 1970. All feature new rear and side ornamentation, new exterior colors and more formal grilles. Cars are on sale at L. J. Dervin Ford Co., Novato; Ames Ford Sales, San Rafael, and J and B Ford Sales, Corte Madera.

Numismatists Coin Good Idea For Use Of Mint

In 1959, the City and County of San Francisco wanted to tear down the San Francisco Mint to make way for a parking lot or office building.

Now, S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, wants it torn down to make way for a downtown college campus.

Conservationists 10 years ago stalled off the demolition with a plan for renovation of the mint for use as western headquarters of the National Park Service.

Now, since it has been declared surplus by the federal government, Rep. Philip H. Burton, D-Fifth District, has a bill in Congress to turn it over to the National Park Service for preservation as an historic shrine.

BUT THE CALIFORNIA State Numismatic Association has come along with what sounds to us like a much better idea.

Numismatists are coin collectors, which explains their interest in the mint. From 1874 to 1936, coins with the "S" mint mark came from the massive building at Fifth and Mission streets.

The building itself attained its own sort of immortality by surviving the 1906 earthquake and fire which destroyed almost every structure around it.

THE NUMISMATISTS' proposal is that the old mint be made a western Smithsonian Institution.

Angelo Turrini of San Rafael, himself a coin collector and member of the association, explains the reasoning thus:

"I have long wondered why our nation has a single national Smithsonian Institute — hard on the east coast. Is it not time a branch be established where the greatest number of people now live? After all, we do have area or branch offices for the Federal Reserve System, the Internal Revenue Service, Social Security, Army, Navy, etc. Why not a west coast branch of the Smithsonian? Think of the number of Americans who are unable to travel to Washington to visit the national museum."

The numismatic association has urged its proposal on Sen. George Murphy, in hope that he will urge it on his fellow Californian, Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare. Finch can make the decision on disposal of the mint, which was declared surplus by the federal governent in June.

PREVIOUS "SAVE THE MINT" schemes have been of rather nebulous variety. Burton's proposal to make it a national monument leaves much to be desired. The building itself, while of interest, may not be worth the cost of maintaining it and keeping it open simply as a tourist attraction.

But if historical records and objects from the Smithsonian Institution were housed there—and there are too many already to be properly displayed in the Smithsonian, so that need for a branch is obvious—the old mint would more than justify its continued existence.

We think the numismatists have coined a good idea.

A Boarder Incident

In diplomatic language, border incidents are greatly to be feared because they are often the prelude to further hostilities. We have the same fear about the boarder incidents in our own back yard.

Our boarders are a mother raccoon and her half-grown off-spring, and a very small striped skunk. We place food and clean water in dishes under a small floodlight about five feet from our back window. Between 9:30 and midnight these animals come to eat.

When all three come at once, we have confrontation, diplomatic maneuvering and boarder incidents. The mother raccoon is unflappable, alert, and intent upon eating. Her child is less serious, more interested in chasing its shadow and feeling the bottom of the water bowl for imaginary crayfish. The raccoons are deliberate in their manner. But the little skunk hurries about, stops abruptly, makes little rushes at the coons. When the skunk is alone its tail is held in a graceful arch. But with the raccoons around, it is erect and threatening.

The mother raccoon is very savvy, but when the skunk began rushing her youngster, the kid began to bristle and growl. The skunk turned and aimed its weapon. Then reconsidered and scurried away.

That was our boarder incident.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

CTA Seeks $2.5 Million Fund To Finance Initiative Campaign

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Plans for a California Teacher Association - sponsored initiative to require 50-50 financing of education by the state and the local property taxpayer are under way for the November, 1970, ballot.

Jack D. Rees, executive secretary of the association, has called on its members for a pledge fo $15 apiece, or an aggregate of approximately $2.5 million, to finance the undertaking, plus the carrying of petitions necessary to qualify the proposed constitutional amendment for the ballot.

Rees says such a law would put school finances in California "beyond politics," and would be the most significant move of the association in its more than 100-year history.

"WE SHALL ENLIST in our fight", he said in a recent publication of CTA's newspaper, Action, "the millions of parents who want the sound and equitable financing of their children's education assured.

"We are counting on the enthusiastic support of the entire public school fraternity, both lay and professional. We shall put on a state-wide campaign with the most imaginative use of all media that will prove to be a model for all education associations throughout the nation!"

CALIFORNIA'S educationists have been unhappy with the legislative appropriations for education, although these grants have been increased materially for the past several years.

The proposed initiative ostensibly would take financing of the state's schools out of the hands of the legislators, and freeze it into the state constitution.

UNDER SUCH a proposal, school districts apparently would be given carte blanche to spend as much tax money as they determined necessary for operation of the educational establishment, with the state mandated to pay half the costs.

There are 1,484 school districts in California, each one with its own tax rate. As a result there is great variance in expenditures on a per-student basis, and as a further result there is a differing quality of education in the 1,484 districts.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Volunteer Service Not Appreciated

As one who has spent a great deal of time in volunteer work, I think I am qualified to state that the reasons people do such work without compensation are twofold:

1. They think they are accomplishing something worthwhile.

2. They think their efforts are appreciated.

In the case of the county's Emergency Medical Care Committee, these two elements do not exist. We labored long and hard to product the annual report required by law, sent a copy to the board of supervisors, and did not receive even an acknowledgement from them, much less any consideration of our recommendations.

The county administrator, who has been unable to control the committee, reports to the board that "the committee appears to have been dominated by two members and has tended to be a vehicle for pursuit of their personal interests." He suggests, in effect, that committee members who are knowledgeable on emergency medical care be replaced by "consumers or potential consumers" - whatecer that means, or to dissolve the committee and designate the Health Planning Council, which in effect, he says should be abolished, to carry on their duties.

Now the good, old I-J comes out editorially and agrees with the administrator.

Obviously, the two elements which attract people to do volunteer work are lacking, in this instance. Why then should the members of this committee continue to serve?

More Laws Needed To Protect Animals

I wish to comment on a letter which recently appeared in your column concerning the "surplus" of dogs and cats. This letter was signed by Helena Franklin of Novato, and I couldn't agree with her more.

I am well aware of this problem. Unfortunately, anything in much abundance tends to lose its value; we take so much for granted and animals are one example. Since they can be obtained so easily, they can be replaced as easily, but the life of anything should never be taken for granted. . . .

This problem of overpopulation of cats and dogs is truly the cause of much animal suffering and I feel if all humane societies adapted a complusive (sic) spaying program and strict leash laws were rigidly enforced we would be well on the way of alleviating much or even most of the animal suffering.

Councilman Scott Alleges Errors

I take exception to your persistent mistatements of fact relative to my correspondence with Mr. Charles R. Leitzell, San Anselmo Public works director.

I wrote Mr. Leitzell a "personal and private" letter, not based upon anonymous tips as you relate, but based upon statements from persons known to me who asked that their names be withheld. I asked questions. I made no charges. At no time did I bring this matter to council for consideration as you allege. Only after it was there did I speak on the matter.

You know who delivered this private letter to you for publication on your front page.

You can easily find out who caused it to be put on the San Anselmo Council agenda, if this is not too much trouble for your staff . . .

ROBERT McKIBBIN SCOTT
San Anselmo

(1. The accusers of the public works director were kept anonymous by Councilman Scott. (I-J, July 22 et seq.) 2. The letter was made public, and copies furnished other members of the city council, by Albert Bianchi, attorney for Leitzell. (I-J, July 22.) 3. The matter was placed on the council agenda by Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro, in response to Bianchi's demand for a public hearing for his client. (I-J, July 23). The letter from Scott to Leitzell said, "Two people have asked me to explain how you were able to have city personnel install your private driveway." Scott told the I-J (July 22) he had received "a barrage of phone calls, from at least five persons." — Editor.)

SMALL WORLD

Same Old Junk?

Scholars Prove Worth Of School

I found the Marin National Merit Scholars listed in the Independent-Journal notable in view of recent letters by a Mr. Burton, Miss Middleton, Dr. Hanzel, et al.

How is it possible that the small (796) student population at Marin Catholic High School is capable of producing six National Merit Scholars out of a county total of 19? Perhaps the students at MC are not, as alleged by Miss Middleton, ". . . trained in stereotyped arguments and are stunted in their intellectual growth."

Isn't it interesting that year in and year out Marin Catholic students turn up as national and California scholars; that over 85 per cent of MC's students continue through college; that the cost of educating each student is $500 per year compared to $1,000 per student per year at Tam and Redwood?

There is no question that the Catholic school system is in a tremendous financial crisis — primarily because the Catholice parent along with his Protestant and other American neighbor has been totally taxed out of his discretionary income. One of your devoted letter writers is worried that community support of Marin Catholic High School might be considered desirable or beneficial. You bet it is, Sam, because Marin Catholic is a superb high school.

Don't Fight Wars Unless To Win

There is one good lesson the American people and the government of the United States should learn from the Vietnam War (should have learned it in Korea): "Never fight a war you don't intend to win."

If we follow this rule, there will be no more Vietnams.

And now, since we don't intend to win in Veitnam, — and, even if we did, we would win an almost indefensible piece of ground — let's withdraw our forces to better tactical and strategic positions.

THE DRUMMONDS

Government As Service Dispenser Demonstrates Wide Inefficiency

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON —Daniel P. Moynihan, the liberal Democrat who is serving President Nixon so ably as urban affairs aide, long tried to persuade his fellow Democrats that the federal bureaucracy is so big, so lethargic, so inefficient because of the thicket of overlapping programs that it simply can't do its job.

He put his view arrestingly in these words: "The federal government has proved itself good at collecting money and bad at dispensing public services."

So far very little has changed. Moynihan's view was rejected by the Democrats and never effectively taken up by the Republicans. The President is making a beginning in his welfare proposals, in his advocacy of revenue-sharing and in his plan to finance the job-training program at the state level.

But even this beginning is only in the talk stage. These steps face a rough road when they come before Congress next year. If these moves — and others equally needed — to decentralize Big Government somewhat are to be approved, an alert and aroused public opinion will be necessary.

DO THE FACTS justify an aroused public opinion? Do they justify Moynihan's harsh verdict?

We'll lay out the facts — you decide.

The source of these facts is the best-informed, perhaps the only fully informed and objective authority on federal assistance programs in Washington. He is a second-term Republican member of Congress, Rep. William V. Roth Jr. of Delaware. For two years he has been conducting a one-man canvass of the maze of far-flung federal assistance programs, much to the annoyance of the agencies themselves and often encountering their resistance. He also encountered widespread ignorance. Some agencies really didn't know what programs they were administering.

HIS STUDY is not complete. It may never be, because this year he found 225 more programs than he was able to discover last year. He expects there are 100 to 200 programs still unreported. As of today, here's what Congressman Roth has found:

1. There are at least 1,315 federal assistance programs, for all of which Congress appropriated more than $25 billion last year.

2. These overlapping programs constitute such a maze that those who are intended to benefit often don't know they exist, where to apply, whether they qualify or how much money is available.

3. There is no centralized planning or management of federal assistance programs in the government's executive branch.

4. Here is how the federal assistance programs overlap and duplicate themselves. There are 51 business and economic development programs in 14 agencies; 23 civil defense and disaster-relief programs in four agencies; 19 civil rights programs in six agencies; 165 education programs in 14 agencies; 62 environmental and natural resource programs in nine agencies; 48 rehabilitation programs for the handicapped in 11 agencies; 163 health and safety programs in six agencies; 112 housing programs in five agencies; 27 law-enforcement and police-assistance programs in four agencies; 41 maritime, fishing and waterways programs in eight agencies; 32 programs for state, local government facilities and public works assistance in nine agencies; 28 transportation (excluding sea) programs in five agencies, and 33 water resources and conservation programs in eight agencies.

CONGRESSMAN ROTH proposes a useful first step. He has 184 cosponsors in the House and 11 cosponsors in the Senate for his Program Information Act which would require the President to publish an annual catalog of all federal aid programs and update it monthly.

But Repersentative Roth and others know this is just a start, that much more needs to be done. This brings us back to Moynihan's provocative verdict that the federal goverment ought to make tax money available to state and local governments to administer aid programs nearer to their beneficiaries.

Some argue that state and local governments aren't good enough to do it. But who knows until we try? Certainly the federal government hasn't been so good at it.

Vietnam Straws: Ho's Death, Saigon Corruption

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — For the present, the death of Ho Chi Minh will have its strongest reverberations outside the borders of North Vietnam.

Eventually, however, the collective leadership which has assumed power in Hanoi is expected to dissolve into a power struggle — a contest for personal control of the North Vietnamese politburo.

Those are the convictions which are beginning to emerge here in the wake of the death and funeral of "Uncle" Ho. They represent the views of the experts who advise the government's policy makers.

ONE CLEAR RESULT of Ho's death is to remove a charismatic leader — the man who beat the French, a patriot who was something of a father figure in South as well as North Vietnam.

Another result is to remove from the international scene the experienced "old communist," veteran of many policy turnings, who has successfully played off Moscow against Peking while Sino-Soviet relations were sinking to their present nadir.

Some of the experts are already speculating that a struggle in Hanoi between a comparatively mild, Moscow-oriented policy toward the war and the west and a China-oriented hard line will hasten a falling out between party secretary Le Duan and theoretician Truong Chinh. The point is also made that such a power struggle in Communist leadership sometimes opens the way for new and younger leaders to make their way to the top.

NEW REPORTS of corruption in South Vietnam are being aired here. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., told the Senate recently that he hears Madame Ky, wife of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, "is rapidly picking up rich rice plantations in South Vietnam."

Yarborough said he got that information from "a number of Americans who have served in Vietnam in different capacities." He suggested that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee should find out whether Marshal Ky is grabbing off property "in his wife's name."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., declared there is no question that there is "enormous profiteering" from the war. He said a newly returned Tennessee G.I. recently regaled him with "one incident after another of thievery, pilfering and profiteering" involving American supplies.

The Senate Investigations Subcommittee will hold hearings soon on some of the get-rich quick schemes. The subcommittee has evidence that some of them involve black-market dealings in South Vietnamese piasters.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., will preside at the hearings which grow out of the subcommittee's interest in the foreign aid program in South Vietnam.

New Hall Of Justice To End Courthouse Version Of Lineup

A recent trip to the new Hall of Justice showed that the long-awaited building really does seem to be about finished. It was a little discouraging, however, to find only two women with scrub buckets cleaning up the enormous place.

The paneling in the courtrooms is especially handsome, and the colors and views throughout the building are beautiful.

As someone said, let's hope we get a higher class of criminals than now frequent the old courthouse.

ONE FEATURE that will be sadly missed by courtroom devotees will be the marching en masse of the daily haul of jail inmates for the afternoon criminal calendar in Municpal Court.

The inmates now are brought up in a public elevator and ushered down the main halls of the courthouse by deputies. They fill the front rows of the courtroom and other persons in the courtroom may not talk to them or sit by them.

The "lineup" gives viewers a good chance to look at all the fish caught in official nets.

This charming custom will be no more, however, in the new building, which has special corridors and elevators for prisoners. They will not arrive in the courtroom in a batch but rather will be kept in "holding rooms" off the courtroom and ushered in one at a time.

Naturally, the deputies assigned to guarding these people are sure the new system will be more efficient, but much of the old flavor will be lost, it seems to me.

A RUMOR that entertainment tycoon Frank N. Werber had settled his over $400,000 marijuana tax lien with the Internal Revenue Service by paying $250,000 seems to be false.

"His account is still alive and healthy," tax officials said last week, adding that nothing had been paid on it.

Werber, who was acquitted in a federal court of marijuana charges, still is awaiting trial in Marin on counts of possessing and cultivating the weed.

WHEN JUDGE Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court declared a marijuana possession offense by a 19-year-old youth to be a misdemeanor in his court the other day, the boy's attorney responded, "You've just put him in the Army."

The judge, aware that the armed forces will not take felons, smilingly replied, "Yes, but I've made it possible for him to vote when he's 21."

The youth also smiled and said, "Thanks a lot, judge; I hadn't thought of that."

THE PEOPLE'S SCHOOLS

Teacher Group Endorses Year-Around School Use

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The National Education Association's urban education committee has issued a report urging that NEA support a year-around school program.

The NEA, which represents most of the public school teachers throughout the United States, may not go along with the committee's recommendation. But if it does, a major stumbling block to more complete utilization of school plants will be removed.

Up to now, the pressure for year-around school utilization has come mostly from school boards and taxpayers. Resistance has been heavy from students and faculty.

THE URBAN education committee's report holds that benefits to students, teachers and community from year-around school operation would outweigh the problems of adopting such a system. Teachers would benefit from full-year salaries, tax dollars would be put to better use through full utilization of expensive school plants, and juvenile delinquency would be reduced by having children in school during the summer, says its report.

The committee did not come out for any particular year-around plan, saying that school districts should fit the plan to local needs.

THE INCREASING difficulty of passing school bond issues, coupled with rising interest rates which make sale of the bonds problematical even when approved, has forced many districts to look harder at the possibility of 12-month schools. Board-appointed committees are at work on plans for year-around school utilization in several California high school districts.

Nationwide, the agitation is growing for doing away with the traditional three-month summer vacation.

Over a year ago, the New York State Education Department concluded a four-year study with a recommendation for an 11-month school year. It suggested a modified "trimester" plan, lengthening the school year to 42 weeks, or a "quadrimester" or quarter plan with four quarters separated by two-week vacations.

SIMPLEST and most discussed of the plans for putting school plants to full use the year around is a four-quarter plan with students attending three quarters out of four but with vacations staggered. This would make it possible to handle about one-third more students in existing plants.

The longer "trimester" year, as suggested by the New York study, would have another kind of advantage: completing in 11 years the course that now requires 12 years. It would not, however, do much to increase the capacity of school plants.

A PROPOSAL by Andrew Adams of the U. S. Office of Education two years ago would combine both advantages.

Adams suggested a four-quarter plan with a difference: Each student would attend four 12 week quarters, then have 12 weeks vacation.

This would get rid of a major cause of resistance to year-around school use: that caused by forcing children of some families to always take their vacation in winter.

Under Adams's plan, a student who started school in September would continue straight through to the end of the next August, then have a 12 week vacation. He would resume school at the beginning of winter and go four quarters again, followed by a winter vacation. The third year, his vacation would be in spring; the fourth year, in summer.

Each grade would be divided into four sections, with one starting in fall, one in winter, one in spring, one in summer.

THIS WOULD REDUCE the 12 years of elementary and high school attendance to 11 and at the same time give the schools 20 per cent more capacity. There would be a one-week shutdown between quarters for necessary maintenance work.

Such a system probably would be welcomed by most employers, who find difficulty fitting the vacations of a majority of employees into the three summer months when schools are closed.

Teen-Age Cyclist Has Skull Fracture

Steven P. Johnson, 16, of 190 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after fracturing his skull in a mororcycle accident at 11:15 a.m. Saturday on Coleman Drive near Vineyard Drive, San Rafael.

Johnson, who was driving the motorcycle without a helmet, struck his head on a mail van driven by Claudia Deutsch of 65 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, after crashing headon into the van, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

TV VIOLENCE REPORT — Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, chairman of the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence, released a report to newsmen today, calling television's heavy diet of violence-laced shows a "contributing factor" to violence in the American society. (UPI) Telephoto)

TV Violence Held Fostering It Throughout The Nation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Violence on television encourages violence in real life, the National Commission on Causes and the Prevention of Violence said today. It accused the television industry of "pandering to a public preoccupation with violence that television itself has helped to create."

"It is reasonable to conclude," the commission said, "that a constant diet of violent behavior on television has an adverse effect on human character and attitudes.

"Violence on television encourages violent forms of behavior and fosters moral and social values about violence in daily life which are unacceptable in a civilized society."

The commission said the industry's self-imposed standards are inadequate and recommended:

Abandonment of children's cartoons containing serious, noncomic violence.

Less time devoted to crime, western, and action-adventure programs containing violent episodes.

A change in the basic context in which violence occurs in such programs so "resort to violence is depicted as an unusual and undesirable outcome" instead of the norm.

More industry research into effects of violent TV programs —although meanwhile, "enough is known to make inexcusable any delay in taking action along the lines we have recommended."

The commission also recommended presidential and congressional support and financing for a corporation for

Precedent Is Set In Court Case

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SAN FRANCISCO — A ruling by a Marin County Superior Court judge, that could cost Californians their right to use hundreds of thousands of acres of tidelands in San Francisco Bay and throughout the state, will be appealed tomorrow by the attorney general's office, it was learned today.

The little-noticed ruling by Judge Samuel W. Gardiner came in April 1967 in a suit filed in 1966 by Peter D. Whitney of Inverness against Larry H. Marks Jr., owner of a tideland parcel in front of Whitney's property on the shore of Tomales Bay, the attorney general's office said.

FILL, DEVELOP

Marks wanted to fill and develop his parcel, and Whitney went to court with an objection that public navigation and fishing rights over Marks's parcel barred Marks from filling his parcel. The Sierra Club joined Whitney in his suit.

Judge Gardiner ruled that he could find no state or public right to exist over Marks' parcel, and ruled in favor of Marks. Whitney appealed to the District Court of Appeal, but lost two weeks ago.

The court said that the 1868 legislative act that authorized the sale of tidelands in Tomales Bay had the effect of terminating the public rights over the tidelands.

The result of the ruling was to set a precedent that tideland property owners had an unrestricted right to fill and develop their holdings.

LEGAL ERROR

It was at this point that the precedent came to the attention of the state attorney general's office, which decided to join with Whitney in a petition asking the appellate court to rehear the case on the ground that the court had made a legal error by ignoring precedents in similar cases.

Whitney and the attorney general's office will take the matter to the California Supreme Court if the Court of Appeal declines to rehear the case, or reaffirms Judge Gardiner's ruling said Deputy Atty. Gen. E. Clement Shute.

Whitney could not be reached to comment on the state's action.

Shute said that the Court of Appeal's ruling also could undermine the State Lands Commission's pending suit against San Mateo County to contest Westbay Community Associates' title to tidelands it hopes to develop.

Senator Scott Named GOP Minority Leader

Defeats Dirksen In-Law

A KISS FOR THE LEADER — Mrs. Hugh Scott warmly congratulates her husband following his election this morning to succeed the late Sen. Everett Dirksen as Senate Republican leader. Scott of Pennsylvania defeated Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee. (UPI Telephoto)

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — Sen Hugh Scott was elected leader of the Senate's Republican minority today and told President Richard M. Nixon he hopes to see it become a majority.

Scott defeated Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee 24 to 19 at a closed-door conference. Individual votes during the secret balloting were not disclosed.

It was the first time that the GOP senator's have elected a so-called liberal-moderate as leader. Scott will hold the job at least until January 1971.

The post was left vacant by the death of Sen. Everett M. Dirksen on Sept. 7. The Illinois senator had been GOP leader for a decade.

WHIP POST

Baker said he is considering seeking Scott's old job as Senate Republican whip. A contest for that position, with as many as a half-dozen candidates anticipated, was to be settled later today.

Among others mentioned are Robert P. Griffin of Michigan, Charles H. Percy of Illinois, James B. Pearson of Kansas and Jack Miller of Iowa.

Nixon telephoned his congratulations to Scott soon after the vote. The 63-year-old Pennsylvania senator told the President, "There's no bitterness that I can detect at all," as a result of the campaign for leadership.

DEMOCRATIC CONTROL

Democrats now control the Senate 57 votes to 43 but Scott told Nixon: "No one could want to be the leader of the majority more than I do, sir."

Scott took the call from Nixon with a crowd of reporters nearby.

"The President said that the conversation at both ends was off the record and he confidently expects to read it in the afternoon editions," Scott said.

Baker said Scott had been a noble and fair opponent.

"The Republican Party of the Senate and the Republican Party of the country is in good hands," the 43-year-old Tennes-

PLANNER URGES PRESERVATION

Nicasio Valley Called 'Priceless' Relic Of California As It Was

By WAT TAKESHITA

Pastoral Nicasio Valley, a "priceless vignette of early California," deserves careful treatment in planning so that future development will not destroy the idyllic scene.

This is the theme of a 50-page report just completed and released to the Nicasio Landowners Association.

Albert Solnit, chief of advance planning in the county planning department, said copies of the report, entitled "Nicasio — Hidden Valley in Transistion," will be available to the public next week for $5 per copy at the county planning department in the Civic Center.

Cost to the county was $1,200 in printing, plus the time of some staff members. The rest of the work and cost were contributed by the University of California department of landscape architecture; the Pacific Southwest Forest and Range Experiment Station, U.S. Forest Service; and a grant from the America the Beautiful fund.

This study will enable the planning department to prepare a general plan for Nicasio Valley, based on ecological and scientific findings, said Solnit.

A public meeting to discuss the development of Nicasio will be held by the Nicasio Landowners Association at 8 p.m. Monday at Druids Hall in Nicasio. Frank Soares, president of the association, will preside.

Under present agricultural zoning, the 36-square-mile valley can be divided into lots of 7,500 square feet. Roads cut into the hillsides can mar the view for miles, the report warns. "Nicasio deserves better treatment," it says.

Among recommendations made in the report are these:

Streams in the main basin should be set aside as drainage ways. Flat lands in the valley floor might be set aside for grazing under scenic easement provisions.

Ridge tops are more suited for development if problems such as visual disruption of the skyline can be resolved.

In the Nicasio Reservoir area, the shoreline should be designated for private or public recreational or educational use.

U.S. Reveals Troops Sent Without Request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department said today U.S. combat forces were sent to South Vietnam in 1965 as the result of consultation with but without a formal request from the Saigon government.

The disclosure was made by department press officer Carl Bartch who informed newsmen of a Sept. 2 letter from H. G. Torbert Jr., acting assistant secretary for congressional relations, to chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The letter said in part the initial decision to deploy U.S. combat troops to South Vietnam "resulted from a continuing analysis of a constantly changing situation, a major factor in which was the deployment to South Vietnam of regular North Vietnamese army units from the end of 1964 onward . . ."

"The continuing analysis to which I have referred and the series of decisions resulting from it were made in close and constant consultation with the government of Vietnam. The process of analyzing the situation by the two governments, and the consultation and agreement thereon, were such to be regarded by our government as constituting a request from the government of Vietnam.

"This request was confirmed by the communique issued by the Office of the Prime Minister, Dr. Phan Huy Quat, on March 7, 1965, concerning the arrival of two U.S. Marine battalions in South Vietnam—the first such deployment of U.S. combat forces."

The March 7 communique said in the face of open provocation, the government of Vietnam "has asked for and obtained the agreement of the American government for the stationing of two U.S. Marine battalions at Da Nang . . ."

Fulbright, a long-time foe of American involvement in the Vietnam war, called attention to this background information in remarks on the Senate floor on Sept. 12. He also inserted the Torbert letter in the Congressiinal Record.

The letter was in response to a May 12 Fulbright request of Secretary of State William P. Rogers for an account of a formal request by the South Vietnamese government for U.S. intervention in the war.

Kopechnes Still Fight Autopsy Bid

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (UPI) —The family of Mary Jo Kopechne asked the Luzerne County Court today to dismiss the latest request for an autopsy on the body of the girl, killed in a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

A motion, filed by Kopechne family attorney Joseph Flanagan said even if all the reasons —including the alleged presence of blood—set forth in the requests by Massachusetts Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinnis were facts, they still would be insufficient under Pennsylvania law to exhume the body and perform an autopsy.

Flanagan said the Massachusetts petition should be dismissed unless Dinnis gave some indication that a crime was committed, or that there was criminal negligence or that the coroner's verdict of accidental death by drowning was in dispute with other medical authority.

The Kopechne motion said the Massachusetts petition made no such averments. Arguments on the motion will be held here next Monday in advance of a hearing already scheduled on Dinis' amended petition for exhumation and autopsy.

Miss Kopechne, 28 was killed July 18 when Kennedy's car ran off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island and landed upside down in the water.

Child Cyclist Dies; Woman Charged

A 6-year-old San Rafael boy, flung from his bike following a collision with a car yesterday, died of injuries suffered in the wreck.

The driver of the car was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of felony drunken driving and later released on her own recognizance.

The child, Jack Dean Baron of 14 Fairfax Street, Apt. B, suffered a head injury and multiple scrapes on his arms and legs, the county coroner's office reported. An autopsy was to be performed today at Keaton's Mortuary, San Rafael.

Police said the bike collided with a car driven by Florence Constance Stottman, 41, of 455 Canal Street, Apt. 9, at 4:42 p.m. yesterday. The boy was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 5 p.m.

The impact of the collision broke the child's bike into three parts, one land 75 feet from the accident. Jack's body flew 35 feet through the air and landed under a parked car, police reported.

The accident occurred in the 400 block of Canal Street and police said it has not been determined whether the boy was riding along the block or whether he had pulled from a driveway in the area. His bike collided with the right front of the car.

Mrs. Stottman, who works in the finance office at Hamilton Air Force Base, was released by Marin Superior Judge E. Warren McGuire without bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

McGuire explained the main condition for releasing persons on their own recognizance is whether or not the person will return to court of his own free will.

Jack was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baron. He was born in Washingfton state and had lived in Marin County for 18 months.

Oil Depletion Tax Allowance Backed

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of President Richard M. Nixon's key political lieutenants has told a Republican stalwart in the heart-of-Texas oil country the White House will reverse its field and support the 27.5 per cent oil depletion allowance.

"The recent testimony before the Senate Finance Committee is to be corrected very soon by the secretary of the treasury. The President continues to stand by his campaign commitments," deputy counsel Harry S. Dent wrote in a Sept. 4-dated letter to the head of the Midland County commission.

The commitment Dent referred to was made by Nixon in a Texas speech last fall when he said, "I oppose reduction of that 27.5 per cent allowance."

The testimony Dent said would be corrected came Sept. 4 when Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy delivered the surprising word that the administration would accept reducing the depletion allowance to 20 per cent as dictated by the House in its tax reform bill.

"Although the administration did not recommend a cut . . . we accept the House approach to increasing the share of the national tax burden borne by the petroleum industry," Kennedy told the Senate committee.

Dent, chief White House political liaison, could not be reached for comment. But his letter, written in response to a resolution from the governing board of the oil-rich Texas county urging Nixon to stand fast for 27.5 per cent, said specifically the President "has asked me to respond in his behalf."

It was addressed to Mrs. Barbara G. Culver, head of the commissioners in Midland County, a West Texas area where oil is the major cash crop.

The 27.5 per cent rate—the result of an ancient compromise between the Senate and House—has been under attack with critics saying it is a symbol of tax privileges granted big business by the government.

Its purpose in allowing oil companies to write 27.5 per cent of their income off taxes, up to half their income, was to assure them the money needed for the expensive business of wildcatting—drilling hole after hole in the sure knowledge most of them would be dry.

Union Chiefs Talk Boycott Over Hiring

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Angry union leaders threatened today a boycott of federal construction projects to protest a government plan they said would set racial hiring quotas.

"It's going to raise the roof," said one AFL-CIO building trades leader after the Labor Department announced it would go ahead with the controversial Philadelphia plan.

Secretary of Labor George P. Schultz said in Washington yesterday the plan would be put into effect in Philadelphia and expanded nationwide as soon as possible to insure more high-paying construction jobs for Negroes and other minority groups.

The plan would require contractors on federal projects of $50,000 or more to hire a certain number from minority groups for iron work, plumbing, pipefitting, sheet metal and electricians jobs.

Shultz has said Negro workers in those trades in the Philadelphia area amount to less than two per cent, but the unions claim about 12 per cent.

Leaders of the AFL-CIO Construction and Building Trades Department, who earlier said they would throw open their doors to all qualified minority group journeymen, prepared resolutions denouncing the Philadelphia plan as "infamous" and a "union-busting" tactic.

AFL-CIO President George Meany, scheduled to speak today to the convention of the 17 construction unions, reportedly will join in the opposition to the government plan and warn against black militant attempts to frighten the unions into taking in untrained Negroes.

One resolution proposed that "the Building and Construction Trades Department use all the power and persuasiveness at its means to defeat this plan, to the point and including the withholding of all manpower from any federal project perpetuating this plan."

Sea, Sky Rain Fire On Reds

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. cruiser Boston and American B52 bombers pounded North Vietnamese gun positions and base camps inside and just to the south of the demilitarized zone last night and today, the U.S. Command announced.

U.S. headquarters also reported 8,437 "indications of enemy presence or activity" inside the buffer zone since the bombing of North Vietnam ended 11 months ago.

The Boston fired her five-inch guns to silence North Vietnamese mortar positions in the southern half of the DMZ last night after enemy mortarmen there slammed 40 rounds into South Vietnamese positions just south of the zone.

Fifteen B52s bombed base camps, bunkers, supply and staging areas six miles northeast of the U.S. Marine outpost called the Rockpile, the command said.

The stepup in B52 raids indicates that the U.S. Command will use the big bombers in an attempt to fill the gap that the departure of the Marines is expected to leave. The 3rd Division Marines are going to Okinawa and the United States as part of the 35,000-man withdrawal ordered by President Richard M. Nixon for the next three months.

Elsewhere, U.S. Navy river boats ambushed and killed 14 enemy soldiers attempting to cross the Saigon River 35 miles northwest of Saigon for the third time in the past two nights.

In the same general area, 10 enemy were killed in a ground probe early today against the night bivouac of an allied armored column. Three Americans and some South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded.

The U.S. Command said there were 19 enemy rocket and mortar attacks between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 8 a.m. today. Two Americans were killed and 22 wounded.

A Dubcek Purge?

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist Party made a mistake when it picked Alexander Dubcek to be its leader, Party Secretary Alois Indra said today.

The interview with Indra apparently was a propaganda preliminary to a meeting of the party's Central Committee scheduled tomorrow. The committee is expected to purge Dubcek from the party's 11-man Presidium and may also purge many of his supporters from its own ranks.

Three Rally Deaths

CALCUTTA (AP) — Prime Minister Indira Gandhi canceled all her engagements in Imphal today following rioting at a rally she was addressing that left three persons dead.

The demonstrators demanded local government for their border state of Manipur, which is controlled by the central government. Imphal is the capital of the state in the Burmese border.

The rioting went on into the night, and 34 persons were reported injured. The dead were two students and a policeman.

Leftist Teacher Charges Racism

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Angela Davis, an assistant philosophy professor at UCLA, a Negro and a Communist, says her dismissal from the faculty was ordered because of her race, not her politics.

Miss Davis, 25, a Magna Cum Laude graduate of Brandeis University who also studied under New Left philosopher Herbert Marcuse, announced yesterday she will appeal the threatened dismissal to the UCLA Academic Senate and in the courts if necessary.

The Board of Regents, governing body of the nine-campus University of California system, advised Miss Davis by letter that she will "possibly be dismissed." She was not fired outright.

Boone To Run?

HONOLULU (AP) — Actor Richard Boone says he is asking friends whether he should run for governor of Hawaii next year.

"I've made no decision yet," he said. "It's still a rumor as far as I'm concerned."

Boone, 52, who lives in the island of Hawaii, is a registered Republican but considers himself an independent.

Ho Successor

MOSCOW (AP) — The North Vietnamese National Assembly has chosen Vice President Ton Duc Thang, 81, to succeed Ho Chi Minh as president, Tass reported today.

The dispatch from Haroi said the National Assembly greeted the new president with "stormy applause" as he pledged to "devote all energies to the service of the homeland, people and the revolution."

The new vice president is Nguyen Lyong Bang, Tass reported.

Hoarding Food

HONGKONG (AP) — People throughout South China are hoarding food because of rumors that Mao Tse-tung is dead and a power struggle is already under way in Peking, Chinese arriving from Canton reported today.

The travelers said the rumors started because Mao has made no known public appearances in the past four months.

Subsidy Uncertain

WASHINGTON (AP) — A far-reaching new rent subsidy plan for public housing tenants faces an uncertain reception in the House after breezing through the Senate with little fanfare or debate.

The proposal to provide $75 million for the rent subsidies was included in the $6.3 billion housing bill passed by voice vote in the Senate Monday after only two hours of floor consideration.

Under the measure, the government for the first time would pay a portion of the rent of some public housing tenants and might even provide the entire amount for families in the most dismal circumstance.

Prosecution Team

LONG BINH, Vietnam (AP) — The U.S. Army has selected two military lawyers with no civilian courtroom experience to prosecute the first Green Beret murder trial against some of the toughest legal talent in the United States.

The Army today announced the selection of Maj. Richard P. Runke, 33, of Chicago, Ill., and Capt. Thomas C. Warren, 28, of Wenatchee, Wash., as trial counsel and assistant trial counsel.

They will present the Army's case against three Special Forces captains scheduled for general court-martial Oct. 20 on charges of murdering a Vietnamese who reportedly was a double agent.

public broadcasting "so that it may develop the kind of educational, cultural and dramatic programming not presently provided insufficient measure by commercial broadcasting."

The panel, headed by Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, was formed by former President Lyndon B. Johnson in 1968 after the assassination of Robert F. Kennedy. It is publishing a series of reports on various aspects of violence in American life.

The 11-page report on TV violence focused primarily on its effects on the young.

"Television is one of our significant national resources," it said, "but our greatest resource is our children. Children begin to absorb the lessons of television before they can read or write. In a fundamental way, television helps to create what children expect of themselves and of others, and of what constitutes the standards of civilized society.

"Yet . . . we daily permit our children during their formative years to enter a world of police interrogations, of gangsters beating enemies, of spies performing fatal brain surgery and of routine demonstrations of all kinds of killing and maiming."

In mitigation of its criticism, the report said the three major television networks "have effected substantial improvements in the cartoon programs offered this season."

And it noted the networks' 1969-70 program schedule "seems to indicate the beginning of a favorable trend along the lines recommended here."

Some of the commission's findings:

Children and adolescents are the heaviest viewers of television, with some children in lower income families watching their sets five to seven hours each weekday.

Children's cartoons, concentrated on Saturday mornings, "almost all . . . contained violence" in 1967 and 1968 surveys, "and the rate of violent episodes was quite high in both years—more than 20 per hour."

Eight of 10 violent episodes "occurred in a serious or sinister context" as opposed to slapstick and satire.

Violent encounters in television drama, "unlike violent encounters in real life, are rarely between intimates. They generally occur at close range between young to middle-aged single males who, half the time, are strangers to each other. Six times out of 10, the violent acts involve the use of weapons . . ."

"Those who commit acts of violence more often perceive them to be in their self-interest than in the service of some other cause. Nearly half of all the leading characters who kill and more than half of all leading characters who are violent achieve a clearly happy ending in the programs.

"To this extent, violence is portrayed as a successful means of attaining a desired end."

NICASIO

should be considered for historic treatment.

Programs are needed to manage rangelands, pastures and watersheds. Erosion control should be encouraged.

Leaving ranches in agricultural preserves is recommended. Other possibilities are dude ranches, resorts, or equestrian clubs.

Careful forest management is especially important because Nicasio forests are on steep slopes that drain down into the Nicasio Reservoir.

Nicasio is also vulnerable to smog because of atmospheric conditions.

Roads should be designed for low speed and to scenic standards. Hills should be bridged and tunneled rather than cut and filled.

President Sets News Conference

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon will hold a news conference at noon Friday, his first in three months, the White House announced today.

The conference will be open to television and radio broadcast.

Warrant Issued For Missing Court Date

A bench warrant with bail set at $2,500 was issued today by Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court for Bradford Eugene Bishop, 20, of Novato, when he failed to appear in court for sentencing on a narcotics violation.

Bishop, who is on probation for other offenses in Marin and Los Angeles counties, had earlier pleaded guilty to selling methedrine to a drug agent last February.

Haynsworth's Rights Record Under Attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The civil rights record of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. was attacked and defended today at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on his nomination to be a Supreme Court justice.

Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., testified that "it would be turning back the clock on civil rights and impair public confidence in the orderly process of justice and equal rights to place Judge Haynsworth on the Supreme Court."

But Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said he has read all of Haynsworth's opinions in the civil rights field and declared that Haynsworth has "diligently followed every decision of the Supreme Court."

Ervin was the only committee member present at today's hearing in contrast to the turnout yesterday of almost all of the 17 members, when Haynsworth testified he regretted a stock purchase he made in 1967.

Ryan told the committee that Haynsworth, now chief judge of the Fourth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, has been called a moderate.

But he said "what that means is that he has never espoused doctrines like interposition or massive resistance but has only cast crucial votes at crucial times against speeding the pace of desegregation and for slowing it down."

The congressman said he has "absolutely nothing personal against Haynsworth" but that his appointment involves a risk to basic American rights."

Ervin, challenging Ryan's testimony at every point, said the record shows "beyond a shadow of a doubt" that very decision in which Haynsworth participated in the civil rights field was in line with Supreme Court rulings in existence at the time.

Ryan cited what he called four cases in which he said Haynsworth had been reversed by the Supreme Court, but Ervin told him "that doesn't make any difference because the Supreme Court has been constantly expanding and changing its decisions."

Ryan also objected to what he termed Haynsworth's attitude toward labor but Ervin said that "any insinuation that Judge Haynsworth has been antilabor in his decisions is absurd."

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., told Haynsworth yesterday "I guess you will be confirmed."

Ervin sail it would be a tragedy if he were disqualified because of his purchase of 1,000 shares of Brunswick Corp. stock.

Search Right Of Lockers

Can a school principal open a student's locker and look around?

Yes, to supervise the student or to prevent misconduct.

In a recent case students had reported that Pete Pusher, 15, had sold them drugs. Opening Pete's locker, the principal found some drugs.

Although the principal had no search warrant and Pete had not given him permission to make the search, the juvenile court put Pete in a boys' home. At Pete's hearing, the court admitted into evidence the drugs the principal had found. On appeal the higher court upheld the court's ruling.

School officials are "in loci parentis," that is, "in place of parents." Although the Constitution forbids a search of homes without a warrant or without "probable cause," school people have joint control with students over lockers. The principal had searched Pete's locker to check on Pete's conduct and to protect other students — not to get criminal evidence.

While on school grounds and during school hours, the principal can use moderate force to prevent disorderly and dangerous conduct. This power includes the right to search a locker.

A school official may not abuse his legal powers. Rules must relate reasonably to safety or discipline. Courts have held invalid as a denial of free speech a rule against wearing of political buttons. But rules are valid if they relate directly to morals and student discipline. If they do not, a court may declare them invalid.

A student has a right before a school acts to know why it wants to expel him. Under this "due process of law" clause, he can have a hearing and a chance to answer charges. If he believes he did not get a fair hearing a court may review his expulsion.

Sausalito Bar Owners To Plead On Pot Import

The owners of the Latitude 38 bar in Sausalito will plead guilty Tuesday in U.S. District Court in San Francisco to importing marijuana from Mexico, their attorney said today.

Charles Peter Barrett, 46, and Stanley Mulligan, 36, had proceedings against them set over yesterday until Tuesday after Jerrold Ladar, asst. U.S. attorney, agreed to dismiss one phase of the charges, attorney Edwin T. Caldwell said.

Caldwell said his clients would enter guilty pleas to the Harrison Act, which involves illegal importation but provides for probation. Dropped would be charges under the Jones Act, which does not allow probation and makes a jail sentence mandatory, he said. Included in the Jones Act are charges of failure to pay federal tax on the marijuana.

Caldwell said he expected Barrett and Mulligan to be sentenced about mid-November, following a recommendation by probation officials.

The pair was arrested Oct. 14 after authorities said they delivered 250 pounds of marijuana to the Richardson Bay home of entrepreneur Frank Werber. Acquitted July 3 of conspiracy to smuggle marijuana, Werber faces charges in Marin of possessing marijuana.

SCOTT

see senator said.

The Scott-Baker confrontation was a clash between age and youth, experience and inexperience, the liberal and conservative wings of the party in the Senate.

Scott is a veteran of political infighting who is nearing the end of his second Senate term. He previously served eight terms in the House. He is also a former GOP national chairman.

Although he describes himself as a moderate, Scott's backing came primarily from the liberals and liberal-moderates who helped win him the whip job last January in an upset over conservative Sen. Roman Hruska of Nebraska, who sought, but dropped out of the race for the leadership post.

Baker has been in the Senate only three years and had no previous legislative experience. But as Dirksen's son-in-law and the son of a couple who both served in Congress, Baker's life has been steeped in politics.

Seven Accused Of Beach Nudity

It was a lovely sunny day at Muir Beach yesterday, and the nudes were out en masse again according to complaints received by the sheriff's department.

A deputy who arrived after a call at 11:45 a.m. from Mrs. Eleanor Borden, who lives above a private beach next to the state park, rounded up seven persons, arrested them and booked them at the Marin County Jail on suspicion of disturbing the peace.

Released on their own recongizance to appear in Marin Municipal Court today were Joan Francis Hassemer, 28, of 75 Corte Madera Avenue, Robert William Silverman, 22, of 809 Spring Drive and Gilbert Arthur Carlson, 23, of 180 Cascade Drive, all of Mill Valley; Christopher Alan Peterson, 25, Arthur James Shea, 30, and Charles Stewart Kehler, 22, all of San Francisco, and Arnold Julius Caesar Leon, 23, of Sausalito.

Trustees May Quiz Nichols

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sonoma State College President Ambrose R. Nichols Jr. may be questioned today about a freshman orientation pamphlet which mentions drugs, a student spokesman said at the state college trustees meeting.

The brochure for entering freshmen had urged students to avoid dangerous drugs. Some faculty members had complained this could be construed as approving of marijuana and LSD.

James Gilette, student body president at Sonoma State, said Nichols has not yet been questioned by trustees but that it was possible later in the day.

Frank Rusalem, businessman and developer who parleyed 50 rubles into a multi-million dollar fortune, is dead at 77.

Rusalem died Sept. 14 in a San Francisco hospital following an illness of several months. Funeral was held Sept. 16.

It was Rusalem who developed, and for several years, owned the Corte Madera Shopping Center. He also built the Edgewater Inn in Corte Madera and it was among his holdings at the time of his death.

For many years, he and his wife, Edna, had lived in Ross. For the past several years, the family home was in Palm Springs.

Rusalem came to the United States from Russia in 1905. He was 12 then and had only 50 rubles in his pocket, worth about $25.

His first job was in Baltimore as a butcher shop delivery boy. Six months later he was in New York, working days in a delicatessen and studying English at night.

After two hears he went into the laundry business and later moved to Reno with it. In 1925 he arrived in San Francisco and by the beginning of World War II had about 70 retail laundries in the Bay Area.

He and his wife moved to Marin in 1941 and lived first in San Rafael and later in Ross.

He also owned several San Francisco businesses and had other interests throughout the state.

He is survived by his wife; a daughter, Evelyn Burns of Daly City, and a son Lester M. Walton of San Francisco.

He was a member of the Press Club of San Francisco, Habonim Lodge Free and Accepted Mason, New York City, San Francisco Bodies Scottish Rite and Islam Temples and a member of the board of directors of Congregation Anshey Sfard.

LEONA B. CANNON

Requiem Mass for Leona B. Cannon, 68, of 45 Grove Lane, San Anselmo, will be offered at 10 a.m. Friday at St. Anselm's Church, San Anselmo. Burial will be in Mount Olivet Cemetery in San Rafael.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

Mrs. Cannon, wife of Cecil F. Cannon, owner of Dave's Tavern in San Rafael, died unexpectedly in her home Monday night.

Born in Colorado, Mrs. Cannon lived in California 50 years, 38 of them in Marin County.

She was a member of the Sodality, Altar Society and Rose Marie Club of St. Anselm's and of the Mother's Club of Marin Catholic High School.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Patricia Bamberg of San Jose, and two grandchildren.

ARLINE E. LINES

Arline E. Lines, mother of Mrs. Alex Center of Tiburon, died yesterday at a local hospital after a lengthy illness.

Mrs. Lines was a 20-year resident of San Francisco but lived recently at her daughter's home at 408 Greenwood Beach Road. She was a native of Germany and had lived in several countries before moving to San Francisco.

She is also survived by a son, Carl Miller of San Leandro.

IDA STODDARD

Ida Berg Stoddard, 80, of 520 D Street, San Rafael, died yesterday in a local hospital after a brief illness.

She was the widow of Merrill Stoddard, a lumberman, who died 10 years ago.

Born in Quincy, Plumas County, Mrs. Stoddard lived in Oregon and in Mendocino and Sonoma counties before moving to Marin four years ago.

She was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Senior Citizens Club and the First Presbyterian Church, all in San Rafael.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. John H. Lucas of San Rafael, four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral will be held at 1 p.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Mortuary in San Rafael. Entombment will be in Santa Rosa. Order of the Eastern Star services are scheduled for 8 p.m. today in the funeral home.

GEORGE COMPAGNO

Requiem Mass for George Nicholas Compagno, 76, of 127 Oak Manor Drive, Fairfax, was held today at St. Ignatius Church, San Francisco. Burial was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Compagno died Sunday at a local hospital after a long illness.

A native of San Francisco, he was a graduate of St. Ignatius High School. In his early years he was an architect and won first mention for his design for a chapel in a public park.

He had been a scenic decorator for 50 years, designing artistic effects for theaters, opera houses and civic auditoriums.

Survivors are his wife, Olive Compagno; a son, George N. Compagno of Daly City; two daughters, Jeanne Robertson of Fairfax and Maxine Galeazzi of Healdsburg; three brothers, Vincent I., William N. and Matthew Compagno; four sisters, Lucille and Sleanore Compagno, Grace Groene and Genevieve Shannon, and a grandson.

EMILY BURKE

Private funeral was held today at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael for Emily Hunt Burke, 51, of 830 Eucalyptus Avenue, Novato, who died yesterday.

She was born in France, where her parents were visiting and came to this country as an infant. She had lived in California for 28 years, the past 11 years in Marin.

She is survived by a son, Warren L. Burke of San Rafael; a daughter, Mrs. Gary Howell of Novato, and one grandchild.

Memorial contributions to the American Cancer Society are preferred by the family.

The Redwood Chapel Funeral Home in Novato was in charge of the arrangements.

ACHILLE OLGIATI

Achille Olgiati, 63, a waiter at Doro's Restaurant in San Francisco, died yesterday in a local hospital after a three-week illness.

A 40-year resident of San Francisco, he moved three weeks ago with his wife, Lillian, to 164 Morningside Drive, San Anselmo. He was a native of Switzerland.

He was a member of Waiter's Union Local 30.

Also surviving are a son, Carl P. Olgiati, a daughter, Marianne Olgiati and a grandson Ronald Joseph Olgiati, all of San Anselmo.

EVA OCKENDEN

Private funeral for Eva Alice Ockenden of San Mateo, mother of Rolfe M. Ockenden of Fairfax, a former city councilman there, was held today at Crosby-N. Gray and Co., Burlingame, with burial in Skylawn Memorial Park.

Mrs. Ockenden died Monday in a San Mateo convalescent hospital after a long illness. She was 96.

A native of Iowa, she had lived in California since 1892, first in Ockenden, a town near Fresno founded by her late husband, William Lewis Ockenden, a lumber and cattle rancher.

The town burned in 1911 and in 1914 the family moved to San Francisco where she lived until moving to San Mateo two years ago. She was a member of Parnassus Chapter, 269, Order of the Eastern Star which was in charge of the funeral.

Other survivors are a daughter, Grace O. Bartlett of San Mateo, a son, William B. Ockenden of Hillsborough, three grandchildren, and three great-grandchildren.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Heart Fund or the American Cancer Society.

Mill Valley Puts Price Tag On School Swaps

Faced with the prospect of educating an increasing number of Sausalito school children, the Mill Valley School District board last night asked that extra educational costs, more than $600 per child, be paid by the home district in all interdistrict transfers, Supt. James A. Collins reported.

The board's action came in response to the Marin County Board of Education's action last night in overruling seven interdistrict transfer denials by the Sausalito School District board. (See transfer appeals story, page 20.)

Collins said the Mill Valley trustees agreed that the differential in the cost of educating a child between the average daily attendance allocation of the state and what the Mill Valley district actually pays per child should be paid by the child's home district.

In the past such payments were not necessary, Collins said, because the number of interdistrict transfers to and from Mill Valley balanced out.

However, this year the Mill Valley board has approved five transfers out of the district and as of today 18 will be coming into Mill Valley.

According to Collins, the county board agreed last night that the home district should pay the differential and conditioned the Sausalito transfers on such a payment.

The county board has the power to order Sausalito to pay these costs Collins explained. The exact amount of the payment will be set following negotiations to be scheduled, Collins added.

In addition to the six transfers approved last night by the county board, the Mill Valley board approved four others previously approved by Sausalito.

Another transfer, this one from Mill Valley to Sausalito, was also approved by the Mill Valley board.

Of the five Mill Valley students attending other districts, two are in Sausalito schools, two in Reed schools and one in a Larkspur school.

More Tests Ordered In Early Years

An expanded student testing program for the 1969-70 school year was approved last night by the Mill Valley School District board, Supt. James A. Collins reported.

Collins said the board authorized testing of first and second grade students in reading ability, third grade students in reading and arithmetic and sixth grade students in reading, arithmetic and language arts.

Last year students were tested only for reading ability, he said.

The Mill Valley School District board also:

HOMESTEAD — Heard that the remodeling project at Homestead School is completed.

VOLUNTEERS — Heard that 157 parents are working as volunteers in schools.

STUDENT TEACHERS — Authorized student teacher agreements with San Francisco State College.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Audrey Stolz as a librarian for Old Mill and Edna Maguire schools at a salary of $7,735; Joy Anne Watts, librarian of Marin Terrace and Tamalpais Valley schools, $7,341; Jean Anne Taylor, part time teacher at Homestead School, $3,609; and Jan Kendall, kindergarten teacher at Tamalpais Valley School, $10,141.

Sausalito Dinner Set

Delegates to the Redwood Empire Association's annual convention will dine tonight at 8:30 o'clock at Sam's Anchor Cafe in Tiburon, instead of at the Holiday Inn as was previously reported by the Independent-Journal.

Suspect Hears Charge On Card

Harry M. Cassidy, 26, of Kentfield, yesterday was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of signing another persons' name to a credit card slip.

His case was continued to Tuesday for entry of plea.

Cassidy was arrested early yesterday in Novato after San Rafael police alerted other officers to be on the lookout for him. Cassidy reportedly used a stolen credit card Sunday in San Rafael.

Baritone Won't Sing At 'Fidelio' Preview

Baritone Ingvar Wixell, appearing with the San Francisco Opera this season, will not sing at a preview of "Fidelio" at 8:15 p.m. tomorrow in the Marin Art and Garden Center Barn, as reported in yesterday's Independent-Journal.

Wixell will merely make an appearance at the preview, according to San Francisco Opera ACTION of Marin, preview sponsors. The preview of "Fidelio" will be delivered by Speight Jenkins Jr., news editor of Opera News Magazine.

Dumke Proposes Enrollment Cuts To Meet Budget

LOS ANGELES (AP)—State college Chancellor Glenn S. Dumke proposed a 24,000 cut in enrollment to enable the colleges to stay within state budget limits next year.

Dumke told state college trustees for the 18-college system the cut would require colleges to accept 10 per cent fewer freshmen and to tighten standards for junior college transfers. He said he also expected higher fees this year to deter some students from enrolling.

To stay within the $265-million initial operating budget allocation by Gov. Ronald Reagan's administration for 1970-71, Dumke also said summer quarter sessions would have to be eliminated at two campuses and that new library book acquisitions would have to be reduced.

College Loan Fund's Cupboards Are Bare

The College of Marin emergency loan fund for students has a zero bank balance, and a door-to-door fund-raising campaign by students and faculty will start Saturday, the College of Marin Foundation board was told yesterday.

The fund normally has $5,000 circulating in small loans which are to be repaid by the end of the semester. Today, financial aids officer Charles Herndon said, $4,2000 has been lent this semester and another $800 is in delinquent loans.

Meantime, Herndon told the board, many students have applied for emergency loans and "we could lend $2,500 today if we had it."

The foundation does have $700 earmarked for long-term loans and $6,000 in a scholarship fund, but nothing for the short-term loans.

The large number of military veterans now enrolled has added to the demand for loans, Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students,said. He said some 800 veterans will receive government aid, but the first checks will not arrive until November.

The short-term loans are interest-free, with a maximum of $50.

Samuel Schwartz, political science teacher, said the volunteer fund-raisers will go into Marin residential neighborhoods starting Saturday to seek donations to try to bring the emergency fund back up to $5,000. The volunteers will work as many weekends as necessary to raise the money, and will report their progress to the foundation, Schwartz said.

Petaluman's Case To Higher Court

John Edward Brown, 19, of Petaluma, yesterday was bound over to Marin Superior Court on three felony charges. He will be arraigned Monday.

Brown is accused of burglarizing Mac's Saw Service in San Rafael Sept. 13, and burglarizing and stealing a car from Dexter Pontiac in San Rafael Aug. 13.

Pot Possession Charged Filed Following Crash

A Novato man, involved in an accident Monday, was charged with possession of Marijuana yesterday after Sonoma County Sheriff's deputies said the drug was found in his damaged car.

William Cowley Burgener, 31, of 474 Ridge Road, posted bail of $1,250 yesterday in Central Sonoma Municipal Court and was scheduled for arraignment on Oct. 2.

Sgt. James Caufield said that Burgener was arrested after marijuana was found in his car at a Santa Rosa service station where it was being stored after the accident.

Burgner's car struck the railing on the Wilford Avenue overpass on Highway 101, north of Rohnert Park at 11:25 p.m. Monday. He was treated for head cuts at Community Hospital of Sonoma County.

Sausalito's Classrooms Less Filled

Enrollment in the troubled Sausalito School District has dropped by 100 students from last spring, according to Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato.

Enrollment for the district's four schools as of Sept. 17 was 714, compared to 814 in June. In addition, there were 26 students from the Mill Valley District down from 55 last spring.

The district's attendance has been declining steadily for several years — as has population growth in Sausalito — but never has shown such a dramatic drop, according to Amato. He said he did not know the reason for the big drop.

An undetermined number of parents in Sausalito, Marin City and the forts have enrolled their children in private schools and some have moved out of the district.

In addition, several have received interdistrict transfers and the Marin County Board of Education last night overruled the Sausalito board's denial of seven more transfers. Sausalito school officials said the children of several of the parents involved in the appeals to the county board last night have not been attending school so far this year. (See transfer appeals story, page 20.)

As of Sept. 17, enrollment in the Sausalito schools (with last spring's figures in parentheses) was: Manzanita kindergarten, 78 (116); Bayside, first grade, 99 (108); Central second through fourth grades, 271 (257); Martin Luther King, fifth through eighth grades, 292 (333).

Amato pointed out last year half of the fourth grade was at Central and the other half at King, accounting at least in part for the changes in enrollment at those schools.

Burglars Make Haul From Job Site, Office

Local thieves had a profitable Monday night this week, escaping with nearly $5,000 worth of office and construction equipment in two San Rafael burglaries.

According to police, 28 hydraulic jacks, valued at $4,000, and 100 feet of pipe, worth $500, were taken from an underground construction site on Rice Street. Owner of the stolen property is the W.A. Forde Construction Co., Greenbrae.

According to foreman Robert E. Linscott, the equipment was taken between 4:30 p.m. Monday and 7:30 a.m. Tuesday.

In another theft, York Securitits, at 900 Fifth Avenue lost a $250 electric typewriter and $150 adding machine. The firm's front door was forced to gain entrance, according to resident manager Robert A. Stribling.

That theft occurred between 5 p.m. Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

with Today's New Lamb... Win high praise with this low cost meal starring lamb. You start with lamb riblets, meaty and tender with that good lamb flavor. Before you're through you have a blue ribbon dinner in the pot—hearty and satisfying, just right for autumn appetites.

LAMB BLUE RIBBON RIBLETS (serves 4 to 6)

- 3 pounds lamb riblets
- 1 tablespoon melted butter
- ½ cup sliced celery
- 2 large onions, sliced
- 2 cups vegetable juice cocktail
- 3 carrots, cut in chunks
- 4 medium-size potatoes, cut in quarters
- 4 cups water (more if needed)
- 2 tablespoons all purpose flour
- 1 tablespoon vinegar
- Salt and onion salt to taste

Cook lamb in butter until well browned on all sides. Drain off drippings. Add celery, onions and vegetable juice cocktail; cover and cook over low heat for 1 hour or until almost tender. Add carrots and potatoes. Cover with water and continue cooking until vegetables are done and meat is tender. Mix together flour and ½ cup cold water. Stir into lamb and vegetable mixture and cook until slightly thickened. Season to taste.

Always ask your meat cutter ... be sure you are buying only top quality American lamb ... full of flavor ... always tender ... and always fresh. Delicious American lamb reaches you in a matter of days direct from American farms and ranches at the peak of freshness.

Drug Abuse Program For Grades 5 To 8

A comprehensive drug abuse education program for fifth through eighth grade students in the Dixie School District was approved last night by trustees.

Supt. Clifford W. Campbell said the program will start in a few weeks. Each student will receive a handbook for his own use and that of his parents, and a supplementary textbook for the classroom. Each teacher will have a guide, partially consisting of articles from the American Medical Association Journal on the effects of drugs.

Trustees commended Asst. Supt. Raymond Riley and vice principal James Heidinger of Miller Creek School, who spent the summer visiting other school districts and gathering drug abuse materials for use in the Dixie district.

More vandalism occurred at Miller Creek School over the weekend, Dr. Campbell reported to trustees. About $400 worth of plate glass windows was broken by large stones.

Clifford S. Lund, the district's insurance carrier, announced that the Miller Creek School administration building, gutted by fire on Sept. 9, will be reconstructed within 60 days. He suggests that a burglary and fire alarm system be installed in the new building.

The Dixie School District Board Also:

BUS POLICY — Reaffirmed the long-standing policy of not bussing primary children living within a mile of their school.

TEMPORARY TRAILER — Approved temporary rental of a large trailer at Miller Creek School to be used as administrative offices until the burned building is reconstructed.

SPECIAL CLASSROOMS — Took no action on a request for placement of three portable classrooms at Vallecito School for deaf and hard of hearing pre-school children. Dr. Rudolf Kupfer, who is in charge of these special classes, made the request. Trustees asked Kupfer to get in touch with the County Board of Education.

CITIZENS GROUP — Appointed a citizens advisory group to study school building construction needs and grounds improvement.

STUDENT TEACHERS— Authorized a contract with San Francisco State College to provide student teachers.

HIRED — Employed Mrs. Mary Lash Stuart as a teacher at Oak View School at an annual salary of $10,972.

Health Plan Council Sets Roster Trim

Up to 15 members of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council will be axed by a new set of by-laws adopted last night by council members, its chairman, Dr. Arthur R. Ablin, reported today.

The present council has 36 seats, of which 34 are filled, "although not all are terribly active," Ablin said.

The new bylaws, by reducing the council to a minimum of 21 to a maximum of 33 members, "will make the council more manageable," he said.

The reductions are expected to be made by enforcing another new bylaw that drops from membership anyone who misses three consecutive meetings, he added.

The changes were recommended by the seven-member executive committee, and ran into opposition only on a proposed change that would have exempted many executive committee actions from ratification by the entire council. This recommendation was rejected, Ablin reported.

Other changes approved in the meeting at the Civic Center included addition of a second county supervisor, but with the option that he may appoint a proxy. Also, the directors of the county health, medical, community mental health services and public social services departments were added as non-voting members.

Marinite A Suspect In Tire Ring

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A Tiburon man, employed by the City of San Francisco as a mechanic, has been arrested in connection with the sale of stolen tires from a city-owned garage where most patrol cars are serviced.

The garage is a block from the Hall of Justice.

The emchanic, Howard Gettle, 48, of 271 Cecelia Way, is charged with possession of stolen property.

Working on a tip, an undercover patrolman said he purchased four snow tires for $100, about half their worth, from Gettle on Saturday.

Gettle has been working at the garage for four years.

Police issued a grand theft warrant for James Duda, 40, a truck driver, who police believe supplied the tires to Gettle.

Duda had worked for Eagle Truck Lines, which reported it has missed 250 tires since last April.

In the garage lubrication room, police said they found 27 stolen tires, plus five more in Gettle's car.

Gettle, free on $500 bail, is to appear in municipal court Tuesday.

Arraignment In Marijuana Growing

A young San Anselmo couple was arraigned yesterday in Marin Municipal Court on a charge of growing marijuana at their home.

The case of John Frederick and Patricia Ann Tanzi, both 21, was continued until Tuesday for entry of plea. They were arrested Saturday.

New Notary Public

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan today announced issurance of a notary public commission to Linda A. Miller of 1841 Second Street, San Rafael.

Robbers Slay Four Women

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Four men — two employees and two patrons—were shot to death today in a holdup at a savings and loan office in a Cincinnati suburb.

First reports indicated one of three robbers opened fire after herding the four women into a vault at the Cabinet-Supreme Savings and Loan Co.

The three robbers described as young and white, fled in a car. One of them was described as wearing a beard.

A description of the men came from a man who was parking his car while his wife entered the savings and loan office. He said he heard shots and saw the men run from the office.

Stolen Equipment Sale Balked By Company

A quantity of office equipment, some of it stolen from a Burlingame firm and all of it being peddled locally, has been recovered by San Rafael police.

Inspector Richard A. Douglas today said five electric typewriters and two calculators worth of a total of $3,000 were recovered after a San Rafael firm became suspicious of the low asking price and lack of a sales receipt.

Last Thursday, Classic Press Co. of 1299 Fourth Street , San Rafael, reported the firm had been offered the equipment for $1,000. Richard Anthony Bell, the president of the children's book company, asked his secretary to make sure the machines were all right.

Checks with typewriter firm, International Business Machines, and a San Francisco leasing firm, led Bell's secretary to United Research of Burlingame which reported three typewriters and a calculator had been taken in a Labor Day burglary there.

When police arrived at Classic Press, Carole Keith of 128 Surrey Lane, San Rafael, was attempting to retrieve the machines which had originally been offered to the firm, Douglas said, by Myrl Barretta, with with whom she shares an apartment.

Miss Barretta told police she got the machines from Clarence Edward Wright, also of 128 Surrey Lane who had said she could have them for $500.

Douglas said that after Bell's insistence on a sales receipt, a blank receipt taken from the Emporium in San Francisco was filled out in Wright's handwriting for five IBM typewriters at $200 each.

It was signed Charles Wright, police said.

Wright told officers he got the machines from a Harry Cruz in payment for a gambling debt plus $200 which he paid in a check drawn on a Burlingame branch of the Wells Fargo Bank, Douglas said.

Douglas reported the bank investigated and determined Wright had no account at the bank.

Wright told officers he did not know where Harry Cruz lived or worked but that Cruz had told him he was closing out his office when he offered the machinery. He also said he did not know how Cruz found him at Allied Merchandisers in Burlingame where he now works, police said.

The Marin County District Attorney's office said it was not issuing any warrant in the case since there was no evidence that Wright or the others knew the items were stolen property.

No Charge Filed In Burglary Case

No charge was filed Monday in Marin Municipal Court against Ronald Lee Price, 25, of South San Francisco, who had been arrested Sunday by Mill Valley police on suspicion of burglary.

Police said Price was carrying a stolen television set when arrested on East Blithedale Avenue.

Sparks, No Vote On Hub Trade Fees

San Anselmo councilmen wrangled last night over a proposed new business license ordinance, but took no action except setting it for a public hearing Oct. 14.

The quarrel started when Councilman Robert M. Scott objected to the proposal as penalizing the prosperous and putting the city in the auditing business.

Councilman Kenneth L. Anderson, who has had a major role in drafting the proposal, erupted at that.

"We talked all this over," he said. "We held meetings with the chamber (of commerce) . . . it's obvious you haven't even read this . . . you're starting from scratch. You just made a nice political speech, that's all."

Scott replied that he had read the material and asked, "What is your speech if not political? It's a spoiled brat's speech if I may say so."

Scott objected to a scale of license fees based on gross receipts of a business, saying it penalized high-volume, low-profit operators.

Anderson said the top of the scale was only $350. Long's Drugs, he daid, would pay $1,900 in Los Angeles, $1,100 in Sausalito, but only $350 in San Anselmo. Safeway, he said, would pay $2,500 in Los Angeles but only $350 in San Anselmo.

A change Anderson proposed last night would extend the business license requirement to anyone renting two or more housing units, whether houses or apartments.

He first proposed covering everyone renting housing, but a member of the audience objected that would penalize people who were not in business, but only renting their own residences when transferred or required to move.

License fees would be based on gross receipts under the new ordinance, renging from $15 a year for up to $5,000 to $350 for $820,000 or more.

Fees would also be spelled out for such operations as theaters, circuses, carnivals, coin-operated machines and public dances.

In another matter, the council split 3-2 to overrule the planning commission and grant a variance to Thomas D. Wilson to let him build a garage at 8 Crescent Lane reducing the front yard setback to 15 feet.

Wilson told the council he started design plans for the house addition a year ago, before the city changed its setback requirements. He objected to an alternate parking layout suggested by City Engineer Charles R. Leitzell because it used a sunny corner he planned as a play area for his children.

Councilmen Scott and Duane C. Ragan and Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro voted to grant the variance while councilmen Anderson and James F. Reed voted against it.

The San Anselmo City Council also:

BIDS — Awarded a contract for storm drain work and overlay street paving to W.K. McClellan Co. for $31,863. The firm's original bid was $35,355, but Leitzell told the council he would knock out a portion for work on Holstein Road to get closer to the engineering estimate of $27,186. Other bids were $37,338 by Maggiora and Ghilotti, $43,082 by O.C. Jones and Son, and $44,284 by Ghilotti Brothers.

POLICEMAN — Hired Martin C. Gent as a patrolman to replace Sgt. Grant B. Thompson Jr., who resigned because of family obligations. An examination for a new sergeant will be held in the department.

PARKS — Set a dedication ceremony for a new tot lot for 1 p.m. Oct. 19.

HEALTH PLAN — Authorized setting up a health plan for five employees not now covered by the city retirement system. The five can get coverage for their families by contributing to the plan.

TOILETS — Authorized spending up to $2,300 to build toilets at Robson-Harrington Park.

SENIOR HOUSING — Heard Edwin N. Wicander Jr. of Tiburon outline his plans for a 40-unit senior housing development on Magnolia Avenue, but took no action. Executive Director Donald O. Stutsman of the Marin County Housing Authority explained the legal status of the project and said the property could be sold to the government only after 15 years and after a vote of the people. Councilmen warned Wicander that the 40-unit density would be far higher than allowed under present zoning.

SMOG — Agreed, on request of Rep. George E. Brown Jr., D-Los Angeles, to write the Justice Department to protest a proposed out-of-court settlement of an antitrust suit against the four major car makers and to ask for a trial. The manufacturers are charged with conspiring to delay introduction of antismog devices on new cars.

FIRE WEEK — Agreed to let the fire department display two pieces of equipment at the county's third annual Fire-Rama from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Oct. 5 at Redwood High School.

RECORDS — Authorized City Administrator Alfred C. Kaeppel to destroy obsolete city records with written consent of the city attorney.

EQUIPMENT — Voted not to lend public works equipment. The town of Fairfax had asked about borrowing the city's brush chipper.

LANDSCAPING — Approved Kaeppel's action in canceling a contract with A. and J. Shooter, Inc., for landscaping of Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from the Hub to the Ross town limit, and substituting a new contract for maintenance from Greenfield Avenue to the limit. The new contract is for $285 a month, $95 cheaper than before, Kaeppel said, because landscaping at the Hub is being torn out for the intersection remodeling.

Sentence Date On Battery Count

Dean Walter Plagowski, 34, of no known address, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of battery against a police officer July 22 in Sausalito and two other charges against him were dismissed.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, on Monday, set sentencing for Nov. 3.

Plagowski has been accused of waving a bayonet in a threatening manner near the Tides Bookstore, terrorizing pedestrains, and resisting arrest.

Auto, Varied Loot Stolen

A 1968 four door model car was taken from the C. D. Motor Sales parking lot at 750 Grand Avenue, San Rafael, during the weekend, one of four thefts reported yesterday by San Rafael police.

An electric adding machine valued at $150 and a $35 clock radio were stolen from the Union Oil office at 620 Canal Street between Friday and Monday.

A thief took eight racing tires from a padlocked rental trailer yesterday parked at the Holiday Inn, North Gate Drive, San Rafael.

Driver Frank H. Attaway, 21, of Florida, told police one of the tires belonging to the Peter H. Gregg Co., of Jacksonville, was quite hazardous.

Guilty Plea To Burglaries

Michael Vincent St. Martin, 18, of San Rafael, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to two charges of burglary and two similar counts against him were reduced to misdemeanors.

He then also pleaded guilty to one charge of trespassing and another of acting as an accessory after the fact to a burglary.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, on Monday, set sentencing for Nov. 3 and warned the youth that he may send him to the California Youth Authority.

25 Strep Cases

Last week 25 strep infections, 24 cases of gonorrhea, two cases of infectious hepatitis, and one case each of tuberculosis, German measles and syphilis were reported in Marin County by Dr. Carolyn Albrecht, county health officer.

Board Sets Airing On Mental Health

Dr. Clyde G. Miller, director of community mental health services, who is under fire for lack of communication with mental health organizations, declared yesterday he will have a full reply at a hearing before the Marin County Board of Supervisors on Tuesday.

The supervisors yesterday set 10:30 a.m. Tuesday as the time for a full-scale hearing at the request of Miller.

A member of the Mental Health Advisory Board, a psychiatrist at the Marin Mental Health Center, and the director of the Catholic Social Services Agency this week called for Dr. Miller's replacement. They expressed lack of confidence in Miller and cited his inability to get along with other officials and organizations in the mental health field.

Miller acknowledged that friction exists, especially with the Marin Community Mental Health Center headed by Dr. Donald P. Wilson.

Supervisors set the hearing without comment.

P.U. 214-1 The Marin County Board of Supervisors also:

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

LAGOON FILLING — Asked the public works director for a report on any application for large amounts of fill along Bolinas Lagoon. Stinson Beach developer George P. Leonard said he has applied to public works for a permit to fill a portion of his property along Shoreline Highway near the lagoon sometime in the future, but he has no immediate plans to fill.

SEWAGE GRANT — Joined other counties in urging Congress not to cut back on federal grants to counties and cities for construction of sewage treatment facilities.

STINSON BOLINAS — Asked Hugh Dougherty, president of the Stinson Beach County Water District board, to work with the Bolinas Public Utilities District on a joint plan to handle sewage problems in the two communities.

STREET LIGHTS — Authorized three street lights to be installed in Forest Knolls along Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, near Tamal and Montezuma avenues.

OCEANA MARIN — Approved a series of resolutions setting up a special assessment district at Oceana Marin unit 3 at Dillon's Beach, a 33-lot subdivision planned by Bodega Bay Lands Inc. The special district will finance roads and a sewer and water system in the subdivision at a cost of about $210,000, with cost to be shared by each lot owner.

COMMENDATION — Voted certificates of appreciation to Troy E. Lewis, human rights commissioner, and to Stephen A. Thomas, administrative assistant in the human rights department. Lewis resigned because of pressure of work, and Thomas to continue graduate studies.

ARMORY ACCESS — Took under study a request by Jeffrey De Lone of San Rafael, acting chairman of Youth Power, to open an access road from Civic Center Drive to the National Guard Armory in Santa Venetia. De Lone said residents of Jefferson and Washington avenues object to traffic on their streets when functions such as dances are held at the armory.

PURCHASING AGENT — Commended County Purchasing Agent Doug Edelin for winning the title of associate public purchasing officer from the California Association of Public Purchasing Officers.

LAB FEES — Raised standby fees for technicians from the Marin Medical Laboratories who take blood samples from suspected drunken drivers. Technicians on call will get $15 per night instead of the present $10 per night.

PROBATION — Voted to hire six new deputy probation officers at a higher salary step than normal, transferring $707 from reserves to meet salary needs. The vote was 4-1, Louis H. Baar dissenting. Probation Director John W. Brewer called the applicants — Leonard S. Fadeef, Polly E. Blake, Patricia L. Schuman, Ralph M. Merola, Robert F. Burns and Nancy A. Boggs, all hired at $819 a month — exceptionally qualified.

SEMINAR — Said James V. Burdick, veterans' service officer, could attend a seminar in St. Paul, Minn., at a total estimated cost of $228.

EOC — Sanctioned the Education Corps and the Mexican-American Political Association for membership on the board of directors of the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

CHILDREN — Authorized hiring of an extra teacher aide for the San Rafael Children's Center at a cost of $4,201.

THEFT — Voted $1,866 to replace stolen property and repair damage at the Manzanita Children's Center, scene of a burglary Sept. 17.

TABLES — Overruling the request of the municipal court judges, declined to spend $600 to change the design of court reporters' tables in the new Hall of Justice. Architect Aaron Green said the new tables were innovative, but the board called them an extravagance.

CABLE TV — Set a hearing for 1:45 p.m. Nov. 4 on complaints about cable television service in Strawberry and possibly other parts of Southern Marin.

APPOINTMENTS — Hired Richard J. Gray as a deputy probation officer at $781 monthly, Paula Kamena as a group counselor at Juvenile Hall at $781 a month and Mattie Knighten as a head teacher in the children's center-preschool program at $750 monthly.

TRANSPORTATION — With Louis H. Baar opposed, voted $10,000 to hire Donald Goodrich of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co. as a consultant for the second phase of the county's balanced transportation study. Baar said the service would only produce data which the county already has.

PORTABLE — Voted to rent a portable classroom building from the Speedspace Corp. of Santa Rosa for the Novato Children's Center at Novato High School at a cost over seven years of $17,850.

CLAIM — Rejected a $300,000 claim by James Scott Anderson of Novato, who asserts he was falsely arrested and assaulted by Novato police on June 14.

HEARINGS — Set a hearing for Oct. 14 on the specific development plan for the Richardson Bay area.

STOP SIGNS — Approved placement of a stop sign at Eucalyptus Avenue and Devonshire Drive outside Novato and two additional stop signs at the intersection of Bretano Way and La Cuesta and Los Cerros drives in Greenbrae.

LANDSCAPING — Approved a contract with Lewin and Vallette landscape architects for up to $6,000 to landscape the second and third phases of the South San Pedro Road widening project, a county-City of San Rafael venture.

Ban Continued On Power Line

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The State Public Utilities Commission has extended its ban on construction of a transmission line through Briones Regional Park into October.

The PUC yesterday issued an order temporarily restraining Pacific Gas and Electric Co. from continuing work on the line between its Pittsburg generating plant and El Sobrante substation in Contra Costa County.

PG&E had voluntarily agreed to halt construction until Oct. 1, but opposed further extension of the ban.

Loggers File $5 Million County Claim

Loggers harvesting timber from the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge filed a $5 million claim against Marin County today, charging that the county has no right to halt the logging.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the firm of Matthews, Humbert and Walker, announced he would follow up the claim with a suit in Marin Superior Court.

The $5 million claim is the logging firm's reply to the board of supervisors, who late yesterday declared the logging operations a nuisance and demanded that cutting be stopped until slash and debris have been cleaned up to remove fire and erosion hazards.

"The supervisors acted in excess of their jurisdiction and by doing so, they have interfered with the private contracts of loggers with various companies to furnish them timber," said Bianchi. "It amounts to confiscation of private property without just compensation. There was no evidence to warrant such action. Their (supervisors') action is basen on personal prejudice against logging in general and in Marin in particular."

The attorney said $1 million of the claim is for loss from existing contracts with private firms and with Dr. Righetti, the landowner, and $4 million is for anticipated losses in the future.

Bianchi said he anticipates the county will file its own suit to stop the logging. "But we plan to continue logging unless and until some court tells us otherwise."

Workshop On Drug Addiction On Friday

The Community Planning Group for Alcohol-Drug Addiction problems will have a workshop meeting Friday with presidents of parent-teacher councils in Marin at the Coral Room at Marin General Hospital.

Ways to encourage school districts to present increasingly effective drug education will be discussed. The session will be from 1:15 to 3 p.m.

Ireland is the second largest island in the British Isles.

Supervisors Defy Suit Threat, Lower Boom On Untidy Logging

Logging at the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge must stop until debris and slash is cleaned up to cut down on erosion and fire hazard, the Marin County Board of Supervisors decided yesterday.

On a motion by Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and a second by William A. Gnoss, the supervisors voted unanimously that the type of logging being conducted by the Oregon firm of Matthews, Humbert and Walker is a public nuisance because of the fire, siltation and erosion hazards it has created.

County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney explained that the supervisors' decision halts all timber cutting until the hazards are corrected to the county's satisfaction.

Arrigoni and Gnoss, who made a field trip with Public Works Engineer James F. Wiese on Monday, insisted that the cleanup of debris must be completed before any more cutting.

"As long as the cutting continues, the clearing of slash will never be done," declared Arrigoni. He said the loggers also violated their agreement with the county by pushing timber cutting into a second area before they completed cleaning of the first area.

Gnoss charged that thousands of logs lie in both the ridges and canyons. "The debris is covered with so much dirt and mud, it will be impossible to burn this year. It will take a couple of years."

Gnoss also declared that the loggers started cutting in a second canyon before they cleaned up the first canyon. "That's a violation right there," he remarked.

Public Works Director Donald R. Frost said the loggers planned to continue cutting trees in the winter, with no grading, and then haul out the logs next spring. Frost said he believes the loggers could meet most of the county's conditions if they proceed with the cleanup and seeding of grass to reduce erosion.

The supervisors, however, were not satisfied.

"I consider that a nuisance does exist," said Michael Wornum. "If this isn't a nuisance, I don't know what is."

Supervisor Louis H. Baar expressed surprise that the logged area had not been cleaned up to county specifications.

Albert Bianchi, attorney for the logging firm, and George Walker, one of the partners in the firm, argued that county conditions are being met. They explained that cleanup cannot be completed until logging in an area is completed.

Happy News: BART Not Broke

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Bay Area Rapid Transit District isn't broke after all, Gen. Mgr. B. R. Stokes reported yesterday.

In a report sent to all BART directors, Stokes said a reassessment of construction funds indicates there are sufficient reserves to complete the entire three-county project.

He said reserves now total $36 million, with an estimated $233 million remaining in unawarded construction contracts. Stokes said the figures indicated a 15.6 per cent unexpected cost increases.

To stop all logging until cleanup is completed is just not a practical logging practice, said Bianchi.

"What you're saying is you don't want logging in Marin County," Bianchi said. "But you do not have the legal right to stop a legal operation which was started prior to your natural resources ordinance (that imposed a moratorium on all logging outside the Righetti Ranch.)" Bianchi warned that the loggers have legal contracts to deliver timber to Japanese firms, and a halt in cutting could make the county liable for damages.

Chairman John F. McInnis and Baar expressed concern about potential damage suits against the county.

Harold E. Gregg, president of the Marin Conservation League, declared flatly that logging should stop, especially because of the danger of siltation into Bolinas Lagoon.

Officials of the Audubon Canyon Ranch, the Marin Audubon Society, and the Bolinas Harbor District also urged a halt in logging.

Arrigoni finally brought the two-hour wrangling to a halt with his motion declaring present operations a nuisance.

Trial On Assault Charge Is Slated

A jury trial has been scheduled for Oct. 9 in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court for Stanley L. DeMartinis, of Petaluma, charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

He pleaded innocent in a preliminary hearing Monday before Judge Alexander J. McMahon. He is also charged with disturbing the peace and possession of alcoholic beverages when arrested Sept. 14 after an altercation on Jefferson Street erupted into gunfire.

Egypt, Jordan Hit By Israeli Jets

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes attacked military installations in Egypt and Arab guerrilla strongholds in Jordan today, the Israeli military command reported.

A spokesman said all planes returned safely after brief strikes.

The attack along the west coast of the Gulf of Suez in Egypt was in response to "continued Egyptian cease-fire violations," the spokesman said such as Egyptian shells yesterday that killed two Israeli soldiers.

The spokesman said Israeli jets pounded two guerrilla camps in the area of Tafila in Jordan about 10 miles south of the Dead Sea and a third base near Shaubak about 20 miles further south.

Another Israeli announcement said Arab guerrillas fired a number of mortar shells early today at the Jordan River frontier settlement of Gesher.

In Cairo, a confidant of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, newspaper editor Mohammed H. Heikel, said the Israeli air strikes along the Gulf of Suez apparently are aimed at creating a radar-free opening to the Nile Valley for Israeli planes.

In Rabat, delegates of the 26 Moslem nations represented at the first Islamic summit conference voted unanimously to discuss resolutions condemning Israel and demanding Israeli withdrawal from all territory occupied in the 1967 six-day war.

The meeting was convened to condemn the fire in Jerusalem's Al Aksah mosque and Israel's annexation of the Old City. But the agenda approved by the Moslem leaders went much farther than expected.

Iran, Turkey and several of the black African nations represented at the conference maintain close relations with Israel and had not been expected to approve a statement containing such harsh language.

Kidnap Feared On Peninsula

SAN MATEO (AP)—A Foster City girl missing since Monday afternoon, 8-year-old Shirley Nason, may have been abducted, police said today.

"It is beginning to look more and more like she was taken off the island," said Foster City's public safety chief, Gordon F. Penfold, after a large scale search Monday night and all day yesterday uncovered no clues.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Nason, left home afoot about 3 p.m. Monday to play. Her father, a building materials salesman, reported her missing at about 7:30 p.m. Monday.

Volunteer Litter Chasers Gain Blessing From Board

A volunteer conservation group called Terra Nova, dedicated to fighting litter and pollution, won the blessing of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday.

Ernest Maris of Kentfield and his wife Deborah said they have organized a group of young adults to clean up debris throughout the county.

"We're all volunteers," said Maris. "We have about 25 people working on weekends. We've paid out about $100 in dump charges alone. I don't think Marin has to be the dump yard for old autos and junk." He said Terra Nova has already removed about 20 tons of trash.

Maris said his group plans to clean up litter from areas such as Point Reyes, Tomales, Strawberry, an Geronimo and Novato.

"It's refreshing to listen to comments like this," said Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr.

"The least the county can do is to pay for dump charges," added Supervisor Michael Wornum.

Chairman John F. McInnis asked county staff to make recommendations on how the county can encourage the clean-up project.

Nursery Intruders Throw Own Party

Youngsters broke into the San Rafael High School Nursery Monday, helped themselves to three cans of juice, two jugs of cider and a record player and proceeded to have a party in the school yard, police reported yesterday.

Ten packages of cigarettes which had been lit but not smoked also were found along with the empty cans and jugs. The cigarettes were not taken from the nursery, police said.

TV Crews Wear Out Welcome

Marin supervisors outlawed the filming of automobile commercials in the county yesterday because a film crew blocked West Marin traffic for up to 40 minutes two weeks ago.

The order, which applies only to the unincorporated area of Marin, resulted from the bitter complaints of two motorists who said they were delayed on Lucas Valley Road Sept. 10 and 11 because of filming of a Chevrolet commercial for television.

One of the motorists, Gloria Webster of Sausalito, said she and 30 other drivers were delayed more than 35 minutes at the evening rush hour.

Donald R. Frost, county public works director, told the board yesterday that his office had issued 22 permits in recent years to film crews, but that this was the first excessive delay reported.

He said portions of Panoramic Highway in Southern Marin and the Nicasio area were popular filming spots.

Frost said a $5 fee was charged for the permit, but recommended a substantial cash deposit be put up by the crews in the future, together with the implementation of safeguards against traffic delays.

However, the board, expressing anger over the public inconvenience caused two weeks ago, voted not to give filmmakers a second chance and banned filming by a unanimous vote.

Berkeley Fights Flood Of Drugs

BERKELEY (AP) — There are as many drug-charge arrests in this university city of 111,268 as in much larger San Francisco or Oakland, Police Chief B. R. Baker reported last night.

In a report asked by city councilmen, he said that "for the first eight months of 1969 there have been 1,299 investigations resulting in 1,994 arrests" —adding that "only 955 of those arrested were local residents."

San Francisco has a population of 740,316 and Oakland, 367,548.

Talk On Pulsars

HE MUST LIKE FRESH AIR

Rain apparently fails to dampen the motoring ardor of at least one owner of a topless car. This old-timer was spotted chugging along Chicago's Eden Expressway as the rains fell yesterday. (UPI Telephoto)

Deadly Violin Spider Is Found

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — A deadly violin spider from South America has been discovered here, the first reported in the central coastal area of California, authorities disclosed today.

The spider, the bite from which has been compared to a small rattlesnake, was first spotted in the state last June in the Sierra Madre area, near Los Angeles.

An aerospace engineer found the spider Aug. 25 hanging from the ceiling of an office on the base and managed to get it into a jar without being bitten.

Minor Injury Crash Ties Commuter Cars

Marilyn Facer Burgess, 31, of Albany, was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for multiple scrapes and bruises suffered when her car rolled on Highway 101 just south of the Corte Madera overpass, snarling commuter traffic for about 30 minutes.

The California Highway Patrol said the Albany woman swerved to avoid hitting another, skidded and rolled.

Trustees Review New School's Difficulties

A list of small, annoying problems at the newly completed Thomas Page School was reviewed last night by the Cotati School District trustees.

Excessive noise which has had a disruptive influence on the classes was reported by Sup. Duncan A. Coleman, who said architects will be called in to review the acoustics and to determine how the program can be solved.

Coleman also reported that parking is inadequate and that a gravel parking lot for teachers and aides is being considered. He said that a barrier around the main switchboard is being considered to allow a quieter atmosphere for the operator.

The Cotati School District trustees also:

HOLIDAY — Declared Oct. 6 a student holiday to allow teachers to attend a workshop on textbooks.

PLANS — Heard a report that the building committee will meet Tuesday at 8 p.m. to review preliminary plans for the addition to the Waldo Rohnert School.

OUTDOOR — Approved plans to have the sixth grade student at the Waldo Rohnert School spend a week at Camp Cazadero for outdoor education. There will be no cost to the school district, it was reported.

Jackie Onassis Joins Resort City Venture

NEWPORT, R. I. (UPI)— Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis is returning to Newport, where she married John F. Kennedy in 1953, in a multimillion dollar business venture to restore dozens of colonial homes.

Mrs. Onassis is first vice-president of the Newport Restoration Foundation, established by heiress Doris Duke, it was announced yesterday.

Miss Duke, 57 and the daughter of the late James B. Duke, president of the American Tobacco Co., is believed to have purchased 65 colonial buildings as well as farm land for the project.

Francis Comstock, executive director of the foundation, said restoration work already was underway on 12 houses, which should be finished in one year. The entire project would take 10 years , he said.

Markets To Close

BONN, Germany (AP) — All West German foreign exchange markets were asked today to close until after the nation's elections Sunday. The move is aimed at halting a run to German marks by foreign speculators expecting a revaluation upward of the currency.

Bid Opening Date Set On 101 Work

The state Department of Public Works will open bids Oct. 15 in Sacramento for repair of a slide along Highway 101, south of Sierra Avenue, Cotati, caused by storms last winter.

About $70,000 is available for the project, the department reported. Work will include slide removal, erosion control and shoulder construction.

North Carolina now taxes gasoline 9 cents a gallon.

Eight Antiwar Activists Go On Trial In Chicago

CHICAGO (UPI)—Eight antiwar activists went on trial today charged with conspiring to incite riots during the tumultuous Democratic National Convention in Chicago last year.

The trial in U.S. District Court has been called "the second battle of Chicago...probably the most important political trial in the history of the United States."

U.S. District Court Judge Julius J. Hoffman called the court into session about 11 a.m. (EDT). His job as presiding judge of the trial could last four or five months.

San Francisco To Be Center To Fight Crime

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell announced today the creation of regional field offices in San Francisco and six other cities to aid state and local governments under the Justice Department's anticrime program.

He said offices would be established during the next six weeks in Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Chicago, Dallas, Denver and San Francisco by the department's anti-crime agency —the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). LEAA, said the field offices would play a key role in the program crated by the 1968 anticrime act to improve the nation's criminal justice system.

Is dsertwhip® just like whipping cream?

Of course not.

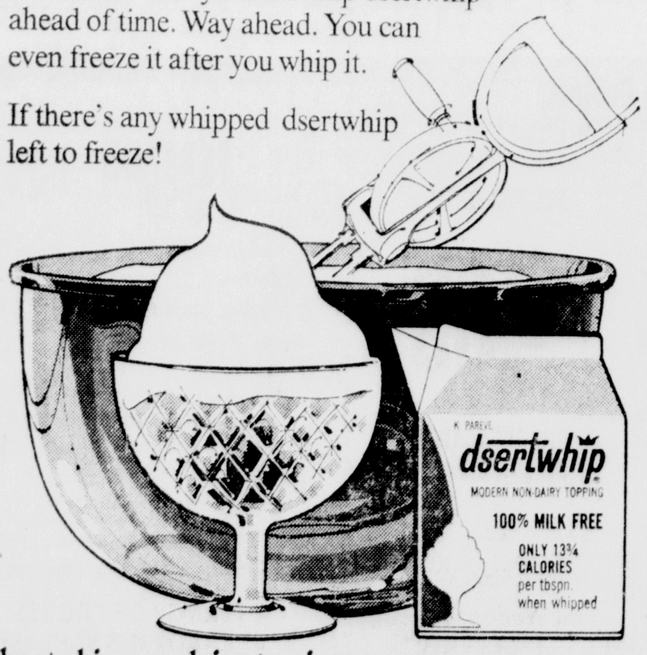
There'd be no purpose in that. We make it better than whipping cream. For one thing, it has the old-fashioned fresh flavor you love.

And it's 100% milk free.

It has fewer calories (only 13¾ per whipped tablespoon). It lasts longer (up to 3 weeks in the refrigerator). dsertwhip non-dairy topping costs less too. Look in the dairy case right next to the whipping cream. You'll be surprised at the savings.

No need to add anything to deliciously dependable dsertwhip either. Whip it just as it comes from the carton. And you can whip dsertwhip ahead of time. Way ahead. You can even freeze it after you whip it.

If there's any whipped dsertwhip left to freeze!



dsertwhip, non-dairy topping. Never lets you down.

ANNEXATION INTO DISTRICT OFFICIAL

Corte Madera Town Councilmen, sitting as the board of directors of the Corte Madera Sanitary District last night approved the official canvass of votes for the annexation of the Paradise Drive section of Tiburon to the district.

Annexation was approved Sept. 16 in a special election 39 to 26, including seven absentee ballots.

Policeman Resigns Over Tax Trouble

The Corte Madera Town Council last night accepted the resignation of policeman Gerald D. Fries, 36, after refusing to overturn a Sept. 11 decision by the town manager to fire him.

After three hours' discussion in a closed meeting requested by Fries, the council gave the officer the option of resigning because of financial improprieties.

The letter written by Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher firing Fries accused him of "conduct unbecoming an officer" for failure to comply with the Department of Internal Revenue. The government attached the officer's wages shortly before he was fired. He had been a Corte Madera policeman since October 1967.

Usher's letter also stated Fries's personal record shows a "consistant pattern of failure" to comply with his financial obligations as a town employee, including "failure to respond positively to repeated admonitions to straighten out financial difficulties."

Fries was suspended in July because of this.

Usher's letter said that Police Chief David McIntosh informed him that Fries does not "measure up to the standards he has set for his department and I support him fully." Fries was ordered to hand in his badge immediately.

Usher and the councilmen said they would not comment on the charges against Fries or the amounts of money involved. Fries said that the matter involved the withholding tax for a business he once was connected with.

Parolee Jailed On False Name

A 39-year-old parolee who had been convicted of four felonies and who gave a false name when arrested in Marin last November, has been ordered to spend a year in Marin County Jail.

John R. Hartman, of no fixed address, who used the name of Algis Michael Budry, pleaded guilty early this year to possessing another person's credit card and striking an officer when arrested.

Because he was thought to have no criminal record, he was placed on two years' probation and released from jail where he had served 41 days.

When he failed to keep appointments with probation officers, his probation was revoked and a bench warrant issued. When he was recently rearrested, it came to the attention of Marin authorities that he had a long criminal record.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson Monday sent him to jail for a year, noting that he may be sent back to prison by the California Adult Authority because he had a loaded gun in his car when arrested.

There really is an Algis Michael Budry — a widely-known widely-travelled science fiction writer and magazine editor, living mostly in England.

BUT FUNDS ARE SHORT

Gifted Child Program Gets A Boost

San Rafael Board of Education and San Rafael Association for Gifted Children agreed last night more should be done for the gifted child.

Board president Herman L. Childress, however, reminded the audience that special programs cost money and San Rafael City Schools system is short of funds.

The needs of gifted students were stressed by Dr. Lauro Quiros, association president, who said the association wants to work with the schools.

He denied any "argumentative or antagonistic atmosphere," an impression he claimed was created by stories in the Independent-Journal Monday and yesterday.

(The I- Jyesterday described differences between the association and the schools on operation of a more able learner program.)

Supt. John F. Plank said the more able learner (MAL) program in elementary and high school districts is being redesigned to make it better.

Adrian VanHerwynen, the district's MAL program consultant, said he was "a little disturbed" by comments "that we haven't had much of a program.' '

The program hasn't been "highly structured" or "highly glamorous," but the students have been involved, he said.

He said the program "is the equivalent of or better than any other district in the county," but could be improved.

Quiros suggested a program where the gifted children could be together one period a day. When they get together "they turn each other on; one stimulates the other," he said.

The present program operates through the classroom teacher and gifted children aren't gathered together in a group.

Quiros pointed out that state funds, $100 a student, are available for MAL programs.

Board members warned that after a program is started, state funds can be cut off, leaving the local district to pay the costs.

Quiros said that in the ideal situation the gifted student would be given the attention given to a football player who is "screened, trained, given recognition and exposed to other experts."

Board member Carl S. Brown, an athletic coach at Sir Francis Drake High School, said perhaps the gifted students could get together after school as athletes do.

And board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said the program of testing to identify more able learners at the third grade "is ridiculous" and testing should start in the first grade.

VanHerwynen also said he wanted to "remove the cloud" resulting from a portion of a story in the Independent-Journal Monday which he said "cast unfair comments at a principal."

The father of a gifted child, who has moved from the district told the I-J a teacher and principal let the child skip the fourth grade "and she ended up with a teacher who was opposed to anyone skipping."

VanHerwynen said the principal didn't believe the child should skip a grade but "the father insisted."

A Plea For Continuation School Expansion Is Made

A Lucas Valley resident urged the San Rafael Board of Education last night to expand its continuation school which serves students who aren't making it, for one reason or another, in regular high school.

Frank Solomon Jr. of 757 Appleberry Drive, said he understood that there was a waiting list to be admitted to the school, labeled the work-study center, at 215 Mission Avenue.

He said he also heard reports that some students are breaking the law so they can get into the continuation school.

There are students who wish to attend the continuation school, and the school should have a program "to meet their needs," Solomon said.

Supt. John F. Plank said the works-study center has a capacity of about 50 and the staff believes that it is sufficient to meet needs.

Board member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. pointed out that not every student wants or is capable of handling the academic curriculum, and this stresses the need for vocational and pre-vocational training.

The San Rafael Board of Education Also:

CLAIM DENIED — Denied a $300,000 claim for the accidental electrocution of Bradley Roy Burnell, 16, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Burnell of 80 East Crescent Drive, while he was working on football bleachers at San Rafael High School Aug. 2.

HIRED — Authorization the hiring of Norma Adwere-Boamah, girls physical education teacher, high school district, $9,949 a year; Judith Lipshutz, teacher of educable mentally retarded, high school district, $7,057; Bryan Castner, bus driver, $2,164; Betty Griffith, bus driver, $2,318; JoAnn Mondrogon, bus driver, $2,244, and 38 adult education instructors at $6.50 an hour.

WORK-STUDY CENTER — Assigned Ralph Phelps, administrative assistant, Terra Linda High School as administrator-in-charge of the work-study center.

TEACHER AIDE TRAINING — Heard a report on last summer's pre-service training program for teacher aides from Jack Kirby, director of administrative services, and Jack Austin, who evaluated the program.

CSBA ASSEMBLY — Voted for Kramer Jr., David D. Ring, a member of the Tamalpais High School District board, Eleanore D. Nettle of the San Mateo Junior College District board, and Alan H. Nichols of the San Francisco Unified District board, for election to the delegate assembly of the California School Boards Association.

RESIGNATIONS — Accepted the resignations of Grace Boyce, switchboard operator, administration, Joan Fugina, bus driver, and Salvador Molina, custodian 1, San Rafael High School.

GAS LINE WORK — Approved relocation of gas lines at Terra Linda High at a cost of $3,148, because of line leakage.

DRUG ABUSE — Received a letter from the San Pedro School Parent-Teacher Association recommending a "structured program" on drug abuse to be used in elementary schools.

KINDERGARTEN — Received a letter from Mrs. Alan G. Goldman of 9 Hazel Court urging a return to the single-session kindergarten program where a kindergarten teacher has one class instead of two.

FREE LUNCH — Referred to Plank for further study a request from the Parents Advisory Committee of the Marin County Headstart program to institute a free lunch program for needy students from low income families.

CHILDREN'S CENTER — Received a letter from Betty L. Presley, director of the Marin County Department of Public Social Services, asking the board to consider providing bus transportation to about eight primary grade pupils attending the San Rafael Children's Center.

BUS LEASE — Authorized the leasing of a 14-passenger bus from Hames Bus Sales of Fresno to transport educable mentally retarded pupils at a cost of $970 for 10 months, cost to be covered by state funds.

CLOSED SESSION — Adjourned to a closed session to discuss negotiations on a possible additional pay raise for teachers who were granted a 6 per cent hike in June under an "open contract" leaving room for a change in pay, and negotiations on a possible raise for administrators, who were covered under a two-year pay program last year.

Javelin-Cut Heart Hole Is Repaired

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Two weeks after the blunt end of a javelin sliced a hole in his heart, a cadet at the U.S. Air Force Academy is back in class and says he will soon be playing soccer again.

William J. Emmer, 19, Newark, Calif., was injured on an intramural field as he was jogging behing another cadet who was making short tosses with a javelin. Academy officials said Emmer failed to notice the javelin sticking in the ground and ran into the shaft.

One of the three surgeons who operated on the cadet, Dr. Richard G. Thompson of Colorado Springs, said quick action saved Emmer's life.

The shaft of the javelin, an eight-foot long pointed pole used in track and field competition, was jerked free as Emmer fell to the ground. The first to reach him, Capt. Joe Potter, a physical education instructor, applied pressure to the wound to sto bleeding.

Other academy personne gave Emmer mouth-to-mout resuscitation. Emergency equip ment was rushed to the scen before Emmer was transfere to the academy hospital.

"The javelin had gone com pletely through the heart an also punctured the vena cava the largest vein in the body, Thompson said. "I don't thin the boy would have lived if i had not been for the spot emer gency care he received."

With his heart patched up Emmer, a second-year cadet said he felt "almost as good a before the accident."

A regular on the academy soccer team, Emmer said h would be able to play again when his broken breastbon heals "in about a month."

He attended classes yesterda soon after he was released fro the hospital.

Only three years ago, an American scientist made the startling discovery that the tiny ground finch feeds by nipping the soft skin of a much larger bird and sipping the blood. It was the first time that blood eating as a primary feeding method had ever been found among birds.

Border Check Cuts Business In Tijuana

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) — This border city's sidewalks, once crowded with tourists, have been almost deserted by the fun-seeking, money-spending American.

The gringo has stopped coming to Tijuana and the once-bustling city isn't the same.

There aren't as many shoeshine boys and gum peddlers. Shops are empty and cab drivers don't bother to look up as people walk by.

Owners of curio shops, nightclubs and restaurants report business has dropped 40 to 75 per cent.

The flow of American tourists has diminished, the Mexicans say, because of lengthy delays at the border when they go back north.

The delays are caused by intensive searches by U.S. Customs in Operation Intercept, the campaign against drug smuggling that started Sunday.

"Dope smuggling must be stopped," Fortino Cabrere, president of the Tijuana Chamber of Commerce, said yesterday, "but not at any cost."

"At least not at the cost of such an economic blow to the people of Tijuana."

Elias Medel sells 15-cent tacos at a little stand on Avenida Revoluction, the main street.

"I've sold about 40 tacos," he said. "On a good day, sometimes I sell as many as 500. This is very bad."

The nine "parishes" into which Bermuda is divided were originally known as "tribes."

Use Of Cleaver Book Brings Up A Question Of Public Relations

San Rafael Board of Education last night debated controversial books and public reaction, sparked by Eldridge Cleaver's "Soul On Ice" and plays by LeRoi Jones.

The two controversial works are included in a supplementary reading list for an elective course in black literature for high school juniors and seniors.

Board member Paul L. Jones said there are people who object to the books and the public should be informed they are under consideration before they are put into use.

Using the books before airing the issue would generate controversy later and alienate the public, he said.

Jones, who said he read part of "Soul On Ice," described it as "lousy literature" and "filthy book to read." He conceded, however, "if used right it could make strong points," and could be of value in a black literature course.

His main point, he said, was that the board should go to the community with the issue before the community comes to the board. "To clear it up before it happens is good public relations," he said.

One parent in the audience agreed, saying, "the parent ought to know before the kids get the book."

Member John C. Pfeiffer said the board should find out from the teachers why the teachers want to use the books. Supt. John F. Plank said a report on use of the books would be made to the board.

Jones felt that teachers shouldn't put obviously controversial books on lists until they were cleared.

Also member Lawrence I. Kramer Jr. said there isn't any book that isn't controversial to someone and that there was a suit over the Bible in Maryland.

He said he wasn't going to read all books listed and make literary judgments. "I want to hear the teacher's reasons and if they make sense, I'm with it," Kramer said.

And member Carl J. Brown said the board has to have confidence "in the people we work with."

Plank said that in adopting a course of study the board was approving basic textbooks, but had no legal responsibility on adoption of supplementary materials.

Jones replied that when a book is in the school, the parent assumes it has been approved by the board "and that means recommendation."

Plank said if parents object, a student can be excused from reading a book, but he expected that since the class was in black literature, the works of Cleaver and Jones would be discussed.

Board members approved the courses of study for high schools and elementary schools for 1969-70 with a call for a report on use of supplementary materials in the black literature class.

The vote was 4-1 with Brown dissenting.

Reports Due On Correction Of Pollution

I-J Special Report

OAKLAND — Progress reports from the Novato Sanitary and Bolinas Community Public Utility districts, under orders by the San Franicsco Bay Regional Water Quality Control Board to cease pollution, will be reviewed by the board in its all-day meeting starting at 10 a.m. tomorrow in the Alameda County Public Works Building, in Hayward.

Also on the agenda is adoption of criteria for formal enforcement proceedings against 18 dischargers, including six in Richardson Bay, San Quentin prison and San Rafael Sanitation District.

The board also will consider a regulation of waste disposal onto land, and set new deadlines for the City of San Francisco to cease its massive pollution of the bay.

Three Drinking Driving Fines

Three persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

John Michael Riordan, 39, of San Francisco, who was arrested April 1 on Highway 101, was fined $302 and placed on six months' probation.

John Leonard Smith, 43, of Santa Rosa, who was arrested Aug. 7, 1968, on Highway 101, was ordered to spend three weekends in jail, pay a fine of $300 and planced on one-year probation.

Dennis Michael Bradley, of 865 Las Gallinas Avenue, San Rafael, was placed on one-year probation and fined $50.

Waterfront Owners Complain On Proposed Sausalito Restrictions

Waterfront property owners attacked the city's pending waterfront development as "totally unrealistic" last night as the Sausalito City Council held its second public hearing on the plan.

Architect Rene Cardinaux, representing a group of waterfront property owners, told the council that the proposed plan would make it economically unfeasible to develop businesses because of unrealistic floor area ratios.

He also said that the parkplan for the area was such that it would do little more than handle the downtown area's overflow.

Floor area ratios determine how much of a piece of commercial property may be built over. Cardinaux told the council that due to high building costs, a businessman must be allowed to utilize more than the proposed maximum 50 per cent of his property in order to realize a reasonable return on his investment.

Cardinaux also said that the parking plan as proposed by William T. Spangler, whose firm was the principal designer of the development, would not handle the number of cars the businessmen hoped the waterfront area would attract.

Councilman Wyman Hicks quickly countered by asking Cardinaux to give the council some idea of the size of the development they (the businessmen) anticipated, adding, "as I see it, you are talking about an area that will have an annual gross sales of $45 million, twice what downtown Sausalito now has" 'The council has to know".

Cardinaux said he could not be exact as to what size the development eventually would be.

Last night's discussion followed almost the same pattern as last week's first public hearing. The council was presented with several packages of new written material from both the planning commission and City Mgr. George M. Patterson, who is on vacation, but did not discuss the material.

Instead, the council set Oct. 2 at 8 p.m. in city hall for the next public hearing on the waterfront plan and indicated that the new material would be discussed at that time.

Patterson will be back from vacation on that date, the council was told.

Eight Inducted Into Service

Eight men were inducted into the armed forces in August by the Marin County Selective Service Board, executive secretary Joy M. Kinzer has reported yesterday.

They are: Brooks A. Liggatt of San Anselmo, Donald P. Johnson of Fairfax, Steven P. Cramer of Novato, David C. Morris of San Anselmo, Stephen W. Stewart of Novato, Kenneth D. Johnston of San Rafael and Carl V. Houck of San Rafael.

The county draft quota for September was 30, but the quota is seldom filled, Mrs. Kinzer said. The quota for October is seven.

Take Along A Picnic Basket

Families heading toward Silverado Country Club in Napa for the Concours d'Elegance on Sunday may wish to take along a "tailgate picnic" to serve upon arrival.

Some enjoy spreading an elegant tablecloth on the grass just beyond the rows of elegant autos and setting out a storybook repast with wine in sparkling crystal, hors d'oeuvres and watercress sandwiches sans bread crusts. Linen napkins appear as by magic.

But others like to unpack the cold cuts or fried chicken along with the paper plates and napkins. The setting of rolling hills, manicured greens and shady old trees lends itself to either taste in picnics and the warm fall sunshine usually cooperates.

Ideas for the picnic basket may include stuffed eggs, and celery, a crisp greens and tomato salad or potato combination, sponge cake, or apple cupcakes. To get fancy, take along a chicken liver pate in a ring mold kept chilled in a cooler box and unmold on a plate to serve with party-size rye bread slices.

CHICKEN LIVER PATE

¼ pound (1 stick) butter
1 medium onion, peeled and minced
2½ pounds chicken livers
6 hard-cooked eggs
Salt and pepper to taste
Parsley sprigs

In a skillet, melt the butter. Gently cook the onion in the butter until golden; add chicken livers and cook gently until just pink through. Cut up livers small, then puree in electric blender with onion, and liquid in skillet; mix with pureed eggs. Add salt and pepper. Butter a ring mold and pack liver mixture into it.

Cover and chill thoroughly. Loosen sides with spatula and turn out; if some of the mixture doesn't come out, remove it and use for patching mold. Arrange parsley sprigs around mold.

SPREADS SUPREME

For a festive spread, mix 1 can (2¼ ounces) deviled ham with 1 jar (2½ ounces) pimiento cheese spread, 1 hard-cooked egg, chopped, 1 teaspoon prepared mustard and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. This yields 1 cup. Use as a spread.

If you're topping crackers or filling celery, try this spread: mash 1 can (12 ounces) luncheon meat with a fork. Add to it ½ cup chopped nuts, ½ cup finely chopped celery, 2 teaspoons Worchestershire sauce and 6 tablespoons of mayonnaise. This yields 2¼ cups.

EGGS STUFFED WITH CRABMEAT

6 hard-cooked eggs
¾ cup crabmeat
½ cup chopped celery
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup mayonnaise
Few grains of paprika

Cut eggs in half lengthwise. Scoop out and mash yolks. Remove any cartilage from crabmeat and break the meat into small pieces. Combine crabmeat, egg yolks, and celery with mustard, salt and mayonnaise.

Mix well. Fill egg white halves with crabmeat mixture and sprinkle with paprika. Serves 6.

Eggs stuffed with chicken. — Substitute 1 cup of finely chopped cooked or canned chicken for the crabmeat. Reduce mustard to ½ teaspoon and mayonnaise to ¼ cup. About 200 calories per serving.

Eggs stuffed with ham — Substitute a 2¼-ounce can of deviled ham for the crabmeat. Omit salt, mayonnaise, and paprika. About 120 calories per serving.

CHILI CRAB CANAPE

(Makes 2 cups spread)

1 15½ oz. can (approx. 2 cups) chili beans, drained
1 7½ oz. can Alaska king crab
½ cup green pepper, chopped
2 Tbsp. onion, chopped
2 Tbsp. mayonnaise
salt, to taste
squeeze of fresh lemon juice

Combine all ingredients. Toss carefully with fork to avoid breaking beans. Serve on top of brown or black bread rounds or as stuffing for celery.

This salad will be a delicious addition to your picnics. The sauce, instead of the usual high calorie mayonnaise, is made of sour cream and cottage cheese. And, to give a gourmet touch, an ounce of crumbled blue cheese can be added just before serving.

NEW POTATO SALAD

(6 to 8 servings)

1 cup creamed cottage cheese
1 cup dairy sour cream
2 teaspoons prepared mustard
2 teaspoons seasoned salt
4 cups sliced cooked potatoes
1 cup sliced green onions with tops
1 cup sliced celery
½ cup diced green pepper
¼ cup diced dill pickle or dill pickle relish
3 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped
1 package (1 oz.) blue cheese, crumbled

Combine cottage cheese, sour cream, mustard and salt. Pour over potatoes, onion, celery, green pepper, pickle and eggs; mix carefully. Chill several hours to blend flavors. Fold in blue cheese.

CRISP PICNIC SALAD

A tote-along salad that's easy to assemble ahead and toss on the spot. Prepare dressing ahead. Take all ingredients along in plastic containers.

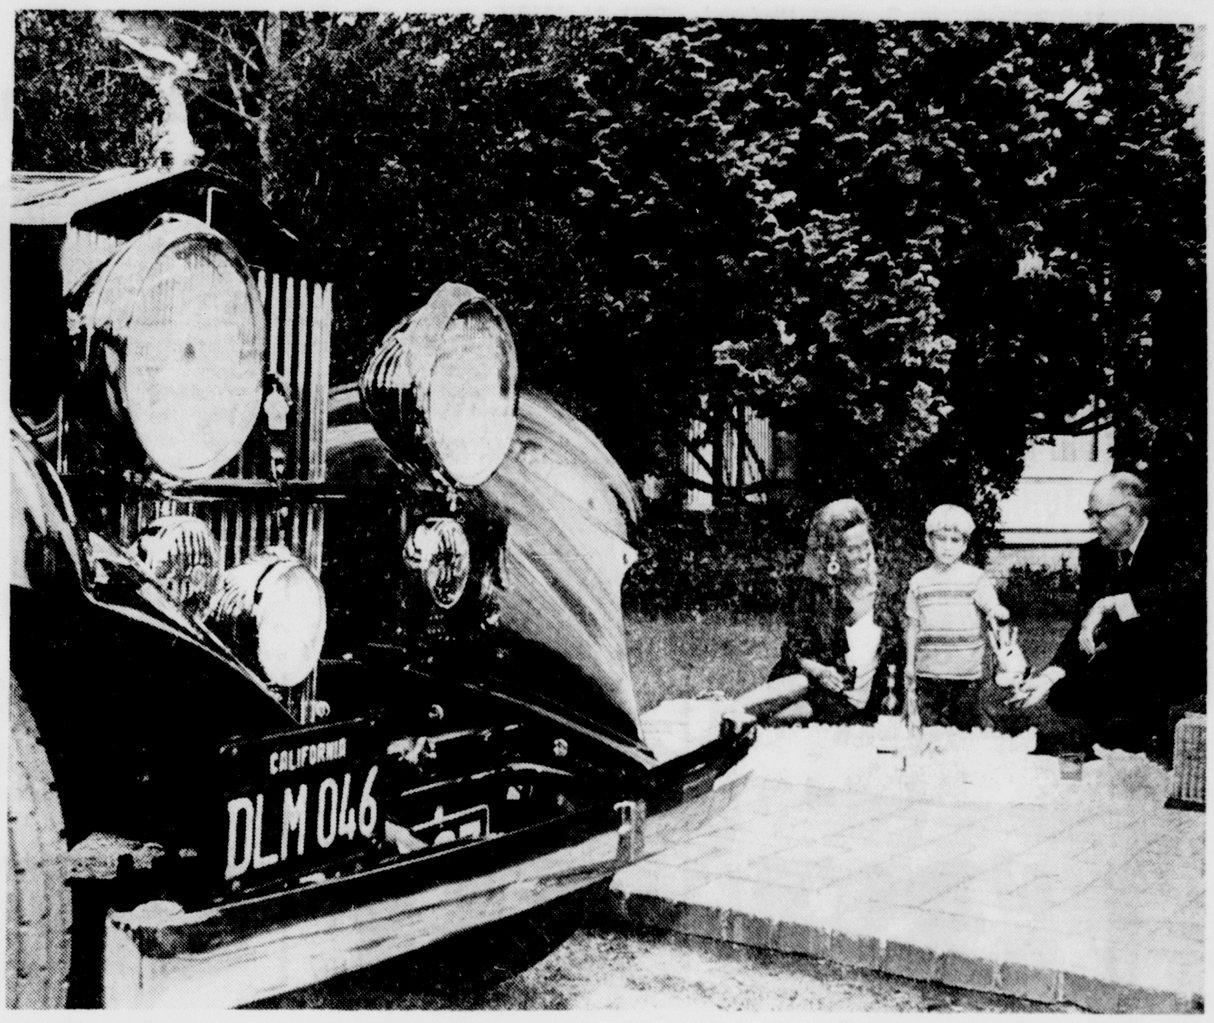
1 head iceberg lettuce
2 medium-size western tomatoes
1 green pepper
8 to 10 radishes
2 or 3 green onions
1 teaspoon sugar
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon chili powder
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons vinegar
½ cup corn oil

Core, rinse and drain lettuce. Wash remaining vegetables; trim radishes and onions. Place lettuce along with other vegetables in plastic bowl with cover or in plastic bag. Combine sugar, seasoned salt, mustard, paprika and chili powder in small plastic bowl or jar with cover. Stir in lemon juice and vinegar. Add oil. Cover and shake to blend. Carry plastic containers to picnic. Just before serving, tear lettuce into bite-size pieces, cut tomatoes into wedges and green pepper into strips and slice radishes and onions; combine in plastic bowl. Shake dressing to blend; pour over vegetables. Toss lightly. Makes 6 servings.

CANTALOUPE-PINEAPPLE COMPOTE

1 medium cantaloupe
1 can (8¼ ounces) sliced pineapple
2 tablespoons kirsch (clear cherry brandy)

Cut cantaloupe in half the long way; remove seeds. With a melonball cutter or ½-teaspoon measuring spoon cut balls from cantaloupe. Cut each pineapple ring into 8ths. Mix cantaloupe, pineapple, pineapple syrup and kirsch. Cover and chill. Makes 4 servings.



TAKE ALONG a white cloth and a picnic basket full of dainty sandwiches or pate to spread upon party bread, or even wine and bread sticks, for an elegant picnic prior to the Concours d'Elegance set Sunday from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Silverado Country Club in Napa. The concours, sponsored each year by the Marin Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home, is headed this year by Mrs. Marianne Dant, left. She shares picnic basket contents with young Gordon Wright and Robert A. Davies of Belvedere, whose 1934 Rolls Royce Phanton II coupe is waiting in the driveway. Fine fall weather makes September and October picnicking especially popular.

These little cakes will keep nicely moist because of the fruit in them. After cooling, store them in a round tin such as is used for fruit cakes.

APPLE CUPCAKES

2 cups sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ cup lard
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg
½ cup cold coffee
1 teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped pecans
½ cup chopped dates
1 cup pared and chopped tart apples

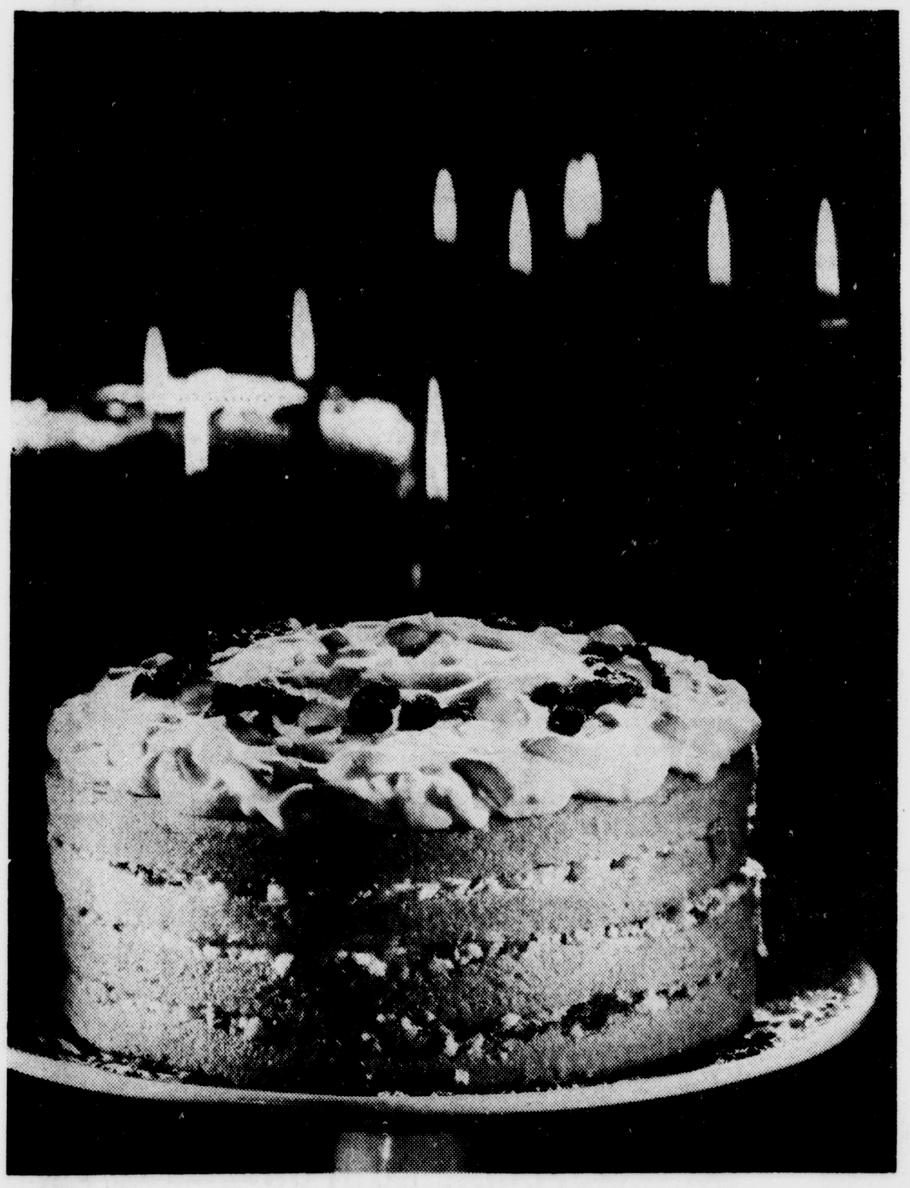
Grease 24 medium muffin pans. Sift flour, soda, baking powder, cinnamon, ground cloves, allspice and nutmeg. Cream lard, sugar and salt until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Combine coffee and vanilla. Mix dry ingredients with nuts, dates and apples. Fold in dry ingredients alternately with liquid. Fill muffin pans ⅔ full. Bake in a moderate over (350? F.) 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

WONDERFUL SPONGE CAKE

5 large eggs, separated
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup sugar
⅓ cup cold water
1 cup sifted cake flour
1 teaspoon vanilla

In a medium mixing bowl beat the egg whites and salt until they hold soft peaks; then gradually beat in ½ cup of the sugar until they hold straight stiff peaks. Add water and remaining ½ cup sugar to yolks in a large mixing bowl; without washing beater, beat rapidly until pale yellow and thickened. Add flour and vanilla to yolks; beat gently, scraping sides of bowl in a few times, just until blended. Fold in whites.

Turn into a 9 by 3 inch ungreased angelfood cake pan. Cut through batter with a knife. Bake in a 325 degree oven for 1 hour. Carry in pan to picnic and invert pan to remove onto plate for serving.



Raisin Torta Is Different Cake For Birthday Blow-Out

Even sophisticated adults will think a birthday grand when the hostess serves the birthday torta. Use a package of yellow cake mix for the layers. Ricotta cheese combines with seedless raisins, candied cherries, orange peels, almonds and grated chocolate for the superb filling.

RAISIN BIRTHDAY TORTA

A wonderfully different cake, whether or not you spike it with rum.

1 (1-pound 2½-ounce) package yellow cake mix
1 pound ricotta cheese
⅛ teaspoon salt
6 tablespoons sugar
1 cup whipping cream
1 cup chopped seedless raisins
¼ cup chopped toasted almonds
¼ cup chopped candied orange peel
½ cup chopped candied cherries
1 (1-ounce) square semi-sweet chocolate
¼ cup dark rum
½ teaspoon vanilla

Prepare cake mix as package directs, baking in 2 (9-inch) layer cake pans. Cool. Beat cheese with salt, ¼ cup sugar and 2 tablespoons cream. Stir in raisins, almonds, orange peel, cherries and grated chocolate. Split cake layers; sprinkle cut surfaces with rum. Put layers together with cheese filling in between. Whip remaining cream with remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and vanilla. Spread over top of cake. Decorate with additional cherries and raisins as desired. Makes 12 servings.

TIME-GOES-BY CAKE

Decorate the cake with numbers around the clock in frosting, paper cut-outs or fondant flowers.

1 cup seedless raisins
Water
½ cup butter
2½ cups brown sugar (packed)
3 eggs
3 (1-ounce) squares sweetened chocolate
2¼ cups sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons soda
½ cup buttermilk
2 teaspoons vanilla
Chocloate Butter Frosting

Cover raisins with hot water and let stand while preparing batter. Beat butter and sugar until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Blend in melted chocolate. Resift flour with salt and soda. Add to chocolate mixture in thirds, alternating with buttermilk, beginning and ending with flour. Blend in vanilla and drained raisins. Stir in 1 cup boiling water. Pour very thin batter into 2 greased and floured 9-inch cake pans. Baue in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Let stand in pan 10 minutes. Turn out onto racks to cool. Turn one layer upside down and frost with Chocolate Butter Frosting. Cover with second layer top side up. Frost top and sides of cake. Makes about 12 servings.

Chocolate Butter Frosting: Beat ⅓ cup soft butter Gradually blend in 3½ cups sifted powdered sugar alternately with ¼ cup warm coffee. Add 1 melted (1-ounce) square unsweetened chocolate and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

* Or 1½ teaspoons vinegar in ½ cup of milk.

LISA ARMSTRONG, right, holds up the skirt Stacey White has made for herself, after learning that the one Stacey is currently working on will be for her. Lisa, seven, is very impressed with her eight-year-old friend's accomplishment. The modest little seamstress, tried, but was unable to keep Lisa's skirt a surprise.

Stacey The Seamstress

By JOAN LISETOR

Pixie-faced Stacey White was in a fabric store with her mother, Mrs. Ann White of Larkspur, looking at ready made patchwork fabric.

"I can make that," the eight-year-old told her mother, an accomplished seamstress.

"She has been at it ever since," says Mrs. White, who helps Stacey cut out the little squares because being left handed she has a problem with scissors.

"I do most of the rest of it myself," explains Stacey, who has completed her first skirt by sewing the patches together on her sewing machine alternating bright red strips between each strip of patches.

Having finished and worn her own skirt, Stacey decided, after receiving so many compliments on it, to make one for her friend, Lisa Armstrong, the seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie T. Armstrong, also of Larkspur.

"I'll be so proud to wear it and tell all of my friends my eight-year-old cousin made it for me," says Lisa, who explains she and Stacey are really just-pretend cousins.

"She's such a tomboy," says Mrs. West. "I just can't get used to seeing her perched up on a chair, hunched over the sewing machine."

LITTLE SEAMSTRESS Stacey White is the picture of concentration hovering over the sewing machine methodically sewing patches together for Lisa's skirt. Having used bright red strips to alternate with the patches on her skirt, she has chosen royal blue for Lisa.

ON THE AGENDA

Future Of Catholic Education To Be Examined By P-TA Groups

For the first time in its 22-year existence, the San Francisco Archidiocesan Convention of Catholic Parent-Teacher Groups will be held at Marin Catholic High School in Kentfield. More than 400 delegates from Santa Clara, San Mateo, San Francisco and Marin counties will be on hand for the day-long meeting Friday.

Most Rev. Joseph T. McGucken, Archibishop of San Francisco, will speak during the luncheon. The Marin County Presidents Council PTG, and Marin Catholic Women's Club will host the convention.

Its theme, "With Eyes to the Future," an examination for the future of Catholic education, will be explored in panel discussion and workshops. A program of slides delineating what is being done now to broaden the educational base for children in Catholic schools will also be shown.

The day's activities begin with registration at 8:45 a.m., followed by mass in the high school auditorium at 9:30 a.m. Co-celebrants for the mass are the Rev. Bernard A. Cummins, archdiocesan superintendent of schools, and his assistants in archdiocesan education, the Very Rev. John J. Scanlan, the Rev. Pierre DuMaine and the Rev. William Lowery.

The general session following will be headed by Mrs. Frank Della Maggiore of San Jose, archdiocesan president of PTG. The Very Rev. Edward Dullea, principal of Marin Catholic and convention host, will extend his welcome, as will Mrs. David Vattuone, president of Marin County Presidents' Council, PTG, and Mrs. Charles Chiapellone, president of Marin Catholic Women's Club.

The panel discussion is to be conducted by Father Cummins, convention moderator and his assistants, Fathers Scanlan, DuMaine and Lowery.

Following luncheon and the address by Archbishop McGucken, four workshops will be held. The day's activities will end at 2:30 p.m.

Reservation chairman is Mrs. John Fixes.

THE OFFICERS Wives Club at Hamilton Air Force Base will hold its Hi and Bye Coffee at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, at the Cabana Club.

The coffee is being sponsored by wives of officers of the 78th fighter wing. Mrs. Robert McRae is chairman and Mrs. Benne Miles is co-chairman. Assisting them will be Mmes. Merle Hicken and Gordon Masterson, awards and D. K. Larson, decorations.

Booths will be set up at the coffee to give information on the service organizations including the Well-Baby Clinic, Red Cross and Blood Drive.

NOVATO CHAPTER 609, Order of Eastern Star will hold a stated meeting and initiation at 8 p.m., Thursday at the Druids Hall in Novato.

Mrs. Jack W. Dale is chairman assisted by Mmes. Lee Wise, R. C. Briggs, Janet McWilliams, David Hixon and Mr. and Mrs. John Craig.

A VOYAGE through European waterways will be discussed by Ed Cadogan, Corinthian Yacht Club member, at the dinner program at the Tiburon Club Friday.

Cocktails will be served at 6 p.m., dinner at 7:30 p.m., and the program will begin at 9:09 p.m. John Cutler is chairman.

BACK TO School Night at Isabel Cook School will be on

MR. AND MRS. John Dustman will live in Chico, where they are both attending Chico State College. They were married in Oakland. Mrs. Dustman is the former Renee Cameto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Cameto of Oakland, and John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Dustman of Novato. (Jack Chinn photo)

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Dinners To Follow Gaslight, Horseless Carriage Party

By MOLLY MARIN

Several members of the Jack and Jill Branch of Marin General Hospital Volunteers have planned parties to follow the group's annual fund-raiser, "Gaslight and the Horseless Carriage" on Saturday evening at the Campbell Bishop automobile agency in Corte Madera.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mueller of Tiburon will be hosting a large buffet dinner after the event. Among their guests will be Messrs. and Mmes. Robert Boyd, John Maillard, Phillip Judson, James Neely, Roger MacMillan, Eric Schmidt and William Meyers of Tiburon;

Messrs. and Mmes. John Posey and Gerald Courteau of San Anselmo; the Harold Beavers and Duane Weeks of Mill Valley.

Also in Tiburon, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Elliott will be giving an early Sunday morning breakfast and Bloody Mary party for their out of town guests and a few local friends.

In Terra Linda, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Conway plan to have a large neighborhood contingent at their dinner party. Among their neighbors will be the Messrs. and Mmes. John Graves, Ray Meek, James Sherbert, Donald Pfister and Lee Jayred. Other guests include Mmes. Robert Berreman, Robert Strahle, and Ron Mires, and the Messrs. and Mmes. Matthew McGowan, Michael Hogan, John DeGiorgio and Al Ramirez.

A BON VOYAGE party was held last Monday by Charles Gottfried in honor of Kenneth M. Edlin of San Rafael, who is joining his wife for an extended tour of Europe. Mrs. Edlin has been in Europe for the past four weeks, visiting relatives in France and Mr. Edlin will join her in Athens for a tour of the Greek islands.

Cocktails were served at Mr. Gottfried's Sausalito home and a nine course dinner followed at The Imperial Palace in San Francisco.

Among the guests attending were William Wunsh of Greenbrae, Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Amore of San Francisco, and Mr. and Mrs. George L. Habit and Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Kolthoff of the Peninsula.

A DINNER will be hosted by the Edmond C. Wards of Kentfield tomorrow evening prior to the opera preview of "Fidelio" to be held at the Marin Art and Garden Center. Guests will include the speaker, Speight Jenkins Jr., news editor of Opera News magazine, and his wife, from New York City, the Swedish baritone with the San Francisco Opera, Ingvar Wixell and his wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Carlo Fowler of Kentfield.

Mrs. Ward is chairman of the San Francisco Opera Action of Marin, which will sponsor the preview.

MARIN FRIENDS are learning of the birth of a son to Dr. and Mrs. H. Wallace Vandever in Oklahoma City, Okla. The baby, who was born on Sept. 20, has two brothers, Bill and Bob Cowart. Mrs. Vandiver, the former Mrs. Cary Cowart Jr., lived in Belvedere before her marriage to Dr. Vandever. The baby will be named William Kelly Vandever, in honor of his maternal grandfather, William Kelly Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Warren are residents of La Jolla and Tulsa, Okla.

Assemblyman Says Fair Sex Short-Changed In '69

Women did not get a fair shake from the 1969 legislature, Assemblyman March K. Fong (D-Oakland) told a meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Marin County at the Holiday Inn, Terra Linda, last night.

"The legislature failed almost totally to respond to the concerns of modern woman," she said. "No session was more discouraging in its treatment of women."

Mrs. Fong called the governor's willingness to continue the State Commission on the Status of Women as a single ray of hope, but termed it inconsistent that he had followed up none of the commission's recommendations during the past year.

Mrs. Fong said that there was little sense in continuing the commission while systematically turning down the recommendations it has to offer.

She cited as inconsistent the governor's approval of the bill eliminating advantage to women in divorce laws (with which she agreed) and then killing the bill giving equal job opportunities to women.

She also said that the governor vetoed the bill that would enable day care center to be set up entirely with federal money, which had passed the legislature without opposition.

"I can only think there must have been a mix-up on the governor's staff. I'm bewildered by the governor's veto. It's a difficult to believe that he would veto $25 million in federal funds."

She said that the child care center program will not be helped this year and sees little prospect of things being better next year.

Mrs. Fong also said that consumer legislation, which she has championed, has been killed consistently by the legislature, and that her bill to create guidance and information centers to assist the "disoriented and displaced" mature women who is unprepared for the lonely years without husband or children was killed both in the 1967 and 1968 legislative sessions.

This year Mrs. Fong said she changed the bill to ask the Commission on the Status of Women to study needs of this age group and set up ideas to help girls prepare more realistically for their mature years.

"The big problem is that women as women do not have political clout in this state," she said.

She encouraged women to expand their numbers in organizations to encourage others to take advantage of their positions, not as women but as citizens, to influence public policy.

"Women are the only 'minority group' which exceed the majority in numbers," the assemblyman said.

Pay For Babysitter Should Depend Upon The Situation

DEAR HELEN:

I just couldn't let Mrs. J. B.'s letter about today's low babysitting rates go unanswered. Don't know when I've been so riled. Her suggestion that sitters hold out for $1.00 an hour really burned me.

I have two children, seven and 10, and pay the going rate of 50 cents an hour for a sitter. My youngsters are in bed when she arrives. She doesn't have to feed them, amuse them, change them. All she does is park herself in front of the TV. If for some reason you have to call home, the line is busy — she's talking to her boy friend. I come back to empty Coke bottle and glasses in the sink; remains of food the sitter has eaten.

When these girls can learn to do their jobs well, bring their own snacks and supply their own transportation, then they can strike for a raise. I pay a maid $1.50 an hour to clean my whole house and she works. If sitter rates ever go to $1.00 an hour, teen-agers will find themselves out of jobs, as a responsible adult will work for that amount, and we prefer this kind. — JOAN

DEAR HELEN:

My girl friend has been baby sitting for 50 cents an hour. Then recently I went on the job with her (with permission from the boss.)

The responsibility of caring for those kids is worth much more than the paltry $2.50 she took home that day. She was busy almost every minute. She left the house clean and the kids happy, and believe me, she was tired at the end of five hours! People should be ashamed to offer only 50 cents an hour for substitute mothering.

Now, whenever these folks call my girl to sit at this rate, I offer her 75 cents an hour to go out with me. — K.M.M.

DEAR HELEN:

What about working women? They can't pay $1.00 an hour for a sitter when sometimes they only earn $1.75 an hour or less. I don't like to work, but I must, to pay taxes. My sitter receives $25 a week (for 40 hours) plus meals, and I'm so glad she is satisfied with it. — E. C.

DEAR HELEN:

In New York City, we professional people pay from $1.50 to $2.00 an hour for baby sitters. though my husband is a doctor, we can't afford to go out many evenings, for with the price of meals, shows, etc., even the smallest night out, plus sitter comes to $50.00. Those people who complain about 75c or $1.00 per hour don't know how lucky they are.—MANHATTAN CLIFF DWELLER

DEAR HELEN:

In my seven years of hiring sitters, I have had an impressive array of teen-agers come into my home under the guise of babysitting. Of the lot, only one could qualify for $1.00 an hour. The others have been nice girls, but completely lacking in the skills of child care. I feel sorry for them when they have homes of their own.! — B.

DEAR HELEN:

If I happen to find a good sitter, I pay her more than the going rate, and tip her generously besides, but let's face it, only one out of 10 teen-agers is worth more than 50 cents an hour. If we'd let it be known we would pay these girls what they are worth, and fire the incompetent ones, the rate would stabilize where it should be. — MRS. A. G.

DEAR HELEN:

I agree with Mrs. J. B. that 50 cents an hour for sitting is archaic, but a flat rate of $1.00 is in some cases too much, especially if there is only one child who sleeps all evening.

We pay a basic rate of 75 cents an hour (we have three children) but we tip an extra dollar if the kids must be fed and put to bed. We leave goodies for the sitter. So far, our sitters seem to have a good time, and without my asking it, they leave the house clean, everything in order. We're — MUTUALLY HAPPY.

Tonsils Are Germ Traps, May Be Better In Than Out

Parents who insist upon the removal of their child's tonsils at the first sign of a sore throat or irritation may be making a serious mistake.

Why? Because tonsils are not the culprits most of us think they are says the California Medical Association. Quite the contrary, in fact. Tonsils play a vital role in the child's defense against infection. They are veritable vaccine factories, producing special cells which kill invading bacteria. These patches of spongy tissue, located at strategic points on the inside of the throat, are constantly trapping and battling bacteria and other air pollutants. Not only germs in the air, but also germs that get into the mouth are likely to be destroyed if trapped by the tonsils. Since small children have no hesitancy about placing dirty fingers, toys, and various strange objects in their mouths, the advantage of these automatic, built-in germ traps is obvious.

Why, then, are some parents so anxious to have them removed? Medical surveys show that the two major reasons voiced by parents for removal of tonsils are (1) size, (2) frequent respiratory infections — colds and sore throats.

As for size, it has been proved that large tonsils have no effect on a child's health. Size is no more reason for removing healthy tonsils than it is for removing any healthy organ. Of course, if tonsils are so very large they may influence swallowing or enlarged because they are overloaded with germs and thus likely to be a source of infection, then they should be removed.

As for respiratory infections, it has been found that they are just as common in children after the removal of tonsils as before. In fact, one extensive study of 909 children in England disclosed that those who had their tonsils removed actually had more colds than those who retained them.

And just because one child in the family may need a tonsillectomy is no reason for parents to decide to have all of the children subjected to the operation at the same time. Each patient should present definite indications for such an operation.

The popular belief that tonsillectomy is a minor operation with no risk involved is also erroneous. All surgical procedures involve a degree of danger, and even though the risk be small — if it is unnecessary, why take it?

Certainly there are instances where tonsillectomies are essential. The decision to operate, however, should be made by the physician — not the parents — and then only after thorough examination and period of observation. Parents should never try to talk a doctor into performing an operation his judgment indicates is needless.

Series On Children's Problems

Situations relating to foster children as well as natural children will be discussed in a 10 part lecture series co-sponsored by the Marin County Foster Parents Association and the College of Marin.

The series begins tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the Board of Supervisors chambers at the Marin County Civic Center. Speaker for the opening meeting is Mel Augustine, supervising probation officer, whose talk will focus on the need for foster parents. He will discuss the training and challenge one can expect as a full time foster parent and also the past, present and future uses of foster parents.

"A concerted effort is being made to educate, train and assist probation officers and social workers on the use of foster homes and working with foster parents," Augustine says.

"By utilizing the Foster Parents Association the agencies have been able to organize a program that would be worthy of the professional workers as well as the foster parent and any person interested in foster care and/or problems relating to children."

Augustine says the series, although geared to the problems of the difficult minority of foster children, is of general interest to parents who are facing or may face in the future problems with their own children.

"Anyone interested in becoming a foster parent will benefit from the series," he says, "and we are particularly hoping to reach persons who have resisted foster homes in their neighborhoods."

Dr. Rudy Kupfer, supervisor of special education for the Marin County Schools, at the Oct. 2 meeting, will discuss the physically disabled or handicapped child.

Oct. 9 Dirk West, coordinator of the mentally exceptional program for the Marin County Superintendent of Schools office, will discuss the mentally retarded or slow child.

Richard Pancost, director of Sunny Hills, is the Oct. 16 speaker on the subject of emotionally disturbed children.

Dr. Janet Lyons, psychologist and consultant for the Tamalpais School District and therapist in private practice, is scheduled on Oct. 23 to speak on the problems of teen-agers.

On Oct. 30 behavior modification will be discussed by Mrs. Barbara Tarasoff, principal of Marindale School. Mrs. Tarasoff, a behavior modification psychologist, is an educational specialist, specializing in counseling and guidance. Most of her experience has been working with parents and school authorities on behavior problems within the school setting.

Drugs will be the topic on Nov. 6 with a member of Synanon to lead the discussion.

Dr. Patricia Hallinan of the Marin County Health Department, is scheduled for the Nov. 13 meeting. She is an authority on the subject of sexual behavior and the problems in Marin County in the fields of sexual deviance and venereal diseases and their impact on the community.

Working with the professionals in the various county agencies will be the topic on Nov. 20 when Helen Williams, supervisor for the Department of Public Social Services, will speak.

The foster home under stress will be discussed on Dec. 4 by Chet Villalba, who is supervising the Family Service Agency of Marin. He is also in private practice for the Marin Counseling Service and a former deputy probation officer and supervisor in the probation department.

On Dec. 6 at 9:45 a.m. a conducted tour of Marin County Juvenile Hall will be given as a termination to the course. A certificate will be presented to all who complete the free series. The series or any part of it is open to all.

SAUSALITO OVERRULED

Seven Win School Transfers

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

Transfers of seven pupils out of the Sausalito School District, all of which had been denied by the district board, were granted last night by the Marin County Board of Education.

Six of the children were allowed to transfer to Mill Valley School District; the seventh, to Larkspur.

Votes on all were unanimous by the six members of the county board present at a special meeting at the county schools office in Corte Madera. Lee C. Richardson was absent.

The transfers were granted despite a warning by David E. Freedheim of the Sausalito board: "I expect that we'll approve every inter-district transfer that comes to us if you approve these tonight."

County board member James A. Carroll, who conducted the hearings, declared the county board had considered each case individually and was "not trying to blanket any that come before us." He added: "We would certainly recommend that the Sausalito board give more time to study these cases . . . We think they should actually do the in-depth study Mr. (Phillip W.) Schneider alluded to."

Carroll asked that "someone" carry this message to the Sausalito district. Its four representatives — Superintendent Schneider, Asst. Supt. Joseph Amato and trustees Freedheim and James E. Muldoon — had all left before the board emerged from two hours and 10 minutes of closed-door discussion to grant the transfers.

Before the closed session, the board heard from parents their reasons why they sought to have their children transferred out of the district; from the Sausalito district, objections to all the transfers, and from Mill Valley and Larkspur districts, agreement to accept the children if directed to do so by the county board.

Transfers to the Mill Valley district were granted for three children of Ben E. Randolph of 708 Drake Avenue, Marin City; two children of Ken Elkington of 153 Toyon Lane, Sausalito (who was an unsuccessful candidate for the Sausalito board in April), and one child of Kristina Weckler of 97 San Carlos Avenue, Sausalito. Transfer to Larkspur district was granted for one child of Pauline S. Satur of 53 Cazneau Avenue, Sausalito. All the children were attending or would have attended Martin Luther King School in Sausalito.

The parents all presented a similar story. All claimed that their children had been harassed at the Sausalito school, that there was lack of supervision, little homework, lax discipline, fear of physical violence, and little effort to inculcate good study habits. Several also held that report card grades are meaningless.

Superintendent Schneider's response to all was that the situation is different this year at Martin Luther King School and it should not be judged on the past.

"It's interesting that there are literally hundreds of white youngsters who go to the school who are not harassed," he said.

"Parents and board members have been enormously impressed" with the improvement at King School since it opened the new term Sept. 10, claimed Freedheim. He said new Principal Sidney F. Walton Jr. held an assembly last Friday "with 298 students attending because one student was harassed," proving school yard violence would no longer be permitted.

Freedheim and Muldoon admitted it has been standard practice for the Sausalito board to deny interdistrict transfer applications without public discussion. The board was informed recently by Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino that this is illegal unless the transfers involve charges against individual pupils or school personnel.

Although Schneider referred only to harassment of white children, Randolph, who is black, told the county board: "My daughter has been beat up on already at school and the school has barely been open yet."

Mrs. Satur, who has had two older children graduate from what is now Martin Luther King School, said one of her sons now a high school sophomore, was stabbed when in seventh grade. Schneider, apparently not realizing this was before he became superintendent, denied there had been such a stabbing.

Mrs. Elkington told the board that last spring "my daughter's friends stayed in the house for a week because of fear," not attending school.

Randolph, Mrs. Satur and Mrs. Weckler all reported their older children who completed elementary school in Sausalito had great difficulty in high school because of poor study habits acquired in the Sausalito schools. Mrs Satur and Mrs. Weckler said grades attained in Sausalito seemed meaningless.

LeVoy Elder of 123 Drake Avenue, Marin City, backing Randolph's request, said he had a similar experience. "I've had two children go through Sausalito schools and when they got in high school they were lost," said Elder. He earlier had appealed a Sausalito denial of transfer for his son Darrell, but dropped it after placing the boy in school in New Mexico. "I was luckier than Mr. Randolph," he said.

Schneider and Freedheim predicted there would be many more such transfer requests if those heard last night were granted by the county board.

DARRELL THREW HIMSELF AWAY

The good right arm of Darrell Elder eliminated the first of what has proved to be a series of appeals from Sausalito School District turndowns of interdistrict pupil transfers.

The story came to light last night during a meeting of the Marin County Board of Education attended by Darrell's father, LeVoy Elder of 123 Drake Avenue, Marin City.

In August, the senior Elder appealed denial of a transfer for Darrell from Martin Luther King School to the Mill Valley district. But when the matter came up at the county board meeting Sept. 2, Deputy Supt. Stanley Friese announced the appeal had been withdrawn.

What happened was this, Elder disclosed last night:

He took his son with him on a trip to the Southwest. While they were visiting in Hobbs, N.M., the junior high school coach there saw Darrell throwing a football. "I've got to have that boy on my team!" he declared.

The coach aproached Elder and together they worked out arrangements for Darrell to live and attend school in Hobbs.

What the coach didn't know — and may not yet — is that he not only got an ace football passer. Darrell also was the No. 1 pitcher for the Oaks in the Sausalito Little League, a team that won 31 straight baseball games, most of them with right-handed Darrell on the mound.

Motorist's Wife Injured In Traffic

Anne M. Blake, 52, of Walnut Creek, was treated at Marin General Hospital Sunday for bruises on the chest suffered when her husband's car swerved into the center divider and rolled on its top near the Bellam overpass on Highway 17.

The California Highway Patrol said Morton Blake, 48, was attempting to avoid hitting slow moving traffic when the 1:30 p.m. accident occurred.

Oakland Artist Displaying At Civic Center

An exhibit of 26 oil and water color paintings by Jason Schoener of Oakland is on display on the third floor of the Civic Center in the foyer outside the supervisors' chambers.

The Marin Museum Association arranged the exhibit yesterday. It will be displayed through the end of November.

Schoener, head of the art department at the Arts and Crafts School in Oakland, puts on shows regularly at the Midtown Gallery in New York and has shown his work at the Palace of Legion of Honor in San Francisco.

His paintings, mostly landscape, feature vibrant colors. He uses gouache, a special oil and wax technique, and straight oil and water colors.

Small Car Stolen

His red 1967 Datsun convertible, license WLU 623, was stolen overnight while parked outside his residence, Robert B. Moore of 40 Park Drive told San Anselmo police yesterday.

Petaluma Planners Slate Three October Hearings

The Petaluma Planning Commission in special session last night set three public hearings for the Oct. 7 meeting.

One hearing will deal with the commission's intent to remove the requirement that some business operations be 1,000 feet from residential or professional-medical districts. The commission said that other more offensive types of businesses than those under the ruling are not subject to it.

Also to be considered is the listing of meat processing of fowl and poultry as permitted uses in general industrial zones.

Public hearings will also be held on flood control projects involving the alignment and rights of way acquisition for the Washington creek improvement project and the Cherry Street-Magnolia Avenue flood control project.

Sealab Program Is Snagged; No Funds

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The Navy project aimed at undersea living, Sealab III, has run aground as a result of economy.

"We have no funds to do anything at all on Sealab before the Naval Underseas Research and Development Center said yesterday.

Mailliard Sees Inflation As Park Woe

I-J Special Report

WASHINGTON — A gloomy prognosis for legislation to complete the purchase of Point Reyes National Seashore was made today by Rep. William S. Mailliard, R-Sixth District.

Citing the Bureau of the Budget's failure to spend money on parks that already has been authorized by Congress, Mailliard told the Independent-Journal that "it's going to be hard to come by the money until there is some leveling off of inflation — though I feel a good argument can be made that this sort of expenditure is not particularly inflationary."

Mailliard is coauthor with Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, of the legislation to rasie the seashore appropriation by $38 million to $57.5 million.

Their authorization bill is stuck in the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, whose chairman declared on Friday he would hold no more hearings on it until the Nixon administration, through the Bureau of the Budget, dropped its barrier to other park purchases.

Mailliard, who said he talked about the bill yesterday with the committee chairman, Rep. Wayne Aspinall, D-Colo., commented that Aspinall's decision to halt hearings was "rather justified; after all, what's the use of putting his committee through all these hoops if the end result isn't a park?"

Mailliard said he still hoped the administration will change its policy on park purchases. Withholding purchase now "escalates the price and just makes completion more difficult," he said.

Mailliard added that Aspinall felt it was "sort of a fraud that the interested public, the conservationists, all converge on his committee to get at him, but don't show equal zeal to get the Bureau of the Budget to put up the money."

Former Marin Supervisors Peter H. Behr's Save Our Seashore group is seeking to collect signatures of a million Bay Area citizens on petitions asking President Richard M. Nixon to support the appropriation.

The appropriation was endorsed last night by the Marin County Republican Central Committee in a resolution to Nixon that declared "few, if any, other preserves face the immediate threat of extinction." Unless the seashore is completed immediately, "the beauty and serenity of the seashore will be irrevocably destroyed," and the $19 million investment already made there by the government will be "substantially debased," the resolution said.

Most of the committee's 22 members were present at the meeting in the Civic Center, and all but one voted for the resolution reported chairman Charles Michals. He declined to identify the one dissenter, who Michals said objected that the weather at the seashore was too poor to invest $57.5 million.

Two Accused In LSD Trade

Two young men were arrested yesterday by narcotics agents after an alleged sale of LSD was arranged in the SFO Helicopter parking lot near Sausalito.

Booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of sale of the drug were Donald Bruce Peebles, 22, of Gate 5, near Sausalito, and Ronald Keith Fuller, 25, of San Francisco.

They posted $315 each to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Fuller was also booked on suspicion of marijana possession after a search revealed he had the weed with him, officers said.

No School Bus Service For Fairfax

Resumption of student bus service is out of the question for the time being parents were told last night by Fairfax School District trustees.

Bus service will only be returned when sufficient funds are provided for a long duration by the state, reported executive secretary Gwyneth McGee.

Ajoint meeting of the Fairfax, San Anselmo, Lagunitas and Micasio school boards is being planned next month to discuss possible agreement on a proposal on unification which can be submitted to the Marin County Committee on School District Organization.

Trustees announced plans to attend a seminar on politics and public education Oct. 23 on the Davis campus of the University of California.

An agreement was made with Marin County for a class for handicapped children to be taught in the district.

Bagley, Bruce In Tax Seminar

Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafaele, and Marin County Administrator Alan Bruce will be panelists in the Third Annual California Tax Seminary on Oct. 16 and 17 at the Hilton Hotel, San Francisco.

Bagley will discuss tax reform at 2 p.m. on Oct. 16, and Bruce will discuss financing capital improvements at 2 p.m. the next day.

The seminar is sponsored by the California Taxpayers Association and Tax Executives Institute.

Prosecution Unready; Card Count Dropped

A felony charge of signing another person's name to a credit card invoice was dismissed against Allen Richard Sledge, 27, of San Geronimo, yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when the prosecution was not ready to proceed with the case.

Sledge had been accused of committing the offense July 16.

Wilson In Scathing Indictment To Miller's Mental Health Direction

By PAT ANGLE

Dr. Donald P. Wilson, director of the Marin Community Mental Health Center, last night added his voice to the growing chorus of those demanding the dismissal of Dr. Clyde G. Miller.

In a letter to the Marin Hospital District Board of Directors, read at last night's board meeting, Dr. Wilson blasted, Miller's administration of the county's mental health programs.

Miller, director of community mental health services for Marin, was not there to hear the scathing indictment.

"He (Miller) uses every effort to force the submission of others," Wilson stated, adding that he found the mental health director "tremendously resistant to changes."

Wilson said he has found "overwhelming antagonism" in every agency which had continuing contact with Miller. "I feel more and more support for county mental health programs will be lost if Miller continues in his present position," the center director continued.

According to Wilson, the friction between the two men came to a head last week when Miller submitted a budget for our center to the Marin County Mental Health Advisory to board without even consulting me." Wilson said he felt Miller's action was "a deliberate attempt to leave me entirely out of an determination of our coming budget."

Problems of ideology have also arisen between the two, according to the mental health center director. Wilson said Miller favors a program which provides individuals with long-term, intensive therapy. "This of program can serve relatively few patients," Wilson stated, adding that he wants newer methods which can provide therapy for a greater number of persons.

"While Dr. Miller has professed to me a desire to see the center move into these new approaches, he has sought from the outset to block changes I desired to make," Wilson said.

In summing up, Wilson told the board Miller's "indifference to maintaining good will, the devious games he employs to disguise his intentions" and "his refusal to engage in rational discussion" have "destroyed any possibility of trust."

Wilson's charges were supported and seconded by Dr. William Bewley, a San Anselmo psychiatrist and former president of the Marin County Mental Health Association.

On a suggestion from board member Marion Ibach, directors agreed to take the matter before the board of supervisors on Monday. Attending will be Mrs. Ibach, board members Dr. Gwendolyn Campion and George Folsom, Ray K. Bolinger, Marin General Hospital administrator, and Wilson.

"I feel we should ask the supervisors for a clarification of these problems, since they are the ones who must deal with the situation," Mrs. Ibach said. "I also feel it is important for us to bring Dr. Wilson's feelings before the supervisors," she added.

Mrs. Ibach said the hospital board's prime concern must be "care of the patients and seeing the Community Mental Health Center is able to serve the best interests of the community as a whole."

"I am hoping the county administration is going to take more seriously what a lot of people have been telling them for some time," Wilson told the board.

Simmons Defends Hospital's Handling Of Novato Case

The chief of staff of Marin General Hospital last night defended his hospital's action in the case of a Novato woman who was raped last week.

The case attracted wide attention when the womna, mother of three and the wife of an Air Force sergeant in Vietnam, had difficulty obtaining medical attention.

Two doctors at Novato General Hospital refused to examine her. She was finally treated by a physician at Marin General.

In a brief report to the Marin Hospital District board, hospital chief Dr. Bradford Simmons said the woman's case was handled by the hospital's emergency room physician with no significant delay. "She was examined about 20 minutes after she arrived here," he said, "and there was no emergency involved."

He added the hospital staff will give immediate treatment to any person who requires it in an emergency situation.

Simmons said persons brought to the hospital by police have always been a problem. "If they are minors, we may need parental consent before examining or treating them," he explained. If the persons brought in are in police custody, they may have to be examined by the county physician, according to Simmons.

"This is not a simple problem," he continued. "Hospitals have never really had a good formula for treating persons brought in by the police."

A meeting to discuss the problem and attempt to establish a clear, complete policy in such situations will be held tomorrow at 2 p.m. in Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales office in the San Rafael Courthouse.

Present at the meeting will be Dr. Donovan O. Cooke, Marin County medical officer, representatives from the county's four major hospitals and county officials.

The Marin Hospital District Board Also:

EXPANSION — Accepted a $22,868 bid from Kentfield contractor Neil T. Burton for remodeling and expansion of Marin General's emergency room.

PAVING—Accepted a bid from Brown-Ely Co., San Rafael, for paving and marking four hospital parking lots. Brown-Ely's low bid was $7,959.

PLAQUE — Presented a plaque to former board member Irving Chapman, thanking him for his many services to the hospital and the board.

CLOSED SESSION — Went into closed session with Harold Riede, the district's attorney, to discuss "pending litigation."

PAYMENT — Approved a $51,957 payment to the Elmer J. Freethy Co., El Cerrito, for construction and paving of the hospital's new 212-space parking lot. The board withheld 10 per cent of the paving money to offset any expenses caused by the company's delay in completing the project beyond the time specified in the contract.

STAFF PRIVILEGES — Granted associate staff privileges to six psychiatrists: Dr. Merrill I. Berman and Dr. John S. Guerant, both of San Rafael; Dr. Bernard Bradman and Dr. John C. Morris, Kentfield, and Dr. Martin G. Blinder and Dr. Leon Wanerman, both of San Anselmo.

Larkspur Crash Injures Girl

Linda Edwards, 18, of 29 Blue Rock Court, Corte Madera, was treated today at Marin General Hospital for a sprained left leg suffered in a car-motorcycle collision at 11:35 p.m. yesterday at Magnolia and Ward avenues, Larkspur police reported.

She was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Daniel C. Jacobs, 20, of 965 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, which police said was struck by a car driven by John Scott Rader, 59, of 124 Hillside Avenue, San Rafael, as Rader drove across Magnolia on Ward.

Rader was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of being drunk in and about a car, and posted $125 bail to appear today in Marin Municipal Court.

Pill Victim

Dorothy Milewski of 260 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, was reported in good condition today at the Marin County Mental Health Center after being treated at 1:30 a.m. at Marin General Hospital for an overdose of pills taken at her home, San Anselmo police reported.

PROTEST SIGN

Short-Hours Short Stop Hits Again

A new sign appeared on the door of the Short Stop Market in Fairfax last night as it entered its second day of closing from 11 p.m. to 7 a.m.

The new sign reported the names and telephone numbers of members of the city council and planning commission who voted to amend the store's special use permit to end all-night operation.

Councilman Adelaide P. Wilson is also identified as "co-owner of Christiansen's Bakery, and all-night operation."

The sign concluded. "What about a town where some of its leaders vote to close food stores and lets it bars, liquor store and Christiansen's Bakery remain open?"

The first sign on the store appeared Monday night after the council voted 3 to 2 to amend the special use permit. It asked persons who approved to honk once; those who disapproved to honk twice.

Environment Efforts May Shorten War

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Demands by the public for more federal money to save the nation's environment will force our withdrawal from Vietnam "as much as anything else," a Bay Area congressman predicted yesterday.

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr., R-11th District, said such demands will have to be met from the same well of money that provides $30 billion a year for the war, with little left to control pollution and buy needed open space like Point Reyes National Seashore.

A recent poll done by the White House found that pollution ranked second among the public's "national concerns," he said. The war was first, he added.

McCloskey's remarks were made before several hundred packaging industry executives at the first national conference on packaging wastes in the Sheraton-Palace Hotel.

He warned the industry it either will have to act itself to help solve the massive problem of solid wastes, or face "costly and unhappy" federal regulation. "As the pendulum swings to protect the environment," he said, "there is a danger the swing can be too far toward too virgorous regulation and for too much government intrusion in industry."

Student Exchange Fund Drive Set

Terra Linda High School students will stage a door-to-door fund-raising drive Monday throughout the Gallinas Valley area from 6:15 to 9 p.m.

The students, carrying identifying information, hope to collect $3,000 for the school's International Student Exchange committee.

Antique Shop Burglary Admitted In Court

George E. Myers, 22, of San Rafael, admitted yesterday in Marin Superior Court to burglarizing a San Anselmo antique shop July 21.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson set sentencing for Monday and declared the offense to be second degree.

Planning Session

The Novato Planning Commission, which failed to get a quorum and did not meet Monday night, will meet at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the Novato Community House, according to Planning Director Brian W. Mattson. The commission will have the same agenda as had been scheduled for Monday night, Mattson said.

Quail Hill Vineyard Landscaping Approved

Five acres of vineyards (possibly the only ones in Marin County), hillsides replanted with wildflowers and grasses and screenings of pines and eucalyptus are all included in landscape plans for Quail Hill, the San Rafael Planning Commission learned last night.

The commission enthusiastically approved the plans drawn up by Eckbo, Dean, Austin and Williams of San Francisco, asking only one change.

Upon the recommendation of the city engineering department, the commission requested the developer to install concrete, instead of wooden, steps between a townhouse area and a single family house development.

Planning Director Herbert G. Hotchner said these steps will be dedicated to the city because they connect two public streets and that concrete would be easier to maintain.

The commission also told the landscapers to put in their plants either this fall or next spring and to replace any dying ones.

There were no objections to the plans from neighbors, who have in the past objected to dust caused by the hilltop project near Northgate Shopping Center. Quail Hill is being developed by Commerce Clearing House and will include apartments, homes and offices.

Representatives of the company said last night that the grapes are planned for wine to be bottled under the comapny's name with a private label.

The San Rafael Planning Commission also:

SUBDIVISION — Gave final approval to a five-lot subdivision near Glenwood called Glenwood Knolls. It is owned by Security Savings and Loan Association.

LOTS — Approved dividing into two lots a 63.1-acre parcel on Civic Center Drive owned by Henry P. Scettrini and others.

FOURPLEX — Approved parking and architecture of a proposed fourplex on a lot of 1815 Second Street which is owned by A. M. Sestak.

MACHINE SHOP — Endorsed plans for a machine shop at 66 Woodland Avenue owned by John P. Suacci.

SIGN — Limited a sign to rooftop level on a building at 49 Simms Street.

LANDSCAPING — Asked Richard D. Brooks to change landscaping in front of an industrial building at 11 Mark Drive because it differed with plans approved earlier.

Jewelry Stolen

The theft of $1,200 worth of jewelry from the Laurence E. Stevens home, 97 Meernaa Avenue, Fairfax, was reported Monday, police said today. The theft is believed to have occurred within the past two weeks.

Truck Theft Charged Reduced

The case of two hitchhikers accused of stealing a pickup truck Sept. 15 was settled yesterday in Marin Municipal Court when one of them pleaded guilty to a lesser charge of joyriding and a charge against the other was dismissed for lack of evidence.

The attorney for Robert Landis Frank, 25, of Nashville, Tenn., said that Frank was very intoxicated when he took the truck belonging to an equipment operator working at Lincoln Avenue near the offramp from Highway 101 in San Rafael.

Released was Frank's companion, Ezequiel Antonio Palacios, 23, of Paramount, Los Angeles County.

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein set sentencing Friday by Frank.

Addition To House Will Be Discussed

The San Anselmo Design Review Committee will review a design submitted by Viola Chambers for a proposed addition to a house at 19 Hooper Lane when it meets at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

The committee also will consider application by Cain's Tire Service for a free-standing sign at 20 Greenfield Avenue and Senor Alfredo's Restaurant to relocate a sign at 115 San Anselmo Avenue.

MARIN FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

3 p.m., Mill Valley — Fire in car owned by Beverly Miller, 1 Marin View Avenue, Mount Tamalpais, at Wildomar Street and Helens Lane; caused by short circuit in wiring. Damage to wiring estimated $100.

3:52 p.m., Tiburon — Smoking light fixture at Reed school caused by faulty ballast; no damage.

5:04 p.m., San Rafael — Grass fire burned 20 square feet at Reservoir and Knoll roads; possibly caused by children playing with matches; no damage.

7:42 p.m., Novato — Overheated pan on kitchen stove at home of Raymond H. Backstedt at 462 Via Del Plano did minor smoke damage to the hood of the stove.

SOUTHERN SONOMA YESTERDAY:

7:29 p.m., Petaluma — Overheated motor caused fire in refrigerator at home of Dorothy Ebenhack of 20 Liberty Street; damage confined to motor.

Larkspur Planners Nod To Signs, Banks

The Larkspur Planning Commission last night approved two signs totaling approximately 150 square feet for Rolling Homes Trailer Sales at 2060 Redwood Highway.

The signs will be painted on a building at the site, reported secretary Barbara Briton.

The commission also recommended the city council approve an amendment making banks and savings and loan associations permitted uses in general commercial, manufacturing and administrative-professional districts. They are now permitted in neighborhood commercial districts.

A public hearing was set for Oct. 14 on a use permit requested by the Tamalpais to use its convalescent hospital for patients other than its own residents.

The commission approved an outdoor auto show proposed by Disco Wonderworld at 1 Larkspur Plaza.

Much of the agenda was postponed to the Oct. 14 meeting because only three commissioners were present. Absent were Joseph N. Picetti and Robert H. Lee.

A proposed architectural review of remodeling of a Standard service station at Eliseo Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was withdrawn at the applicant's request.

Coin Show Slated Oct. 5 In Petaluma

Coin collectors from Northern California will show their treasures at the third annual show to be held Oct. 5 by the Petaluma Coin Collectors at the Veterans Memorial Building, 1094 Petaluma Boulevard South.

Two $20 gold pieces and a 1969 proof set will be prizes awarded in a drawing. Dealers will be on hand to sell coins.

Cotati's Hub Area Zone Policy Will Be Reviewed

A review of zoning in the Cotati hub area was called for last night by the city planning commission.

Concerned about future development in the circular area around the Park Plaza, the commission set a public hearing for Oct. 14 at 7:30 p.m. to place the district in a study zone and require use permits for any development planned before completion of the study.

The study area boundaries would include George, Arthur, Charles, Henry, Olaf and William streets.

The move came after a letter from city council was read, saying service stations should be banned from facing on Park Plaza and asking that the commission indlude that regulation in the proposed service station ordinance.

The commission approved a motion recommendating that the city council consider a special trail through the city for hiking and bicycling.

Also approved was the renewal of the use permit for the planned Assembly of God Church at 810 East Cotati Avenue.

Fishing Boat Customer Dies

A 64-year-old San Leandro machinist, died today, apparently of a heart attack, after collapsing on a fishing boat in Sausalito's Clipper Yacht Harbor, Coroner's Investigator Keith Craig reported.

Craig said Karl Heinrich Moeck was aboard the Jenny C. Fishing party boat, owned by Henry Carlson of Mill Valley, when he collapsed. He was pronounced dead in an ambulance at 6:45 a.m. The coroner's investigator said Moeck had a history of heart trouble.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Russell and Gooch funeral chapel in Mill Valley.

Plant Explosion Leaves Two Dead

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion ripped through the huge R. R. Donnelley and Sons printing plant on the South Side yesterday killing two persons and injuring 46.

A company spokesman said at least 100 workers were in the building at the time but it was not known how many were in the explosion area.

Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn said the blast is thought to have originated in one of the printing presses, but that the cause was not immediately known. He said there was one explosion and a little fire. The fire was extinguished.

School Bond Loss Effects Predicted

Double sessions in Petaluma junior and senior high schools may be necessary if the Oct. 14 Bond election fails, Sup. Lesly H. Meyer told the Petaluma Board of Education last night.

"If the election doesn't pass, you could try again in 90 to 100 days or else go to double session and a drop in the quality of education," Meyer said.

He told the board he wasn't trying to scare voters into approving the bond and state loans, but wanted the board to be thinking of alternative plans should the measure fail.

Residents of Petaluma, Rohnert Park and Cotati will be voting Oct. 14 on $3.6 million in bonds and $9.1 million in state loans to fund a 10-year building program for the high school district.

Meyer said that fall enrollment projections had been surpassed and that the district would have to use more portable units to provide classroom space even if the bond election passes, because new buindings would not be ready for at least two years.

Blue and white buttons saying "I Care" are being distributed to voters by the citizen's advisory committee, Meyer said.

He also noted that county Supervisor George T. de Long, committee chairman, has been speaking to clubs and organizations and reported that parent-teacher groups are organizing behind the election campaign.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

ARCHITECTS — Asked Meyer and the staff to screen new architectural firms because the present firm of Reynolds and Chamberlain is not large enough to handle all project..

FAMILY LIFE — Heard a report that opposition is still being felt in elementary schools to the showing of the KQED "Time of Your Life" film series. Meyer said the fall program has been delayed until spring.

ACCREDITATION — Heard a report from Dr. Dan E. Montgomery, Petaluma Senior High School principal, and staff members on progress being made on meeting the recommendations of the 1968 Western Association of Schools and Colleges accreditation team. The school will be up for accreditation review next spring.

Quentin Inmate Receives Stay

Gus Tolbert, 38, who was to have died today in the gas chamber at San Quentin Prison, has received a stay from U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Tolbert, of Los Angeles, was convicted of the 1966 killing of a neighbor and the kidnapping of another woman.

Douglas issued the stay Monday.

One Bid Received On Roofing Project

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — The Sonoma County Board of Supervisors received only one bid yesterday on the re-roofing of the Petaluma Veterans Memorial Building.

Henris Supply Co. of Petaluma submitted a bid or $7,676. A recommendation on awarding the contract will be made next week by County Administrator David L. Nichols.

Balboa High Classes Resume; No Troubles

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Classes resumed at racially divided Balboa High School today following several days of tensions and fighting which forced its closing.

School officials said there was no trouble on or off campus as youngsters returned for the regular school day.

SUMMONS
No. 51049

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of Marin.

LOUIS JANIN, Plaintiff
vs.
J. BRUCE MOREY and SUISUN INVESTMENT CO., a California corporation, Defendants

Action brought in the Superior Court in and for the County of Marin, State of California, and the Complaint filed in the office of the Clerk of said County.

THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA to the above named defendants:

You are directed to file with the clerk of this court in which the above entitled action is brought a written pleading in response to the complaint within ten days after the service on you of this summons, if served within the above named county, or within thirty days if served elsewhere (except that if the action is against the state pursuant to Section 738.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, within 180 days). You are notified that unless you so file a written responsive pleading, the plaintiff will take judgment for any money or damages demanded in the complaint, as arising upon contract, or will apply to the court for any other relief demanded in the complaint.

You may seek the advice of an attorney on any matter connected with the complaint or this summons. Such attorney should be consulted within the time limit stated in this summons for filing a written pleading to the complaint.

Nixon Aide Tells Plan To Solve Farm Woes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration unfolded today a new general farm program aimed at making efficient farmers rely less on government subsidies and enabling the poorest to get out of agriculture completely.

About 400,000 low-income farm families might be eligible for federal payments averaging $1,000 a year under the family assistance program recently proposed by President Richard M. Nixon.

More successful producers would be expected to compete in the free market — particularly overseas — without some of the high-priced federal benefits now available.

The proposals were presented by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin to the House Agriculture Committee.

The long-awaited administration farm program came as a package of alternatives and did not offer a lone remedy for the complex agricultural problems which have plagued the country for decades.

There was no estimate of total cost in Hardin's testimony. Federal farm programs this year are expected to cost more than $3.7 billion and have risen more than $1 billion since the Food and Agriculture Act was passed in 1965.

The law, which sets production controls and payment rates on an annual basis, is due to expire next year.

A massive land-retirement plan for taking whole farms from production and replacing existing commodity programs was not offered in the administration proposals.

But Hardin did recommend a pilot program in which up to four million acres a year could be retired permanently.

"Too rapid a rate of long-term land retirement would depopulate the rural areas," Hardin said. "An excesively large program would attract new land into production. Acres put to grazing could unbalance the cattle industry. It is best to proceed cautiously, learning as we go."

The American Farm Bureau Federation supports a much larger land-retirement program aimed at gradually phasing out existing control programs and subsidy payments but is opposed by most other farm groups.

Conservation Groups Seek Lawsuit Right

I-J Special Repeort

SAN FRANCISCO — Several conservation groups yesterday asked San Francisco Superior Court to allow them to participate in a landmark lawsuit involving property rights in San Francisco Bay.

The groups, including the Sierra Club and Save San Francisco Bay Association, argued they have a special expertise and interest that made it urgent they become parties to the suit.

The suit, filed against San Mateo County and others last April by the State Lands Commission, challenges the titles of bay tidelands held by local governments, and seeks to bar permits for residential developments and for uses which are not water-oriented. The suit was based on the state's allegation that the public rights in fishing, commerce and navigation guaranteed public easements over privately owned tidelands.

The suit specifically involves the ownership of acreage claimed by Westbay Community Associates, but the court's decision would affect all private titles throughout the bay.

A decision on the groups' request was not expected for about one month.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Uncomfortable Anxiety Is Linked To Marijuana Users

VAN DELLEN

I admit being somewhat naive when stumped by a medical editorial entitled "Potted Dreams." These are the euphoric trips or effects of using marijuana (cannabis) or LSD. Marijuana produces disorders in the perception of space and time.

Many users develop a sense of excitement, heightened awareness, and hilarity. Colors, sounds, and conversation appear more intense and meaningful. "So what?" say the users. "It is better than getting drunk." But marijuana can also provoke an uncomfortable anxiety, a common side effect seldom mentioned.

OUR MAIN objection to cannabis is that the majority of those hooked on the stuff are immature and live under the delusion that life is meaningful only when under the "influence" but not when sober. They prefer potted dreams to reality. In addition, the continued excessive use of cannabis leads to moral and social decay. Many a dope addict started on marijuana.

The LSD trips are no longer news. Injury is the most serious hazard. The user may jump out of a window, walk in front of an automobile, or be hurt in other bizarre ways. LSD may also lead to damaged chromosomes. The outcome is a genetic defect in reproduction.

OUR HIPPIES are "sold" on anything that ends in a trip. STP is (or perhaps, was) the latest hallucinogen to be tried. The initials stands for security, tranquility, and peace. But STP does just the opposite. The users developed prolonged visual and auditory hallucinations lasting up to 20 hours. Altho the effects were interrupted by sleep, they returned with greater intensity upon awakening. In addition there were terrifying manic, agitated reactions.

STP has toxic effects similar to atropine. Blurred vision, dry mouth, difficulty in swallowing, and abdominal discomfort ensue. Large doses lead to delirium and severe, even lethal, respiratory paralysis.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

HIS KNEES HURT

Mrs. P.B. writes: What are the common causes of pain in the knee? My husband, who does a lot of walking on the job, has this problem. However, after examination, the doctor said he found nothing wrong.

REPLY

Arthritis, bursitis, and changes in the cartilage. These conditions may produce pain even tho the changes are not severe enough to be detected thru examination.

ALCOHOL AND CHILDREN

A reader writes: If an alcoholic has a child, will the baby be defective in some way:

REPLY

No. There is no proof that alcohol affects the germ plasm. Many alcoholics have defective personalities and this emotional inheritance — rather than alcoholism — should be blamed if the child follows suit.

DROOLING

K. H. writes: What can be done for froth at the corners of the mouth of an old person?

REPLY

See that he has a good supply of handkerchiefs or tissues. Froth stems from relaxation of the muscles and tissues at the corners of the mouth or from dental problems.

RAISED METABOLISM

P. A. writes: Can a plus 26 basal metabolism cause shortness of breath?

REPLY

Yes, provided the increased metabolism is adding to the workload of the heart.

Today's Health Hint—

Raw vegetables should be washed thoroly before they are eaten.

Marshal Suing Over Removal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former U.S. Marshal Louis H. Martin of Martinez asked U.S. District Court yesterday to determine whether his removal from office earlier this month was legal.

Martin filed suit against current U.S. Marshal George Tobin of Mill Valley, asking the court to decide "who is the rightful person to be entitled to be U.S. Marshal."

Martin contends Tobin was "illegally sworn in" July 28, 1969.

Martin said he was named to a four-year term on June 25, 1968, by President Lyndon B. Johnson and took office Aug. 12, 1968. He said his term does not end until Aug. 11, 1972.

However, Martin said that on Sept. 4, 1969, he received a letter from President Richard M. Nixon saying Martin had been removed from office.

Teen's Case Sent To Municipal Court

Marin Juvenile Court will not accept the case of Patrick Robert Leahy, 18, of no known address, because of his long arrest record, it was reported Monday in Marin Municipal Court.

A preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 6 in municipal court for the youth, who is accused of burglarizing the Chinese Kitchen in Larkspur Sept. 2.

Mayor Chides Cleric On Youths' Drug Site

San Marin High School students get their last fix at the All Saints Lutheran Church grounds before crossing San Marin Drive to the high school, Mayor Harley A. McAskill last night told Rev. Arthur W. Sorensen, pastor of the church.

"I know enough young people who tell me that some smoke cigarettes but others get a fix of some kind on your church grounds," McAskill said.

Sorensen said that his church had an agreement with the high school that the students could take their last smoke before school at the enclosed church yard. Sorensen had appeared before the council asking funds to help the North Marin Parent-Teacher Association distribute an a anti-drug pamphlet which nearing its final stages of writing.

"Clean out your own house first. Do something about it, even if you have to chase them out onto the streets," McAskill told Sorensen.

The Novato Chamber of Commerce and the Novato ministerial association have each given $100 toward the $1,000 needed to place the pamphlet in every home in Novato, Sorensen said. The pamphlet is designed to inform parents about drugs, he said.

The Novato City Council voted up to $500 for the pamphlet, depending on how much the group gets from the service organizations. The vote was 4-1 with Councilman Babe Silva opposed because he wanted more people in the community involved in the project before the city paid the balance of the bill.

Poverty War Split Soothed By Letter

The Mexican-American Political Association has withdrawn discrimination charges leveled against the Marin County Economic Opportunity Council.

Michael J. Gomez, president of the Marin chapter of the association, said group representatives had met with the EOC executive board and members of the staff of the antipoverty group on July 22 and Aug. 26 and explained "it became clear" that the charges "were the result of communications breakdowns, personality clashes and conflicting priorities."

In a letter to the EOC June 23, A. Miguel Rodriguez, former president of the association chapter, said the EOC was guilty of "overt and convert discrimination in program performance" and of unfair employment practices.

W. Robert Lomax Jr., EOC executive director, hotly denied the accusations and demanded a retraction.

"We are now prepared to say that 'overt and covert discrimination' and 'unfair employment practices' were perhaps too harsh descriptions of Marin EOC policies and practices," Gomez said in a recent letter to the EOC.

Gomez issued a call for future cooperation between the groups.

The association, which had also demanded seating of three of its members on the EOC governing board, won the sanction of the Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday for membership on the governing body. The sanction was requested by the EOC.

Novato Council Buys Life Insurance, Delays On Agent

The Novato City Council last night awarded a $1,489 contract to Safeco Insurance Co. for group life insurance for the city employees, the premium to be paid by the city.

The coverage gives all employees a $5,000 life insurance policy for one year. Safeco's was the lowest of 46 bids received by the city.

Safeco has three agents in Novato — James Douglas McNeil, Worth Fenner and R. C. Morgan and the council decided to wait until its meeting at 8 p.m. Oct 14 to choose one or all three of the agents to represent the city.

The Novato City Council Also:

STREETS — Accepted as completed the widening and repaving of Simmons Lane from Novato Creek to Novato Boulevard. It also accepted Simmons Court for city maintenance, and approved the installation of sidewalks on the east side of Simmons Lane from Virginia Avenue to Novato Boulevard, all costs to be paid by owner Kathryn C. Sheraw. And it extended until Oct. 8, 1970, an agreement with Fernando Clementino for street improvements in front of his property on Olive Avenue at the east city limits and until Dec. 31 an agreement with Roberts and Aguirre for street repair on Marin Highlands Units 2 and 3.

SIGN — Referred back to the planning commission an appeal by Steven Mizell for 150 square feet of signs for the Novato Toyota sales agency on Highway 101 at Olive Avenue. The council approved a sign higher than the 16 feet granted by the planning commission. The council also agreed that the business should have a sign indicating the parts and service department. The commission had denied this.

CABLE TELEVISION — Approved writing to members of the Federal Communications Commission to see if they would give a temporary cancellation of a cease and desist order so that 2,500 homes could hook onto cables.

PROPERTY — Approved the city offering the Rodoni heirs $29,375 for the property on Machin Avenue just north of the Community House, tentatively proposed for a teen center. This is the value placed on the property by an appraiser hired by the city.

CLEANUP — Approved a city cleanup campaign for Oct. 11, 18, and 25. Mayor Harley A. McAskill appointed Councilmen Babe Silva and J. Wayne Womack to a committee to try to persuade the Novato Fire District to share in the expenses of the campaign.

TRAFFIC — Denied a request for less than a 25 mile-per-hour speed limit on Plaza Hermosa; denied a request for a stop sign on Truman Drive at Brown Drive; approved stop signs on San Luis Way at San Carlos Way; approved making Alameda del Prado a through street and banned parking on it from Loma Verde to the south city limits; removed two-hour parking on Machin Avenue from Cain Lane to De Long Avenue and recommended that the state Division of Highways install two-hour parking on the east side of Highway 101 from Sweetser Avenue to Vallejo Avenue. And continued until 8 p.m. Oct. 14 a request for stop signs on Sutro Avenue at Center Road. It requested a report at its Oct. 28 meeting on whether the city could limit the weight of trucks using city streets.

HILL ROAD — Named Councilmen Douglas M. Merrill and Joseph Gargiulo to a committee to work with the Novato Unified School District to try to obtain right-of-way for Hill Road widening and straightening of the Hill Road and Diablo Avenue intersection.

BEAUTIFICATION — Accepted the resignation of William J. Olsen, chairman of the beautification committee, and appointed Barbara Munden of 44 Jade Court to fill the vacancy.

REVENUES — Heard that city revenue totalted $97,000 in July, compared to $50,000 in July 1968. This increase was due in large part to $24,000 extra received in gasoline taxes. Sales taxes were up $4,500; business licenses up $7,400 and building permits up $1,700. Recreation program returns vehicle code fines decreased.

CLAIMS — Denied a claim by E. G. Brice of Brice Brothers in the Nave shopping center for $281 damage to his car allegedly received because of the Simmons Lane road work and rejected a false arrest claim by James S. Anderson of 16 Nova Lane for $300,000.

MOBILE HOMES — Heard that the petition of Mr.and Mrs. Vernon Hanna of 1261 Lynwood Drive for a moratorium on mobile home parks had been withdrawn. The request will be resubmittee at a later date, according to city Mgr. Charles A. Brown.

Nixon, Military Advisers Huddle

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Richard M. Nixon met for two hours today with Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and the Joint Chiefs of Staff in a session in which the White House said the military posture of the United States was discussed.

Ronald L. Ziegler, White House press secretary, said the meeting had been planned for the past several days.

Ziegler said he did not know what specific topics were discussed but he did not believe the breakfast meeting was limited to Vietnam.

Teachers Slate Vote On Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strike vote by union teachers is scheduled for Oct. 8, unless teacher demands are met before then, according to a spokesman for the American Federation of Teachers Local 61.

James Ballard, president of AFT local, said about 2,000 of San Francisco's 4,400 teachers are members of the union.

Among the union demands announced yesterday, are higher pay, tighter disciplinary control over troublesome students and smaller class sizes.

One key demand was for separate negotiations between union and school officials, instead of through the Joint Negotiating Council which is dominated by the Classroom Teachers Association, which has larger membership here than does the AFT local.

TELEVISION IN REVIEW

O. J. Simpson To Play Football Hero

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Football star O. J. Simpson apparently can carry the ball as an actor too.

The former University of Southern California halfback, now a pro with the Buffalo Bills, makes his dramatic debut on television tonight in a new CBS series, "Medical Center."

He is, in fact, the chief guest star of the first episode, playing a college football hero who tires to cover up a serious ailment because he fears publicity about it would hurt his chances for a big pro contract.

NO SIR LAURENCE

And, while O. J. is hardly Sir Laurence Olivier or Marlon Brando, he nevertheless makes quite a good impression for a novice. There's little question that he could find a place as a working actor—and, with his name, maybe as a star.

O. J. is, in fact, the chief reason to watch tonight's debut of the hour series, which is set against the background of a university medical center. It's pretty routine stuff, and even the Simpson epic tonight is uninspired, predictable melodrama. Only O. J.'s presence provides a real lure.

With the antiviolence crusade affecting this season's new series, the acceptable gore of medical shows is back in. And of another hour entry, "Marcus Welby, M.C."

Robert Young plays the title role in this series, which, like "Medical Center"—and "Ben Casey" and "Dr. Kildare," et al—revolves around an older doctor and his young staffer.

The first episode of "Welby" concerned a beautiful young teacher who is told she has only a short time to live. When she goes into seclusion, Young's assistant, who has developed an interest in her, shows her the need for continuing to live life right up until the end.

The script had a few nice moments, and Susan Clark was fine as the teacher, but this series also looks to be quite routine.

ABC-TV, by the way, isn't likely to win any friendship awards from the airlines these days. In its Monday premiere of "The New People," there was a vivid, scary scene of a plane crash which set a group of youngsters down on a Pacific island.

BLIND SURVIVORS

And last night, the network's new 90-minute series, "Movie of the Week" began with a plane crash after which a group of surviving blind passengers struggled to find their way back to civilization from desolate mountain country.

Here, too, there was some good moments from a cast that included Barry Nelson, Milton Berle and Arthur O'Connell; yet I think, perhaps, it was just that none of the characters were as essentially dramatic as the situation itself.

Heavy Shark

GUERNSEY, Channel Islands (AP) — Desmond Bougourd fought for two and one-half hours to land a 430-pound shark and now he's claiming a British record. The heaviest shark previously caught off Britain weighed 324 pounds.

Channel Chuckles

Marichal Tries To Get Giants Back On Top Tonight

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—The San Francisco Giants now understand what manager Preston Gomez meant when he said his San Diego Padres would help decide the National League's West division race.

The Padres pulled out a ninth inning run last night to defeat the Giants 5-4 and drop San Francisco from first place to a half game behind the Atlanta Braves.

And the key blow came from the bat of Ollie Brown, who had reached the majors through the Giants farm system and then was the top choice of the Padres in the expansion draft.

"I've been waiting all year to get a key hit like that," grinned Brown after the game. "It couldn't have come at a better time. It was a sinker on the outside and I was just waiting to meet it."

Gomez was as delighted as his outfielder with the outcome of the game. It was the first time the Padres had beaten the Giants in San Diego and it came in the eighth meeting of the two clubs here. But the Giants have an 11-3 overall record against San Diego, and one more game to go here, with three left at San Francisco next week.

"We predicted a month ago that we probably would decide who would win our division," Gomez said. "Our kids are loose. We have nowhere to go but we're playing like champions."

An admittedly disappointed Clyde King, manager of the Giants, could look forward to going with his ace tonight as Juan Marichal, 20-10, takes the mound against Al Santorini, 7-3.

"It always hurts you to lose a game when the race is this close," said King. "We are a long way from being out of it. In fact, I still say we are in great shape."

Infielder Bobby Pena, a major league veteran, singled in the ninth off Willie McCovey's glove. Ron Slocum ran for Pena and moved to second on losing pitcher Frank Linzy's wild pitch. It was then that Brown singled to right centerfield to drive in the winning run.

That blow climaxed a game in which the Padres took a four-run lead in the first inning, saw the Giants whittle it away until they tied it 4-4 in the eighth.

Willie Mays, who Monday night hit his 600th homer with a man aboard to pull out a 4-2 victory, walked in the eighth, reached third on a double by McCovey and scored on Ken Henderson's pinch infield out.

The Padres jumped on starter Mike McCormick in the first for their four runs. Jose Arcia singled and scored on Pena's double, with Pena taking third on an error. Al Ferrara singled home Pena and Nate Colbert doubled.

After McCormick balked to allow Ferrara to score and send Colbert to third, Ivan Murrel's grounder drove in the fourth run.

The Giants scored a run in the second when Jim Hart and Jack Hiatt drew walks off starter Clay Kirby, Hal Lanier singling in Hart.

Kirby retired 14 men in a row but lost his control in the seventh when he gave up a pair of walks and hit a batter. Reliever Frank Reberger walked pinchhitter Bob Burda to force in Bonds and pinchhitter John Stephenson came through with a sacrifice fly to drive in George Foster.

Jack Baldschun, the pitcher of record in the ninth, gained the win to make his record 7-2 while Linzy's mark dropped to 14-9.

Camaro Pit Crew Has Better Idea

When it comes to teamwork, Roger Penske's Chevrolet Camaro crew has it all over the rival Ford Mustangs.

That has been evident during the year-long Trans-American sedan series, particularly last Sunday at Sears Point International Raceway when Mark Donohue and his Camaro beat Parnelli Jones and his Mustang by a scant 2.17 seconds in the 201.8-mile race.

Jones and his Bud Moore engineered Mustang appeared to be the better driver and car on this day, but time lost in pit stops cost Parnelli the coveted victory.

"We work at it," said the soft-spoken 32-year-old Donohue, praising the Penske crew's brilliant pit work. Referring to Ford's closed-door practice sessions on pit stops at Sears Point last week — at a track rental cost of four figures — Donohue laughed: "They go off on their own to practice, afraid that someone might be spying. We're not ashamed to practice in the front of the whole world. Remember, practice makes perfect."

Pays Off In Pressure Race

Indeed, practice is a year-round crusade by the Penske enterprise. "We simulate pit stops under racing conditions wherever we happen to be," said Donohue, whose easy-going nature has earned him the nickname of "Captain Nice."

"It really pays off in a pressure race like this, too," he grinned. "We couldn't have done much better than we did today."

Example: Donohue's crew refueled his car in 5.1 seconds while the Jones crew took 14 seconds.

But the biggest blunder by Parnelli's crew came on the 69th lap when a tire change required 51 seconds — 25 seconds longer than teammate George Follmer took for the same service.

'Couldn't Believe My Eyes'

Sears Point publicist Bill Spencer, who covered the pit area for the press headquarters, gave this account of the monumental skull: "I was standing right there in the pits and noticed Ruf (Rufus Parnelli Jones) signal for a left rear tire change. When he pulled into the pit I couldn't believe my eyes when they jacked up the RIGHT rear and changed the RIGHT tire. Then they realized their mistake and THEN had to jack up the left rear end for the left rear tire that Ruf wanted in the first place. Just say that the Ford crew blew it — again!"

TONY SETTEMBER of Mill Valley, 43, drove a good race in his independently-entered 1967 Camaro, finishing 12th. He could have done better except for a minor accident on the 28th lap when a '68 Camaro driven by Wilt Jowett of Marlboro, Md. hit Settember, throwing Tony into a 180 degree spin and costing him one or two places in the final standings.

Speaking of Tony, I must remember that in six more days he becomes Tony Ottober. My, how time flies. For it's a long, long time, from May to Dettember, but the days gwow short, when you weach Settember. (I should have been a lyracist.)

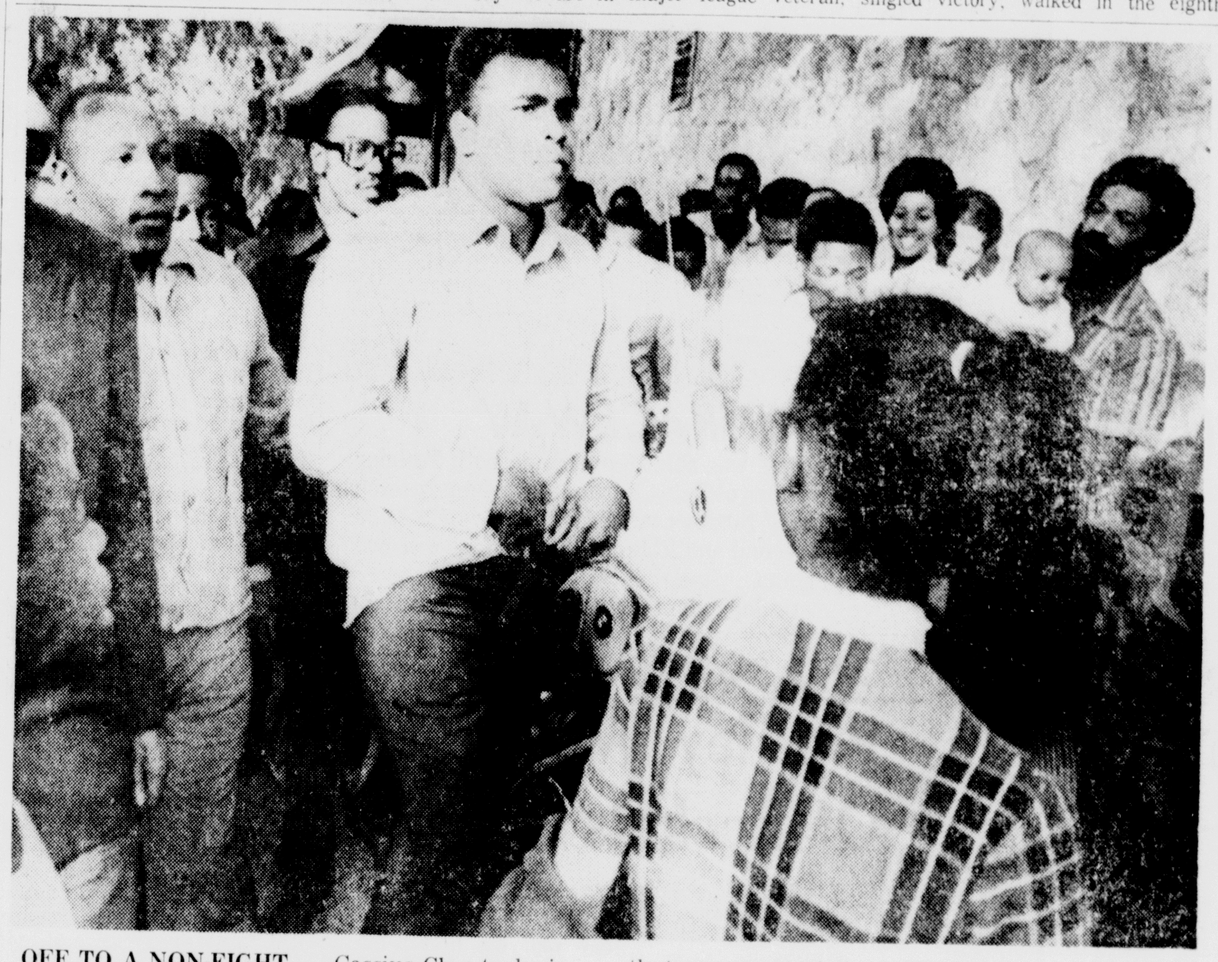
Best Race In Four Years

ALL VETERAN motorsports buffs agreed that Sunday's Trans-Am was the best race in the four-year history of the popular series. Not only Jones' sensational comeback of picking up five and one-half seconds in the last two laps, but the earlier battle in which Mustang driver Follmer cunningly fought off Donohue for second place, allowing Parnelli to open up a good lead until his crew blew it all. The driving was sensational

RACE QUEEN, incidentally, was shapely Barbara Cullison of Glen Ellen. (Speedway queens in Glen Ellen? Farms in Berkeley?)

SPECTATORS WILL be happy to know that Filmways, Inc., new owner of Sears Point, is going ahead with several improvements on the Sonoma racing complex. For one, they'll put lawn over the entire spectator area. Another thing, they'll install permament comfort stations through the complex.

After Sunday's big race, you might say they're flushed with success.



OFF TO A NON-FIGHT — Cassius Clay tucks in his shirt in Philadelphia, Pa., enroute to Fairmont Park for a fight with heavyweight Joe Frazier that never materialized. Frazier's manager pulled out, saying, "If they give him a license, then we'll fight him." (UPI Telephoto)

Veteran Pizarro Helps A's

OAKLAND (AP) — The young Oakland A's will have an experienced hand on their side in their next bid for the American League pennant.

Old timer Juan Pizarro, obtained from the Cleveland Indians only last Sunday, pitched five shutout innings in relief to win the second game of a doubleheader with the Chicago White Sox 5-3 last night and give the A's a sweep.

Jim Hunter won the first game 4-3 with ninth inning relief help from Lew Krausse. It was Hunter's 11th victory of the year against 15 defeats.

Pizarro, who claims to be only 33 years old, evened his season record at 4-4 with a remarkable relief job.

Some of the younger A's also had a hand in the double victory. Reggie Jackson snapped out of a home run slump with his 47th four-master of the year, as 420-foot blast over the centerfield fence in the second game. The homer ties Jackson with Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota for the major league lead.

No Fight, Just Loud Words

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Boxing Champion Joe Frazier challenged former heavyweight champion Mohammed Ali (Cassius Clay) yesterday, but instead of leather the champion and ex-champion threw words.

Ali, appearing on a Philadelphia TV show Monday night, made disparaging remarks about Frazier as a champion, calling him among other things "flat-footed."

CHALLENGE

Frazier, getting wind of Ali's remarks, challenged Ali to meet him in a ring in North Philadelphia at 4 p.m. yesterday. A lot of other people heard about the challenge and when the two fighters arrived for their showdown nearly 2,000 persons were trying to jam their way into the small gym.

It looked like the Cassius Clay of old, bantering in the locker room about who was the greatest as he dressed for the ring. But before he could prove his words, the police arrived and nixed the bout because the crowd had grown so large it overflowed into the street outside and was tying up traffic.

Never at a loss for words, Ali suggested that the contest be held at a park several blocks away, and with that departed for the outdoors.

BALKS

Frazier's manager, however, balked. He said he'd be willing to let his man meet the ex-champion in a ring, but not in an open air brawl in the park.

When Ali arrived at Fairmount Park a crowd estimated at 6,000 was on hand.

Frazier never put in an appearance.

Ali had the last word as he left for Chicago and a speaking engagement.

HAIRY ISSUE

Cross Country Prep Prospects

Redwood High School could have one of the best cross country teams in Northern California this season.

On the other hand, it may not.

Hair, too much of it according to Redwood athletic department policy, is going to deprive Redwood coach Doug Basham of three of his top varsity runners when the Marin County Athletic League season opens tomorrow.

STANDARDS

As it stand now, Kevin Pusser, runnerup in the MCAL meet last year and somewhat of a veteran of the hair controversy, along with Jay Newhaus, Tim Taylor and sophomore Brian Pusser, a member of the frosh-squad will not be able to compete because their hair style does not comply with Redwood High School athletic department standards.

The regulation, according to Redwood athletic director and head football coach Bob Troppmann, states that hair cannot fall below or over shirt collars, must not fall over the ears and sideburns must not be longer than mid-ear level.

EARLIER

Pusser was involved in a fuss over hair duing track and field season last spring, when he at first refused to cut his hair in order to compete on Redwood's track team, then relented.

Even without the hair problem and its possible no-shows, Basham can still field a strong team if he draws from his frosh-soph squad. With Pusser, Newhaus, and Taylor, it's going to be tough for anyone in the league to come close.

The Giants are defending champions, and in addition to the possibly absent trio, will have Lee Hotchkin, last year's division III freshman champion and veteran half-miler Dick Stoltz on the varsity.

Basham can also get sophomore Guy O'Farrell, the MCAL mile champ last year as a freshmen and talented freshman Eric Moller, if worse comes to worse.

THREATS

The only two teams that may pose some kind of threat to a Giant runaway are Tamalpais and San Rafael.

Kreig Vezie has another fine squad at Tamalpais, headed by Mike Biancalana, Mike Arago and long-haired junior Vian Collier.

Biancalana, a veteran track ace, is bigger and stronger. Arago was the North Coast section champ as a sophomore last year while Collier, contributed heavily to Tam's Class B track team last year and is considered a comer.

Also counted on are Lowery McFarren, a North Coast "B" swimming champ and Larry Loudon.

San Rafael has veteran coach Bill Ranney back in the saddle after a five-year absence. Ranney coached the Bulldogs from 1957 through 1964.

Ranney calls his squad "a dark horse" and commands considerable respect around the

Umpires' Law Suit Threatens Baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — A multimillion dollar damage suit filed by two American League umpires fired abruptly last September could threaten baseball's reserve system, the time-honored manner in which players are bought, sold and kept under contract.

Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, who claimed they were fired Sept. 18, 1968, for trying to form an umpires' union, asked damages of $2 million each yesterday in the suit filed in Federal Court. Their suit claimed that baseball's reserve system is illegal under the antitrust law.

'DEFAMATORY'

The ex-umpires also charged that American League President Joe Cronin made "false and defamatory statements" about the caliber of their work as umpires. They also accused Cronin and baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn of being "dictatorial and exercising illegal, monopolistic practices and controls," partly through the reserve clause in player contracts.

They said players may be "bought, sold, excluded, exchanged, discharged or excluded from employment without notice, consent, voice or hearing."

Cronin, reached in Boston, said: "I can't comment on anything like this. We'll have to let the lawyers handle it."

In New York, Kuhn said: "It would not be appropriate for me to say anything about it when a law suit has begun."

The plaintiffs, who requested a trial of the suit by jury, said major league baseball has grown from a local sport to an interstate business, and as such as subject to antitrust and monopoly laws.

Salerno and Valentine accused the major leagues of "exploitation of players and umpires for the benefit of the business and profit of the various individual club owners and the major leagues."

They said umpires, like players, are "unreasonably and illegally restricted in their employment, collective bargaining and rights to sell their services for fair and reasonable consideration."

DAMAGES

The suit asked $1.5 million each for the alleged violation of antitrust laws in the firing of the two umpires and an additional $500,000 each in damages for what they called Cronin's defamatory statements.

The complaint described the umpires as "competent, trustworthy, dependable and capable umpires who performed their duties in good workmanlike and commendable manner."

COSSACKS 'OVER THEIR HEADS'

Horror Movies At Sonoma

Sonoma State College footballers have a couple of weeks to regroup their forces before meeting Hayward State College's junior varsity team. They'll need all the time they can get.

If you tuned in late, the Cossacks of Sonoma State played the school's first intercollegiate football game last Saturday in Petaluma. It was against Arizona Western, a junior college used as a training base for various four-year colleges.

The Cossacks lost, 65-0.

They have a bye this week, then host Hayward State's J.V. team Saturday, Oct. 4, 2 p.m. at Petaluma's Durst Field.

"We played one heck of a good ball team," Sonoma State coach Lloyd Helgeson said. "With our limited budget we didn't have funds to go to Arizona to scout them. We didn't know what to expect."

Helgeson and his staff spent Monday looking at horror movies of the game and came out of the session surprised. "Our kids weren't pulling back. They weren't afraid." They were just in over their heads. Not only were the Cossacks held to minus four yards on the ground, seven of their passes were intercepted.

FLOOD GATES

It was a scoreless game, surprisingly, after one quarter of play. "Then they opened the flood gates," said Helgeson. It was a total of 10 touchdowns.

Only Sonoma injury was to linebacker Luther Nelson, a re-injured ankle. He'll be out of action for a week, but should be ready for Hayward State.

Helgeson had praise for right cornerback Bob Sears, former defensive standout for Novato High School. Arizona Western wasn't scoring touchdowns in Sears area, said his coach.

"We'll be 100 per cent improved for our next game," Helgeson promised. He said he was putting his charges through extra heavy work this week and has Saturday scheduled for a day off. They'll spend next week getting ready for Hayward State.

Marin Runners Win Opener

Getting off the starting blocks early, College of Marin's cross country team defeated Laney College runners yesterday in Oakland, 18-37.

Don Makela of Novato set a course record in winning for the Tars, his 17:51 time wiping out the old record of 18 minutes flat. Following winner Makela across the finish line for Marin were Bob Bunnell, second; Dave Standcliff, fourth; Pat Bowen, fifth, and Mark Miller, sixth.

Although Marin's first scheduled meet was to be next Tuesday, against Merritt College of Oakland, coach Jim McGowan decided to sneak in this extra meet a little early.

Bills Waive Flores As Darragh Returns

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — The Buffalo Bills of the American Football League placed quarterback Tom Flores on waivers yesterday, two days after sophomore signal-caller Dan Darragh returned from military service.

Flores, 31, a nine-year pro, was obtained by the Bills from Oakland in 1967.

Falcons Pick Up Former 49ers' Veteran Bosley

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons picked up some needed experience at center yesterday by signing Bruce Bosley, a veteran of 14 years with San Francisco of the National Football League.

Bosley was signed as a free agent after he was cut by the 49ers and cleared waivers by other NFL clubs.

The 6-foot-2 Bosley weighs 240 and has played in four Pro Bowl contests—1961, 1966, 1967 and 1968. He played offensive tackle and defensive end at West Virginia and was the 49ers second draft choice prior to the 1956 season.

At 35, Bosley will be the oldest man on the Falcon squad.

To make room for Bosley, the Falcons placed on waivers rookie center Jeff Van Note of Kentucky, who was drafted in the 11th round.

BATTLE FOR POSITION AT SEARS POINT RACEWAY

Ignoring an official's signal to "move over, faster car behind," Ford Mustang team driver George Follmer (16) of Arcadia blocked Chevrolet Camaro star Mark Donohue of Media, Pa., in early laps of Sunday's 200-mile Trans-American sedan race at Sears Point International Raceway. However, Donohue, running third most of the way, was able to overcome both Follmer and teammate Parnelli Jones of Palos Verdes in the homestretch to win the race after slow pitstops ruined all hopes of a Ford victory. Jones finished second and Follmer third before a crowd estimated at 25,000 persons.

MARIN-SONOMA GOLF NOTES

Mat Palacio Leads Way In Champs Golf Tourney

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Action continues hot and heavy on Marin and Sonoma County golf courses, club championships taking the spotlight.

AT SONOMA National, veteran golfer Mat Palacio of San Rafael is leading the way. Defending champ at Sonoma, Palacio fired a three-under-par 69 to take a four-stroke lead in the first round of medal play. Closest pursuer is Bob Van Druff, 73. Second round is scheduled for Sunday.

GEORGE SCHERBA, a former club champ at the Indian Valley course in Novato, was among the casualties in last Sunday's quarterfinals. He lost to Jim Creighton, 1 up. Other results: Mike Dunham downed Bud Sparrow, 2 and 1; Al Randig defeated Bill Malstrom, 20th hole, and Bob Hachmyer nipped Al DeLucas, 2 and 1. Semifinals are scheduled Sunday.

Defending champ Barrett Lewis will be going against Bill Davis in the finals of the Rohnert Park Club Championship tourney Sunday, 36 holes of match play. In last Sunday's semifinals, Lewis defeated Burl Kreoner, 1 up, and Davis edged Don Davis (no relation), 1 up.

ON THE WOMEN'S side, Jan Ley retained her club championship at Petaluma Golf and Country Club, defeating Dede Gilardi, 5 and 4.

Bill Moretti of Petaluma got his first hole-in-one after 14 years of club swinging, acing the 105-yard third hole at Rohnert Park course Sunday. He used a ptiching wedge.

DON'T PLAN to get in a round of golf on the morning of Thursday, Oct. 2, at San Geronimo National. Two-hundred golfers of the Furniture Club of Northern California will be playing a tourney stopping all open play for the morning.

Marin County Club pro Wally Murray says he's already started taking signups for a "Meet the Pro" tournament Saturday, Oct. 11. The shotgun start for club members will be at 8:45 a.m. Murray is in his second week at the Novato course.

Mets Cinch At Least Tie

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

If there's one thing the New York Mets learned during all those years of losing, it was how to win gracefully.

After seven years in which they never finished better than ninth, the Mets went from the ridiculous to the absurb this season and last night they clinched at least a tie for the Eastern Division championship of the National League by beating the St. Louis Cardinals, 3-2, in 11 innings.

And how did the once-ridiculed Mets react to this preposterous prosperity?

LIKE YANKEES

"It looked like the Yankee dressing room after they had ho-hummed their way to another pennant," said an observer in the comparatively sedate Met clubhouse. "Maybe they got so accustomed to watching other teams win they learned how to react to this new experience themselves."

However, everyone was warned that the scene wouldn't be as serene tonight if the Mets clinch the division title against the Cards or if they have the job done for them by Montreal, which can eliminate the runner-up Cubs with a victory at Chicago this afternoon.

"Bring some extra clothes tomorrow, fellows, because that's when the big party's going to be," one Met player said.

NOT YET

No one is doing any celebrating yet in the Western Division, either, not even the Atlanta Braves, who climbed into first place with a 10-2 rout of the Houston Astros. The San Francisco Giants dropped to second, a half-game out, with a 5-4 loss to the San Diego Padres.

The third-place Cincinnati Reds also made their presence felt again in the tight race, belting the Los Angeles Dodgers, 6-3 and 5-2, to climb within 3½-games of the top as the Dodgers dropped their sixth game. Elsewhere, Montreal subdued the Cubs, 7-3, and the Philadelphia Phillies edged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3.

HARRELSON'S HIT

The Mets stepped to the brink of baseball immortality on a single by Bud Harrelson off Bob Gibson with one out in the 11th inning. This delivered Ron Swoboda, who had beat out a hit to deep short and advanced to second on another single by Jerry Grote.

New York fell behind, 2-1, in the fifth inning when the Cardinals scored two unearned runs, but evened it in the eighth on Tommie Agee's single, Wayne Garrett's sacrifice and Art Shamsky's single. Tug McGraw, who came on in the eighth inning, gained credit for his ninth victory against three losses.

"The way the boys have played they deserve to win," said Mets' manager Gil Hodges. "Beating a guy like Gibson is great."

Hank Aaron, hitting only .116 in his last 10 games, drove in the tie-breaking run for Atlanta with a sixth-inning single and brought home another with a double in the ninth inning. George Stone (13-9) limited Houston to seven hits as the Braves won for the 12th time in their last 15 games.

Upset Of The Day: Rod Laver Loses

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Only five of the top 10 seeded performers were left in the $30,000 Pacific Southwest Open Tennis Championships today after a series of upsets highlighted by the defeat of Rod Laver.

Laver, who had swept through 31 straight matches that carried him to the peak of the game as world champion, went down yesterday before South Africa's Ray Moore, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

The Australian star, fresh from victory in the U. S. Open, was attacked with savage volleys by the longhaired Moore who said he concentrated on playing to Laver's backhand.

Laver admitted he was unable to concentrate because he was a little tired and worried about his wife who is expecting their child.

"It was my most gratifying victory," Moore said, "because he's the best tennis player in the world."

BEATS ROCHE

Following Laver's defeat, Tomas Koch of Brazil downed third-seeded Tony Roche of Australia, 3-6, 6-5, 6-3. Tom Okker, Roy Emerson and Andres Gimeno previously had been eliminated.

Members of the victorious U. S. Davis Cup Team, appearing in the tournament for the first time yesterday, all won their matches except Charles Pasarell who was defeated 6-1, 6-2 by James McManus of Berkeley. Those victorious against minor opposition were Arthur Ashe, coach Dennis Ralston, Stan Smith, Bob Lutz and Cliff Richey.

In the top seeded ranks, Pancho Gonzales defeated Robert Carmichale, 6-3, 6-3; John Newcombe of Australia defeated Ray Ruffels, 6-1, 6-1 and Fred Stolle of Australia downed Richard Russell, 10-8, 6-4.

In women's play, defending champion Rosemary Casals of San Francisco defeated Valerie Ziegenfuss of San Diego, 6-2, 6-4, while Mrs. Ann Hayden Jones, top seeded among the women, defeated Mrs. Dorothy Cheney of Santa Monica, 6-0, 6-0.

Runners To Open League

league. He says he has the makings of a "pretty fair team," headed by varsity veterans Tom Weindel and Frank Elias.

Moving up from the froshsoph squad are Steve Elias and Bill Murray. Forey Ratliffe and Joe Lansing are also considered top candidates on a 17-member entourage.

Novato's Bob Patterson has an exceptional runner in Ron Elijah who finished third in the MCAL meet last year and is still improving, but depth, or the lack of it, will probably hurt the Hornets.

Other top candidates include sophomore ace Paul Harvey, Dave Witter and Bill Densbury on a squad that numbers only 15.

BASEKTBALL

Marin Catholic coach Jack Breen figures his Wildcats should win "at least two" meets. His squad consists mostly of basketball buffs, with the best headed by Mike Parnow, Mike Slattery, Paul Bertoli, Brian Little, John Sherman and John Vidano.

Drake, traditionally a cross-country also-ran, figures to be better than usual with things on the upswing, according to coach Warren Fairbanks. A healthy crop up from 1st year's froshsoph team, headed by Lyle Weeden, Steve Ferris and Dan Damer will help veterans John Schneider and Mike Lewis.

FIRST YEAR

San Marin heads into its first year as a full-fledged team with a team topped by track veterans Chakra Chappell, John Catlin and Mike Harrison. Steve Silvi and Creighton Byer should also help.

Only nine candidates reported for Terra Linda's varsity team, which will keep Trojan coach Losee from too many nerve-wracking decisions. The best would appear to be Gray Barker, Bob Swanson and Ron Engel, all juniors.

Women Begin Championship Golf Tourney

The Marin Country Club Women's Golf Club opened its club championship tournament with 18 holes of match play at Novato yesterday.

Mrs. William May took all honors at Indian Valley Women's Golf Club's guest day tourney, winning low putt and low gross titles. She shot a 77.

The results:

Presley Walks Out Of Rockets' Camp

DENVER (UPI) — Bob Presley, 6-11 center from University of California and Denver's No. 1 draft choice, failed to show up for practice yesterday with the Rockets of the American Basketball Association.

"I don't know where he is and I don't know why he's gone," Denver coach John McLendon said.

Presley, who was signed to a two-year contract plus a substantial bonus, checked out of the team's motel Monday after the morning workout.

"We weren't sure he was officially gone until he didn't show up for practice Monday night," a Rocket spokesman said.

Marin's Best-seller on current events

You can learn a lot that's not in the books from your daily I-J. Unlike a text, it presents the texture of living events . . . the here and now of history drawn from the most exciting library — the world itself.

Each day, hundreds of news stories and articles bring you the mental stimulation of WHAT HAPPENED, where, how and why. Combined, they bring you perspective; they help you form judgements, enable you to act in an informed manner on public affairs.

And the range and scale is immense: From a new view of Rhodesia to a new bargain on chairs at your favorite store.

With the I-J you're not merely "taking the paper," you're subscribing to a liberal education . . . provided you read and think. All yours at a price which even includes personal delivery to your door.

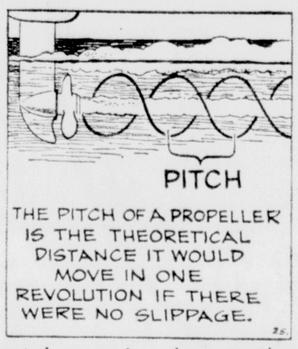
BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Propeller Could Be Water Ski Problem

If you are not getting the performance you think you should from your boat when pulling a water skier — it could be the propeller. A prop which performs well on a boat under what might be called "normal" conditions may be no good for pulling skiers.

But it's not difficult to find the right prop if you follow a very simple test procedure and keep track of a few facts and figures.



When you purchased your boat — or your outboard motor —it was equipped with a "standard" propeller. This is a prop with a pitch designed for best performance on an average boat carrying an average load. But that "average" doesn't include water skiing.

Skiing demands instant thrust to pull a water skier to the surface quickly. This need for initial power is multiplied sharply for every extra skier you may want to tow. And most standard props aren't designed for providing this instant power.

THE REASON is that the pitch is large or coarse. Pitch is the distance a propeller will move through the water in one revolution. It follows that the coarser the pitch, the farther it will go in one revolution and the greater the load on the engine. The greater the load, the more slowly does the motor get up to full r.p.m. and full power. Thus, no instant thrust.

Every marine dealer will have a list of alternate props for your particular engine or outboard and can select two or three to try out on your boat for best performance. Most outboard manufacturers offer a choice of props at the time of purchase on all outboards large enough for water skiing.

THE BOATMAN WHO WANTS to be 100 per cent sure that he has the best prop for skiing can run tests — on the water, with skiers — for himself. A tachometer is needed to measure engine r.p.m.'s and a pad and pencil to write down the performance data. Be smart and don't try to remember it. Jot it down.

When conducting the tests, be sure the boat is running under the normal conditions of skiing, pulling the number of skiers for which you want best performance.

The boat owner's manual lists a recommended r.p.m. range for your engine or outboard motor. Most likely it will be between 4500 and 5000 r.p.m. At full throttle check the tachometer. If the engine is running below 4500 r.p.m., you've got the wrong prop. Try one with finer pitch. The search is over when you have one that allows the engine to run at full rated r.p.m. while pulling skiers.

MOST SKI PROPS will allow the engine to run faster than the rated r.p.m.'s when running without skiers. If it's only a couple of hundred over the maximum, don't worry . . . just close, or retard the throttle slightly when the boat is not towing skiers.

Once the right prop has been found, be sure to keep it in good repair. Twice a year have a marine dealer check it for the proper pitch. If it's bent or nicked, have the dealer repair it or replace it.

Good water skiing.

Barry Awaits Decision

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Forward Rick Barry is awaiting a court decision which he hopes will free him to return to the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association.

U.S. Dist. Judge Gerald Levin took under submission yesterday a request by the Washington Capitols to extend a temporary court order preventing Barry from playing basketball for anyone but the Caps. Levin said he would deliver his decision within "the next two days."

REFUSED

Barry refused to play for the American Basketball Association club when it moved from Oakland to Washington. Shortly after Washington attorney Earl Foreman purchased and moved the former Oakland Oaks, Barry signed a five-year contract with his former teammates the Warriors.

The 6-7 star began his career with the Warriors in 1965. He won rookie of the year honors his first season, then led the NBA in scoring his next year. He jumped to the ABA Oaks and was forced by a court order to sit out the 1967 season. He played 40 games for Oakland last year before injuring his knee.

ARGUMENT

Barry's lawyer, Robert Holtzman, told Levin yesterday a breach of contract occurred when the Oaks were moved to the nation's capital. Holtzman said that under the terms of Barry's contract with the Oaks, the former Miami University All-American was obligated to play for the club only as long as it remained in Oakland.

Capitols' attorney Fred Furth argued Barry must live up to the contract and play for the ABA team in Washington.

NO PLAYING

Levin had signed a temporary restraining order on behalf of the Capitols Sept. 15. The order prevents Barry from "participating in any activities associated with the playing of professional basketball" until Levin delivers his decision.

The Caps also are asking $10 million punitive damages in a lawsuit that charges the Warriors with "intentional and malicious conduct" in the most recent signing of Barry.

Raiders Put Dickey To Work At Receiver Spot

OAKLAND — Eldridge Dickey has one longrange goal in pro football — to be a quarterback. But he's currently working with the Oakland Raiders at the wide receiver position he played last season as a rookie.

"They asked me if I'd do some work as a receiver," Dickey said yesterday. "I thought, why not? It keeps me in shape and I can help the team."

Currently Dickey is on the reserve roster "move list" and must stay there another week.

Coach John Madden says the Raiders still have Dickey in their quarterbacking plans. "But if he can help at wide receiver, it gives our offense versatility to play him at two positions. So why not?"

The Raiders play at Boston Sunday against the Patriots and have begun their preparation with only one injury from last weekend's game — Howie Williams, a defensive back, who has a twisted ankle.

Longer Sessions For 49ers

REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Coach Dick Nolan of the San Francisco 49ers said yesterday that training sessions will be longer than normal this week because there are things we have to straighten out."

However, he said, there will be no change in the routine, just more time "both on the field and in the classroom."

The only bright spot Nolan found in Sunday's disappointing 24-12 loss to weak Atlanta Falcons was that the team suffered no serious physical injuries.

Offensive center Forrest Blue, whose knee was bruised, worked out with the squad yesterday, as did back Kermit Alexander, who pulled a hamstring muscle Sunday. Nolan said both will be ready for next Sunday's game against Green Bay in Milwaukee.

Running back Bill Tucker, an exhibition starter until he sprained a knee against Denver a month ago, may also be back in the lineup against Green Bay, Nolan said.

Marin Best Known Football Aide Tackles His Job Like A Whirlwind

By GARY TISCHLER

If you want to say just one thing about Jess Payan, say that he coaches with a kind of furious total involvement.

Stalking along a sideline during a game, he looks like an ex-fighter grown heavy.

He yells, he screams, he walks with intense footsteps, grabs players in face-to-face, loud talks.

He leaves an impression. There are echoes around after the game-ending gun. But the whirlwind of noise and fury is only half the man. There is meat behind the brash surface.

HAS SAVVY

Payan, 37 years old, is probably the best known assistant coach in Marin County. He has something of an underground reputation for football savvy, player knowledge and an ability to get something out of a boy, if it's there.

Yet, in 13 years of coaching, he has never been a head football coach.

This fall, after five years as an aide at Terra Linda High, during which he acquired a reputation as the architect of three championship Trojan lines and defenses, he starts practically a new life as freshman coach at Redwood High School.

Payan isn't kidding himself. Coming to Redwood as frosh coach is, at least for now, something of a self-demotion.

"Nobody made me any big promises," he said. "I know it's going to be a little fish from being a big fish. I'm here to develop material for Troppmann (Bob). We're interested in developing a program."

Payan, who is blunt and articulate, has somehow wrapped himself up in athletics. A varsity quarterback at University of Santa Clara during his playing days, a three-sport man at Monteca High School in Stockton, he majored in history, philosophy and Spanish but unhesitantly took his Bachelor of Arts degree in physical education.

If Jess prides himself on something, it is communication.

"That's the whole thing," he said. "I care — about football, about the kid. You have to be able to recognize if a kid has talent and then you have to be able to get it out of him."

It is not a particularly gentle process.

JESS PAYAN
Total involvement

"I guess you could say I'm a demanding person," he says. "I agitate, I insist on a performance, on hustle.

Apparently the communication is two-way and lasting. Talk to any of the top Terra Linda linemen of the past three years about football and Payan's name invariably crops up.

There was only one game last season in which Payan was quiet. That was when Redwood marred Terra Linda's unbeaten season on the final game of the year with a 25-10 upset. Payan paced quietly, almost in a stupor.

"I was so doped up, I wan't even there," he recalled.

After the season, the doctors removed his gall bladder and today he's got a clean bill of health, although he was unable to coach the Trojan baseball team last spring. At that, he's got a perfect record as baseball coach. In his one year as varsity mentor, he coached the Trojans to the Marin County Athletic League title in 1968.

ELUSIVE AMBITION

Today, he still has one ambition that nags at him like that train you just can't quite catch in a nightmare.

"It's still my hope to be a head coach," he says. "It's the one thing that has always eluded me. But I'm going to keep trying."

It may not be an uncatchable train. It's the only one worth chasing for Payan.

"Coaching?," he says. "It keeps me alive. I live for it."

ALMANAC

Today is Wednesday, Sept. 24, the 267th day of 1969, with 98 to follow.

The moon is approaching its full phase. The morning stars are Venus and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Mars and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1896 the Black Friday panic hit Wall Street after an attempt by financiers Jay Gould and James Fisk to corner the gold market.

In 1934 Babe Ruth made his last appearance as a regular player for the New York Yankees.

In 1955 President Dwight D. Eisenhower suffered a heart attack while vacationing in Denver, Colo.

In 1959 President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev met at Camp David, Maryland.

A thought for the day: President Eisenhower said, "In the final choice a soldier's pack is not so heavy a burden as a prisoner's chain."

Auto Is In No Mood To Work

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — After many years in retirement, a 41-year-old car wasn't ready to go back to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leffingwell and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Nelson bought a 1928 Marmon for a hobby restoration project.

The Mormon protested when the Leffingwells tried to start it to drive it home. It coughed, backfired, belched fire and blazed up.

Firemen cooled off the old-timer without much damage.

"We're going to try again," said Leffingwell. "But we'll have someone standing by with a fire extinguisher."

A Psychic Response Almost Backfires For Italian Star

The most amusing hand of the recent world championship made everybody look pretty foolish. Maybe you should cut the hand out and paste it in your wallet to show your partner the next time you have a ridiculous bidding misunderstanding. It can happen to world champions, too.

A BIT LIGHT

North's opening bid of one heart was a bit light in high cards, but nobody can quarrel with it very much. East had a normal overcall of one spade, and now Benito Garozzo, star of the world-championship Italian bridge team, decided that he could make a slam in clubs if he could stop a diamond opening lead. With this in mind he made a psychic bid of two diamonds.

All might have gone well for him if Garozzo had jumped to six clubs at his next turn, but he couldn't resist probing for a grand slam. After all his partner might have the ace of diamonds. So Garozzo showed his spade control.

When Garozzo eventually jumped to six clubs, North thought he was being asked to show a preference, and he clearly preferred diamonds.

SILLY LEAD

Garozzo had to bid seven clubs, and East doubled since he knew that South was out of line. Unfortunately, West woodenly opened the ace of spades. Every reader of this column would have led the queen of diamonds like a shot.

The spade lead brought no lasting joy to West. South ruffed and proceeded to lead out his trumps in an apparently endless stream. West still thought that his diamonds were the key to the defense and carefully threw away his two hearts to give his partner the count.

A CRIME?

This defense also gave declarer the count, and he gratefully took the rest of the tricks with dummy's good hearts.

Who says that crime doesn't pay?

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, the next player bids one spade, and you are next, holding:

♠ None
♥ A 3
♦ 8 6 3
♣ A K Q J 10 9 5 3

What do you say?

ANSWER: The orthodox bid is three clubs, a jump that is forcing to game and hints at slam.

Nevertheless, orthodoxy doesn't count for much when you have an eight-card suit. An immediate jump to six clubs might bring home the bacon.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

By HARRY CRAFT

Work Will Start Soon On Novato Cloudburst Car Wash

Work is about to begin on a new, elaborate car wash — Cloudburst Car Wash — at 6981 Redwood Highway, Novato, across the highway from L. J. Dervin Ford Co.

Owner Jerry Taylor of San Rafael is having contractor Eugene McGillicuddy do the work. Gilbert Murphy is the architect. Completion is expected in time for an opening by Nov. 15.

The car wash will be a continuous run operation and there will also be six pumps dispensing Standard Oil Co. gasoline — although this will not be a full service station with lubricating facilities.

Taylor was formerly a manufacturer's representative and currently holds the rank of major in the Air Force Reserve.

VLADIMIR LEVINTZA has moved his watchmaker and jewelry business from 1212 Second Street to 1310 Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael. He also provides musical instruction in flute, clarinet and saxophone.

RICHARD C. LUCAS of Corte Madera has been elected president of Trans Continental Securities Co. and executive vice president of the company's Continental Funding Corp., San Francisco. He was formerly vice president of Insurance and Securities Inc. and Lytton Savings and Loan Association of Northern California.

Lucas Sanford

MICHAEL R. SANFORD of Tiburon has been named operations officer in Crocker-Citizens National Bank's central operations department at San Francisco administrative headquarters. He has served as assistant manager of the Sun Valley Center office in Concord since 1967. With the bank since 1961, he has also worked at Crocker-Citizens offices in San Rafael, Kentfield and Napa.

SOILAND, INC. of Novato has been presented its second consecutive award for outstanding safety achievement in accident prevention. Awarded by Industrial Indemnity Co., the presentation was for a total of 60,000 man hours without a single lost-time accident during the 12-month period ended June 30.

GREGORY WEST of Belvedere was a first-prize winner in the "Jet-a-bout Sweepstakes" of Pepsi Cola Bottling Co. His prize, presented by San Rafael plant manager Vince Mamone, was a jet-propelled sport boat from Fiberfab of California which operates in two inches of water and turns 180 degrees on its own length.

THE SMALL BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION in San Francisco has announced several administrative management training programs for this fall by University of California Extension.

First of these is "Buying or Selling a Small Business," a one-day seminar next Saturday, to be held at the Jack Tar Hotel in San Francisco.

Small Business Management, 10 sessions, will commence Wednesday, Oct. 8, at University of California Extension, 55 Laguna Street, San Francisco. Hours are 7 to 10 p.m. Small Business Management II, also 10 sessions, starts Tuesday, Oct. 7 — same hours.

An eight-session course, Independent Business Management, begins Saturday morning, Oct. 11, from 9 a.m. to noon — also at 55 Laguna Street, San Francisco. Hours are the same. Enrollment or further information on all courses may be obtained from Frank Fee or Mrs. Karen Ballard, Continuing Education in Management, University of California Extension, Berkeley.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Two Mutual Funds Better Than One

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We're investing monthly in a front-load mutual through Waddell & Reed to provide future income. Am I correct in believing the fund increased in value about 15 per cent annually for 17 years? Should we switch to a no-load mutual? — A. V.

A. Continue your savings plan; a switch might entail forfeiting part of the sales charges assessed on your initial payments. A faster growth no-load fund could be purchased as a diversifying supplement.

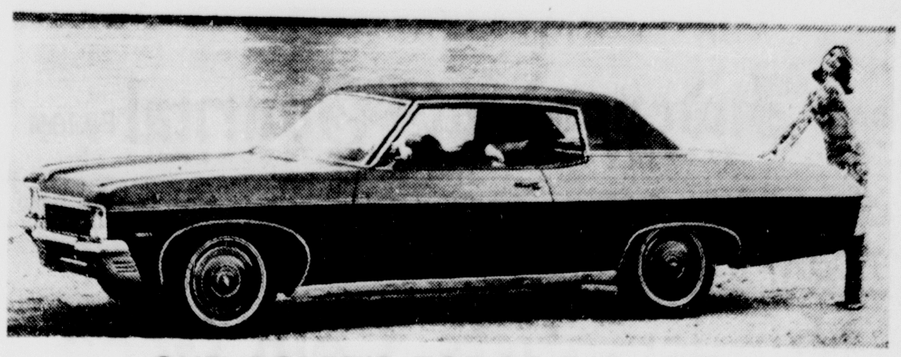
You're evidently buying United Accumulative Fund, distributed by Waddell & Reed, as this fund offers both a contractual purchase plan and monthly withdrawals when your investment reaches $10,000.

I don't have figures for 17 years but net asset value increased 48 per cent for five years through 1968 and dropped a reasonable 14.8 per cent for seven months this year.

During 10 years through 1968 $10,000 would have grown to $22,164 by reinvesting all dividends and capital gains. Capital growth is less than the average for 375 funds but dividend income is above average and income is your stated objective.

Q. Using the Monthly Investment Plan in 1968, I bought eight shares of Continental Oil at an average price of 70. I fear this company doesn't know I'm a stockholder as I have received no dividends. My letter to the transfer agent remains unanswered. What's my next step? — P. S.

A. Continental Oil split two-for-one on March 24, 1969, and a cash dividend of 37½ cents (quarterly) was paid on the new shares June 13, 1969. You should now hold 16 shares at an adjusted cost of 35. Send your story to the company secretary, Mr. J. D. Kelley, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York City 10020, and mail a carbon copy to the transfer agent, Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. Your MIP transaction was terminated when the paper work crush was most severe — the probable cause of your "forgotten man" status.

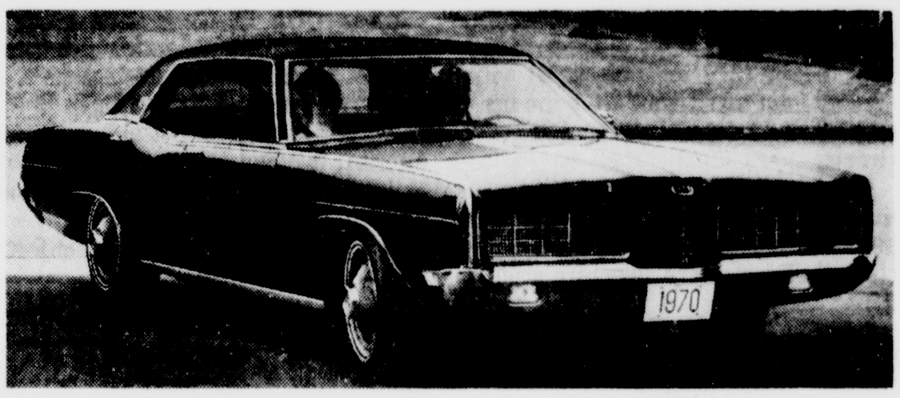


CHEVROLET'S TOP-OF-THE-LINE

The Caprice coupe for 1970 is dressed up with new front styling of grille, hood and fenders. Vertical tail lights located in the rear bumper are a change from the horizontal lights of 1969. For the first time Caprice models have wheel covers accented with body color. Cars are on display at De Long Chevrolet, San Rafael; Campbell-Bishop Chevrolet, Corte Madera; Ted Schuman Chevrolet, Novato, and Cheda Chevrolet, Point Reyes Station.

MERCURY MONTEREY FOR 1970

Redesigned anodized aluminum grille, bias-belted tires and wider seats are features of the new Monterey. An addition to the option line is an electric rear window defroster. Freon-filled shock absorbers are standard on all models. Cars are on sale at Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury, San Rafael, and Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley.



FORD'S NEW 1970 LTD BROUGHAM

The Ford LTD is offered in this four-door hardtop, a two-door hardtop and a four-door sedan for 1970. All feature new rear and side ornamentation, new exterior colors and more formal grilles. Cars are on sale at L. J. Dervin Ford Co., Novato; Ames Ford Sales, San Rafael, and J and B Ford Sales, Corte Madera.

Numismatists Coin Good Idea For Use Of Mint

In 1959, the City and County of San Francisco wanted to tear down the San Francisco Mint to make way for a parking lot or office building.

Now, S. I. Hayakawa, president of San Francisco State College, wants it torn down to make way for a downtown college campus.

Conservationists 10 years ago stalled off the demolition with a plan for renovation of the mint for use as western headquarters of the National Park Service.

Now, since it has been declared surplus by the federal government, Rep. Philip H. Burton, D-Fifth District, has a bill in Congress to turn it over to the National Park Service for preservation as an historic shrine.

BUT THE CALIFORNIA State Numismatic Association has come along with what sounds to us like a much better idea.

Numismatists are coin collectors, which explains their interest in the mint. From 1874 to 1936, coins with the "S" mint mark came from the massive building at Fifth and Mission streets.

The building itself attained its own sort of immortality by surviving the 1906 earthquake and fire which destroyed almost every structure around it.

THE NUMISMATISTS' proposal is that the old mint be made a western Smithsonian Institution.

Angelo Turrini of San Rafael, himself a coin collector and member of the association, explains the reasoning thus:

"I have long wondered why our nation has a single national Smithsonian Institute — hard on the east coast. Is it not time a branch be established where the greatest number of people now live? After all, we do have area or branch offices for the Federal Reserve System, the Internal Revenue Service, Social Security, Army, Navy, etc. Why not a west coast branch of the Smithsonian? Think of the number of Americans who are unable to travel to Washington to visit the national museum."

The numismatic association has urged its proposal on Sen. George Murphy, in hope that he will urge it on his fellow Californian, Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare. Finch can make the decision on disposal of the mint, which was declared surplus by the federal governent in June.

PREVIOUS "SAVE THE MINT" schemes have been of rather nebulous variety. Burton's proposal to make it a national monument leaves much to be desired. The building itself, while of interest, may not be worth the cost of maintaining it and keeping it open simply as a tourist attraction.

But if historical records and objects from the Smithsonian Institution were housed there—and there are too many already to be properly displayed in the Smithsonian, so that need for a branch is obvious—the old mint would more than justify its continued existence.

We think the numismatists have coined a good idea.

A Boarder Incident

In diplomatic language, border incidents are greatly to be feared because they are often the prelude to further hostilities. We have the same fear about the boarder incidents in our own back yard.

Our boarders are a mother raccoon and her half-grown off-spring, and a very small striped skunk. We place food and clean water in dishes under a small floodlight about five feet from our back window. Between 9:30 and midnight these animals come to eat.

When all three come at once, we have confrontation, diplomatic maneuvering and boarder incidents. The mother raccoon is unflappable, alert, and intent upon eating. Her child is less serious, more interested in chasing its shadow and feeling the bottom of the water bowl for imaginary crayfish. The raccoons are deliberate in their manner. But the little skunk hurries about, stops abruptly, makes little rushes at the coons. When the skunk is alone its tail is held in a graceful arch. But with the raccoons around, it is erect and threatening.

The mother raccoon is very savvy, but when the skunk began rushing her youngster, the kid began to bristle and growl. The skunk turned and aimed its weapon. Then reconsidered and scurried away.

That was our boarder incident.

CTA Seeks $2.5 Million Fund To Finance Initiative Campaign

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Plans for a California Teacher Association - sponsored initiative to require 50-50 financing of education by the state and the local property taxpayer are under way for the November, 1970, ballot.

Jack D. Rees, executive secretary of the association, has called on its members for a pledge fo $15 apiece, or an aggregate of approximately $2.5 million, to finance the undertaking, plus the carrying of petitions necessary to qualify the proposed constitutional amendment for the ballot.

Rees says such a law would put school finances in California "beyond politics," and would be the most significant move of the association in its more than 100-year history.

"WE SHALL ENLIST in our fight", he said in a recent publication of CTA's newspaper, Action, "the millions of parents who want the sound and equitable financing of their children's education assured.

"We are counting on the enthusiastic support of the entire public school fraternity, both lay and professional. We shall put on a state-wide campaign with the most imaginative use of all media that will prove to be a model for all education associations throughout the nation!"

CALIFORNIA'S educationists have been unhappy with the legislative appropriations for education, although these grants have been increased materially for the past several years.

The proposed initiative ostensibly would take financing of the state's schools out of the hands of the legislators, and freeze it into the state constitution.

UNDER SUCH a proposal, school districts apparently would be given carte blanche to spend as much tax money as they determined necessary for operation of the educational establishment, with the state mandated to pay half the costs.

There are 1,484 school districts in California, each one with its own tax rate. As a result there is great variance in expenditures on a per-student basis, and as a further result there is a differing quality of education in the 1,484 districts.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Volunteer Service Not Appreciated

As one who has spent a great deal of time in volunteer work, I think I am qualified to state that the reasons people do such work without compensation are twofold:

1. They think they are accomplishing something worthwhile.

2. They think their efforts are appreciated.

In the case of the county's Emergency Medical Care Committee, these two elements do not exist. We labored long and hard to product the annual report required by law, sent a copy to the board of supervisors, and did not receive even an acknowledgement from them, much less any consideration of our recommendations.

The county administrator, who has been unable to control the committee, reports to the board that "the committee appears to have been dominated by two members and has tended to be a vehicle for pursuit of their personal interests." He suggests, in effect, that committee members who are knowledgeable on emergency medical care be replaced by "consumers or potential consumers" - whatecer that means, or to dissolve the committee and designate the Health Planning Council, which in effect, he says should be abolished, to carry on their duties.

Now the good, old I-J comes out editorially and agrees with the administrator.

Obviously, the two elements which attract people to do volunteer work are lacking, in this instance. Why then should the members of this committee continue to serve?

More Laws Needed To Protect Animals

I wish to comment on a letter which recently appeared in your column concerning the "surplus" of dogs and cats. This letter was signed by Helena Franklin of Novato, and I couldn't agree with her more.

I am well aware of this problem. Unfortunately, anything in much abundance tends to lose its value; we take so much for granted and animals are one example. Since they can be obtained so easily, they can be replaced as easily, but the life of anything should never be taken for granted. . . .

This problem of overpopulation of cats and dogs is truly the cause of much animal suffering and I feel if all humane societies adapted a complusive (sic) spaying program and strict leash laws were rigidly enforced we would be well on the way of alleviating much or even most of the animal suffering.

Councilman Scott Alleges Errors

I take exception to your persistent mistatements of fact relative to my correspondence with Mr. Charles R. Leitzell, San Anselmo Public works director.

I wrote Mr. Leitzell a "personal and private" letter, not based upon anonymous tips as you relate, but based upon statements from persons known to me who asked that their names be withheld. I asked questions. I made no charges. At no time did I bring this matter to council for consideration as you allege. Only after it was there did I speak on the matter.

You know who delivered this private letter to you for publication on your front page.

You can easily find out who caused it to be put on the San Anselmo Council agenda, if this is not too much trouble for your staff . . .

ROBERT McKIBBIN SCOTT
San Anselmo

(1. The accusers of the public works director were kept anonymous by Councilman Scott. (I-J, July 22 et seq.) 2. The letter was made public, and copies furnished other members of the city council, by Albert Bianchi, attorney for Leitzell. (I-J, July 22.) 3. The matter was placed on the council agenda by Mayor Woodrow V. Capurro, in response to Bianchi's demand for a public hearing for his client. (I-J, July 23). The letter from Scott to Leitzell said, "Two people have asked me to explain how you were able to have city personnel install your private driveway." Scott told the I-J (July 22) he had received "a barrage of phone calls, from at least five persons." — Editor.)

SMALL WORLD

Same Old Junk?

Scholars Prove Worth Of School

I found the Marin National Merit Scholars listed in the Independent-Journal notable in view of recent letters by a Mr. Burton, Miss Middleton, Dr. Hanzel, et al.

How is it possible that the small (796) student population at Marin Catholic High School is capable of producing six National Merit Scholars out of a county total of 19? Perhaps the students at MC are not, as alleged by Miss Middleton, ". . . trained in stereotyped arguments and are stunted in their intellectual growth."

Isn't it interesting that year in and year out Marin Catholic students turn up as national and California scholars; that over 85 per cent of MC's students continue through college; that the cost of educating each student is $500 per year compared to $1,000 per student per year at Tam and Redwood?

There is no question that the Catholic school system is in a tremendous financial crisis — primarily because the Catholice parent along with his Protestant and other American neighbor has been totally taxed out of his discretionary income. One of your devoted letter writers is worried that community support of Marin Catholic High School might be considered desirable or beneficial. You bet it is, Sam, because Marin Catholic is a superb high school.

Don't Fight Wars Unless To Win

There is one good lesson the American people and the government of the United States should learn from the Vietnam War (should have learned it in Korea): "Never fight a war you don't intend to win."

If we follow this rule, there will be no more Vietnams.

And now, since we don't intend to win in Veitnam, — and, even if we did, we would win an almost indefensible piece of ground — let's withdraw our forces to better tactical and strategic positions.

THE DRUMMONDS

Government As Service Dispenser Demonstrates Wide Inefficiency

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON —Daniel P. Moynihan, the liberal Democrat who is serving President Nixon so ably as urban affairs aide, long tried to persuade his fellow Democrats that the federal bureaucracy is so big, so lethargic, so inefficient because of the thicket of overlapping programs that it simply can't do its job.

He put his view arrestingly in these words: "The federal government has proved itself good at collecting money and bad at dispensing public services."

So far very little has changed. Moynihan's view was rejected by the Democrats and never effectively taken up by the Republicans. The President is making a beginning in his welfare proposals, in his advocacy of revenue-sharing and in his plan to finance the job-training program at the state level.

But even this beginning is only in the talk stage. These steps face a rough road when they come before Congress next year. If these moves — and others equally needed — to decentralize Big Government somewhat are to be approved, an alert and aroused public opinion will be necessary.

DO THE FACTS justify an aroused public opinion? Do they justify Moynihan's harsh verdict?

We'll lay out the facts — you decide.

The source of these facts is the best-informed, perhaps the only fully informed and objective authority on federal assistance programs in Washington. He is a second-term Republican member of Congress, Rep. William V. Roth Jr. of Delaware. For two years he has been conducting a one-man canvass of the maze of far-flung federal assistance programs, much to the annoyance of the agencies themselves and often encountering their resistance. He also encountered widespread ignorance. Some agencies really didn't know what programs they were administering.

HIS STUDY is not complete. It may never be, because this year he found 225 more programs than he was able to discover last year. He expects there are 100 to 200 programs still unreported. As of today, here's what Congressman Roth has found:

1. There are at least 1,315 federal assistance programs, for all of which Congress appropriated more than $25 billion last year.

2. These overlapping programs constitute such a maze that those who are intended to benefit often don't know they exist, where to apply, whether they qualify or how much money is available.

3. There is no centralized planning or management of federal assistance programs in the government's executive branch.

4. Here is how the federal assistance programs overlap and duplicate themselves. There are 51 business and economic development programs in 14 agencies; 23 civil defense and disaster-relief programs in four agencies; 19 civil rights programs in six agencies; 165 education programs in 14 agencies; 62 environmental and natural resource programs in nine agencies; 48 rehabilitation programs for the handicapped in 11 agencies; 163 health and safety programs in six agencies; 112 housing programs in five agencies; 27 law-enforcement and police-assistance programs in four agencies; 41 maritime, fishing and waterways programs in eight agencies; 32 programs for state, local government facilities and public works assistance in nine agencies; 28 transportation (excluding sea) programs in five agencies, and 33 water resources and conservation programs in eight agencies.

CONGRESSMAN ROTH proposes a useful first step. He has 184 cosponsors in the House and 11 cosponsors in the Senate for his Program Information Act which would require the President to publish an annual catalog of all federal aid programs and update it monthly.

But Repersentative Roth and others know this is just a start, that much more needs to be done. This brings us back to Moynihan's provocative verdict that the federal goverment ought to make tax money available to state and local governments to administer aid programs nearer to their beneficiaries.

Some argue that state and local governments aren't good enough to do it. But who knows until we try? Certainly the federal government hasn't been so good at it.

Vietnam Straws: Ho's Death, Saigon Corruption

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — For the present, the death of Ho Chi Minh will have its strongest reverberations outside the borders of North Vietnam.

Eventually, however, the collective leadership which has assumed power in Hanoi is expected to dissolve into a power struggle — a contest for personal control of the North Vietnamese politburo.

Those are the convictions which are beginning to emerge here in the wake of the death and funeral of "Uncle" Ho. They represent the views of the experts who advise the government's policy makers.

ONE CLEAR RESULT of Ho's death is to remove a charismatic leader — the man who beat the French, a patriot who was something of a father figure in South as well as North Vietnam.

Another result is to remove from the international scene the experienced "old communist," veteran of many policy turnings, who has successfully played off Moscow against Peking while Sino-Soviet relations were sinking to their present nadir.

Some of the experts are already speculating that a struggle in Hanoi between a comparatively mild, Moscow-oriented policy toward the war and the west and a China-oriented hard line will hasten a falling out between party secretary Le Duan and theoretician Truong Chinh. The point is also made that such a power struggle in Communist leadership sometimes opens the way for new and younger leaders to make their way to the top.

NEW REPORTS of corruption in South Vietnam are being aired here. Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., told the Senate recently that he hears Madame Ky, wife of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, "is rapidly picking up rich rice plantations in South Vietnam."

Yarborough said he got that information from "a number of Americans who have served in Vietnam in different capacities." He suggested that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee should find out whether Marshal Ky is grabbing off property "in his wife's name."

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., declared there is no question that there is "enormous profiteering" from the war. He said a newly returned Tennessee G.I. recently regaled him with "one incident after another of thievery, pilfering and profiteering" involving American supplies.

The Senate Investigations Subcommittee will hold hearings soon on some of the get-rich quick schemes. The subcommittee has evidence that some of them involve black-market dealings in South Vietnamese piasters.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., will preside at the hearings which grow out of the subcommittee's interest in the foreign aid program in South Vietnam.

New Hall Of Justice To End Courthouse Version Of Lineup

A recent trip to the new Hall of Justice showed that the long-awaited building really does seem to be about finished. It was a little discouraging, however, to find only two women with scrub buckets cleaning up the enormous place.

The paneling in the courtrooms is especially handsome, and the colors and views throughout the building are beautiful.

As someone said, let's hope we get a higher class of criminals than now frequent the old courthouse.

ONE FEATURE that will be sadly missed by courtroom devotees will be the marching en masse of the daily haul of jail inmates for the afternoon criminal calendar in Municpal Court.

The inmates now are brought up in a public elevator and ushered down the main halls of the courthouse by deputies. They fill the front rows of the courtroom and other persons in the courtroom may not talk to them or sit by them.

The "lineup" gives viewers a good chance to look at all the fish caught in official nets.

This charming custom will be no more, however, in the new building, which has special corridors and elevators for prisoners. They will not arrive in the courtroom in a batch but rather will be kept in "holding rooms" off the courtroom and ushered in one at a time.

Naturally, the deputies assigned to guarding these people are sure the new system will be more efficient, but much of the old flavor will be lost, it seems to me.

A RUMOR that entertainment tycoon Frank N. Werber had settled his over $400,000 marijuana tax lien with the Internal Revenue Service by paying $250,000 seems to be false.

"His account is still alive and healthy," tax officials said last week, adding that nothing had been paid on it.

Werber, who was acquitted in a federal court of marijuana charges, still is awaiting trial in Marin on counts of possessing and cultivating the weed.

WHEN JUDGE Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court declared a marijuana possession offense by a 19-year-old youth to be a misdemeanor in his court the other day, the boy's attorney responded, "You've just put him in the Army."

The judge, aware that the armed forces will not take felons, smilingly replied, "Yes, but I've made it possible for him to vote when he's 21."

The youth also smiled and said, "Thanks a lot, judge; I hadn't thought of that."

Teacher Group Endorses Year-Around School Use

By BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The National Education Association's urban education committee has issued a report urging that NEA support a year-around school program.

The NEA, which represents most of the public school teachers throughout the United States, may not go along with the committee's recommendation. But if it does, a major stumbling block to more complete utilization of school plants will be removed.

Up to now, the pressure for year-around school utilization has come mostly from school boards and taxpayers. Resistance has been heavy from students and faculty.

THE URBAN education committee's report holds that benefits to students, teachers and community from year-around school operation would outweigh the problems of adopting such a system. Teachers would benefit from full-year salaries, tax dollars would be put to better use through full utilization of expensive school plants, and juvenile delinquency would be reduced by having children in school during the summer, says its report.

The committee did not come out for any particular year-around plan, saying that school districts should fit the plan to local needs.

THE INCREASING difficulty of passing school bond issues, coupled with rising interest rates which make sale of the bonds problematical even when approved, has forced many districts to look harder at the possibility of 12-month schools. Board-appointed committees are at work on plans for year-around school utilization in several California high school districts.

Nationwide, the agitation is growing for doing away with the traditional three-month summer vacation.

Over a year ago, the New York State Education Department concluded a four-year study with a recommendation for an 11-month school year. It suggested a modified "trimester" plan, lengthening the school year to 42 weeks, or a "quadrimester" or quarter plan with four quarters separated by two-week vacations.

SIMPLEST and most discussed of the plans for putting school plants to full use the year around is a four-quarter plan with students attending three quarters out of four but with vacations staggered. This would make it possible to handle about one-third more students in existing plants.

The longer "trimester" year, as suggested by the New York study, would have another kind of advantage: completing in 11 years the course that now requires 12 years. It would not, however, do much to increase the capacity of school plants.

A PROPOSAL by Andrew Adams of the U. S. Office of Education two years ago would combine both advantages.

Adams suggested a four-quarter plan with a difference: Each student would attend four 12 week quarters, then have 12 weeks vacation.

This would get rid of a major cause of resistance to year-around school use: that caused by forcing children of some families to always take their vacation in winter.

Under Adams's plan, a student who started school in September would continue straight through to the end of the next August, then have a 12 week vacation. He would resume school at the beginning of winter and go four quarters again, followed by a winter vacation. The third year, his vacation would be in spring; the fourth year, in summer.

Each grade would be divided into four sections, with one starting in fall, one in winter, one in spring, one in summer.

THIS WOULD REDUCE the 12 years of elementary and high school attendance to 11 and at the same time give the schools 20 per cent more capacity. There would be a one-week shutdown between quarters for necessary maintenance work.

Such a system probably would be welcomed by most employers, who find difficulty fitting the vacations of a majority of employees into the three summer months when schools are closed.

Teen-Age Cyclist Has Skull Fracture

Steven P. Johnson, 16, of 190 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital after fracturing his skull in a mororcycle accident at 11:15 a.m. Saturday on Coleman Drive near Vineyard Drive, San Rafael.

Johnson, who was driving the motorcycle without a helmet, struck his head on a mail van driven by Claudia Deutsch of 65 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, after crashing headon into the van, San Rafael police reported yesterday.
